I can recommend the Regulator, for it is no humbug." —B. I. Casual remarks from some of our esteemed fellow citizens relative to the location of the railroad depot recalls to mind the reverend gentleman in a neighboring county who riding by a house heard sounds of internecine strife within. Dismounting he entered the house and found the lord and master of the premises beating the mistress of the mansion. Inquiring as to the cause, the male member of the firm said, "Sure, Mary wants the bureau put in that corner and I'm determined it shall be in this corner." "But where is the bureau?" asked his reverence "Is it the bureau? Oh, we haven't got it yet."

The telegraph line was down last Thursday between Westport and Knappa: yesterday it was down between here and Knappa. It is a hard line to keep up, running through a rough country. The wonder is that it stays up so well. Sometime, when a railroad runs down here and trains ran down on the railroad, the telegraph line alongside the track will work all right, but so long as it is hung on trees and through a jungle of undergrowth, and has to cross the Columbia river twice, and is at the mercy of every plug operator who choses to leave the key open, so long there will be difficulty in getting news by lightning to and from Astoria.

Capt. Whitcomb had a Confederate bill yesterday of the vintage of 1864, the issue being worth about fifteen cents a cord. Some time ago two smart alecks in Arkansas secured $10,000,000 of Confederate money; one went to Little Rock and let folks know he had secured it; the other went to New York city, and advertised he would pay 14 cents on the dollar for Confederate money. The advertisement was seen by parties in Little Rock, who succeed in coaxing the owner of the million to sell it for ten cents on the dollar. They hastened to New York to dispose of it for fourteen cents on the dollar, but somehow or other the New York man was out of business and couldn't be found, when they got there.

NEWS BY WIRE.

Delayed Dispatches of News Interest.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—A. J. Stone, son-in-law of the late Amos J. Snell, murdered in his residence on the west side in February last, called on the superintendent of police and authorized the issue of a circular offering a $20,000 reward for the capture of William B. Tascott, who is supposed to have slain the millionaire. Mrs. Snell signs the circular offering the reward.

Mr. Stone said that nothing new had been learned, though he was beginning to give some credence to the belief, quite general after the murder, that Tascott was not the only person guilty of the murder of Mr. Snell, and that he had the assistance of these guilty companions in eluding the authorities.

SIR SAMUEL'S OPINION.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Sir Samuel Baker, the well-known author and African explorer, in common with other authorities, does not believe that Stanley has been slain. He believes when Stanley will next be heard from it will be found that he has joined Emin Bey.

TO RESCUE STANLEY.

SEOUL, Corea, Sept. 20.—The Khedive of Egypt requested colonel Charles Caille Long of the United States legation here to take charge of the expedition to rescue Stanley. The post of official correspondent has been tendered William Hosea Ballou of New York. It is proposed to raise by subscription $200,000.

BELIEVED TO BE SAFE.

VIENNA, Sept. 20.—Explorer Holub believes that Stanley is safe unless he deviated from his route with the purpose of relieving Emin Bey and met defeat at the hands of Mahdi's followers.

DEATH OF A MEMBER OF CASSEL & CO

LONDON, Sept. 20.—G. W. Petter, founder of the Echo, the first 1-cent paper in London, and one of the original members of the great publishing house of Cassel & Co., is dead.

DON CARLOS.

MADRID, Sept. 20.—Don Carlos has issued a manifesto of thanks to his French supporters for continued loyalty. He still claims the Spanish crown and asserts that the real heirs of Count de Chambord are Bourbons and not Orleanists.

PRINCE BISMARCK.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The Independence Belge recently published an article purporting to reflect the views of German conservatives to the effect that Prince Bismarck will follow the examble of Von Moltke and resign.

The North German Gazette reprints the article, remarking that the views expressed are the views of both conservatives and liberals. It is supposed that the intention of the North German Gazette is to prepare the public mind for a likely event.

FLOODS IN THE TYROL.

BERNE, Sept. 20.—It is now known that twenty-eight persons perished in consequence of the recent inundations in the Tyrol. Many still are missing, and the death list will doubtless be increased.

FEVER REPORTED AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A special dispatch received by Henry Clews & Co. from Galveston, says the Texas state officials have declared a quarantine against New Orleans. Yellow fever is reported there and said to be spreading.

CHICAGO POSTOFFICE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Rad. Willbanks, superintendent of mails at the Chicago postoffice, who has been leader of the crusade against postmaster Judd, was summarily dismissed to-day by first assistant postmaster-general Steveson, for gross insubordination. It is a sensational triumph for Judd.

How He Advertised.

A gentleman, living in a small city in the West, had inherited consumption from his father, and the doctor told him he must die. He stopped taking their weakening physic and tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In three months he was strong and well. The gentleman's neighbors knew how sickly he formerly was, and asked him to state in public how he had been cured. He advertised to lecture on a certain evening in the public hall, and there was a large audience present. This was his lecture: a picture of himself before and one after, he tried the [illegible] and five empty bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He said nothing, but convinced his audience just the same.

It outrivals all—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Northern Pacific Election.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Northern Pacific railroad directors to-day Thomas F. Oakes was elected president in place of Robert Harris.

Henry Villard and the rest of the directors were re-elected.

Harris, who retires from the presidency, will act as chairman of the board of trustees.

The refusal of the Union Pacific directors to carry out the joint lease of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company is noted.

Notice.

The Blaine Club will meet at upper Astoria at their old headquarters, Saturday, Sept. 22nd, at 7:30 P. M., and continue every Saturday thereafter. Those favoring Gen. Harrison's election and protection of American industries are cordially invited to be present.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Diseases

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have had the best of physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me, and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. [illegible] it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. [illegible] little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE [illegible] approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, [illegible] snuffing and obstructed [illegible] and rapidly removes the [illegible] symptoms clearing the head, [illegible] breath, restoring the senses [illegible] and hearing, and neutralizing [illegible] tional tendency of the disease [illegible] lungs, liver and kidneys.

Curious Wants at Druggists' Counters.

Druggists have some queer orders sometimes, for instance: "Send me some of your essence to put people to sleep with when they cut their fingers off. I want something to take tobacco out of my mouth. Send me a baby's top to a nursing bottle. Something for a sore baby's eye. Enough ipecac to throw up a girl four years old. Enough anise seed to take the twist out of a dose of senna. Something for a woman with a bad cough and cannot cough. Something, I forget the name, but it is for a cure for a swelled woman's foot. For a man with a dry spit on him. For a woman whose appetite is loose on her."

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., [illegible] Co., Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

Jay Gould's Prayer.

Our Father, who art in England, Rothchild be thy name; Thy kingdom come to America, and thy will be done in the United States as it is in England. Give us plenty of working men's votes to keep the monopoly in power and its friends in office. We know, Our Father, we have done many things that were wrong; we have robbed the honest poor and brought distress to many a door. We know it was wrong to fund the bonds and make them payable in coin; we know it was wrong to water our railroad stocks, but Thou knowest we make money by that. Now, Father, Thou knowest we are above all politic[illegible] Lead us not in the way of strikers, and deliver us from the Knights of Labor, and thus we shall have the kingdom, bonds, power, and gold, until the republic shall end. Amen!

Too Much of The Franking Privilege.

"I will be frank and truthful with you, darling," said George Himself, tenderly, "as I always intend to be after we are married. You are not beautiful, but you have more good sense than all the pretty girls I know put together." "And I, too, will be frank and truthful," replied Amanda Herself, for it was she. "You don't know as much as a last year's bird's nest, but you have a larger mouth and keep it open."

Mother—Oh, doctor! I'm so glad you have come. We have just had such a scare. We thought at first Johnny had swallowed a five-dollar gold piece.

Doctor—And you found out that he didn't?

Mother—Yes; it was simply a nickle.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal. — Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff. — Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

AN OUTCAST'S LIFE

How It Begins, Develops And Goes Out In Misery And Sin.

A city missionary gives his conversation with one of these outcasts:

"Well, my boy, what do you want?"

"A home, please sir."

"What is your name?"

"Hain't got no name, sir; the boys call me Pickety."

"Well, Pickety, where do you live."

"Don't live nowhere, sir."

"But where do you stay?"

"I don't stay nowheres in the day-time, but I sleep in hay barges, sir, and sometimes in dry-goods boxes, and down on the steam gratings in winter, till the M. P.'s came along, and just now a cove has taken me in at the iron bridge at Harlem."

"Iron bridge! What do you mean?"

"Why, them holler iron things what holds the bridge up. He got it first, and he lets me in."

"Pickety, who is your father?"

"Hain't got no father, sir; he died afore I knew, and me mither she drinked and bate me, and we was put out by the landlord, and she died and the city hall buried her!" And something like a shadow came over the cunning blue eyes.

"Pickety, did you ever hear of God?"

"Yes, sir; I have heard the fellers swear about him, and I know it's lucky to say something to him when you sleep out in bad nights."

"Did you ever go to school, Pickety, or to church?"

"No, sir; I never went to no church nor school. I should kind o'like to learn somethin'."

My hearers, these unfortunates are all about us.

When they got up from their hands and knees to walk their first step was on the road to ruin, and every day since they have been plunging down to lower depths, and wilder despair, and deeper darkness.

There are many about us in boyhood and girlhood in comfortable circles that are going to be something very good or very bad, very bright or very ignorant, and they will yet make their parents glad with an infinite gladness or pain them with infinite sorrow. They go bounding through the hall; they shout in the yard; they sing in the school. This activity that now strikes the ball, and runs the race, and rolls the hoop, and flies the kite, will soon be ready for the higher game of life, where fortunes are to be made, and reputations achieved, and temptations combatted, and kingdoms of glory won.

Call up that child; push back his hair. Shall this face be ever brightening up with benevolence, or scarred, and pinched, and blasted with excesses? Shall those eyes become more and more intelligent, or shall they acquire the the dishonest glance and the servile down cast? Put your hand on that child's heart. Shall it always beat with noble impulses, or will it be a thief's heart, a coward's heart, a traitor's heart?—Talmage's Sermon.

Breaking Timber Land.

During the past fifteen years I have helped to clear off and break nearly one hundred acres of heavily timbered land. I have sown the land down in timothy, red clover, blue grass, and orchard grass, and pastured it for four or five years before breaking it. I keep the sprouts down, and by the time mentioned the roots have mostly rotted and many of the stumps can be pulled out with the plow. When the ground is to be plowed at once, the work is more difficult and cannot be too well done. Every root in the way of the plow should be taken out and all the smaller stumps. I do none of this work until I put the plow in the ground. A strong plow and a steady team are essential. I do not grub any until I begin plowing, because I can plow close up to the small stump and by cutting from that side can so loosen it that the plow will take it out; this saves moving the dirt with a mattock. The most troublesome stumps are those sending out many side roots. Those having heart roots can be closely reached with a plow, and if the heart root is cut a little below the level of the furrow the stump is easily pulled out and bothers no more. When I have plowed the land none but the larger stumps are left, and there are no roots projecting beyond the stumps. The stumps and roots are hauled off, the former to close hollows, the latter for fuel. A team used in breaking such ground soon becomes accustomed to the work, and will go cautiously as they approach a stump.—Ex.

A Hint to Puny People.

From their arrival on this planet to their usually early departure from it, people of weak constitutions and angular physiques pass a sort of half existence. Like dormice they burrow in their home retreats, afraid of heat, afraid of cold, constantly afraid that the shadow of the dread reaper will materialize and exact the forfeit which he demands from all sooner or later. No finer medicinal assurance of comparative vigor for the feeble exists than that afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Used with persistence—not with spurts and spasms—this genial and professionally commended [illegible] will do much towards infusing strength [illegible] rounding off scrawny [illegible] figure Appetite, nerve [illegible]ly repose are encouraged by it, and a malarial, rheumatic, bilious tendency overcome. ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY..................SEPTEMBER 23, 1888.

THE president has received official information of the refusal of the Chinese government to ratify the amended treaty

IF the "faith cure" folks will get in now and cure the yellow fever sufferers in Louisiana and Florida, they will get a big boom for their medical creed.

THERE will be one more state election—in Georgia—before November 6th. Well-informed people believe that the state will give a Democratic majority.

FOR the first time in her royal history, during her recent visit to Glasgow, while she was responding to the address of welcome, some one in the back of the hall shouted to Queen Victoria, "Speak up."

THE N. P. ELECTION.

The election of Mr. Oakes to the presidency of the Northern Pacific is an evidence of the rising authority of Mr. Villard in the affairs of that company. Indeed, it may be assumed from this circumstance that the influence of Mr. Villard is now paramount in the management of the Northern Pacific. Something over a year ago, when the road was in financial stress, Mr. Villard secured for it a large sum of money upon a pledge that he should be permitted to control the policy of tne company, and Mr. Oakes' election is the first answer to this pledge, Mr. Villard comes again into practical control of the Northern Pacific with the support of Mr. Wright and other large stockholders and is therefore in a much stronger and better position than during his former administration, when the powerful Wright faction was in opposition to him. If he is under any engagements that will in any manner interfere with the reforms demanded by the interests of the property and of the public, they are not known, and it may be assumed that they do not exist. It is not reasonable to suppose that Mr. Villard would be satisfied with the empty and dubious honor of the dictatorship (for this is his present position), under limitations which would leave him no chance to impress his own ideas upon the actual management of the road.

Mr. Villard's purpose in again assuming control of the Northern Pacific is to insure the payment of his European backers of some millions of dollars advanced last year upon the doubtful security of a third mortgage. The road was and is doing nothing to warrant the loan of this large sum as a business proposition. The hazard seemed extreme, but Mr. Villard had entire confidence in the earning capacity of the property if properly managed and put up the money upon the assurance that he should be allowed to manage the road, and to repay himself and his backers out of its excess earnings. Coming into the control upon these terms, the first interest will be to put the management upon a purely business basis. The selection of Mr. Oakes as the managing head of the property, is a wise step to this end Mr. Oakes is familiar in all respects with the property and its relations to the country, is shrewd and capable and with all entirely practical. Under the administration of Messrs. Villard and Oakes, upon a fair and practical business plan, we may reasonably expect reforms that will correct the partiality, injustice and private greed of the old management. The road has suffered to the extent of millions of dollars each year under the old system and if it is to be saved from further and continued loss there must be a radical change. -Seattle Post-Intelligencer, 21.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

LIGHTS UNDER BUSHELS.

The Great Herd of Copyists—Faith in One's Self—Persistence.

If your faith in your power, your confidence in yourself, or your idea or plan are destroyed or weakened by the first sneer or voice of opposition it meets, you are hiding yourself and your light under the bushel. You will remember that a large proportion of the world are mere copyists. They do only what others have done before them and only what they have learned from others. They oppose and sneer at every new idea, and afterward applaud it and use it, when the man or woman who will not allow their light to be hid under the bushel force it into notice and success. In days past the great herd of copyists sneered and ridiculed the idea of steam as motive power on land and sea. So they did with the electric telegraph and the telephone. So it will be with hundreds of new ideas, new inventions and new powers to be developed in the near future.

These ultra conservative deadweights in every business, art or profession, do not like changes. They are wedded to their rut. They don't want to get out of it. To do so makes them homesick. Besides, it hurts their business. They want to jog on in the "good old way"—in the stage coach instead of the railroad, in the "sailing packet" instead of the steamer. They oppose the new as naturally as rats and earwigs oppose the entrance of light to their underground habitations, and for a similar season. The light annoys them. It drives them off. It ruins their business. They "love darkness better than light." Hence they want your light "under a bushel."

If you allow them to keep your light under that bushel they will keep you under it also. They will keep you always in the background. If the first Napoleon had not by force of will ridden over the objections of the veteran martinets who opposed his new methods of warfare, he would never have triumphed at Marengo and Austerlitz. If Cyrus W. Field had not persistently kept his mind centered on the project of the ocean cable despite sneer, obstruction and failure after failure, it might not have been laid to-day. The glow of every new light upon the world is always the work of one man or a very few men against the many. Three or four men in California, years ago, built the Pacific railroad. They first kindled their light in a dingy Sacramento grocery. They kept it lighted and also kept pushing it to the front, while others were indifferent, or dared not take hold of such an undertaking.

You had no need to bluster or bully your light to the front. It is not the force of physical effort or speech that will carry it there and keep it there. It is the silent force of a persistent determination, bent on one single aim. When you are temporarily overcome and tired out through the opposition of the dead weights and earwigs who love darkness, fall back on yourself and the power behind you. Leave the crowd, leave all not in sympathy with you. Go to your room, seclude yourself. Sleep, and before you sleep, demand, pray, desire more power to cope with opposition. It will surely be given to you. How, we know not, but you will enter on the contest to-morrow with renewed strength, and the silent power you gain in this way will, of itself, work results for you.

In the past thousands of "lights [illegible] by this dead weight, run in a rut, live in a rut and die in a rut sentiment and crushing out force, been hidden under bushels and died out under bushels. Actors of genuine humor and talent are to-day playing in third rate theaters or accepting inferior parts in first-class ones because they have allowed sneer or opposition or a more or less failure to drag their minds into that permanent discouraged, disheartened attitude which is always saying: "What's the use of trying? Luck's against me—I'm bound to fail, anyway" On the heels of this comes drink, to "drown care.

So it is with thousands of other actors in all the parts of life. Their own permanent state of mind is the real and only force which keeps their "light under the bushel." They use their own force against themselves. They expend it in talking and complaining to others. They have no knowledge or faith in the fact that a mind decided and determined on a purpose at all times and in all places a mind that fights off the mood of despondency and discouragement as it would fight off a mad dog carries and uses the [illegible]

SALMON NOTES.

Hon. Allen Parker, of the bay, was in the city. Notwithstanding the so-called strike by the fishermen Mr Parker is running about fifteen [illegible] right along; but the catch is [illegible] large. Of the union men there only about a fifth are fishing anyway, as they have no boats or nets of their own Mr. Parker offered two cents a pound, which is as much as he will give.—Albany Democrat [illegible]

Johnny Hume took over several fishermen with him to the Coquille last week. There will probably be 75 boats fishing on that river this fall, and a salmon that escapes all of them will be lucky.—Coos Bay News, 19.

Parties who have been fishing off the Cape report salmon very plentiful along the coast, and several of them were caught by fishermen who had baited their hooks for rock cod and red fish. A good rain would doubtless bring them into the bay by the thousand.—Coos Bay News, 19.

Alfred Nicholls is employed by the Southern Oregon Packing company, shooting seal at the mouth of the bay. Alfred is a good shot, and the seals are rapidly diminishing in numbers, which is a great relief to the fishermen as well as to the salmon. -Coos Bay News, 19.

Crowding Out The Needy.

"Another girl I know of, who graduated at Vassar, imbibed there so much energy and enthusiasm that she could not settle down to the life of a commonplace daughter of the household. She must work, she said, and she could teach. They live in a neighboring city, where her father is prominently concerned in public school affairs, and it was, of course, easy for him to procure for her an agreable place. So she teaches, driven to her classroom every morning by a liveried coachman, while the white hands which so daintily wield the pointer at the blackboard sparkle with rings, any one of which exceeds in value the sum she earns as a teacher in a whole year.

"But think of the equally intelligent, efficient young woman she is putting aside. Somebody wants that place, not to occupy herself, but to make her daily bread.

"Why, only the other day mamma was called upon to interest herself in behalf of a young gentlewoman with an invalid father to support. She painted exquisitely, but found it impossible to dispose of her work. One prominent dealer in art bric-a-brac told her when she mentioned a price for the articles she offered him that but little more than covered the cost of the materials·

"'Oh, I could not pay so much as that; they are worth it, no doubt but I can get them cheaper. Plenty of fashionable women do this sort of thing, you know,' he went on, not without a certain pride in his voice, either, 'women who drive up here in their carriage, who work for the pleasure of it, and who spend the money I pay them right here in my shop for more materials.'

"Now, does that seem fair? Which is why I say," finished this fair champion of justice, logically repeating her opening proposition, "that there ought to be a society for the suppression or regulation of amateur industry."—New York Times

Vancouver dislikes to be called "the garrison city," and it is right. The site occupied by Vancouver is unequalled in beauty on the northwest coast.

During the civil war Oregon furnished 1,810 soldiers; the bounty paid was $222,028, and the proportion of white soldiers to white population was 1 to 29.

Those glorious September days when the air that is still is warm and the air that moves is cool, are bracing to the health and enjoyed by every one able to get out doors.

Charles Starr and Herman Ahlers were arrested yesterday, charged with killing elk out of season; they gave bonds in the sum of $200 each for their appearance Monda,.

Walla Walla and Tacoma have been notified from Spokane Falls that the city that gets the location of the next northwestern firemen's association tournament must put up $1,500.

And now it is demonstrated that Clatsop county can grow grapes, Henry Powell having some Catawbas of delicate flavor. Job Ross has raised figs, and probably if some one was to try raising lemons and olives, they could be produced, too.

The illustrated papers, or those of them that reach here are very weak in their cartoons and comic take-offs regarding the presidential election this year. Puck, especially, which was so full of vim in '84, is nothing but a feeble little ki-yi at Blaine's heels this fall.

[illegible] was arrested last Friday on a charge of opening mail matter addressed to his wife, and was taken before U. S. commissioner Walton and bound over in $300 to await the action of the United States grand jury. John will know better next time.

If some one will bring some hams to this city that are not covered with paper, paint, mold, canvas, and other things too numerous to mention, he will hear of something to his advantage from numerous people who want to eat a slice of broiled ham these cool September mornings.

Word was received from Deep river yesterday of the death of Axel Victor Anderson, of consumption, aged 36 years. The remains will be brought from Deep river to-day to his residence in upper town. Deceased was a member of the A. O. U. W. and the Finnish Brotherhood. The A. O. U. W. pays the widow of the deceased $2,000. Interment at Clatsop to-morrow.

At a meeting of those interested in the proposed deep sea fishing enterprise at Barth's yesterday evening, at which Messrs. Editor Mills of the A[illegible] North-[illegible] has lost his wheelbarrow and in advertising for it says: "It wasn't branded or wattled, and wasn't shod, and didn't have saddle marks, but it was about one year old—just in the springtime of a useful life, as it were and if the person it followed off will kindly and quietly put it back where he got it, and leave his address, we will see that the fact is prominently mentioned when he dies."

There is such a word as "addresse." It was manufactured in the postoffice department. The postoffice clerks have constantly to refer to persons to whom letters, papers, etc., are addressed, and it being altogether too tedious to keep writing: "The person to whom the paper is addressed," and so on, they coined the word "addresse." It is such a convenient word that it is coming into general use, and the dictionary makers will be obliged to recognize it and insert it in future editions of their works.

M. Jovis, a French aeronaut, is building an air ship in which he proposes to attempt to cross the Atlantic from New York this fall. It is to be called the "Atlantic," and will be 200 feet high, with a cubic measurement of nearly 100,000 feet high. It will weigh 4,500 pounds, and will carry the same weight of passengers and freight. M. Jovis thinks he can make seventy miles an hour in it, and expects to land in Norway or Sweden, or else in Ireland, in three and a half days after starting. The cost of the enterprise is fixed at about $40,000.

Our usually level headed friend of the Albany Democrat got righteously vexed last week, and says: "every once in a while some fool of a stranger comes into the city and looks around a little, and then with his superior intelligence immediately sees how things are being run in the wrong way, gets his pencil and writes a long thesis to some local paper about how it ought to be done." Heigho; so it goes: knowledge increaseth sorrow; yea, verily: but strength comes through suffering. Gird up thy loins, Democrat man, and take advice. It is worth just what it costs.

The ingenuity exhibited in the different modes of spelling quite a common name is curiously illustrated in the following incident: A lumber dealer in Minnesota, whose given name was Isaac, had quite an extensive correspondence. His bookkeeper made a memorandum of every time his name was misspelled in letters directed to him, and the list reads as follows: Isiac, Iisac, Icsack, Iscac, Ysac, Isaag, Izic, Isiace, Icac, Isach, Isic, Isiaac, Isaace, Icaas, Icks, Iassic, Aisec, Isaar, Iassac, Iceic, Issas, Isica, Inac, Iassac, I2k, I Sic, Issach, Isac, Isick, Issace, Isssace, Iseke, Issick, Isaak, Iisace, Isak, Isaack, Icaac, I Sick, Isich, Issac, Isace, Isoac, Isice, Isaic. That will do for Isaac.

PERSONAL MENTION.

A. J. Megler and wife have returned from Victoria.

Col. Jno. Adair and Mrs. Dr. Owens Adair have returned from Salem.

J. W. Clemens has the nomination for joint councilman from Pacific, Chehalis and Wahkiakum counties. He deserves to be elected, and would make an efficient representative, at Olympia, of southwestern Washington.

LAUNCH OF THE "WINONA."

There was a large crowd yesterday afternoon on the beach north of the Astoria Iron Works to see M. P. Callender's new steamer, the Winona, launched. Jos Leathers, her builder, was busy getting things in readiness, and the finishing touches were being put on her keel, which is shod with iron.

Steam was up, and everything ready, and at 2:43 the props were knocked away and the pretty little steamer slid gracefully into the dancing waves, and rounding to, jauntily blew her whistle, the propeller revolved, and away she went on her trial trip, the launch being in every particular a success.

The Winona is 34 tons; 66 feet long, 17 feet beam, draws 5 feet and cost $6,000. Job Lamley is the captain and Peter Jordan the engineer. So soon as the boat gets her papers she will begin plying between here and Knappton.

LINE WORKING AGAIN.

Some Specials Received Last Night.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Theodore Thomas has finally and fully decided not to make any further effort toward maintaining his great orchestra. Hereafter he will merely act as leader of the philharmonic society.

REFUSED TO RECORD IT.

BISMARCK, Dak., Sept. 22.—Geo. W. Sweet, a lawyer of Indianapolis, has offered for record a quit claim deed from Oscar Swanson of Livingston, M. T., to Sweet for a quarter section of the townsite of Bismarck, or what might be called the east half of the town. The consideration is only $300.

The instrument purports to be a reconfirmation of sale made by Swanson, March 13, 1872. The register of deeds refuses to record the deed on the ground that it is but an inexcusable attempt to cloud the title of five or six hundred thousand dollars worth of property including half of the court house.

ANOTHER STRAW ON THE CAMEL'S BACK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A special from Ottawa, Ontario, states that a matter which may strongly tend to weaken the already strained relations between the dominion and the United States has presented itself in connection with the limits of jurisdiction at points adjacent to the boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia. The result of the recent investigations reported to government here show that the valuable gold fields which have been discovered and which are now being worked on the Yukon river are in British, not in United States territory, as has all along been supposed. These gold fields are represented to be of great value.

YELLOW FEVER REFUGEES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two refugees from the quarantine camp in Florida were arrested to-day by the health officers of the city and taken to North Brothers island, where they are kept close prisoners. The refugees came from an infected city, said to be Jacksonville. They had agreed voluntarily to undergo ten days quarantine before continuing their journey. They broke their parole and came through by rail. The health authorities here are in close telegraphic communication with the infected districts and will arrest all who are found violating their parole.

A REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Republican senators held a caucus from 10 A. M. to 2:30 P. M., to-day, about which they are more than ordinarily reticent. It is given out the the territorial bills will be restored to the head of the calendar for immediate consideration after the appropriation bills are disposed of, and senator Sherman's trust bill is to follow. It is also said on authority that the tariff adjustment question and everything else in the range of immediate legislation will probably be discussed and no decision will be reached.

THANKS FOR AID.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Acting manager Gerow, of Jacksonville, Florida, writes to the charity committee of the produce exchange, expressing thanks for its generous aid. He says Jacksonville has enough to last thirty days but it will have to be divided with McClenny and Gainesville, and that the fever cannot be expected to end before December, so that much more help will be required.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Jno. C. Dement Druggist.

FIRE IN THE CALIFORNIA WOODS.

You are in the redwoods and the hour is about 10 o'clock at night. The heat has been intense all day and the air has been full of smoke. The forest is on fire, either on your own place or on that of one of your neighbors; for every one turns out to fight the common enemy, and your house or his, or both, may be threatened. All day your men have been busy with ax and shovel making a trail through the woods or clearing out an old one. A trail for this purpose is merely a narrow pathway through the woods, from which the brush is cut and the fallen leaves cleared away, so that the fire will not be able to run across it. This trail has been cut in a semicircle round the fire, but at some considerable distance from it. Now you proceed to kindle the brush all along the edge of the trail on the side toward the burning forest.

Already you hear in the distance the roar of the fire as it advances, the crackling and crashing of the branches as they fall from some rotten tree, the cracking, hissing and rushing of the flames as they leap up some bank thickly covered with brush; and every moment it is drawing nearer and nearer, sometimes with leaps and bounds where it finds plenty to prey upon, sometimes creeping along the ground by means of the fallen leaves with which the forest is carpeted. Meanwhile the fires which you have lighted, so small at first, are growing as they advance and will soon rival the fire they were made to combat. On they go, seizing everything they meet on their way. Fallen trees, piles of slabs, branches and tree-tops left by the woodman, with great masses of brush and bramble, provide food enough. On it goes, for your different fires have now joined, and one great wall of flame goes racing forward, leaving behind it piles of burning timber, while here and there some unsound tree takes fire and stands out a huge flaming torch, burning often for days after the rest of the fire has passed away or left only a few smouldering logs behind. The forest, which a few moments before was sunk in the deepest gloom, is now lighted up to its utmost recesses by a deep lurid glow, making the great trees look weird and ghastly as it plays on their huge trunks and massive limbs. The noise becomes terrific, the roaring, crashing crackling, groaning and hissing increases as the two fires approach each other. Nearer and nearer they come, two great waves of flame, licking up everything as they pass; nearer still and nearer—then, with a roar like thunder at one bound they leap the intervening space, hurl themselves into each other's arms, and coiling twisting and shrieking in one wild embrace, send great tongues of fire shooting high into the heavens, lighting up the most distant mountain tops with a bright red glow.

All danger is now passed, only care is still required. The men gather from their different parts along the line—a ragged, smoky, grimy looking crew you think them, and are probably a good deal surprised when you get home the next morning to find that the raggedest, grimiest, smokiest of the lot was yourself A huge demijohn is now produced, and Californian though it be, without even the usual addition of a French label, no wine ever tasted as well as that wine does after the heat and toil of the fight.

Nothing much now remains to be done. Most of the men go home to bed, a few only remaining to patrol the trail and watch that the fire does not break out beyond it. There are dangerous spots on every trail, where, for instance, great masses of fallen timber keep smouldering on, occasionally blazing up and throwing out sparks for some days, or a standing tree, having caught fire, may threaten to fall across the trail and kindle the dry brush beyond. William Maitland in Nineteenth Century.

The Jackson Godfrey Combination

The Jackson-Godfrey Athletic Musical combination will give an entertainment in Ross opera house next Thursday evening. MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and Beast. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Billiousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

A SHOTGUN QUARANTINE.

Desperate Diseases Require Desperate Remedies.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 21.—All the railroads in this city will be notified to-morrow not to sell tickets to Memphis, as no train will be allowed to come nearer the city than ten miles and a cordon of armed pickets will guard the dirt roads and no one be allowed to enter. The sentiment here is that Memphis can better afford to spend $100,000 to keep the city free of infected persons than to have even one case of fever, which would cost her merchants millions of dollars in loss of trade, not counting the lives of her citizens, which would be in danger. This same feeling pervades throughout the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama and extends into Kentucky. Every town and city in the states named, from Cairo, Ills., south to New Orleans, has established quarantine against the infected points, and in many instances against the world. A "shotgun" quarantine prevails along the line of the Illinois Central from New Orleans to Fulton, Ky.,-and trains are not allowed to stop at any of the stations between Cario, Ill., and Canton, Miss. A regular panic seems to have seized the people, especially in the smaller interior towns, where "No intercourse" is the watchword, and armed men guard the roads leading into those places.

IN NATCHEZ, TOO.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A special from Natchez, Mississippi, dated yesterday, says: The city is in a fever of excitement to-night at the receipt of yellow fever reports from Jackson. A shotgun quarantine will be established at once. A large excursion from Natchez which visited Jackson is shut out from their homes, all trains on the Natchez, Jackson & Columbus railroad beyond Hamilton having been stopped. A special train went out at 11 o'clock to-night to bring the Natbez people from points along the road who have not gone to Jackson. By a shotgun quarantine in 1878 yellow fever was kept out of Natchez, and it is believed it can be done again.

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become [illegible], and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much [illegible] for a number of years. By the [illegible] physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever --Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers. —C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until within a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier. – Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye. — Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

By Taking

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete. — W. L. Sut[illegible]land, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

A correspondent desires to know what would be done if Harrison and Morton should be elected and should both die before the electors from the several states meet to cast their votes for president and vice-president. The question is not exact in its terms. Neither Harrison and Morton nor Cleveland and Thurman can be elected until the electors from the several states have met and cast their votes for president and vice-president, or for president or vice-president if one of the candidates the electors favor should die between the date of the election and the date of the meeting of the electors. The constitution provides (Article II, Section 2) that "each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust and profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector." The electors are required to meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. This, except the personal qualification for both president and vice-president as to nativity and age, is the only constitutional limit upon the power of the electors to choose a president. What would be done in the event of both of the successful candidates dying between the date of the election of electors and the date of the meeting of electors is subject to the unwritten law which requires electors to vote for the candidates of their party. The constitution places in the hands of the electors the power to vote for whom they please, providing the person voted for is eligible, but the unwritten law is that they shall vote for the two men the party which placed the electors in nomination designated as their choice. There is nothing in the constitution to prevent a majority of the electors chosen in November from voting for other men than their party had placed in nomination. For example, if a majority of the Republican electors should be elected in November and they should agree to vote for another eligible man than Mr. Harrison the person so voted for would be elected. The popular idea is that the president is elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, while in fact it is only the electors who are elected. The president and vice-president are elected on the first Wednesday in December, the day provided by law for the electors to meet in their respective states. Our correspondent will see, therefore, that a majority of the electors chosen in November have the power to name new candidates if both the candidates named by the convention of their party should die between the date of the election of electors and the meeting of electors, but it is not in accordance with the spirit of the usages governing the selection of candidates that they should exercise that power. The natural course to take in the emergency supposed would be to call the national convention of their party together again that the party might name the candidate the electors should vote for.

It is by no means uncertain, but on the contrary, a well ascertained fact, that upon the well being of man's stomach depends that modicum of happiness which is vouchsafed to him in this world. Dyspepsia, the foe of all others to the stomach's tranquility, and most to be dreaded, [illegible] complaint to the preliminary [illegible] eventual cu[illegible] St[illegible] Bitters is spe[illegible] those who use it w[illegible] persistence to eat with a degree of relish, because it imparts a healthful appetite, to digest with ease, because it strengthens the stomach, and to assimilate the food which is eaten and digested, thus benefiting health, promoting flesh [illegible] exercise of the physical [illegible] ties. It, moreover, facilitates the secre[illegible] of healthy bile, actuates without discomfort the habit of body, and tends, when taken upon retiring, to produce healthy slumber. Malaria is conquered by it.

The Political Campaigner.

Campaigns cost money now, but it isn't the oratory that costs. We pay more for campaign bands now every year than congress gets, and the campaign expenses of both parties would send Bibles and bustles all over Africa. Grown-up men clothe themselves in tin helmet and oilcloth overcoats, holler all night and go home at breakfast time with their pockets full of clam chowder and two or three torchlight wicks in their hats. We have found out that the average man is only a big boy and frequently a lunkhead at that. He likes to feel the gentle exhilaration of martial music and rum firing his veins and to flatter himself that it is heroism and valor. Stirred by the lascivious pleasings of the bass drum he walks thirteen miles in the rain and smokes cigars which would make the Chicago river turn around and run the other way. We have learned that we do not need much money for folks who read the papers and think thoughts. The money goes mostly to give the thirsty and ignorant a general outing, as I may say. The campaign comes like a benison to those who, aside from the Fourth of July, a public baptism, or the funeral of a distant relative, see very little to enjoy.—Bill Nye, in N. Y. World.

Remember This.

If you are sick Simmons Liver Regulator will surely aid nature in making you well. If you are costive or dyspeptic or are suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the Liver, Stomach or Bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill, for Simmons Liver Regulator is a sovereign remedy in all such complaints.

They tell a story in Dublin about Balfour and an eminent bishop who has fought hard for the unfortunate people of his country. The two men met for the first time at dinner, and in the course of the talk Mr. Balfour said: "But after all, I fancy that the newspapers make more noise than the masses. Do you think now that the people really dislike me?" "Ah, Mr. Balfour," said the priest, "if the Irish only hated the devil half as much as they hate you my occupation would be gone."

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY.......SEPTEMBER 26, 1888

THE United labor party at New York has agreed to nominate a full state ticket except for governor.

THE tariff documents sent out by the two national committees, Democratic and Republican, since July 1st, reach in number 7,000,000 copies.

PRESIDENT of the senate Ingalls measures the 5-minute speeches of senators with an old-fashioned hour glass. He says: "It takes sand to run the senate.

IN a race between a zebra and an ostrich, held at Zanzibar recently, the prize was given the rider of the zebra, although the ostrich came in a hundred yards ahead. The zebra's rider claimed that his rival won on a fowl and the judge sustained him.

MICHAEL DAVITT'S statement in refutation of the charges which have been made against Parnell by the London Times seems to impress unprejudiced men as strong testimony to the Irish leader's innocence of any connection with revolutionists and conspirators.

THE duke of Marlborough, a London paper states, pays his private cabman no wages, but permits him, instead, to ply for hire when not otherwise wanted. As the giddy youth of the metropolis esteem it a great thing to engage the Duke's carriage, the driver makes out very well.

IF Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe should die, the veteran abolitionist writer of the country will be Hilton Helper, author of "The Impending Crisis." He is still hale at a green old age. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Helper's great book did more to break down the slavery lines than any publications before the war.

HARPER'S Weekly is usually a source of amusement or contempt. This week it is both amusing and contemptible. It tries to straddle so as to be at once Republican, Democratic and mugwump. It endorses President Cleveland, opposes the Democratic nominee for governor, and advises the New York Republicans what to do. In one editorial column it is trying to help Mr. Cleveland; in the adjoining one it is trying to defeat him. We have an honest admiration for sincere opinion, and can overlook partizan zeal in expressing honest thought, but such jugglery as Harper's Weekly tries is mawkish.

Racing With Time.

The Melbourne Telegraph says: "We are living in an age of miracles without being aware of it. Within two hours of the time of the first innings of the Australians vs. Oxford University cricket match closing, the Telegraph, recording the event, was selling in the streets of Melbourne! This is a feat of telegraphy that probably beats all former records. The cricketers closed their innings at Oxford amid cheers for the wonderful skill of Ferris and Turner, and while the players were still on the ground continuing the contest, the news was flashed across the body of the planet, put in type, printed, and distributed in living print during the advance of a hundred and twenty minutes.—London Printer's Record.

That is nothing. In America during the progress of a horse race or a game of base ball the heats or innings are recorded as fast as completed, and when the last occurs the former are already in type, the forms on the press, containing type-high blank characters which await the result of the last heat or inning. When this is announced by wire the pressman, with a steel punch and mallet, punches the proper figures in the blank characters, which completes the record, the press is started, and while the attendants at the game or race are preparing to leave the grounds they receive from mounted carriers the papers containing a full record of the entertainment.

A Free Pass Kicks Back.

We appreciate all courtesies extended us by the Central railway authorities, but we do not think they ought to make us get off at stations and help grease the engine and throw on wood and look for tramps under the trucks and help the baggage man with the trunks. We will lose all our dignity if the thing keeps on. They do not make the other editors do it and we fail to see why we should.—Smithville, Ga. News.

WAR ON THE FRONTIER.

United States Troops Sent Forward.

Interesting Specials From The East.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Herald's Austin, Texas, special says: All day Sunday and Monday the most alarming telegrams continued to pour in on Governor Ross, informing him that war, bloody and fierce, was raging on the Texas frontier, and that Rio Grande city had been for the past twenty-four hours in the possession of an armed Mexican mob. All telegrams came from John P. Kelsey, county judge of Star county, or the sheriff, and each succeeding one was more startling and sensational than the others, all demanding troops immediately. To convey the impression, in plain words, rampant anarchy runs riot on the border, and the lives of American citizens of that section are in imminent peril.

TROOPS SENT THERE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The acting secretary of war this afternoon ordered United States troops sent to Rio Grande city.

THE DREAD SCOURGE.

FERNANDINO, Florida, Sept. 25.—There are twelve new cases of fever here, and three at Ellensville

KILLED HIMSELF.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. Dodge, cashier of the law firm of Shipman, Barlow, Larouche & Choate who was, recently victimized by their mortgage clerk out of $300,000, committed suicide by turning on the gas this morning.

SULLIVAN WORSE.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—John L. Sullivan was a trifle worse last night. In the afternoon his temperature rose to 102½. At midnight he was resting quietly. His father thinks there has been a decided change for the worse.

A CALL FOR CHARITY.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 25.—Supreme chancellor Wm. Ward has issued a circular to the Knights of Pythias of the world, calling for an immediate contribution in aid of yellow fever sufferers, to be sent to R. L. C. White, supreme keeper of records and seal, Nashville, Tenn.

A GREAT PARADE.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 25.—The civic parade of the merchants' and manufacturers' societies and labor organizations of Allegheny county this morning, was the feature of the centennial celebration. The parade was twenty miles long and occupied five hours in passing a given point. It is estimated that there were twenty-five thousand men in line. The parade represented the advance made in the modes of transportation and progress of manufacturers, commercial business, etc.

A DUEL TO THE DEATH.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Sept. 25. Last Sunday evening a sanguinary duel took place at San Felipe de Sabinas, a mining town sixty miles miles from here. Losira Amador, captain of Contias guards, a body of mounted custom house inspectors, and Graciana Cautau, one of the state rangers, had trouble and a grudge existed between them. Meeting in San Felipe de Sabinas they drew pistols simultaneously and began shooting. Amador fell dead at the second or third shot and his opponent, Cautau, died within four hours from the effects of the wounds received from his slain antagonist.

SALE OF THE BLAIR ROAD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 25.—Information has been received from an authentic source that the sale of the Kansas City & Southern Railroad, known as the "Blair" road, to the St. Louis and San Francisco, has been consummated. It is, however, impossible to learn the price paid.

DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—James Bedell, who swindled the Farmer's Loan and Trust company and some well known business men out of $250,000 by means of forged mortgages, has been leading a double life for years. He occupied a modest home in Brooklyn with his family and was devoted to his wife and child and his aged father. In this city he led a life of dissipation, gambling recklessly and flinging his and other people's money among the most disreputable women of the town. He says his losses at policy foot up over $127,000. The total amount of his stealings from the clients of Shipman, Barlow, Laroque & Choate is $264,500. His farm at Bedford, Winchester county, is said to be worth $30,000, but is mortgaged for $18,000. For ten years Bedell was in receipt of a salary of $7,500 and his domestic expenses did not reach anything like the amount of his salary.

SHE THRASHED "CALAMITY"

WAVERLY, Iowa, Sept. 25.—Ex congressman "Calamity" Weller figured in a rather sensational episode at Plainfield, near here, to-day. He held a note against a farmer named Scott, who was selling off some stock at auction. Weller, aided by some officers, was garnisheeing the property as it was being put up for sale. This action incensed the pretty little wife of the embarrassed farmer, and securing a heavy cattle whip she stole up behind "Calamity" and began a vigorous use of the lash. He beat a hasty retreat, but not before the whip had descended several times on his venerable pate, his hat having fallen off at the first blow. Weller is posing for congressional honors as the candidate of the greenbackers, and his political prospects are not likely to be advanced by to-day's scene

THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. President Cleveland, in consultation with various leaders of the Democracy of this city, has decided that it will be better for the national ticket to have the county democracy and Tammany Hall nominate separate candidates for mayor this fall. This will make a three cornered fight for the office, and the Republicans think they stand a good chance of getting their man, whoever he shall be elected. The reason why the president so decided the matter is that he believes a healthy rivalry between the two big Democratic organizations will draw out the full Democratic vote for the national ticket.

A STORY OF THE STUMP.

As Told To A Laughing Multitude By A Gubernatorial Candidate.

Here is a Pennsylvania story as told on the stump in Wisconsin the other night by W. D. Hoard, the Republican candidate for governor in that state:

There lived once in the little city of Williamsport, Pa., an old judge of the name of Williams. This old judge was noted for two things: For getting mellow occasionally, and for being plucky and courageous under all circumstances—a gamy old man. It was a peculiarity of the old judge that whenever he got mellow he grew correspondingly religious. One night he wandered into a protracted revival meeting and seated himself upon the front seat, full of spiritual influence of some kind. The clergyman, engaged in his preaching, rose to a fervid pitch of eloquence, and in the midst of it exclaimed:

"Show me the drunkard! Show me the drunkard! Of all men on earth the most unfortunate; show him to me!"

To the consternation of all present the old judge arose and unsteadily maintaining himself, exclaimed: "Well, sir, here I am."

The clergyman having realized upon his investment much sooner than he anticipated, didn't know what to do with it. They finally pulled the old judge down, and the incident had passed out of memory almost, when the clergyman again struck an impassioned period, and exclaimed in the honesty and fervor of his heart:

"Show me the hypocrite! Show me the hypocrite! Of all men on God's green earth the most despicable. Show me the hypocrite!"

The judge arose the second time and reaching his cane over to a certain shaky old deacon, exclaimed: "Deacon, why the devil don't you get up when you are called on?"

The San Francisco Call deserves honorable mention in being a paper that credits reprint

The motors and cars for the Portland & Vancouver railway are on the Michigan, which is expected to day

The A. B. Field, in from Tillamook yesterday, is discharging 1,180 cases salmon from the Tillamook Packing Co

President Oakes and Henry Villard of the Northern Pacific railroad, are reported to be on their way to Portland.

The owners of the Michigan have offered her to the Portland board of trade for $150 a day to work on St. Helens bar

The Astoria & South Coast Railway Co., has levied an assessment of 25 per cent. on the subscribed stock, payable by October 8th.

Frank Benjamin, a former employe of various canners on the Sound, has skipped from Seattle and is supposed to have gone to Australia.

The Geo. W. Elder arrived in yesterday morning from San Francisco, O. K. She made six knots an hour part of the way up, seven being her way up time.

The Thistle and Columbia Cannery Co. property, which was advertised to be sold this week, will not be sold just yet, the sale having been ordered postponed, by request.

Seven robberies in Portland this week, causes the astute local detectives of Portland to entertain the opinion that there are some thieves in the city. Under the circumstances the presumption is justifiable.

A powerful tug is being built at James bay, British Columbia, for Dunsmuir & Sons, which, it is claimed, when finished will compete with the famous Tyee in power. The tug will run in English waters.

Search is being instituted near Destruction island for the wreck of the American bark Emily Farnham, that was lost fifteen years ago. The vessel was loaded with railroad iron from Philadelphia for the Northern Pacific railway, and the valuation of the cargo is estimated at $60,000.

Arrivals from Tillamook report the breaking out of an immense forest fire near the mouth of the Nehalem last Monday night. The sight was one of grandeur. The whole side of a densely wooded mountain was in flames, the glare extending far out to sea, and lighting the horizon as far north as Shoalwater bay.

At a called meeting of the chamber of commerce last evening, after sundry discussion, the secretary was instructed to correspond with the secretary of the treasury relative to the return of the Corwin and the president was authorized to appoint ten delegates to the coming convention of the Columbia Waterway association.

The Whatcom Reveille man says he will send his paper free for one year to any one in case Cleveland be elected, the person to whom the paper is sent paying $2 if Harrison be elected. The Walla Walla Union makes the same offer. That may be politics, but it isn't business. The paper is worth $2 a year no matter who's elected.

The Gloucester fishing schooner Mollie Adams, captain Calder, returned from the vicinity of Queen Charlotte sound, off the coast of Alaska, early last week with 150,000 pounds of salted halibut. The catch includes 5,000 halibut, the average weight of which is about 100 pounds each. The cargo was shipped from Seattle to Gloucester.

The Cowlitz Advocate is informed that the railroad now in operation from Portland to Vancouver is soon to be extended to Kalama. The editor of the Advocate has often wondered that the Northern Pacific railroad did not see the need of extending their line to Vancouver, but it now seems that another company are to get the coveted plum.

The Ilwaco & Oysterville railroad will cease running trains on the first of the month, the rolling stock to be put in the round house. Work on the extension goes right along. The road is graded to Paul's place and so soon as the iron, which is coming the Horn around, gets here, the rails will be laid and the locomotive will run within two-and-a-half miles of Oysterville.

About one o'clock Monday morning the residence of J. T. Borchers, near Knappton, was entirely destroyed by fire. The contents of the house were also entirely burned. The fire was seen but it was impossible for assistance to arrive soon enough to be of any avail. It originated from the kitchen fire. The loss is about $1,000. The good people of Knappton supplied Mr. Borchers and wife with clothing and other necessaries.

First officer Chambers, of the wrecked Derby Park was among the passengers on the Geo. W. Elder yesterday, on his way to Portland He was master of the Archer when that vessel was here two years ago. He says that the island of Penryhn, where the vessel was wrecked, is an atoll, a circular coral reef. There are 500 natives and one white man. Captain Rothery of the Derby Park, is unfortunate; he lost his vessel, his wife was drowned, his sister, the wife of the captain of the Bessefield died as the vessel was entering port.

While it is quite generally conceded that posts set in the ground upside down will last much longer than in the reverse position, the why and wherefore of it has been a mystery with the general public. The reason is this: The pores of wood are so constructed as to draw and push the moisture upward from the roots to the leaves and branches of the tree, and this same principle of action causes the constant drying out of a post set reversely to its natural growth, while if set bottom down the pores will constantly draw the moisture upwards thus causing its premature decay.

The following is from yesterday's Oregonian: Maj. T. J. Handbury has been notified that his project for the improvement of the Columbia river has been approved. It contemplates providing a channel across the Columbia river bar having a depth of thirty feet at mean low tide. This improvement is to be effected by means of a low tide jetty, partly tentative in character, four and a half miles long, reaching from Fort Stevens on the south cape, to a point three miles south of Cape Disappointment. Work is proceeding favorably on the jetty and all the men who can work to advantage are employed. As only a certain number of men can be employed the completion of the work cannot be expected for some years.

Don't Get Excited, Old Man.

A rumor has been afloat that the coast line railway project had been abandoned. If this is the case the parties who had it in their power to further the same to a speedy completion, should receive the kicks and cuffs of about 90,000,000 of American people, and the first round should be allowed Tillamook, because we think, laying all jokes aside, we have some of the most able bodied kickers in the united universe. Tillamook must, will and shall have a railroad, and if our jolly cousin on the north don't propose helping a project through which would lay millions at her door, then to some other persons we must look. Astoria certainly can understand the full meaning of southern railway facilities—which would lay lumber, grain, fruit, etc., at her market and allow her the surplus which is now being reaped by Portland and other towns. A city immediately on the ocean must be built, and if Astoria exerts herself but a farthing's northward she can have the laurels and walk away with the banana. The imports and exports of Tillamook for the next three years will be a warrant to substantiate the building and equipping of a reliable railway, and if not done by one company, will be by another.

Let us then be up and doing—make hay while the sun shines—to-morrow you may die, etc. Get a move on, and start the wheels going, or the surveyors, and the boom that follows will astonish the oldest inhabitants.—Tillamook Head light.

Gently, brother, gently! Large bodies move slowly. The railroad is progressing. One of the best railroad engineers in the country is in the field, the surveyors are surveying, an assessment has been levied, the bellyachers are croaking, and everything is going right along. Just sit still and look pretty and before you know it the locomotive will be whistling on the Miami.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Salmon on the Sound.

There was a remarkable catch of fish last night by the Columbia Canning Co.'s fishermen, and this morning between 4,000 and 5,000 fish were piled up on their wharf. The fish were caught in Hood's canal, Mukilteo and Elliott bay near the city. The company's steamer Delta arrived from the two former places loaded down. The company has traps in Hood's canal as well as seines, which accounts for the good haul. Silver sides were caught in large numbers, scarcely anything else at Mukilteo. The cannerymen telegraphed for additional help and will run their cannery up to its full capacity. They expect a continuance for some days at least, and say that ten days' catches such as this will amply satisfy them. The run of Jack salmon is about over.—Seattle Times, 21.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow [illegible] to-day, and for nearly two years [illegible] leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Diseases

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have had the best of physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me, and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous [illegible] head colds, sneezing, snuffling and [illegible] breathing, and rapidly removes the most [illegible] symptoms [illegible] breath, [illegible] and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the [illegible]

A Commendable Enterprise.

Articles of incorporation of the Astoria and North Pacific Deep Sea Fishing company were filed in the county clerk's office yesterday. The incorporators are Isaac Bergman, Ludwig Mortensen and Thomas B. Loughery. The business is catching, preserving, packing and selling all kinds of fish found in the waters of the Pacific ocean and its tributaries. The principal office is in this city. The capital stock is $20,000, divided into two hundred shares of $100 each.

Stock books are now open at the office of Capt. Mortensen, in Booth's building.

The idea is to build a suitable vessel at once. The vessel proposed to be used will be built here under the supervision of Capt. Mortensen, who built the fine steamer Michigan, a description of which appeared in the columns of THE ASTORIAN a short time ago. The dimensions of the vessel will be 112 feet over all, 25 feet beam, and 9 feet depth of hold, the tonnage to be about 170 tons. It is proposed to have the vessel ready for business about April 1st, 1889. She will be so built that steam power can be put in her if desired.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Jno. C. Dement Druggist.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind cholic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Had Gone After Water.

Greensboro (Ga.) Sun.

A story is told on a Sunday school teacher in a certain backwoods settlement in a neighboring county which is worth publishing. She had a new class of young scholars, the parents of which had neglected to give them any instruction in their catechism whatever. Going to the first boy in the class she asked him who made him. He did not know. She told him God, and urged him to remember it. Of the next boy she asked who was the oldest man. He did not know, and the teacher told him Methuselah. So she went on down the class, asking each a question and giving them the answer.

While she was thus engaged the first boy went to the bucket after some water. The teacher returned to the head of the class, and not knowing that any one was absent, she asked the boy who made him.

Without hesitation the boy quickly replied, "Methuselah!"

"No," exclaimed the teacher in astonishment, "God made you!"

"No, he didn't," persisted the urchin, with confidence, "the boy God made is gone after water." The teacher gave up the class.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 7, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: I was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took over a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure your medicine cured me and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease. Yours truly,

WACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1888—Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a loathsome skin disease, that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of the physicians who treated it. Her husband began finally giving his wife Swift's Specific and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a hearty fine-looking lady with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly, J. E. SEARS,

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever. —Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers. —C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier. —Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye. —Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete. —W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky. ††

IN THE U. S. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—In the senate Stewart offered a resolution calling on the president for such information as he has received since the 7th inst., as to the action of the Chinese government on the recent treaty.

Edmunds suggested that the resolution would better be considered in executive session, for reasons which he would state in executive session. The resolution thereupon was laid upon the table temporarily, and the senate, on motion of Edmunds, proceeded to executive business with closed doors.

The resolution was withdrawn by the senator from Nevada as soon as the doors were closed, to give Edmunds an opportunity to offer an amendment calculated to bring out any official correspondence which may have taken place during the pendency of the restriction bill. The resolution went over for the day under objection.

The doors were opened at one o'clock. Sherman's resolution for an inquiry into the state of relations between the United States and Great Britain and Canada was taken up, and Morgan proceeded to discuss it.

He yielded the floor temporarily so as to permit Allison to report back from the committee on appropriations the house joint resolution to continue the provisions of the present law providing for the expenditures of the government up to and including the 10th of October. The joint resolution was passed. It is the fifth of its kind passed this session.

Morgan then resumed the floor and proceeded with his argument. He paid a high compliment to the president for his clear sight and courage. There was, he said, no trimming, no double-dealing, no hiding away of his opinions on the part of the president.

Dolph replied to what he designated the extraordinary speech of the senator from Alabama. He spoke of the inconsistency of the Democratic senators, who, from being on the British side when the treaty was pending, were now the most radical advocates of retaliation. He regarded the president's retaliation measure as a most extraordinary document. After the rejection by the senate on the fisheries treaty, which was "a shameful surrender of American rights," the president had been left free to execute the retaliation act of March 3, 1887, but chose to bluster rather than to act, and undertook to instruct the senate on the question. The president demanded power to do what he could to prevent transportation in bond and to from Canada, the exercise of which would hurt American transportation companies and would tend to destroy American industries, and would hardly harm Canada at all. It would divert the transportation of goods to or from Canada across American territory by American transportation lines. It would give an opportunity for the building up of Canadian lines, and it would, in the end, as claimed by leading men of Canada, be of benefit to the Canadian provinces. The exercise of the power in the president's hands under the act of March 3, 1887, would have injured Canada. Was that the reason why the president had not executed it? The power asked for would injure American interests. Was that why the president desired it? It would seem to be the president's desire to retaliate on the people of the United States rather than on the people of Canada.

At the close of Dolph's remarks the resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations, Sherman stating that it would be considered to-morrow

A Satisfactory Answer—Mrs. Newma—Now tell me, Mrs. Barkins, do you believe in one cow's milk for the baby? Mrs. Barkins—Wall, that depends on the child. Ef he's a good, strong, healthy baby, and wants it, I'd give him two cows' milk, but sake's alive, it 'pears as if any ord'nary baby oughn't t'want mor'n one cow could furnish.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY..............SEPTEMBER 27, 1888.

EAST and north in this country the sealskin sacque is a great institution. During the time the Alaska Fur Seal company has had the privilege of taking seals from the waters of that territory it has paid over $8,000,000 to the government, or a sum exceeding by over $1,000,000 the price paid for the whole of Alaska with the seal islands included.

REPORTS of gold found in the Black Hills may bring an exodus in that direction next year. Gold seekers who believe in coincidences will recall the fact that for forty years back every year that ended in the number 9 has been celebrated for the discovery of rich deposits of precious metals. California in 1849, Pike's Peak in 1859, Nevada in 1869, and Leadville in 1879, all bear out this statement.

AFRICA is destined to swallow up a good deal of the world's surplus energy. Some years ago Gordon went there to find the Mahdi; then Emin Bey followed in the hope of finding Gordon; Stanley, after waiting a year or so, started out to hunt up Emin Bey, and now Lieutenant Wiseman has begun a search for Stanley. Before very long it will become necessary for some daring fellow to look for Wiseman, and he will, of course, be followed by another explorer, who in turn will be sought for by another, and so on indefinitely. If this sort of thing is to go on there will be an endless procession of fellows getting lost in the jungles of Africa, in their vain endeavor to reach the other fellows who have gone before. The Dark Continent is an almost boundless land of mystery, and the fate of these adventurous explorers may never be known. They may fall victims to the African fever, or be devoured by wild animals, or perish in a struggle with their savage foes. On the other hand, they may win favor with powerful tribes, and in that strange land build up great states and empires. One thing is certain, these numerous expeditions into the heart of Africa are blazing the way for civilization. Whatever may befall these early explorers, nothing can prevent the final subjugation of Africa by the whites. The continent will be divided out among the European powers, and at no distant day it will become one of the most important regions on the globe. Let the procession of explorers go on. Many of them may be lost, but others will follow, and in the end the indomitable energy of the white man will conquer and hold this mysterious land and all its treasures.

The "Venture" Heard From.

The schooner Venture returned from the far north Sunday, and is anchored in the bay. Last spring the Venture was purchased at Astoria by John C. Nixon, of Seattle, and fitted out as a sealer. She carried a large fish net, and instead of shooting the seals, her crew would cast the net and catch them. While in the north a number of the crew was drowned and the captain seemed to be demoralized, for he placed the schooner in charge of an Indian agent, and struck out in an open boat for Fort Simpson. Nothing has ever been heard from him since, and Mr. Nixon supposed he had been drowned, together with the other members of the crew, but a few weeks ago Mr. Harry Algar went north on the steamer Boscowitz with a crew to bring the schooner down, and on his arrival at Fort Simpson, he learned that the missing captain had reached there in safety.

Where he went from there, or what he deserted the schooner for remains a mystery. The crew that went north to bring the Venture down took fishing gear with them, and as the vessel had several tons of salt on board, they had no trouble loading her with halibut, which were salted down.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

TOLD BY THE TELEGRAPH.

Encouraging Reports From Panama.

Three Very Offended Chinese Mandarins.

PORTLAND, Sept. 26.—This city seems to be infested with burglars. Lodging houses are as yet the only places entered.

A case of a very unusual character went to trial before Judge Stearns this morning, namely that of the state of Oregon against John Lewis and Etta Lewis, jointly indicted for alleged criminal associations at the Merchant's Hotel, in this city, on the 12th of last July. The female defendant is the daughter of Rev. S. M. Driver, of Walla Walla. The male defendant is a brother of the woman's husband. The case was given to the jury before noon, and that body took one ballot and then they found John Lewis guilty. His counsel gave notice that they would move for a new trial.

This morning, at 11:30, Dennis Dooley, a farmer, was driving up Sixth street when his team grew frightened and ran away. At the corner of A street the wagon collided with an electric light mast and was turned over, throwing the man out upon the sidewalk, breaking his left shoulder blade and producing quite an ugly scalp wound. He was picked up in an insensible condition and taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where his injuries were treated.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 26.—Only nine new cases are reported this morning and one death. This is one of the brightest and most pleasant days of the season, cool and refreshing. The belief is becoming general that the epidemic will soon run its course. A cordon has been thrown around the city to prevent the ingress of paupers.

HEAVY WEATHER.

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—A violent wind and rain storm is raging along the whole New England coast this morning. The telegraph wires are down in all directions. The damage will be large.

THAT WAS RIGHT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Twenty-one little girls, from 9 to 13 years of age, were brought here yesterday by Mormon elders, from Europe, en route to Salt Lake City, and were ordered today, by Collector Magone, to be sent back to Europe.

EXTENSIVE SMUGGLING.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Hon. McKenzie Bowell, minister of customs, has just returned from British Columbia. He says it is quite evident that a lucrative business is being done in the manufacture of prepared opium at Victoria and smuggling it into the United States along the frontier. It is imported in the rough state and duty is paid so the dominion government is powerless to remedy the evil. The importation has increased from six thousand pounds in 1880 to 105,000 in 1887, of which 90 per cent was smuggled into the United States. He thinks the United States should send detectives to Victoria to work the matter up.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS.

PANAMA, Sept. 26. A well informed correspondent writes to the Star and Herald: "It is learned that several contracts on the canal have been finished, turned over to the canal company and accepted after inspection. Facts are stubborn things, and these irrefutably give the lie to innumerable vague floating rumors in circulation about the canal company's shutting down work. Of course they are shutting down just as fast as they can but only at the completion of their work. Other equally important sections will also shut down, and ere the outside world suspects it and whilst it is yet buttonholing itself and speculating on the gloomy prospects of Panama canal work the cable will flash through Christendom with the tidings of ships floating over the isthmus of Panama."

OFFENDED MANDARINS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Serious trouble is threatened by the three Chinese commissioners brought here in bond, in a bonded box car. They intend to carry the matter to Lord Salisbury himself. They are evidently important personages, and were treated like common Chinese laborers. They came from New York, and on their way west first-class passage was refused them. The customs police on this side said the law required them to be treated the same as packages in bond. They were locked up in the box car and so brought through. The man who let them out of the car incurred a fine of $150. The custom authorities have apologized and hope to escape further ill consequence.

MRS. LANGTRY DISHEARTENED.

LONDON, Sept. 26—Mrs. Langtry, it is reported, has returned to Paris disheartened, her husband having refused absolutely to see or talk with her on the subject of a divorce. The solicitors of both parties met, but Mr. Langtry was not there. It is reported that he is earning a good living and won't consent to any arrangement to hand his wife over to another man

A BRITISH SUCCESS.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 26.—The British column under colonel Graham has entered the Jelapa Pass. The great force which opposed them was badly armed and handled, and easily routed. The loss was 20 killed. The British now hold the entrance to Thibet, which was the object of the expedition.

The Juvenile Opera company, now in Portland, are getting deservedly fine notices from the Portland press. They will be here next Tuesday and Wednesday in the "Chimes of Normandy," and the ever popular "Pinafore." The sale of reserved seats begins next Saturday at the New York Novelty store.

There's a man in Pittsburg who has $100,000 that says Cleveland will be elected president, and a man in New York city who is just aching to bet $100,000 that Harrison will get there. Now it would doubtless be a mutual relief to those two men if they could get together for about five minutes, long enough to sign agreement and get a certificate of deposit.

A newspaper reporter on his midnight rounds sometimes sees things that are funny and other things that are fraught with woeful prophecy for years to come. Some of the parents of this town would do well to look after their boys. 'Tis a duty they owe to their children to look after their welfare, and no boy can see or hear anything good prowling around the streets at night.

A southern Oregon man believes in the law of compensation. Like the patent pill man who left a million dollars to build an insane asylum, thus giving the money back to the man he got it from, this southern Oregon man, repenting of the thousand cases of colic and stummick misery he occasioned, proposes to turn 100,000 pounds of watermelons he has left over into syrup

A San Francisco dispatch of the 25th says: An action has been brought in the superior court by the Alaska Improvement company to recover $5,000 from Wm. T. Coleman & Co., and for cause of action avers that in April last the Alaska company purchased of Coleman & Co. 10,000 cases of tin cans to be used for salmon packing for $9,120, the cans being in Astoria, Oregon, and warranted to be in good order. It was afterwards discovered that a large portion of the cans are rusty and unfit for salmon packing.

There was a comedy yesterday morning which better marksmanship would have transformed into a tragedy. A presumed lady, whose husband is at work in a neighboring logging camp, a "lover," and a waiter in a restaurant were the actors and the lady's domicile the scene. The waiter was evidently de trop, as the party in possession fired at him from the window. Had his ability been equal to his inclination one prominent restaurant man would have been looking for a new waiter yesterday. As it turned out the affair furnished considerable fun for the lookers on. No arrests.

The Seattle Times says: "A young lady yesterday stepped into an employment office in this city and said she was the owner of 160 acres of good land in Snohomish county, with sixty acres cleared. She said she had also a small sum of money, and her object was to secure a husband who would work the farm and make her a good consort. She left her address with the agent, and solicits correspondence from any one who wishes to secure a steady situation and a home. The young lady was handsome, and her eyes had a business snap." Yes, and it's that eye business that gives the snap away.

Cleveland and Harrison hats are not very plenty this fall, but there are lots of buttons and badges being worn. Puck is very severe on men who put what it calls a "trademark" on themselves by conspicuously wearing a button or some emblem, with "C & T.," or "H. & M.," on it. But that is all right. A man has a perfect right to wear a party badge if he feels like it, and the average man is very fond of an opportunity to don some kind of a badge or regalia. Half the fun of belonging to a lodge of some kind or other is the right to have a medal or a charm on your watch chain with "T. L. X. R. G. P. D. Q." on it. But as to campaign buttons, the main point "which way am your musket a pintin' to-day?" and how will you vote on November 6th, button or no button?

Under the electric street light in front of THE ASTORIAN office every morning lie little cylinders that look like a cross between a cartridge and a lead pencil. They are bits of carbon discarded by the boy who daily trims the light and fixes the dingus that makes the light burn—sometimes. Of these little carbons there are 150,000 burned every night—in the United States. Of these 100,000 are manufactured in Cleveland, Ohio. Six years ago all the carbons burned in the country were made in a single room in Boston. Now there are twenty carbon furnaces in Cleveland alone. The carbons are made of what is left after oil is refined; this is ground into fine powder and a little pitch being added, the stuff is pressed in moulds and then burned in a furnace.

The "off shore towage" is the latest development regarding bar towage. It is something believed to be unheard of on the coast. Ship captains who have been in the business all their lives say it is a new thing to them. The Dunboyne was asked $150 "off shore" towage, and refused, and was finally brought in for the schedule rates as advertised by the O. R. & N. Co. When the Villalta was towed in the Escort made a demand for $50 "off shore" towage, which was acceded to. The master of the Villalta says he was between seven and eight miles from the cape at the time. He has made a request of the company for a rebate. The tonnage of the Villalta is 866, the rate for towing in over the bar, to Portland and return and out again, is $900, about which there is no kick, but that $50 "off shore" towage doesn't set well, and the claim is made that the charge for "off shore" towage is unusual, unwarranted and unfair. There are charges enough on Columbia river commerce without going out of the way to put on additional cinches.

The weather that we've been having ever since Saturday is enough to make a tramp out of a man. When the rain is falling and the wind is piping, and you can't see half way across the river, it is all well enough to work, but those glorious days, with earth and air and sea and sky in perfect harmony entice one away from work. The streets are hot and you get tired of these eternal planks, and the police court, and the city council, and the roadway, and the man who gets mad if you put his name in the paper and madder if you don't; and just over yonder is Saddle mountain, and sparkling water, brilliant sun and cloudless sky, and quiet recesses, and trout, and elk, and healthful zest of hunting and coming tired into camp and getting a rest. Talking about camping, getting a crowd of three or four and taking some grub along, did you ever notice that when anyone is out in the woods on a tramping, or on a camping expedition that he comes out in full bloom and is his mammy's own boy? If there's a mean streak, a selfish thought, or a whine in one it'll come to the surface when he is camping, and one of that breed can break up a combination quicker than an accident. They say if you take a man when he is wet, tired and hungry, and still good-natured, and dry, rest, and fill him up, you have an angel. Probably, but few would stand the test. And, talking of tramps, it is to be said that the climate of Oregon is not conducive to the creation of the tramp. There is too much body to the atmosphere and the surrounding wetness is too prevalent for that careless, happy-go-lucky specimen of humanity, who flourishes in dryer climes. Three months of this kind of weather would bring out that latent tramp feeling that is in every man, but which, like the core of an onion, is wrapped around by the superficial layers of breeding and conventionality. In some ways the tramp has pleasures in life that some of us have missed. The only thing that keeps the average man from being a tramp is the consciousness of his identity. The fun of it is that that is exactly what makes tramps of a part of mankind.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

To Judge Taylor Yesterday Afternoon.

In the circuit court of Oregon for the county of Clatsop.

To the Hon. F. J. Taylor, Judge of said court:

The undersigned, your grand jury, respectfully reports as follows:

We have inquired into all charges of crime brought before us and have returned true bills in thirteen cases, and in sixteen cases we have returned not true bills. The docket before the grand jury has been unusually long, there having been twenty-four cases in which persons were held to answer, besides many other cases which were brought before us by complaint.

In many of the cases in which parties were held to answer, the witnesses were absent from the state, so that they were beyond the reach of subpœnas from this court, and in other cases they were in remote parts of the county, where it was difficult to obtain any knowledge of their whereabouts, and from these causes we have had great difficulty in our investigations, and in some cases have been wholly unable to secure the attendance of witnesses.

As a matter of convenience we recommend that the names of all the material witnesses for the state be hereafter endorsed on the back of the transcript, together with their place of residence, so that the clerk and officers of the court can ascertain at a glance the information required to secure the attendance of witnesses.

We have visited the offices of the clerk and sheriff and find them neatly kept, and so far as we were able to judge from a brief inspection, properly and efficiently conducted.

We visited St. Mary's hospital where the county poor and infirm are kept, and found it all that could be desired, and the inmates entirely satisfied with the care bestowed upon them by the good sisters in charge of the institution. The hospital is a credit to the community and could hardly be better conducted than it now is.

We found the county jail neat and well kept, but recommend that a new and stronger floor be put in, and such other repairs made as will make it more secure than it now is; in its present condition it is a wonder that anybody can be kept there without escaping at pleasure.

We found the city jail cleanly and in good condition.

We heard no complaint as to the condition of our public schools and assume that they are fairly satisfactory to the public.

We are informed that the county road from Fort Clatsop to Skipanon, a road that cost a good deal to construct, is closed up, and has been closed during the whole season, and further, that a very small outlay of money or labor would open it and we recommend that the county court require the supervisor to open it forthwith.

And having finished our labors we ask to be discharged.

Running a Paper Under Difficulties

Yesterday was a tough one in the Metropolis office. At 8 o'clock information was received that our faithful pressman and engineer, Robert Osborne, who had stuck to us manfully through the epidemic, would be unable to come down to work, as he had the fever, thus making the eighteenth case in this office. This was bad news, but the climax was reached when R. A. Russel, one of the proprietors, who had been gallantly acting as foreman, editor, business manager, printer &c., found that the fever had attacked him and he, too, had to go home, thus leaving a working force of four printers and one editor to get the news, set it up and print the paper, attend to the business departments, run the engine and do the chores. However, we managed to get out a paper with all these drawbacks, and will endeavor to keep the Metropolis from losing an issue.—Jacksonville, Florida, Metropolis.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Stabbed The Salmon Six Times.

Emil Fortmann, the ten-year-old son of Henry Fortmann of Alameda, while bathing in the surf near Schuetzen park, secured a salmon weighing fifteen pounds by means of stabbing it six times with a pocket knife.—S. F. Call, 23.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Jno. C. Dement Druggist.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT cures Piles, Old Sores, Caked Breasts—all Inflammation.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 7, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: I was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took over a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease. Yours truly

WACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1888—Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a loathsome skin disease, that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of the physicians who treated it. Her husband began finally giving his wife Swift's Specific, and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a hearty fine looking lady with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly,

Sore Eyes

[illegible] eyes are always in sympathy with [illegible] body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever —Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.—C. E. Upton, Nashua, N H

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier.—Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye.—Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky. 11

The Story of The Great Eastern.

The last page in the history of a mighty steamship will soon be written. The Great Eastern is to be broken up and sold for junk, where she lies beached on the banks of the Mersey river. There is something pathetic in the fate of this monster vessel and of the enterprise which brought her into being. In 1852 a company was formed in England to maintain an ocean trade to the east around the cape of Good Hope; but it was soon found that the venture would not pay if coaling stations had to be supported at points along the route, as seemed probable, since no ship then afloat could be expected to carry fuel enough for the round trip. Somebody hit upon the idea of building a vessel that would carry a thousand passengers, 5,000 tons of merchandise and 15,000 tons of coal. Accordingly in November, 1857, the last bolt was driven in the Great Eastern. Her gross tonnage was nearly 19,000, and she was 690 feet long, 83 feet broad and 60 feet deep. She carried eight engines, varying from 1,000 to 1,600-horse power. So huge and heavy a ship, it was feared, could not be launched in the ordinary way, so she was built with her broadside toward the water, and slid down an enormous wooden staging, the cost of the mere launching process being between $300,000 and $400,000. Next an explosion occurred on board, killing several persons and requiring the expenditure of a large sum to make good the damage done. As there was no certainty about the profits of the Australian trade, for which she was especially designed, it was concluded to experiment with her on the usual route of the transatlantic passenger steamers. She made several voyages, beginning in June, 1860, to and from the harbor of New York, but her owners continually lost money, partly because the traveling public did not dare trust themselves on an experimental ship of her size, and partly because of the steady outlay for repairs. In December, 1861, when there were threats of war between Great Britain and the United States, she proved her value as a transport ship by bringing two thousand troops from England to Canada with scarcely any inconvenience or discomfort, and three years later she was employed to advantage in laying submarine cables. Since then she has changed hands on one or more occasions, at her last sale commanding a price of $100,000. She has been used chiefly as a coal-carrier between remote British ports. Her cost to various owners, it is estimated, has been somewhere near $30,000,000, and her final collapse is attended with the consoling reflection that the chance to throw money away on her will have gone with the breaking up of her hulk. She is the largest ship ever built, and is likely to hold that place in history undisputed, at all events for a good while to come. Steamers are now built between 500 and 600 feet long, and from 50 to 60 feet in beam, and show splendid sailing powers. The Umbria, which beat the City of New York on her last trip out, is 520 feet long and 57 feet broad. Her sister Etruria is of the same dimensions; but the point is rapidly approaching in ship building, in the opinion of experts, where increase of size must be abandoned, on account not only of the strain which the great weight brings to bear upon the joints, but of the unwieldiness of so large a craft in the hands of even the most experienced navigator.

Eat With Comfort and be Happy.

It is by no means uncertain, but on the contrary, a well ascertained fact, that upon the well being of man's stomach depends that modicum of happiness which is vouchsafed to him in this world. Saved For The Regular Boarders.

A traveler, who returned from a two weeks' vacation among the Maine watering places, relates an amusing incident that occurred at a small New England hotel where he chanced to stop for a day or two while journeying to Bar harbor. The hotel was a small one, and the principal person in charge of the office was the daughter of the proprietor, a buxom lass of probably twenty summers. When the morning of departure came this fair Diana presented the bill to the traveler, and it so happened that neither of them could change a note that was tendered in payment. In a quiet way the traveler, who had something of the Don Juan in his nature, although he did live on Walnut street, smilingly offered to kiss the young lady and let the change go. She drew herself up haughtily. "I'd like you to know, sir, that in this hotel we don't kiss transients," she replied in freezing tones. "Such a privilege is only given to permanent boarders. Will you take a prospectus for next season?"—Philadelphia Times.

A Cowboy's Apology

Detroit Free Press.

"Talking of mules," said captain John Lound. "I was riding with a party of ladies and children in a government ambulance from Fort McKinney to Douglas, when at a turn of the road a cowboy came galloping into sight, holding a revolver in each hand, and firing as he ran. My driver had a four-in-hand team, and the first thing I knew the leaders were looking me in the face and we were all twisted up in a heap. As the fellow saw that it was a United States military party he drew up and pocketed his revolvers. Then making a half-defiant half shamed bow toward the wreck, he said:

'"If I'd a known them was government critters, I wouldn't hev fired. I'd hate awfully to skeer a United States mule.'

CAPTAIN BASSETT, the venerable doorkeeper of the senate, always goes through a ceremony at the opening of the sessions which few visitors are fortunate enough to see. Trimly accoutered, he proceeds at precisely five minutes before the hour of meeting to the room of the presiding officer. He halts in the doorway with military abruptness, makes a very stiff but very deferential bow, and says: "Sir, the hour of the meeting of the senate has arrived." Then he bows again, escorts the presiding officer into the chamber, delivers the gavel into his hands, and retires to his post at the left of the president's desk.

DRESSING ON $85 A YEAR.

What an Economical Woman of Good Taste Can Do.

"Jack's income is an unknown quantity," said Madeline.

Jack is an artist and her husband.

"If he happens on a brisk pot-boiler or two he may earn $1000 a year, sometimes a little more; oftener not so much. But Jack depends on seeing me always well-gowned. I try to please him on $85 a year.

"The smallest sum on which I have ever clothed myself for twelve months was $13; the most I ever spent was $150, one winter when the sale of Jack's best picture tempted me to fling $78 into a velvet robe."

"Tell me how you buy so much with so little," for Madeline could not be imagined in shabby garb.

"I don't buy much, but I plan my campaigns. If you really care to know, suppose you figure with me what I mean to get for this fall. Here is a piece of my next gown," and out of a ribbon-tied work basket came a bit of camel's hair, which was laid upon my knee. It was a very genuine piece of fabric, soft, silky, of a rich brown, but so covered with the long, cobwebby hairs as to get a sheeny, silvery hue.

"This will cost me a pretty penny by the yard, but it is fifty four inches wide and $9 will buy all I shall need for the gown I have in mind. I shall spend $1.50 more for a little brown surah or some soft effect in brown and green to make a vest for the bodice, and possibly, puffs from elbow to wrist on the sleeves. The vest will save buttons and let in $1 more for some wide braid passementerie about the neck. I shall pay $1.75 for a dressmaker to come to me for a day to fit and drape the skirt, putting it into shape for me to finish. She shall give me the longest and simplest lines of drapery she can devise. Jack says they are more artistic. The bodice will have jacket fronts opening over the brown and green vest, and, mind you, I don't mean an ordinary plain vest, but a full loose Fedora affair. All told, my gown will cost me $14 or thereabouts. I shall keep it for pleasant weather, wearing my last winter's wool gown when it is muddy or rains.

"Then there are evenings. Jack and I see a good deal of company of the unconventional, Bohemian kind. I shall spend nothing for evening wear this year, because the velvet gown I have repented so often is in good order; but one winter, when funds were so low that we ran out of potatoes I managed to be very gay on $5 worth of silk and lace, turned into a fancy bodice, to be substituted for the plain one with my walking dress. Another winter I invested $10 in white cashmere and a very trifle of Chinese silk, and contrived myself a tea gown.

"There are always bonnets. I study one I like very carefully; then I buy a frame of the same shape, pay 15 cents to the milliner to make up the ribbon bows, put on the rest of the trimming myself, spare it in the wearing by freshening last year's bonnet for marketing, and am fixed for the season for not over $3

"Cloaks come on an average once in two years. This is cloak year. Cloak time is the first of January, when things are marked down. I shall pay $18 or thereabouts for something very neat in the raglan way, which would cost me nearer $30 if I could afford to buy at the beginning of the season.

"After January there is a respite until spring. For a spring gown I shall manage very nicely on—well, say a fine stripe in dark blue and white cheviot, fine, silky goods, with dark blue surah, or whatever may be going for garniture. With one day's service from a dressmaker it will cost me about $12.

"It is safe to put a spring bonnet at $3, and two hats, one a soft blue hat with no trimmings but a cord, for roughing it, and the other a coarse, wide-brimmed straw, with mull or ribbon trimmings, at 75 cents and $1 respectively, making $4.75 in all. Then more gowns. I am living this summer in a wood challis white ground with tiny flower sprays—lace trimmed, which I made myself, and which is the prettiest of thin afternoon apparel, though the bill was only $5. Last year I had an old lavender silk skirt which I draped with a dotted lace net in white at a cost about the same. With chambrays and Scotch ginghams at [illegible] cents a yard two more fresh gowns came to another $5 bill."

"How about a spring jacket or wrap."

"That never comes in cloak year. Wrap one year, cloak the next. Look out for good material, and turn and turn about is easy, as well as fair play. It is the incidentals which have to be looked after most closely. Little things count up so fast. I wear two pairs of [illegible] boots in a year—cost, $8; slip[illegible] [illegible]; rubbers, $1. I spend $3 for two pairs of kid gloves and 50 cents for a pair of [illegible] gloves in summer. Somebody always knits silk mittens for me in cold weather. I spend an average of $10 a year for stockings, flannels, renewing underwear, etc. Such things don't all wear out at once. Of course, there are ribbons, but I take them and an occasional pretty thing [illegible] out of my car fare. If you walk you [illegible] the healthier, and the pennies saved will make you very [illegible]. Count it, and see if I have kept within my statement."

Winter dress	$11 00
Winter bonnet	3 00
Winter cloak	18 00
Spring dress	12 00
Spring bonnet and hats	4 75
Summer gowns	10 00
Boots and shoes	10 50
Gloves	3 50
Flannels, etc	10 00
Total	$75 75

Madeline has not greatly overdrawn her funds.

"What did $48 buy in a year"

"Two good wool gowns at $8 each; soft, easily draping gowns they were, too, made at home, of course; $15 worth of shoes and underwear, two bonnets at $3 each, $4 worth of checked wool, from which I cut myself a spring jacket. An allowance of $25 a year more to admit, say one in two years, of a substantial silk for dress-up would put me above the care of clothes. A woman who can't dress on $115 a year doesn't know how," and Madeline nodded decidedly.—Philadelphia Press.

DO YOU WEAR PANTS?

Here Is a Scheme to Prevent Them From Bagging.

If there is one thing more than another which will disgust a man, it is to see his trousers begin to "bag" at the knees. Every man hates to see this, but to a fastidious man the sight is almost unbearable. Better have a crumpled shirt on or a shiny coat than "baggy" trousers. A pious observer once remarked that if men would only spend one-half the time in saying their prayers that they spent in trying to take the "kink" out of their trouser legs, heaven would be full of males.

All this time spent in fretting and fuming can be avoided.

How?

Every night when you remove your trousers spread them out flat from front to rear, making the front fold turn on the first suspender button, and bringing the front and rear crease in each leg together in such a way that the inner seams in the leg will lie one over the other. Then, having done this, make another fold just at the knee, and throw both legs back so that the bottoms of the legs almost touch the waistband just below the buttons. Then lay the trousers away, and, if possible, place another pair upon them, or better still, a clean-surfaced board. Change as often as you can if you have several pairs, for trousers worn every day must get out of shape.

President Arthur's Canned Salmon.

When senator Vest of Missouri, accompanied the late president Arthur out to the Yellowstone park on the famous fishing excursion, the little Missourian thought he would play a little trick on Mr. Arthur. One day Vest went out by himself and returned in the evening with a fine lot of fish. He met president Arthur and remarked:

"I never would have believed it, but do you know that I really caught some salmon to-day in a boiling spring that were nicely cooked—all that was needed was a little pepper and salt and sauce to have them ready for the table. See, I brought three of them home. Just try one of them, Arthur. Most delightful flavored fish I ever tasted."

President Arthur looked critically at the fish and then replied:

"Well, that is quite a freak of nature, Vest, but I had an experience to-day that lays your boiled unseasoned fish out cold. See," he said, as he dove down into the fishing basket and brought out a tin can of Columbia river salmon, "I found a spring to-day where I caught these just as fast as I could throw in my line. Try some, Vest. It's the finest flavored canned salmon I ever tasted. I'll take you out to-morrow and show you the spring where I catch salmon like this. Oh, this is a great place, ain't it, senator? People in the east would hardly believe I have been catching canned salmon, but I want you to stand by me, and declare that you saw the cans. I'll stick to the fact that I saw your boiled fish."

Senator Vest didn't try to work off any more of his funny gags on president Arthur during the Yellowstone trip.

The Gen. Miles goes to Gray's harbor this morning.

The receipts of the recent state fair at Salem foot up $15,000.

The Danube came down yesterday, flour laden for Hong Kong.

The south and west sides of Capt. Flavel's new brick building are receiving a heavy coat of cement.

There will be a social this evening at Mrs. Stevens' residence. Everybody will be made welcome.

The grand march at the social dance at Liberty Hall this evening will be at nine o'clock. Those attending will have a pleasant evening.

The infant son of Chas. Olsen and wife died yesterday. The funeral will be at two o'clock this afternoon.

In the current number of Frank Leslie's weekly is an illustration of the Hassalo shooting the Cascade rapids, and a description of the trip.

A has ten apples, B thirty apples and C fifty apples. They all sell them at the same price, and each one receives the same amount of money. At what price do they sell?

George Bewley, an old resident of McMinnville was shot near Shermantown last Tuesday by Wm. McKune, and died the next day. A feud has existed between both families for several years.

The Journal says that the comparative stranger in Salem need feel no uneasiness as to the condition of his mind if, after a few days, his mail reaches him bearing an inscription like this: "☞ Not at the asylum."

"The Chimes of Normandy" is one of the sweetest of operas, and the Juvenile Opera Troupe have won encomiums from all by their rendition of it. The sale of reserved seats begins at the New York Novelty Store to-morrow morning.

Oregon City is to have a $50,000 paper mill. It does seem as though in this land of spruce and fir we ought to be able to get paper nearer than Chicago. The pulp mill at Young's river needs but more machinery to turn out some grades of paper.

The British ship Titania cleared from Victoria last Wednesday for London, England, with 33,782 cases of salmon and a quantity of furs, the total value being $250,000. The Titania is one of the fastest vessels afloat and an effort will be made to complete the voyage within 100 days.

Advertisements for "correspondents with a view to matrimony," are becoming common in Oregon and Washington, chiefly from men in isolated localities who have become too well acquainted with themselves. Any woman having sense enough to last her over night will not notice the advertisement of an alleged man "for a wife."

Walter Smith (Republican) and Will A. Peek (Democrat), of Yaquina, have entered into a novel agreement for the settlement of a presidential bet. The loser is to carry the winner from the hotel to the Oregon Pacific depot, the winner to wear an enormous pair of spurs and to have the privilege of using them vigorously during the prolonged trip.

To a seafaring or wayfaring man the charging of "off-shore towage" seems a poor way to encourage commerce to the Columbia. However, as the company that controls the tugs, controls the river and carries wheat on outgoing passenger steamers to San Francisco, it doesn't matter so much to the corporation as it does to the community whose prosperity is affected.

From Gustav Holz, the engineer of the steamer Novelty, which left Cook's Inlet on the 28th of last month, it is learned that the boat lay at Tongas Narrows eight days waiting for coal. From Cook's Inlet to Astoria is a long and lonesome trip. The Novelty is one of the Arctic Fishing Co.'s boats. The bark Corea, another of the company's vessels, for San Francisco, had W. E. Tallant aboard as a passenge[illegible]

In the contract of every Chinese company that imports the coolies that saw our wood and wash our clothes, is an agreement that in case of death the bones of the defunct Mongolian shall be returned to China. To-morrow the bodies of several Chinese in the graveyard on the hill will be dug up, the bones carefully sorted, tagged and sent to Portland and thence to the Flowery Kingdom. 'Tis a pleasant sort of job, and it takes a high-toned functionary to do it up complete.

The remains of the late Otto Parker, who died at Nordhoff, Ventura, Co., Cal., last Saturday, within three days of the completion of his 18th year, arrived on yesterday morning's boat. The funeral took place at two p. m. The funeral services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Dr. E. W. [illegible] LL. D. The pall bearers were W. A. Sherman, J. P. Hynes, Otto Heilborn, F. P. Young, A. T. Meany and R. G. Prael. Large number of friends and acquaintances testified by their presence the esteem they felt for the deceased whom the fell destroyer had cut down on the threshold of manhood.

A special from San Pedro, Cal., gives the following particulars of the wreck of the Respigadera. The vessel was coming into San Pedro under a good breeze, but had no pilot aboard. Just off the Point Fermin lighthouse she entered kelp, and struck the rocks on the bottom. The hold filled with water at once, and the stern sank, while the bows were lifted out of the water. It is believed the ship will be a total wreck, as she is too badly stove in to be pulled away. The captain, officers and crew of sixteen men are still aboard. The Respigadera is of 1,629 tons register, and carries 2,300 tons of coal for the Southern Pacific railroad, consigned to W. B. Chapman, San Francisco. The tugs Falcon and Warrior tried to tow her off, but could do nothing.

There was a lively audience at Liberty hall last evening, and when A. P. Butler and "Jack Dempsey" in black stepped out they were greeted with applause. Butler was plainly too much for his sable antagonist. Two light weights followed in a brisk three-round set-to, and then came Peter Jackson, champion heavy weight of Australia, and Geo. Godfrey, champion colored heavy weight of America, both good specimens of muscular development, the former being a massive man, looking to be as big as John L. Sullivan. They had three rattling rounds and appeared to enjoy it. A good quartette gave vocal music in the interludes and on the whole those present got the worth of their money. The troupe give all they advertise, and received genuine applause.

The application of a Washington territory woman to be appointed a notary public brought up the question in the mind of Gov. Semple as to whether a woman had any right to hold the office of notary public in that territory. The question was referred to attorney-general Metcalf, who decided they had no such right. The decision states that inasmuch as the word "citizen," when used in the organic act, is construed by the supreme court to refer only to males, women are, therefore, not only incapable of voting in that territory, but also of holding any office, whether appointive or elective. The office of notary is a territorial office, and women are, therefore, incapable of filling it. This decision affects several women in the territory who have already been appointed as notary public by previous governors.

In the house of representatives on the 26th, the committee on public lands reported, and the house passed without debate, the bill to forfeit certain lands granted the Northern Pacific railroad. It provides that all lands granted the Northern Pacific by the act of July 2, 1864, except such as are adjacent to and co-terminus with the road constructed prior to July 4, 1879, except the right of way through the remainder of the route, including the necessary grounds for station buildings, etc., and excepting also lands included within the limits of any village, town or city, be declared forfeited and restored to the public domain, because of the failure of the company to perform the conditions on which the grant was made. Forfeiture is not to extend to lands adjacent to and co-terminus with the completed road sold by the company prior to January 1, 1888, to bona fide purchasers for value, but title to such lands to be confirmed, upon condition that all persons claiming the benefit of this section shall, within one year after the passage of this act, file before the register and receiver of the proper land office, subject to appeal to the commissioner of the general land office, proof of good faith, consideration, date and extent of purchase. All settlers upon forfeited lands are authorized to acquire title to not exceeding 160 acres under the homestead law.

WHEAT $1.95 IN CHICAGO.

A Hint From Germany to the French.

Narrow Escape of the Princess of Wales.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The Daily News will say of the remarkable advance in September wheat, to-day: It is the outcome of a corner in that option by B. H. Hutchinson who has been buying all the September wheat offered lately. As only three days remained for the shorts to settle their trades in, they went into the pit this morning and began to bid against each other with the result that the price mounted rapidly. When it reached $1.25 Hutchinson sent the shorts word that he had wheat to sell. They flocked to his office where he disposed of 325,000 bushels at $1.95 in a very short time. He then, after telling those of the shorts still waiting wheat that it would go to two dollars within a week, went away to his club, leaving instructions with his brokers to sell the shorts all the wheat they wanted at $1.95, or buy all they would sell at $1.94. There is a suspicion that Hutchinson has also most of the December wheat, and in consequence that option went up to one dollar.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVAL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The president has approved the joint resolution appropriating $200,000 to suppress infection, the clause in the interstate commerce act to continue, the provisions of the existing laws of government and the act amending the river and harbor bill.

AN OFFICIAL HINT.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The North German Gazette, the Cologne Gazette and the Berlin Post publish a semi-official hint to France to hasten the conclusion of inquiring into the shooting of the porter of the German embassy at Paris.

TAMASESE DEFEATED.

AUCKLAND, Sept. 27. -Advices from Samoa say that the partisans of the deposed king Malietoa have had an engagement with the army of king Tamasese and the latter's forces were defeated. King Tamasese's army is under command of German officers.

THE HOSTILE CAMPS.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Rio Grande City says the sheriffs of Cameron, Hidalgo and Zapta, whose posses make up a force of 150 men, arrived here to-day. Our next sheriff, Shely, has about 100 fighting men. Col. Clendenning has been authorized to bring troops from Ringgold barracks if needful. Further trouble is not probable in the face of the present display of force. All is quiet. Garza is resting easier and hopes are held that he will recover.

BIG DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

MADRID, Sept. 27.—Eighty cases of dynamite exploded on the wharf at Carthagena to-day, causing much damage.

WON'T HAVE THEM.

BRUSSELS Sept. 27.—The Nord, referring to the suspicion that the Chinese are prospecting in Siberia and seeking there an opening for emigration instead of in America and Australia, says that Russia would not allow Chinese immigration to Siberia.

ROBERT GARRETT WORSE.

RINGWOOD, N. J., Sept. 27.—Robert Garrett is worse to-day. Little hope is entertained for the recovery of his reason.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Times publishes a Vienna telegram saying that while the princess of Wales and her daughter were out driving, near Gmunden, they approached a railway crossing without heeding the electric bell giving warning of danger. When the carriage reached the track the two draw bars, worked by wires from the signal boxes, were lowered, preventing either an advance or retreat. Colonel Clark, the escort, dismounted and ducking under the bar, pulled the pony alongside the fence just as the train passed.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Skamokawa, 206 Cathlamet, 97

CATHLAMET, W. T., Sept. 26, '88.

EDITOR ASTORIAN;

The recent election on the county seat question, in Wahkiakum county resulted as follows:

Cathlamet precinct—For Cathlamet 95; Skamokawa, 2.

Skamokawa precinct—For Cathlamet, 0; for Skamokawa, 127.

Brookfield precinct—For Cathlamet, 1; Skamokawa, 24;

Gray's River precinct—For Cathlamet, 1; Skamokawa, 53.

Deep River precinct, for some reason, did not vote. It is claimed this precinct would have voted "solid" for Cathlamet, it being a large and populous precinct, the result might have been different had the people there voted.

REGISTERED LETTERS.

One Branch of the Postal Service That Needs Encouragement.

The postal service of the United States is about as undeveloped, when compared with that of foreign countries, as the railroad service in those countries is behind the times when compared with the state of advancement "railroading" has reached in America. In Canada it costs but 2 cents to register a domestic letter, and but 5 cents to register a foreign letter. In the United States it costs 10 cents to register a letter, whether it is to go from Astoria to Portland, or from Astoria to New Orleans.

While other postal charges have been reduced from time to time, the registration fee has remained the same for more than twenty years. If the government could afford to do the service immediately after the war, when the cost of everything buyable was much greater than it is now, for 10 cents, it ought certainly to be able to do it now for a much less amount. The fact is there is no reason, save the law to that effect, why we should pay more than 5 cents for the registering of a domestic letter, which is 3 cents, or more than twice as much as is charged by the Canadian government.

The present charges are so high that they amount to a prohibitive tax on the sending of small amounts of money by registered letter. This is much to be regretted, as of all the means that have been devised for sending money through the mails there is none which has so much to recommend it to popular favor as this. The postoffice money order is rendered as often as not more of an annoyance than a benefit by the exasperating red tape through which one has to go either to draw or collect it; and the postal note affords no security whatever. The money order device, because of the red tape in which it is enshrouded, is also an unjust tax upon the country to the amount of millions of dollars which find their way to the treasury from postoffices throughout the country, where for some of many reasons orders which have been issued have not been collected.

The registered letter at once avoids the red tape of the money order and the risk of the postal note. It has, moreover, many advantages possessed by neither of the other contrivances for the safe transmission of money through the mails. Not the least important of these is the fact that the sender of each letter or parcel obtains a receipt from the person to whom it is addressed by the first returning mail, which not only tells him that the money or other valuable thing has reached its destination, but which may be of great value as evidence should the sending of the package ever be called in question.

That the registry system is not more generally made use of is solely due to the exorbitant charges asked for the service. The cost to maintain and conduct it can be but little, if any, greater than in other countries, and congress cannot improve the postal service in any way that will benefit the people more than the reduction of the registration fee to an amount sufficient simply to cover the cost of its maintenance, which, it seems, cannot possibly be more than 5 cents per letter or package.

THAT VICIOUS OLD BUCKET.

How fresh in my mind are the scenes of my childhood,
As fond recollections present them to view—
The cow stall, the pig pen, the ten cords of firewood,
All the tough chores that I had to go through.
The weeds in the garden, the stones in the stubble,
The errands to run and the white beans to shell;
And (when I'd already a surplus of trouble),
The bucket that viciously dropped in the well—
The rotten roped bucket, the iron bound bucket,
The confounded bucket that dropped in the well.

After trudging all day in the wake of a harrow,
The team I must water ere getting my grub,
Cross, footsore and tired clear into the marrow,
I'd seize on the windlass to fill up the tub.
So downward that bucket demurely meandered,
And then with hard lugging it "rose from the well."
But ere I could dump it the rope had disbanded,
And spang to the bottom the 'tarnal thing fell!

Then with grapples and "creepers" and like botherations,
I bent o'er the well like a capital A,
And mingling my tears with devout invocations
I sprinkled them down as I angled away.
How it caught—and slipped off—and at last caught securely!
I pulled with a joy that my words cannot tell;
And I hugged, not from love, but to hold it more surely,
The mud covered bucket that rose from the well.
The slippery old bucket, the rotten roped bucket,
The mud covered bucket that rose from the well

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Jno. C. Dement Druggist.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

A Boy And a Bug.

The wickedest boy lives in Washington. He visited the observatory the other day with a large fire-fly he had caught, and with the aid of some mucilage stuck it in the center of the largest lens of the telescope. That night when the astronomer went to work, he perceived a blaze of light apparently in the heavens, and what amazed him the more was that it would give a couple of spurts and then die out, only to burst forth again in a second or two. He examined it carefully for a few minutes and then began to do sums to find out where in the heavens that extraordinary star was placed. After considerable work he thought he had found the locality, and the next morning he telegraphed all over the universe that he had discovered a new and remarkable star of the third magnitude in Orion.

In a day or two all the astronomers of Europe and America were studying Orion. They gazed at it for hours until they were mad, and then they began to telegraph to the man in Washington to know what he meant. The discoverer took another look and found that the new star had moved 18,000,000,000 miles in twenty-four hours, and upon examining it closely he found it had legs. When he went on the dome next morning to polish up the glass he found the lightning bug. The bill for telegraphing dispatches amounted to $2,600, and now the astronomer wants to find that boy.—Washington Star.

Sore Eyes

The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent index of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best known remedy.

Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

Cured

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well and strong as ever. —Mrs. William Gage, Concord, N. H.

For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has effected a complete cure, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.—C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H.

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier.—Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me of sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, to no purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By Taking

three bottles of this medicine I have been entirely cured. My sight has been restored, and there is no sign of inflammation, sore, or ulcer in my eye.—Kendal T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio.

My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which my daughter commenced taking. Before she had used the third bottle her sight was restored. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky. ††

ACROSS THE RIVER.

Grading on the Ilwaco & Shoalwater Bay railroad is progressing rapidly. The right-of-way is cleared of timber to within a half mile of the bay and the graders are only a quarter of a mile behind. There are about twenty-six Chinamen employed and eight whitemen, besides the engineers. By the first of December work at this end will be completed, and operations will then be suspended until February, when track-laying will commence and grading from Long Beach to Ocean Park resumed.

An amusing circumstance occurred to the writer while up on the Nasel recently, rather too good to keep. A visit was made to one of the logging camps, and one of the hands at work seeing the writer approach, took him for a detective in search of the festive criminal, and made a precipitous retreat into the recesses of the forest. He was induced to return on being reformed that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The terminus for the railroad has been selected at last. It is about three miles of this place, and half a mile or three-quarters of a mile this side of J. P. Paul's place. The road is being graded out on a line with the fence which creates Paul's north line. Deep water at that place is reached at a distance of about 1,400 feet from the bank.

Seldom, if ever, in the history of the oyster industry on Shoalwater bay has it looked brighter than at present. A great many are now engaged at work at this place and Bay Center. One attraction for the business over former times is that coin is paid for oysters the same as the farmer would get paid for his wheat.

The Astoria people are going to build a railroad to Clatsop and have it in operation by the first of July, 1889. They have $60,000 subscribed toward a capital of $200,000, and work will begin October 1st. But, gentlemen over there, you have got to agitate, and then talk about it and publish an article about it every day, and get out an extra during the day, and then hoop it up some more all the time. It takes a heap of this kind of work to build railroads in this country, we have discovered.

The railroad company have served notice upon John Briscoe that suit will at once be commenced against him on the bond for $10,000, on the ground that his part of the agreement wherein he agreed to appoint a disinterested and unprejudiced person as arbitrator, has been violated. They have also begun suit before Judge Allyn for a right of way, which will be heard at chambers, and the judge will be called upon to appoint three disinterested persons to look over the land and award damages.—Journal.

The naturalization clerks at Philadelphia had a curious applicant before them the other day in the person of a man born and raised in this country and who had been for years an American citizen. He had gone to Canada where he had remained a number of years and had there been elected a church warden. The law of Great Britain requires such an officer to be a subject of the queen, and accordingly he was naturalized there. He afterward returned to Philadelphia and desiring to resume American citizenship he was obliged to take out papers the same as a foreign born subject.

A FIVE MASTED SCHOONER.

At the present time, there is, as far as known, only one five-masted schooner afloat in the world, and that is the schooner Louis, which arrived in port yesterday from Tacoma and now lies at anchor in the harbor. As she passed up the bay and came to anchor off the Mission flats she was the cynosure of all eyes on the city front, and old seafaring men opened their eyes with astonishment as they beheld the novelly rigged vessel gracefully sailing up to her anchorage. Soon after the Louis dropped her anchor she was boarded by the Call's marine reporter, who obtained from her master, captain A. J. Hatch, the following details in regard to the only five-masted schooner afloat on the coast, or elsewhere.

The Louis was built at Coos bay, Oregon, by A. M. Simpson, under the supervision of John Kruse. Her managers are the Simpson Lumber company of this city. Her dimensions are: Length, 210 feet over all; beam, 38 feet, and depth of hold, 18 feet. She is 819 tons register and her carrying capacity is 250,000 feet of lumber. She left Tacoma twelve days ago under command of captain Hatch, with a cargo of 1,500 tons of coal and 160,000 feet of lumber, having on board a crew of ten all told. The captain says she sailed well on the way down and was easily handled, but light winds and weather were encountered and she did not have an opportunity of showing what she could do.

The five masts of this novelty in marine architecture are named as follows, commencing from the bow: Foremast, mizzen mast, mainmast, spanker mast, jigger mast. The mizzenmast, the middle one of the five, is 113½ feet in height, the main and spanker masts are 110½ feet high, and the fore and jigger masts each 106½ feet high. She also carries a bowsprit 14 feet long. She carries no topmasts, all the lower masts having square heads. She is a fine looking vessel, and a credit to the Pacific coast, which can claim the honor of building and owning the first five-masted schooner afloat.

The Louis is strongly built of Oregon pine. The interior fittings are not yet completed, but will be finished down here. It is intended to make a steamer of her, probably not while she is here on this trip, but in the near future she will receive her engines and machinery here.—S. F. Call.

PEAR'S is the purest and best Soap ever made.

In some of the counties of Dakota they pay five cents a tail for prairie dogs, and in one place they pass as currency. A man goes into a saloon and for his drinks throws on the counter gopher tails. When the drawer is full they are taken to the county office and redeemed or paid out. It looks a little novel in church to see prairie dogs tails going into the contribution box, but so it is.

Salmon Pursued by a Seal.

Passengers on the ferry from Vancouver were treated to a novel and rather exciting spectacle yesterday morning. Just as the boat was approaching the Oregon shore a salmon was seen pursued by a seal. The fish swam near the surface and although evidently putting forth its best endeavors, the seal kept close behind it. The fish in its terror frequently leaped from the water, but all its doublings and turnings were in vain. The seal followed in its track like a blood hound.

The passengers became quite excited watching the race and every one wished to see the salmon escape its pursuer. At length the boat drew near, but the seal was too intent on its prey, which was almost within its grasp, to pay any attention to the boat or the passengers, but just as it was about to seize the salmon, the latter made a leap and landed on the apron of the boat.

A cruel, hard-hearted member of the boat's crew captured the exhausted, fish, and instead of restoring it to the water when at a safe distance from the seal, sold it to a farmer. It is well known that seals and sea lions prey on salmon, but it is seldom that such a scene as that above described is witnessed.—Oregonian, 29.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY..........SEPTEMBER 30, 1888.

RETROSPECTIVE.

SEVEN years ago, to-day—Sept. 30th, 1881—the writer took editorial charge of this paper, and ever since has continuously occupied that position. Seven years in the life of a man or a newspaper is a considerable time. The past seven years have been busy and eventful ones to the writer, an ordinary lifetime of work and experience having been crowded into them, and though rarely retrospective, preferring to look forward rather than backward, yet, at the close of seven years of incessant labor, memories of those years come crowding on.

In those memories there is much of pleasure and little of regret, personality being totally excluded, for a newspaper man always puts his individuality away from him and thinks only what will make or mar the success of the paper, his life work, the journal to whose columns he gives his life's blood, and which is the sole beneficiary of his best efforts.

> "Tis not in mortals to command success.
> But we'll do more, (Sempronius), we'll > deserve it."

So says the Greek sage, and so say all who form a high ideal and look toward that shining height even though to scale it be denied them. Financial success is casual and secondary, but there is a success that the writer believes he has secured even though financial success be lacking, and that is the ability to be able to say without fear of truthful contradiction that during those seven years no wanton or unjust wrong was done to any one in these columns.

The consciousness of responsibility and the maintenance of self respect require constant care that nothing may appear in a newspaper that would tend to impugn the one or impair the other.

With apparent egotism but pardonable pride the writer is glad to be able to say that during the seven years that it has been his pleasure and his privilege to be the editor of this paper he has never been called upon to retract a statement of any kind, or to recede from any position he has taken.

Those who are engaged in daily newspaper work can best appreciate the full significance of this terse and truthful statement.

In this regard a newspaper and a man are alike. Each has a character to make, to hold, or to lose, and usually its character justifies its reputation.

In being able to say the above THE ASTORIAN owes it to the city for whom it works to say that it is the public, the readers and advertisers that make it able to say this. A newspaper is the exponent and mirror of the community in which it is published, from whom it derives its support, and without the generous aid and cordial co-operation of the citizens of Astoria the publication of such a newspaper as the THE ASTORIAN would not be possible. For this as well as for other reasons, on this seventh anniversary of our editorial relations with our readers we thank them one and all for their kindly aid, and hope that the same cordial relations may continue.

The career of a newspaper man is proverbially short—an hour of wrangle and strife, and then oblivion—and his best thoughts and utterances are only for the day, printed, glanced over and cast aside; yet there is more patient labor, honest effort and sincere desire to do good among the ephemeral writings of the newspaper men than among almost any other class of workers. The transitory nature of the editorial life is also noticeable. Of the 186 papers in Oregon and Washington, the writer can only recall the names of two that occupied the positions they do now, and at the time he took charge of THE ASTORIAN - one is H. W. Scott, of the Oregonian, the other is P. B. Johnson, of the Walla Walla Union. Of the others, some have entered the portals of "that low green tent whose curtain never outward swings," others are in less wearing business, more have formed new newspaper relations, and still continue to write, as these stray lines are written, long after the most of the surrounding world is asleep.

Looking through the dusty files we come on the following, written seven years ago, to-day, an editorial that under the circumstances may not be wholly uninteresting.

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA OREGON

FRIDAY . . . SEPT. 30 1881.

J. F. HALLORAN Editor.

SALUTATORY.

IN assuming charge of THE ASTORIAN we desire first to express our thanks for the congratulations and expressions of good will with which we have been favored, and hope that none of our friends will ever have reason to utter contrary expressions. It is our intention to edit a newspaper, a reflex of the great and busy world in which we live, and to that end shall endeavor to gain and hold the good wishes and esteem of the community. THE ASTORIAN shall be independent in what we deem the true sense of the word. It shall have an opinion on all points within the jurisdiction of a newspaper, shall hold to what it believes to be right, and shall answer all objections by stating the truth—as it appears to us. It shall, as far as possible, avoid all personalities, shall try to be just, and shall be always willing to concede to others the consistency that it claims for itself. We do not expect to agree with everyone, but what is said shall be so said that it not only can be understood but that it cannot be misunderstood, and in such a way that those who differ from us can at least respect the opinions uttered. The paper shall work for the good and material benefit of the city, county, state and nation, shall foster and encourage every enterprise looking to the advancement of the general interests of the community with whom we live and to whom we look for support, and shall advocate the legitimate development and prosecution of Astoria's resources and the rights that her position demands. It is our intention to edit a paper that shall be clean in sentiment, utterance and effect; that shall be a welcome visitor to every family, to every reading man and woman that cares to have the news of the day in a readable shape, and shall endeavor to be accurate and reliable in all statements made. We shall be chary of promises, but shall try to do all that shall be promised, bearing in mind that while it is not always possible to secure success, it is always noble to deserve it. Whatever is copied from other papers shall be duly credited, and our columns shall always be open to anyone who has anything to say on any question of public import or general welfare.

The above has been followed as faithfully as circumstances would permit, and after seven years steady work we feel that the promise and performance do not exhibit so wide a difference after all.

But the past lies behind and the future full of promise, stretches onward. Seldom, indeed, do we cast a glance over our shoulder at the dusty, ofttimes tiresome, track we have traversed, and looking forward with full confidence to the future, we turn from the contemplation of the past which lies in shadow to the sunlit present and the duties of today.

The Gov't. Steamer Albatross.

During the recent cruise of the fish commission steamer Albatross to northern waters, numerous cod and halibut banks were discovered and located. The fish were found to be extremely plentiful, and there is little doubt that in the future the principal fishing grounds of America will be in these waters. The manner of detecting and locating the banks is somewhat as follows: At intervals along the line of soundings which are being taken, the vessel hauls to and a certain number of hooks, to a line are baited, usually with salmon, and cast overboard. The time of fishing is taken, as well as the number, size, weight, etc., of the fish caught. The latitude and longitude of the place is taken and marked down on the recorder's chart. The time of fishing seldom last over 15 or 18 minutes and such are the numbers of the fish that, in that short space of time great piles of them are hauled up and placed on deck. At some points it seemed as if schools were a half a mile in thickness. The schools were found when fishing for cod. So ravenous are the fish that they generally come up two to a line as fast as the crew can take them off.

During the voyage north the business of the Albatross principally was taken soundings and locating banks. Searching the bottom of the ocean for curious submarine shells and animals was indulged in to a great extent while on the voyage round the Horn. The specimens were all shipped east when the vessel was at San Francisco and she now contains only what have been taken since.

The crew of the vessel signed for one year when the voyage began, and receive $24 per month, or the same that is paid in the navy. They consider that they have a picnic and will doubtless stay by the vessel as long as she is out.—Seattle Time

The Marked Increase in Insanity.

Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the asylum for the insane, was in the city recently. He reports 509 patients in the asylum, and more "coming down on the rise." He could not imagine for some time how it was that so many foreigners kept coming in, but has at last discovered that many of the persons were insane, or very near it, before they came to this country. In short, he has come to the conclusion that foreign countries are really shipping their paupers and criminals and citizens of unsound mind to this country

Mr. D. P. Thompson, who was standing by, said he could testify to this being a fact. He knew it was done in Italy in Great Britain and in other European countries.

"Why," said he, "last winter in Rome I fell in with a wealthy Englishman, and we traveled together for some time and talked about many subjects. He told me that he had an estate of several thousand acres in Ireland, and there was an almshouse on it. He could get no rent from his tennants and he had finally made them an offer to ship the whole of them, almshouse occupants and all, to America, paying all their expenses and giving every one of them a sovereign when landed in America. But this lot would not accept the offer."

Mr. Thompson and Dr. Lane differ in politics, but they agreed on this point—that something must be done to prevent paupers and criminals and insane persons being poured into this country. Dr. Lane says they have one asylum full in California and are about building another, and if things keep on at the present rate Oregon will soon need more accommodations.—Portland Telegram, 28.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, [illegible] Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my [illegible] experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. Mrs. Dr. Owens-Adair was painfully shocked yesterday morning to receive a telegram from her son, Dr. G. J. Hill, of North Yakima, W. T., announcing the sudden death on the 28th inst. of his wife, Mrs. Anna Hill. The deceased, an idolized wife and mother, had spent a pleasant summer with Mrs. Adair, in this city, and had but recently returned. The body will arrive in Portland this afternoon, where the funeral services will be held. Truly, "in the midst of life we are in death."

The people who have been "poisoned" by eating canned salmon had [illegible] very scarce this year, not one case having been reported up to Monday last, when a San Diego, Cal., dispatch told of a family named Baltimore who had been "poisoned" by eating canned salmon and canned oysters. But as a sequel to the sad tale comes the news that the canned salmon had been through a big fire about a week ago. This is a cat of another color. Experiments are dangerous, and the San Diego people and every other people may be assured that eating canned salmon after the cans with the salmon in them have been in a burning building, is a poor way to realize on the insurance money. The average salmon is not a fire proof safe. What the San Diego family yclept Baltimore appear to want is not canned salmon but canned salamander.

F. Bartoldes deserves a word of praise for the faithful and efficient way he has administered the affairs of his road district. Roads are one of this country's greatest needs; there has been money enough collected for "roads" to build a magnificent causeway from here to Nehalem. Mr. Bartoldes has so worked in his district that one can now ride or drive in comfort from Astoria to five miles beyond Olney, making over fifteen miles of good road. B. Gallagher is another man who has done all he could to help the county in this important regard. The way to do a thing is to do it, and the way to have roads is to spend all possible collected for that purpose on the roads. In making a road from beyond Walluski to Olney passable, Mr. Bartoldes and every one who aided in anyway have added to the value of every foot of farm and timber land in that part of the country.

The Storm On The South American Coast.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 29.—Up to noon forty eight new cases of fever have been reported, and one death.

NO HARM DONE.

COOKSHIRE, Ontario, Sept. 29.—With the exception of an attempt of rioters numbering fifty to tear up the track in the vicinity of Sawyerville this morning no further violence has been used. A volley fired over their heads by the militia at the trestle work caused them to retreat precipitately.

THE CHIEF NOTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Sec'y Vilas to-day sent a letter to the principal chief of the Cherokee Indian nation notifying him that any lease or contract for grazing on the Cherokee outlet in the Indian territory will be without authority from the government and subject to cancellation.

FROM PARIS.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The Boulanger agitation has been resumed. A stormy meeting was held last evening at which a vote of confidence in Boulanger was passed.

The official report of the crops shows the corn yield to be 96,430,000 hectoliters against 112,456,000 hectoliters in 1887—rye 805,000 hectoliters against 23,676,000 hectoliters in 1887.

POST MORTEM DISCUSSION.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 29.—The Independence Belge says Dr. McKenzie's coming back in reply to his German rivals, will cite facts which, the doctor says, had he instead of German physicians attended the late Emperor Frederick from the beginning of his sickness the emperor's life would have been prolonged twenty months. Dr. McKenzie will also endeavor to show that the treatment of Dr. Gerhart produced cancer.

WHAT MADAM CHARLOTTE THINKS.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 29.—Referring to the balloon found yesterday near Providence, R. I., with the name "Carl Myers," and the penciled words, "Met our death in the clouds," Madame Charlotte, who made the balloon ascension yesterday, says: "On the 26th inst., Leon A. Dare and Carlotta, wife of Carl Myers, were to have had a balloon race from Syracuse, and yesterday Carlotta was to have made an ascension from Lockport. The name found on the lost balloon is that of manager Carl Myers. I cannot believe Carlotta or Dare are hurt, though they may be. I have not heard anything in relation to the matter, which makes me think it can be neither of them. Perhaps I have not been telegraphed for fear I should be frightened."

AN ELECTION BET.

PORTLAND, Sept. 29.—An election bet was made, yesterday, of $1,000 on the general result, between Julius Lovy, of Montana, (Dem.), and Capt. Spencer, (Rep.), of this city.

THE GATE OF THIBET.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 29. Colonel Graham has completed the capture of Jelapla Pass, the gate of Thibet. After Godley's reconnaissance, the main column of the expedition pushed forward and attacked the Thibetans, who were strongly intrenched in great force in Kuppu Valley, within Jelapla Pass. The Thibetans kept up a furious fire with cannon and muskets, but their arms being obsolete, had but little effect except at close quarters, to which the advancing column soon brought them. The enemy then broke and ran, abandoning their camp and stores to the British. Their loss is estimated at 400 killed and wounded. On the British side nine Sepoys were killed and Colonel Bromhead wounded. The advance continues through the pass by the way of the Richigong and the Chambi gorges.

MEXICAN IMPROVEMENTS.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 29. The government has made a contract with Luis Huller, authorizing his company, the Sonora, Sinloa and Chihuahua railroad to issue bonds and stock secured by mortgage.

The government has made a contract with Sebastian Camacho, representative of the Mexican Central railroad, for the removal of the bar at Tampico, the building of wharves, etc., there with the exclusive right to use them for forty-five years and the privilege of lighterage and towing in the waters near Tampico. The government aid during the progress of the work will be $3,000,000 in bonds, called "bonds of Tampico port works," of the value of $1,000 each.

FREDERICK'S DIARY.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A profound sensation has been caused by the publication of the late Emperor Frederick's diary. Particular interest attaches to the revelation that Napoleon III. tried to obtain better terms of peace from Germany on condition of making joint war upon England. The published accounts of the diary are believed to be genuine, notwithstanding Bismarck's denial.

HOSTILITY TO EUROPEANS.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The natives of Zanzibar are in full revolt against Europeans. They have stripped many caravans, forbidden all Englishmen entering the country, and are determined to resist further landing of Germans on the sea coast. The German admiral is preparing naval and military measures.

A RUSSIAN SUBSIDY.

LONDON, Sept. 29. Russia has granted an annual subsidy of 1,110,000 rubles to a private firm for a steamship line between Russian ports on the Pacific and Corea, Japan and China. It is provided in the contract that in case of war the steamers shall be at the disposal of the government.

STANLEY AND EMIN BEY.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The latest advices from Sankim make it almost certain that Emin Bey and White Pasha have been joined by Stanley. Their united forces established themselves in Bahr el Ghazel region as a base for further advance on Khartoum.

URGING IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The leading newspapers urge Canada to seek closer trade relations with the Australian colonies. The Daily Chronicle sees in such a policy a strengthening of ties binding the colonies to one another and the promotion of the idea of imperial unity, and hopes that the various parts of the empire will ultimately recognize the wisdom of forming themselves into a sort of zollverein. The empire then could then afford to adopt between them the free trade policy existing between the states of the American republic, and protection in dealing with foreign countries.

STORM ON THE WEST COAST.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Valparaiso advices to September 17th state that shipping was terribly damaged in the harbor by the great northern gale. The Chilean barks Cristina, Navarrn and Bildina collided and destroyed each other. The bark Success parted her chains and was driven ashore near the fort. The Andes broke up in an incredibly short time. The Success was bound from New York for California and put in here. The French bark Etoile du Sud dragged down to the British bark Cambrian, and in consequence of frequent collisions between the two the former foundered. The latter went down an hour later. Part of the crew of the Etoile du Sud jumped on board the Cambrian while the vessels were locked, believing her to be the safer craft of the two, but, with one exception, all perished when the latter vessel went down. The crew of the Cambrian consisted of captain Armstrong, first mate Brison, second mate Richmond, carpenter Nelson, stewart Ellison, sailmaker Judson, seamen Gillis, Johnson, Beninck, Shools, payee Wickman; apprentice Dyer, Fielding Smith, Masbau. The captain and the last named apprentice were saved. Out of the crew of the Etoile du Sud one man was killed by falling spars. Seven took refuge on the British Arthur Stone, and captain Provost, the mate and three or four sailors went down with the Cambrian. One of the chains of the British bark Glentilt parted and the vessel dragged down to the Chilean bark Vanora. The crew, with the exception of the captain and three men, abandoned her. The mate arrived on shore Tuesday and reported the Glentilt knocked to pieces. The Chilean steamers Hunay and Vinē del Mar collided and damaged each other. The crew of the Glentilt came ashore. The vessel was beached for the purpose of saving her cargo. The sea was comparatively quiet when she was beached, but an hour afterward huge rollers were breaking over the ship. She has since broken up.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

N. McMillan, of Bay City, while coming to the cannery at Hobsonville, on Monday morning, with two boat loads of silver side salmon, had the misfortune to have his boat open and lost 500 fish.—Tillamook Headlight, 28.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Herrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co's Drug Store.

INDUSTRIOUS SETTLERS.

The Finns residing upon the Columbia river back of Bradbury have secured the right of way of Mr. McGraw for a canal to connect the head of Dobbins slough and Beaver slough with the Columbia, the object being to drain their land and have direct communication with the Columbia for their boats. Their plan of drainage is based on the fact that the tide in the Columbia river at Bradbury falls two hours and a half earlier than it does in the heads of these two sloughs, which form just back of Bradbury, emptying into the Columbia opposite Eureka and are over twenty miles long, and, being very crooked, the action of tide water is so sluggish that one tide is not entirely out before another sets in. By connecting the head of the slough with the river, as soon as the water begins to raise in the slough it will pour out into the Columbia, which is then at low tide, thus preventing, except at very high tides, the overflow of thousands of acres of fine grazing and hay lands which are now submerged at every tide. The canal will be nearly half a mile long and will be quite an undertaking, but the Finns are strong hard working fellows, and will accomplish it without delay. That immense tract of land extending from Bradbury to Marshland, which has heretofore been considered worthless by the Americans, has been taken up by the Finns, who are building good houses and barns and making other substantial improvements. They are a sober, industrious people and will make a valuable addition to our population. It is their intention, we understand, when they all get title to their lands and are able, to try dyking in order to keep out the June freshets of the Columbia. For the present they intend to cut open ditches to connect with the sloughs, keeping the water drained off the greater part of the year, which will render the land dryer and firmer and enable them to cut large quantities of hay and give the best of pasturage to their cattle.—Mist.

Eat With Comfort and be Happy.
It is by no means uncertain, but on the contrary, a well ascertained fact, that upon the well being of man's stomach depends that modicum of happiness which is vouchsafed to him in this world. Dyspepsia, the foe of all others to the stomach's tranquility and most to be dreaded, is a complaint to the preliminary relief and event[ual] cure of which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted. It enables those who use it with a reasonable degree of persistence to eat with a degree of relish, because it imparts a healthful appetite, to digest with ease, because it strengthens the stomach, and to assimilate the food which is eaten and digested, thus benefitting health, promoting flesh and sustaining the exercise of the physical and mental faculties. It moreover, facilitates the secretion of healthy bile, and tates without discomfort the habit of body, and tends when taken upon retiring, to produce healthy slumber. Malaria is conquered by it.

Pull Together.

"I have somewhere read," says the Rev. Dr. Wise in his "Bridal Greetings," "of a bridegroom who gloried in his eccentricities. He requested his bride to accompany him into the garden a day or two after the wedding. He then threw a line over the roof of their cottage. Giving his wife one end of it he retreated to the other side and exclaimed, 'Pull the line!' She pulled it at his request, as far as she could. He cried, 'Pull it over!' 'I can't, she replied. 'Pull with all your might!' shouted the whimsical husband. But in vain were all the efforts of the bride to pull over the line so long as the husband held on the opposite end. But when he came around and they both pulled at one end, it came over with great ease. 'There, said he, as the line fell from the roof, 'you see how hard and ineffectual was our labor when we pulled in opposition to each other, but how easy and pleasant it is when we both pull together. If we oppose each other it will be hard work; if we act together, it will be pleasant to live. Let us therefore always pull together.' "—Philadelphia Press.

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.

If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them, with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Regulate

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va.

WHY THE TRAIN RAN SLOW.

How Trainmen on a Dakota Road Manage to Get Their Pay.

A man was one day making a trip on a mixed train on a Dakota train. Passage on these trains is never taken except for journeys of considerable length; walking is as easy and much faster for short distances. On this occasion the movement was even more deliberate than usual, and the passenger called the conductor to his seat and said:

"Isn't this motion pretty slow?"

"Well, we ain't flying, I'll admit."

"Sure everything is all right?"

"I think so."

"Wheels all greased?"

"Yes, I greased them myself."

"Tires all on?"

"Yes. We run through the creek back here and soaked up the wheels so that they would stay."

"Any spokes loose?"

"No."

"You are certain the wheels are all on the rails?"

"They was when I come in."

"Couldn't be possible that any of them are off and the axle dragging, could it?"

"I guess not."

"Are we going up hill?"

"No, this is pretty middlin' level."

"Do you always run at this gait?"

"No, we generally bump along a little faster'n this."

"May I ask what is the trouble then?"

"Certainly. We found a two-year-old steer stuck in a trestle back here, before you got on, and stopped and helped it out. You know the rules of the road are that in such cases the animal belongs to the company."

"But I don't see why that makes you run so thundering slow."

"Why, you blame fool, we're takin' that steer along to headquarters; got it tied on behind, and it aint used to leadin' and don't walk up very well. I'm doing all I can; got the brakeman prodding it up with an umbrella, an ear of corn tied to the bell rope. If you think I'm goin' to start up and go howlin' along and yank the horns off as good a steer as there is in the territory, why, you're mistaken that's all. Us trainmen can't expect our pay unless we bring in some stock once in a while."

The Hillsboro Independent predicts that there will be a vast tidal wave of emigration from the Missisipi valley to Oregon and Washington territory after the election. Thousands of men are holding off from moving until that time on account of the unusual interest in the presidential campaign—there being a special desire to vote on this occasion. Besides the harvesting and marketing of crops necessary to them for the securing of the additional funds needed for the journey.

We Tell You Positively

That Simmons Liver Regulator will rid you of dyspepsia, purify your system, enable you to sleep well, prevent malarial diseases and give you a brisk and vigorous feeling. It acts directly on the liver and kidneys, cleansing, purifying, invigorating and fortifying the system against disease. It will break up chills and fever and prevent their return—yet entirely free from calomel or quinine.

"There's no limit to progressiveness of genius!" said an enthusiastic orator. "Show me a field of human effort in which American inventors have not made gigantic strides in the last fifty years! Point out, if you can, a single instance in which they have failed to improve on the achievements of previous ages!" "Have they made any kind of stuff for boys pants that won't wear out at the knees?" anxiously inquired a stoop-shouldered man who rose up in the back part of the hall.—Chicago Tribune.

Another deep sea fishing company has been incorporated in Astoria. We hope this company will prove more satisfactory than the last venture in deep sea fishing. It is no trouble to catch suckers in Oregon, but when a vessel has to breast the angry waves of the Pacific ocean and avoid the treacherous breakers of the Columbia, it means hard work and risk of capital.—Siftings.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY ... .OCTOBER 2, 1888.

THE SITUATION.

THAT the Astoria and South Coast railroad can be built is a fact. That it should be built is also a fact. The needed requisite which appears to be lacking is earnestness and "push." There is some shuffling that should be absent. A promise with a string tied to it is worse than no promise at all.

The way the matter now stands, is, that while everyone has promised the right of way, no one has given it. While the right of way is virtually granted it is actually non-existent.

Just whether it is dilatoriness or lack of energy on the one hand or lack of appreciation and co-operative aid on the other is not the question. Results are the only tangible things to look at. To find fault or locate blame is not the essential. It is childish and undignified to adopt any other course than to decide that the road must and shall be built, and go ahead. The first thing to do is to get the right of way signed; to have the agreement in black and white. Till that is done nothing is done.

The thing lacks a leader. To hold back and cast around, and each one wait for the other to "do something," is to fail.

There need be no possibility of failure if prompt and energetic action be taken.

This is an opportunity, and now is the time. There has been too much hemming and hawing and backing filling, and waiting to see what others will do. The way for earnest men to do a thing is to do it. The matter grows tiresome, and if those who mean business stand in and push, the whole thing can be arranged in forty-eight hours.

But it can't be arranged by simply saying, "That's so," when you read this, and then waiting to see what the others are going to do about it.

FEW of the crowned heads of Europe have been more fortunate than king Christian of Denmark. One of his daughters is empress of Russia, and another is likely to be the future queen of England, while one of his sons is king of Greece, and another is the husband of the only daughter and heir of the king of Sweden. And now his grandson, the crown prince of Greece, is to marry the princess Sophie, sister of emperor William. If dynastic alliances could assure peace between nations, such widespread marital relationships would surely afford the necessary guarantee.

THE post office revenue in this state is being augmented at present by the dissemination of large supplements containing extracts from the Oregonian regarding protection and free trade, thus advertising that excellent journal to the measure of the circulation of the several journals who lend their aid. The supplement is a good exemplification of the fact that smart men change their minds; as a contrast, the supplement is simply an illustration. "Consistency," says Carlyle, "is the bugbear of small minds." Just so.

* * *

THERE are more ways than one of making money, and there is a man in Chicago who is profiting by one of the other ways. All photographers use a paper impregnated with a silver solution. This man makes periodical visits to the photograph galleries and secures this paper. He burns it and refines the ashes, securing a large amount of silver. His bargain is for 20 per cent of the silver produced, and some weeks he secures over $100 It is hard work, but he makes a fair living at it.

THE bill appropriating $100,000 to defray the expenses of locating and surveying suitable locations of storage reservoirs at the headwaters of streams west of the hundredth meridian, which water can be used for the purposes of irrigation, now needs but the signature of the president to become a law. It is probable the surveys will be begun on streams in southern California and Arizona, where the winter climate is mild.

THE TARIFF BILL.

TWO SHORTS CINCHED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The Journal reports two failures on the board of trade this morning, as the result of the advance in wheat. The firms mentioned are Frank Clifton & Co. and P. Orr. The amount for which they are short is not mentioned.

SIGNED AT LAST.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The president has signed the Chinese bill and transmitted it to congress accompanied by a long message.

The provisions of the act are to apply to all persons of the Chinese race, whether subjects of China or other foreign power, except Chinese diplomatic or consular officers and their attendants; and the word "Chinese laborers" wherever used in this act shall be construed to mean both skilled and unskilled laborers and Chinese employed in mining. The master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place with any Chinese passengers on board shall, when he delivers his manifest of cargo, and if there be no cargo, when he makes legal entry of his vessel, and before landing or permitting to land any Chinese person "unless a diplomatic or consular officer, or attendant of such officer," deliver to the collector of customs of the district in which his vessel shall have arrived, the sealed certificates and letters as aforesaid, and a separate list of all Chinese persons taken on board his vessel at any foreign port or place, and of all such persons on board at the time of arrival as aforsaid. Such list shall show the names of such persons and other particulars as shown by their certificates, or other evidences required by this act, and such list shall be sworn to by the master in the manner required by law in relation to manifest of cargo. The master of any vessel shall not permit any Chinese diplomatic or consular officer to land without having been informed by the collector of customs of the official character of such officer or attendant.

From and after the passage of this act no Chinese laborer in the United States shall be permitted, after having left, to return thereto unless he has a lawful wife, child or parent in the United States, or property therein of the value of $1,000, or debts of a like amount due him and pending settlement. Marriage to such wife must have taken place at least a year prior to the application of the laborer for a permit to return to the United States, and must have been followed by continuous cohabitation of the parties as man and wife. The Chinese laborer possessing the requisite certificate shall be admitted to the United States only at the port from which he departed therefrom, and no Chinese person, except Chinese diplomatic or consular officers, and their attendants, shall be permitted to enter the United States except at the ports of San Francisco, Portland, Or., Boston, New York New Orleans, Port Townsend, or such other ports as may be designated by the secretary of the treasury.

Any Chinese person or person of Chinese descent found unlawfully in the United States or its territories may be arrested upon a warrant issued upon complaint under oath, filed by any party on behalf of the United States, by any justice, judge or commissioner of a United States court, returnable before any justice, judge or commissioner of a United States court or before any United States court, and when convicted upon hearing and found and adjudged to be one not lawfully entitled to be or remain in the United States, such person shall be removed from the United States to the country whence he came. But any such Chinese person convicted before a commissioner of a United States court may within ten days from such conviction appeal to the judge of the district court for the district. A certified copy of the judgment shall be made, and it may be executed by the marshal of the district or any officer having authority of the marshal under the provisions of this section, and in all such cases persons who brought or aided in bringing such persons into the United States shall be liable to the government of the United States for all necessary expenses incurred in such investigation and removal, and all peace officers of the several states and territories of the United States are invested with the same authority in reference to carrying out the provisions of this act as marshal or deputy marshal of the United States, and shall be entitled to like compensation.

FINDING THEM OUT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Sam Wah, a prominent Chinaman, with a white girl, who was hauled up before for attempting to induce other white girls to marry celestials, were held by the grand jury this morning on complaint of a German girl, who charged him with being accessory to her seduction.

BLAINE'S ENGAGEMENTS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—There are excellent reasons for believing that the Republican national committee has changed Blaine's appointments for Indiana, owing to a pressing demand from Connecticut and New Jersey and other eastern states. The Indiana canvass will be confined, perhaps, to two speeches.

LONDON NOTES.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Snow fell throughout England to-day.

Mortimer Sackville West, first baron of Sackville, is dead, in his sixtieth year.

Several persons have been arrested on suspicion of being the White Chapel murderer. The Financial News has offered a reward of three hundred pounds for the capture of the murderer. There is talk on the stock exchange of offering further reward.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The department of state of Massachusetts has written to senator Hoar calling his attention to the following discrepancies in the electoral college laws:

The United states statutes provide that a messenger from the electoral colleges in the various states shall deliver papers containing the votes of their respective colleges to the president of the senate before the first Wednesday in January. The colleges have met heretofore on the first Monday in December, but the law passed by congress in 1887 changed the time of the meeting to the second Monday in January, while the provision regarding the delivery of the vote was left unaltered.

The question will have to be settled by the authorities at Washington.

TERRIBLE STARVATION.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1.—A terrible tale of starvation and destitution among the Indians comes from the Athabasca and Peace river country, in the form of a petition to the minister of the interior for Canada. It is signed by the anglican bishop of that diocese, six clergymen and missionaries and several justices of the peace. This document, officially passed by the Synod of Athabasca diocese, sets out that owing to the great mortality among the beavers and other small game, the Indians for nearly a year have been in a perpetual state of starvation. Their food supply and power of procuring clothing have been affected. They are now in a complete state of destitution and unable to provide themselves with clothing, ammunition, etc., for the winter. Many of their dogs, so necessary to the Indians for traveling and hunting, have perished, thus seriously increasing the difficulty of getting a living.

During the winter of 1886-87, on account of starvation and consequent cannibalism, a party of twenty-nine Cree Indians was reduced to three. In the Mackenzie river district several deaths by starvation and one or more cases of cannibalism occurred last winter, and among the Fort Chippewayan Indians between twenty and thirty starved to death., and many women and children are now perfectly helpless and must starve to death or eat one another this winter, unless help comes.

GENERAL HARRISON'S CHECK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—General Harrison has sent a cash contribution to the Republican national committee. It is understood his check for $750 was sent, made payable to the order of Col. W. W. Dudley, and after passing through the New York City bank, has been presented for payment to Bateman & Co., of this city.

The Verdict Unanimous

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. A round trip every nine days will be the quota of work for each San Francisco passenger steamer. This will be tough on the Geo. W. Elder, if she continue on this route.

The editor of the Port Townsend Argus is a candidate for the Washington territory legislature, a great and singular waste of good material in an effort at insignificant success.

Accidents are becoming too frequent on the N. P., O. S. L., and O. R. & N. railroad lines. The latest were an accident near Pocatello, Idaho, last Friday, wherein five men were killed.

Jacksonville is going to have a street car line to connect with the railroad.—Oregonian. Astoria is going to have a railroad to connect with the street car line.

There is a man here from the east with the expressed intention of buying a large site for a large shingle mill. He needn't have much trouble in finding suitable site here.

A Spokane Falls dispatch to the Post Intelligencer says: "The Oregonian has purchased a controlling interest in the Review, from Monoghan & King and will assume charge of the paper on Monday.

The News reports the sale of Jacob Kamm's boat, the Undine, to go over on the Sound, taking the place of the Fleetwood, between Seattle and Olympia, thus joining the hundred other Columbia river steamboats now in northern waters.

The Seattle Post Intelligencer has been sued for $15,000 for alleged libel. Damages against a solid paper like the Post Intelligencer would amount to something and could be collected, which is probably one of the weighty reasons for bringing suit.

An apparent cripple has been peddling pencils for some days. Yesterday chief Barry undertook to interview him, when the fellow recovered the complete use of his limbs and skipped out with the utmost agility. It beats the mind cure, so it does.

It is reported that the O. R. & N. has bought the Undine, which is unlikely, though the O. R. & N. badly need some boats to do towing. Time was when two boats would be hooked onto a 1,400 ton vessel. Now one tackles such a vessel as the Andreta or [illegible] Castle.

Messrs. Ferguson and McDermott, inspectors of hulls and boilers, gave papers to a large number of steamers at Coos bay last week. The tug Columbia and the steam launch Bonita failed to pass inspection. The Columbia will go to San Francisco and have new boilers put in.

The Tacoma Ledger states that the Gray's Harbor railroad is an assured fact, that Geo. Ellsbury of Tower City, Dakota, will return October 10th, at which time the contract for the construction of the road will be let. The capital of the company will be increased from $1,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Herbert F. Beecher, custom house inspector for this northwest coast, was in Astoria Sunday, inspecting the accounts in the custom house. He found everything O. K., and complimented collector Hobson and deputies Higgins and Ferguson on the manner in which the office was conducted.

Again reports come from the vicinity of Saddle Mountain of silver ore ledges and finds of gold. Many are positive that free milling ore showing both gold and silver, in paying quantities, can be mined there. A good coal mine uncovered in that vicinity would beat in value either a gold or silver mine.

J. W. Clemens of Wahkiakum county, who was nominated for representative by the Republicans of that district, states that he declines the nomination to that position. As soon as the central committees from the several counties can communicate with one another the vacancy will be supplied.

The Lewis and Clarke Lumber and Manufacturing company have nearly 4 miles of tramway laid from the mill, which is about two-and-a-half miles east of the Seaside house, and another half mile will bring the road to Stavebolt landing, on Lewis and Clarke's. The mill is cutting fine shingles, box shooks, and cedar lumber.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Astoria and South Coast Railway Co. last evening, a proposition to increase the capital stock from $75,000 to $100,000 was defeated, there being 281½ shares voted for and 66 against. There are 597 shares, and a majority, or 299 were required, it lacking but 17½ shares of the requisite majority.

The Young Men's Christian Association have been corresponding with Prof. A. Dobbins of Portland, in regard to getting him to teach a class in vocal music here. He has consented to do so providing a class of forty pupils can be secured. Any one wishing to join such a class can hand their names to the general secretary by next Saturday.

The race at San Francisco last Saturday between the pilot boat America and the schooner C. H. White resulted in a victory for the former. The race was for $1,000 a side and was of interest, being believed to decide the superiority of one style of boat over the other. The vessels sailed 56¼ miles. The start was, White, 10:04; America, 10:09. Finish, America, 4:46; White, 5:16.

Frank Bruno, whom every one within hailing distance of the police court is well acquainted with, has fallen from grace. Sometime ago he braced up and staid sober for a space of periods, but he has got down again. Yesterday Judge Jewett threatened to send him to the insane asylum for ten years if he didn't quit fooling with intoxicants. Frank seems to have taken a contract to drink all the whisky up, and is in a good way now to travel with some temperance lecturer as a horrible example.

The British ship Wasdale has sailed from San Francisco for Liverpool with a cargo of enormous value, the total aggregating $407,000. Of this $345,800 is salmon. The shippers are as follows: D. L. Beck & Sons, 22,000 cases; L. Lowenthal & Co., 16,000 cases; L. Sloss & Co., 8,713, W. B. Bradford, 7,182, R. D. Hume & Co., 6,299. This was the largest salmon shipment ever sent out of San Francisco, and is only excelled in size by that of the Wallacetown, which loaded and took to Liverpool 70,000 cases from Astoria, and a few others.

S. M. Johnson, of East Portland, wants that city to pay him $30 for attendance upon a small pox patient last July. S. M. J. has a strong hand and is going to play it for all it is worth. The small pox patient died, Johnson helped bury the cadaver, and says if the city doesn't come up with the $30 he'll tell where he buried the defunct, thus opening the way for a suit against the city for damages by the owner of the land. What a surprise party it would be for a man to buy a lot in East Portland, and digging for a cistern come across the remains of the deceased!

When the two houses of congress were called to order at noon yesterday the session had become the longest by twenty-four hours in American history. The longest preceding session was that of 1850, the year of the Missouri compromise, which was adjourned at noon September 30. Constructively the session of 1850, following the impeachment proceedings against president Johnson, was longer, the adjournment having taken place November 10, but as a matter of fact congress took a six weeks' rest from July 27 and never afterwards had a quorum or attempted to transact business.

A HORRIBLE SUICIDE.

Chas. F. McCormac Cuts His Throat

At the Salem Insane Asylum Yesterday.

SALEM, Oregon, Oct. 1.—Yesterday morning, about 9 o'clock, Charles F. McCormac, a patient at the insane asylum, entered the room of an attendant and asked for a sheet of paper. While the attendant's back was turned McCormac took a razor, hanging in a case on the wall. Two hours later he entered the water closet, saying as he opened the door, "Send for a doctor." He closed the door, sat down in the closet and cut his throat from ear to ear. He made four or five gashes. Another patient was within three feet of him when the deed was committed.

McCormac had been in the asylum three years. He was formerly a lawyer at Portland, and subsequently at Astoria. His remains will be shipped to Eugene City on Wednesday for burial. The suicide's father is Rev. J. A. McCormac, of Astoria.

The above dispatch will be a shock to many who knew the young man, who was at one time city attorney, but subsequently exhibited such strong symptoms of insanity as to necessitate his removal to the asylum.

His father was at Gray's river when the news arrived. A messenger was sent for him by boat, but it is doubtful if he will arrive before to-day.

Hon. T. A. McBride goes to Portland this evening.

Death of J. T. Borchers.

J. T. Borchers of Knappton, W. T., fell off the new wharf at the Knappton mill at eight o'clock last Sunday evening and was drowned. His cries for help were heard but it was impossible, in the darkness to locate him, and his body was not recovered till yesterday morning. Deceased was well known here, where for many years he was in business. About a week ago his house near Knappton burned down, he and his wife losing nearly everything they possessed. Mr. and Mrs. Leo. Mansur and other charitable neighbors, stirred themselves and succeeded in securing clothing and shelter for the old couple, and a new house was ready to be roofed, it being their intention to move in to-day. Their son Henry Borchers, at Portland, was telegraphed to yesterday. The funeral will be at Knappton, to-day.

"Gets There Just the Same."

An eastern exchange says: An intelligent waiter at one of the city hotels thus sizes up his guests by their manner of asking for the bill of fare. He says the young lawyer will ask for "the briefs," in an apparently forgetful way; the ball-player wants to see the "score card"; the drummer asks for the "bill of goods"; the actor calls for the "play bill"; the merchant calls for the "inventory"; the dancing-master for the "programme", the old lawyer requests the "bill of particulars", the horseman the "list of entries"; the singer wants the "score," and the ship captain the "clearance papers"; the regular tourist calls for the "menu," and the printer for the "take", the druggist absently asks for the "prescription", the railroad man wants to see your "orders," and the parson the "creed"; the common boarder asks for the "card," and the doctor for the "symptoms."

Out here the average San Franciscan does not find it necessary to advertise his business thus, so he simply asks for the "bill," but he "gets there just the same."—S. F. Call.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet, this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Thirteen boats of the Empire cannery took 800 fish one night last week. The fishermen up Coos river are also doing well.—Coast Mail, Sept. 27.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Herrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C.,—Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co's Drug Store.

THE USUAL GOOD TIME.

A Girl's Idea of Genuine Unadulterated Picnic Fun.

"Did you have a good time at the picnic, Libbie?"

"Oh, elegant."

"What'd you do?"

Oh, everything."

"But what?"

"Well, we swung in hammocks and had a lovely time."

"What else?"

"Oh, we swung in swings, and Mr. Lilybud swung me ever so high. We had a lovely time."

"Do anything else?"

"Oh, yes, lots of things—waded in the brook in our bare feet. Just think! Oh, it was awfully awful jolly!"

"What else?"

"Oh, played tennis and had a splendid time."

"That's all?"

"Oh, we got bushels of daisies. It was lovely! We strung them all around our hats and all the boys put them in their button-holes. Oh, it was jolly fun!"

"Do anything else?"

"Oh, yes—everything you can think of to have a jolly good time. It was perfectly splendid!"

"Glad I didn't go," said Miss Kittie, as she walked away; "same old thing over again."—Time.

The quickest passage ever made from land to land across the Atlantic was made in August by the Allan steamer Parisian. From Tory Island, off Moville, to Belle Isle, took 4 days, 17 hours and 10 minutes.

"And they parted," says a novelist, speaking of a couple, one of whom left for San Francisco and the other for England. We don't see how they could have avoided it. The really had to part.

One Chehalis county farmer has already cut two crops of hay this season, getting about six tons to the acre, and if the season continues good he expects to harvest another crop.

It has been decided in a Georgia court that a wife may not legally open letters written to her husband by another woman. That may be law, but it is not practice.

A fair damsel at Elk Point ate twenty ears of corn for supper one day and went to camp meeting in the evening. That is the sort of girls they have in Dakota.

The Rev. Alexander Marshall, of Melbourne, says: "Hell is merely an eternal continuation of a sinful mind."

The total catch of the British Columbia sealing fleet this season is 19,838 skins, a falling off from last year of 14,762.

AYER'S Sugar-Coated Cathartic PILLS.
If the Liver be torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else, to Regulate
my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them, with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebraska.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my side. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with Indigestion, and distressing pains in
The Bowels.
By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Esling, Richmond, Va.

NO WONDER BROWN RAN.

He Was Easily Vanquished By a Big Curly Dog.

Norman Simmons, Camden's first dog-catcher, is a negro who stands nearly 7 feet high, and is as black as a raven. Business got so brisk the latter end of last week that Simmons hired a little colored man named Henry Brown to help him. On their rounds of south Camden on Saturday they ran across a big burly dog of uncertain breed taking the morning sun on a Kaighn avenue doorstep.

"Dar's anuder dollar!" exclaimed Simmons, his mouth stretching out in the direction of his ears; "go fur 'im Brown."

"Look-ahear, Simmons," said the assistant, "my net ain't big 'nuff for dat dawg."

"Yas, 'tis; you'se feard ob dat dawg, Brown, 'pears ter me."

By this time a big crowd had collected and matters were assuming a thrilling aspect. The big curly dog slept peacefully on.

"Simmons, you'se got ter ketch dat dawg," said Brown at length.

"Who's de boss ob dis racket?" asked Simmons, with great dignity. "I want yer ter to know I'se de ketcher and you'se de 'sistan'! You got ter ketch dat dawg, fob dah's anuder dollar in 'im, I tell per."

Brown went gingerly forward, arranging his net for a good throw. He got within ten feet of the steps. The dog started up suddenly with a low growl and made a spring for Brown. The unhappy darkey was not quick enough to escape, and he went flying through the scattering crowd minus the seat of his trousers. Simmons dropped his net and fled precipitately in another direction, and the big curly dog settled leisurely down on Brown's net. A policeman was summoned, the owner of the dog was called, and the paraphernalia of war was restored to Simmons, who knocked off for the day with the remark: "'Sistans is no good nohow."—Philadelphia Record.

An Important Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Senator Dolph, from the committee on public lands, reported as an amendment to a similar bill, which has passed the house and senate, a bill to forfeit all the lands granted the Northern Pacific Railroad Co., which are coterminus with that part of the line which shall not have been constructed at the date of the passage of the bill. This, however, is not to be construed as forfeiting the right of way or station grounds needed by the company in the construction of its roads. Where persons are in possession of forfeited lands under title secured in good faith from the Northern Pacific prior to January 1, 1886, they shall be entitled to purchase the same from the United States in quantities not exceeding 320 acres to any one person at a rate of $2.50 per acre.

John Boyle O'Rielly, poet, author and editor of the Boston Pilot, has had some thrilling experiences in his life. At 21 he was sentenced to be shot for disseminating Fenian ideas in the ranks of the Fourth Huzzars, of which regiment he was a member. The sentence was commuted to twenty years' penal servitude in West Australia. He escaped at the end of the first year and secured a berth on a whaler, which after a six months' cruise again landed him in Australia. After a number of romantic escapes from capture he finally succeeded in embarking for America.

News From Alaska.

VICTORIA, Oct. 1.—The Idaho arrived from Alaska this morning, and among the passengers for this port were the Messrs. Topham, who attempted the ascent of Mt. St. Elias, but only reached a height of 11,000 feet. Several miners, the first out from the Yuken country, also came down. They report mining on Forty Mile creek as fair, though many places are worked out. The highest paid yet by any one claim in the Yukon region was on Hamilton bar, where $1,200 were taken out by sluicing in three days' running, night and day shift. Many miners have made nothing. Wages were eight dollars to $10 per day, flour $17 a barrel and beans and bacon 30 cents per pound. A reported strike on Beaver creek, 400 miles down the river, drew many old hands away from Forty Mile, and about seventy-five newcomers, who, however, were disappointed. Gold existed on the creek, but not in payipg quantities. About a hundred of these miners went down to St. Michael's, hoping to secure passage by the revenue steamers or whaling vessels to San Francisco. Very few men are mining on Stewart river, and with poor results. About one hundred men will winter on Forty Mile. Three men died on the creek during last winter of scurvy.

End of The Roslyn Trouble

ELLENSBURG, W. T., Oct. 1.—The train of colored miners arrived at mine No. 3, Roslyn, without any trouble last evening, and the white miners at mines 1 and 2 began working this morning, on the new arrangements made by general manager Buckley, at reduced rates of about 25 cents per ton. No further trouble is anticipated.

G. W. Nutter vs. B. Gallagher; order set aside.

Wm. McBrearty admitted to citizenship.

W. G. Ross and Jno. Curran appointed as guards to convey parties to penitentiary.

Adjourned to Oct. 5, at 10 A. M.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Lighting The Path of Commerce.

Hon. William Smith, the Canadian deputy minister of marine, was in Tacoma last evening on his return from a visit along our coast to San Diego. He came out from Ottawa to inspect the Canadian lighthouse service on this coast and to establish new lights. This morning he went to Victoria, and as soon as the weather permits will go down on the Cormorant to the mouth of the straits to locate a new lighthouse and fog-horn station at Bonilla Point, if that is practicable, and if not to establish a light and harbor of refuge at Port San Juan. It is the purpose of his government to light the entire pathway from the ocean to Vancouver so that steamships can make the entrance without delay. Our government is acting in concert with Canada in these improvements for the navigation of Puget Sound and Alaskan waters, and will place a light on Stuart island and other points within its jurisdiction. It is of great importance that there should be a light and fog-horn at Bonilla point and Mr. Smith will spare no pains to effect it. The Dominion telegraph manager is now exploring a route for a telegraph from Vancouver to the mouth of the Straits of Fuca, to be operated in connection with the lighthouse service and to report the arrival of vessels there. The south coast of Vancouver island, from Race rocks to the sea, is very rugged and may be found impracticable for a telegraph line. If so, the line will cross the island farther north. Mr. Smith says that as soon as the route from the ocean to Vancouver is furnished with sufficient lights, his government will light the west coast of the island, as well as add to the lights on the inside passage to Alaska.—Tacoma News.

"Age Cannot Wither Her."

Remarked an old gentleman, as he gazed fondly upon the comely little woman by his side; "but frankly," he continued, "at one time I was afraid cosmetics would." The silly little woman, "in order to appear youthful, plastered her face with different varieties of whitewash, yclept "balms," "creams," "lotions," &c. "Yes," interrupted the little woman, "I did, until my skin became like parchment, and [illegible] and coarse." "Well," said the [illegible] what, do you use now?" "Use," was the reply, nothing but common sense, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Common sense [illegible] my blood was pure, liver regulated, appetite good, that the outward woman would take on the hue of health. The 'Discovery' did all those things, and actually rejuvenated me."

Its thousands of cures are the best advertisement for Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

He Had a Bad Mouth For Pie.

One of the social features of last week was the gathering of the pie-eaters at the residence of Mr. A. A. Sage Saturday night. On our arrival we learned the programme was—enjoy yourself -which everyone carried out to the letter. Excellent pumpkin pie, cake, coffee and watermelon composed the refreshments, to which all did ample justice. One of the young ladies undertook the task of eating as many pies as the writer, but we knocked her out on the third pie; but she attributed her defeat to the fact that she had eaten two pies before our arrival.—Ritzville Times.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. TOLD BY THE TELEGRAPH.

Interesting News Specials by Wire.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—One of the severest storms in years was experienced on the lakes as for east as lake Erie last night and fears are entertained that many vessels are wrecked. The lake here is so rough that no vessel dared leave port this morning. Rain with traces of snow driven by a northern gale made the weather most disagreeable.

GREAT STORM.

SANILAC, Mich., Oct. 2.—There has been a terrible storm raging here since early last evening. At 7 o'clock last night the life saving crew from Sand beach started out and at 11 P. M. rescued a crew of six men and a woman from the barge St. Clair. As the boat passed to the end of the dock on her return a high breaker struck the boat, turning her completely over. The entire crew belonging to the boat reached the shore, towing two of the other crew with them. The remaning four men and women were drowned.

A NEW IDEA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—It is reported that a company has been organized with ample capital to manufacture railway cars, constructed entirely of sheet steel, under patepts of C. W. M. Smith of San Francisco.

The company is said to be negotiating for the purchase of a large tract of land near Chicago, where the cars can be built. It is claimed for the new vehicles that they are absolutely indistructible, noncombustible, and can be built as cheaply as wooden coaches.

BIG EXPLOSION.

ASPINWALL, Oct. 2.—A terrible explosion occurred on board a large mud carrying steamer. There were on board in addition to the crew Grover, master mechanic of the Panama railroad, Hugh Graham and Andrew McIntyre, the later recently captain of the Hume American dredge City of Paris. Eight souls in all. The safety valve blew out and an explosion followed, causing the loss of six lives and the destruction of the vessel and another in the vicinity, while an iron lighter near by was cut in two as if by a knife.

AN OCEAN COLLISION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The ship Creedmore, of St. Johns, N. B., from Manilla May 22. is expected here in a few days. On board the vessel is Capt. Colquehon, of the ship Earl Wemyss, and a portion of the crew of the ship Ardencaple. The vessels collided off Pernambuco on September 20th. The wife of Capt. Colquhon and three children went down with the ship. A number of seamen were also drowned. The Ardencaple was badly damaged, but managed to reach port at Fernando.

MAY BE CONCEDED.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 2.—The law congress of Spain has addressed a communication to the Uruguayan government asking recognition of ownership of Spanish literary and artistic works, in Uruguay. The United States claims similar recognition of respect to American patents and trade marks. It is probable that both requests will be conceded.

WILL PROBABLY NOT WRITE IT.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 2.—In view of his speech of acceptance when he met the notification committee and his full expression of his views on the stump, and in view of the fact that he has been very busy, the impression is that judge Thurman will not write his letter of acceptance. He has not said so positively, but he has said that he cannot see the necessity of it.

GOVERNMENT AID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. -Dr. Hutton, at Camp Perry has been authorized to furnish transportation on government vouchers to healthful persons, who are too poor to pay their own way from camp.

Jackson, Miss., telegraphs, asking immediate aid for colored people held there by quarantine. The supply of food is limited.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 2.—Very few new cases were reported this morning.

GOULD'S LATEST PURCHASE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Central St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas railroad has passed practically into the hands of the Missouri Pacific railway company. A syndicate headed by Jay Gould and Russell Sage has bought about $7,000,000 of second-mortgage bonds and will replace the member's of the bondholders' committee of five with persons of its own selection. The change involves a complete change in the management. It is understood three of the new members of the committee will be Russell Sage, Louis Fitzgerald, of Troy, and George J. Gould. They will name the board of directors.

A RIOTOUS MOB.

BERNE, Oct. 2.—A mob at Neufchatel made savage attacks on the salvation army, blockading the meeting houses, pouring petroleum on the buildings and firing pistols. Riots ensued and several persons were injured.

GERMANS IN AFRICA.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 2.—The steamer from Kilva brings news that two Germans, eleven of their servants and twenty-one native insurgents have been killed at that place. The insurgents had renounced allegiance to the sultan. The German company was driven from all points except Bogamoyo, which place is protected by German men-of-war.

A GENERAL CONFLAGRATION.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 2. -The Journal de Bruxelles says count Nigra, Italian ambassador to Vienna, in the course of a recent conversation on the political situation said: "I expect a general conflagration. We shall, of course, be beaten, but we shall get back Nice and Savoy."

THE SEA SERPENT

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 2. Captain Hubbard of the steamer Planter, plying between Charleston and Georgetown, reports that the sea serpent was seen in Georgetown harbor Thursday last, half way between that port and the bar.

The monster was seen from the schooner Henry Buck, captain Sprague, who passed within two hundred yards of it and examined it carefully with his glass. He says he made out nearly its entire shape. It seemed to be resting or sleeping, the head and body being more or less exposed to view as the waves rose and fell. The mouth appeared to be beak shaped, the head oval and quite large. The body looked to be as thick as a flour barrel and lay upon and in the water in the curves common to snakes while swimming. The tail was not at first entirely visible. While looking intently at the monster something, possibly the noise of the tug, which was towing the schooner, seemed to arouse it and in an instant it threw its tail into the air, exposing fully fifteen feet of its length, and lashed the water into fury. It swam off in the direction of what is known as Muddy bay and the mud flats, where it was impossible for the tug to follow. The color of his snakeship was dark and its length is stated to be about fifty feet.

At the point where it was seen the water is fresh, as is the case for several miles below, and Capt. Sprague thinks that the serpent was made sick by it. It is thought that the monster cannot get out of the harbor, and as soon as the news was received an expedition was made up to go in search of it. The serpent was seen by the crews of both the tug and the schooner she was towing.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed it cessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Herrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C.,—Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store.

The Polar Bear went to the Coquille yesterday, with cannery supplies.

The Alliance arrived in from Gray's harbor yesterday, and goes to Tillamook to-day.

The school directors of district No. One had a meeting yesterday and audited some bills.

Over at Tacoma they are sluicing out and down the hillsides to grade them to street level.

The Electric Light Co. are about to make a complete change in all their lamps throughout the city.

The stockholders of the Fishermen's Packing Co. will hold their annual meeting on the 29th inst.

Capt. J. H. D. Gray says that neither the Undine nor the Lurline have been sold, nor is it likely they will be.

Gustav Hansen has a large barometer hanging in front of his jewelry store, so arranged as to be observable at a glance.

Sheriff Ross and his deputy, John Curran, are off for Salem with two boarders at the state's expense, Messrs. Partland and Jones. This leaves the county jail empty.

A Portland gardener is selling Evergreen strawberries at 40 cents per pound in Portland, and he says he will have quite a crop, which will continue to mature until Christmas.

Sometime ago an Ilwaco lady was given a nice cat kitten, which she named Jas. G. Blaine. Imagine the good lady's surprise last week when she found that James had four kittens.

Alex. Gilbert's saloon and adjacent buildings are being hoisted to the level of Concomly street. There are symptoms of similar trouble on Washington street between Squemoqua and Chenamus.

THE ASTORIAN is of the opinion that the headquarters of the inspector of this lighthouse district should be in this city, and that a little exertion on the part of Astorians would cause its removal to this city.

On a recent trip to Gray's river Capt. Rehfield, of the O. K., met with an accident that would have paralyzed a less experienced steamboat man; striking a snag. He was equal to the emergency and got back in good style.

The official record of the Astoria fire department, published elsewhere, is a creditable one. Astoria is fortunate in its immunity from cause for fires and in possessing a prompt and efficient department, to make loss by fire one of the remotest of contingencies.

There is some talk of changing the Oregon City land office to Portland. The change would be a good thing for a good many down this way, who have to go to Portland anyhow. The business in this section is constantly growing, and the majority of the cases are believed to come from the Oregon side of the lower Columbia.

A new candle has been brought out which extinguishes itself in an hour. This it does by means of a tiny extinguisher of tin, which is fastened in the wax by wires, and which effectually performs its task. It is only necessary to remove this diminutive extinguisher when its work is done, and the candle is again ready to burn another hour.

Jas Blake, a 'longshoreman employed at the dock, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. He was standing at the hatchway of the Anamba, lowering flour through a chute into the hold when a hundred-pound sack struck him, throwing him into the hold and falling upon him, severely spraining his leg and otherwise bruising him.

The name of the steamer Caracas, bought by the Oregon Development company in Philadelphia, will, on her arrival at San Francisco, be changed to Yaquina Bay. The Caracas is 1589 tons, 252 feet long, 34 feet beam and 19 feet depth of hold. She has engines of 900 horse power, and is expected to attain a speed of thirteen knots. She was built at Philadelphia in 1881.

The Sacramento river fish went on a regular spree last Friday. Somebody in Sacramento dumped a lot of lees and sediment from wine tanks in the river. The fish got drunk on it. Some died, and some wished they had, they felt so bad next day. The only ones that didn't get drunk were some suckers that ate as much of the stuff as any of the other fishes, but having no brains, of course, the liquor didn't affect them.

C. G. Roberts, because of the scarcity of cars at this point, says The Dalles Times-Mountaineer, sent a flat boat loaded with wheat to the Cascades Monday. She arrived at the upper landing at the locks in ten hours, was unloaded on drays and the cargo taken across the portage and placed in boats on the lower river. This is a practical solution of an open river, and might have been successfully tried years ago. Mr. Roberts is the first one to open the river to free navigation below this point, and we hope others will follow his example.

A good many Astorians have been for the last six weeks getting circulars from San Francisco telling them if they'll send a photograph they'd get for nothing a fine $35 crayon portrait, the only condition being that they exhibit it and see that it was suitably framed. The thing is a fake. Send a photograph and you'll get a reply that the picture is nearly finished and that they can frame it cheaper than any one else, and if you'll send $15 you'll get the picture in a nice frame, etc. It's a good game to let alone.

Returns of R. G. Number of failures in Washington territory, 14; liabilities, $81,239; assets, $43,000; liabilities in excess of assets, $38,237. Compared with the corresponding quarter of the last year—Number of failures in Oregon, 9 less; excess of liabilities over assets, $628 less. Washington territory has one failure more, and the excess of liabilities has increased $14,586.

Dan De Quille, the local editor of the Virginia, Nev., Enterprise, has told many an amusing tale and many a gullible yarn, aided and abetted by many of the onetime newspaper men of the Silver State. But we are all growing older Daniel, and time has dyed thy mustache white. In the Enterprise of September 27th, it is solemnly declared that the day before there was seen a rainbow in the west at sunset. That won't do; petrified ships on Gold Hill, and virgin gold in the Geiger grade, and prehistoric bones in the Con.-Imperial were all right, but rainbows in the west at sundown don't go.

"The Chimes of Normandy" was presented to a very good audience by the juvenile troupe at the opera house last evening. As Germaine, Emma Berg carried off the honors, though Camille Cleveland made a most excellent Serpolette. Julia Martin made the most of the minor character of the notary, John Lowell was a wonderful impersonation of Gaspard and Teddy Gamble attracted a fair share of applause as the Bailie. The rest of the troupe are not strikingly prominent though all did well, the standard of criticism being necessarily lenient to the youthful performers. To-night the ever popular "Pinafore," when there will doubtless be another good house.

In his trade circular for the present month, J. K. Armsby, who is considerable of a humorist as well as a clever business man, says: "We have again to note a healthy market with a still healthier trade. Everybody is busy and we are beginning at last to feel the effect of our bounteous crops and the good prices they are bringing. Now if Providence would take a little pity on us and wipe out the last vestige of yellow fever from our afflicted brethren in the south, and turn the pestilence on full force into the congressional halls and wipe out congress and keep it wiped out for two years, we think that we could have two years of prosperity that would be great enough to make us endure without much complaining such evils as the potato rot, the tomato bug and congress."

1st. The old hook and ladder truck should be disposed of and a new one purchased for the use of the department.

2nd. The fire alarm telegraph system should be augmented and completed with the following additions thereto: five boxes, one engine house gong with a Stevens' tower bell striker, and battery for the large bell.

3rd. The placing of at least three more pipe lines of 12-inch diameter in the different portions of the city, and by furnishing a water supply for the department on Hemlock street from the Clatsop mill to the city limits, and trust you will give these matters your immediate and earnest consideration.

Thanking you for courtesies extended and for your promptness in complying with my requests and hoping that you will extend the same to my successor, and with pride pointing to the advancements and record of our department through your liberality, I remain yours, most respectfully, B. S. WORSLEY,
Chief Engineer, A. F. D.

The report was ordered referred to committee on fire and water.

Regarding the proposed repair of Cedar street, the following was read.

COUNCILMAN SHERMAN'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Astoria.

Your special committee to whom was referred the matter of the improvement of Cedar street, report as follows: Forty-five piles at $3.50, $157.50; 29,000 feet stringers, $290.00; incidentals, $50; total, $497.50. I have received subscriptions to the amount of about $300, and am satisfied that I can increase said amount to $400, leaving about $100 to be paid by the city, independent of the crossings. Notice has already been given that the common council propose to order the street planked, to which no remonstrance was filed, and consequently if the city will undertake the above repair the property owners will plank the street.

Respectfully,
F. SHERMAN

The report was adopted and the committee granted further time to report.

An ordinance amending ordinance No. 1,048 was passed under suspension of the rules.

An ordinance extending time for the return of the assessment roll of 1888 was passed under suspension of the rules.

Ordinance extending time for improvement of West 6th street was read third time and indefinitely postponed.

The following claims were ordered paid: Sunset Telegraph Co., $3; J. G. Ross, $13.43; Jas. Gardiner, $8; Clatsop Mill Co., $20.26; M. C. Crosby, $44.50; W. B. Headington, $20; West Shore Mills, $40.44; Astoria Gaslight Co., $11.40, $104.40; Electric Light Co., $144; J. A. Rowan, $3.50.

The auditor and police judge directed the attention of the council to the fact that some of the property owners on West 9th street had paid in their money. Further consideration of the matter was postponed to next Tuesday.

Councilman Sherman called the attention of the council to the deplorable condition of Concomly street.

Councilman Welch called the attention of the council to the appointment of specials to act on the occasion of fires.

The following were appointed: No. 2's, C. W. Fulton, Geo. Noland; No. Ones, C. J. Curtis, C. B. Watson; Alert H. & L. No. 1, C. R. Thomson, M. C. Crosby.

Council adjourned.

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair Splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

Suicide at Silverton.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 1.—Yesterday morning R. L. Milster, an old and respected citizen of Silverton, committed suicide.

For the past few years he has shown signs of insanity, and has several times threatened to take his own life and that of different members of his family. Saturday afternoon he went out to his farm and returned in the evening, bringing with him an old muzzle-loading rifle, which he deposited in his barn. Sunday morning his wife and children went to the country, and upon their return at noon found Mr. Milster lying upon his face on the floor dead. He had gone to the barn after his family had left, loaded his rifle, and taking a small piece of rope tied the breech to the top of one of the stalls, placed a barrel on a bushel basket, laid down on his left side, placed the side of his head against the muzzle, and with a stick pulled the trigger.

He left a letter stating that "if he did go to hell, he'd be damned if he would live there," and in other ways showed his mind to be wandering. The coroner's jury found a verdict in compliance with these facts.

The water is very low in the upper Columbia and Snake rivers, and the steamers have difficulty in reaching Lewiston. The warehouses are rapidly filling with grain and much of this year's crop will lay over until next year, awaiting transportation.

SABLE ISLAND.

A Wreckers' And Pirates' Paradise—A Menace to Navigation.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Sept. 14, 1888.

On your maps, in about latitude 44° and longitude 60°, 100 miles southeast of the peninsula of Nova Scotia, you will see a tiny dot surrounded by the geographer's wavy lines. This spot is Sable Island. The date of its discovery is not clear, though it is said that Norse tradition ascribes it to Heriofson in the ninth century. It was stocked with swine 335 years ago by the Portuguese; and it must have been well known to the colonists of old Arcadia, for it was made a French penal colony in 1598. The priceless black fox and the huge walrus in those days made the island their home. During the last quarter of the last century and the early part of this, Sable island was the resort of wreckers and pirates more heartless and cruel than ever swept the Carribean or gathered under the bloody leadership of "Black Beard" of the Bahamas; but in 1802, after the wreck of the Princess Amelia, containing a goodly lot of the belongings of prince Edward, the father of queen Victoria, the Nova Scotian government drove the pirates from the island, and established in a small way look-outs and a life saving force, which, in 1826, was effectively augmented by annual provision by the British government. About fifty years ago the buildings now found here were constructed, the look-out stations increased; and in 1873 the government erected the two immense lighthouses, one at the western and one at the eastern end of the island.

HOW AN ISLAND WAS FORMED.

The entire region round for a great distance is a hideous hurt to ocean navigation. Lying almost directly in the path of the great transatlantic highways of the sea; set squarely in the way of the entire coasting trade between all American and Canadian ports; a constant menace to whalers, cod and mackerel fishers; no other known island or coast has equal dangers, or possesses so startling a record for death and destruction. For perhaps fifty miles in every direction the sea is filled with shifting shoals, over which, in storms which almost constantly rage, the ocean tosses and howls with inconceivable fury. Sunken bars extend to the northeast, and the northwest, fully thirty miles, and between their extreme points, for twenty-five miles off shore, the sea lashes and thunders terribly, the outreaching bars hidden like monstrous tentacles grasping for prey. Old captain Ballast's theory regarding the formation of this ocean vampire is that, "Jess so many seafairin' folks has to suffer somehow; n' Providence sot the cussed thing here, to get even with anybody mean 'nuff to stick to sailorin'!" But for years I have made something of a study of this northeast coast, with the action of the sea beside it, and I modestly offer an additional theory to that of my bluff yankee skipper. I believe the entire formation of the Grand banks, and this knob of deadly sand set out of water upon another vast bank, or series of shoals, to be due wholly to the action of the opposing forces off the Gulf stream and the immeasurably icy currents that sweep around Labrador and Newfoundland from Polar seas. Together, through the ages, they have here ceaselessly deposited alluvium and sand, until vast submarine mountains have been piled along these waters, which, within the memory of man, have played, and forever will break, in Titanic convulsions, above and around the table-lands and peaks of these measureless ocean accretions. So, too, the almost endless fogs of Newfoundland, the Grand banks, and of Sable island waters, are simply the visible atmospheric phenomena of the meeting of the warm and icy airs above this meeting of the waters; the vast fog-dust and humid smoke, as it were, of these elemental struggles.

EVER CHANGING.

The narrow island is much the form of a bow, is about twenty-five miles long and is nowhere over two miles in width. Mounting the old look out and crow's nest, picturesquely hanging in its peak, the entire reach of land is visible, with the turbulent sea ever lashing its changing shores of sand. The most singular freak of the whole island is the narrow lake, set like a bent ribbon of silver in its center, perhaps half a mile wide and twelve miles long; nowhere over fifteen feet deep and only tenanted by flounders and monstrous clams, with which its bottom is fairly paved. The ravings of the sea are compelling constant changes. Many years ago five miles of the western extremity of the island were torn away and submerged. One storm will build an arm here or there a mile into the ocean. Another will in a night rear a new island in sight, and the next night sweep it from existence. Again the roused tempest will cut a swath through the sand-dunes, opening the lake with an arm of the sea, shortly this will be closed and a mountain of packed sand, almost as hard as flint, will appear as if by magic instead.

THE INHABITANTS.

Where there is such an awful record of death, fascination lurks in whatever of rugged life may have existed or still exists. In the dim days, walrus, whose huge skulls are yet bleaching in the sand, were here in vast numbers. Then the black foxes, which may have driften here on fields of ice, alone inhabited the dolorous desert wilderness. Again the Portuguese stocked it with swine. Then wild cattle roamed here the sole possessors. Pirates and wreckers followed these as the dreaded shores came to be more and more the burying place of richly-laden wrecks; for these are counted by thousands since the settlement of America, and to-day true records have it that more than one old hulk lies buried in these changing sands, hiding vast stores of unhurt wares and precious coins and metals. But lest the cupidity of men in service here shall be aroused, the Canadian government persistently refuses quest for such treasure; and the daring visitor or sodden inhabitant when pacing the shores, may only dream of the buried wealth beneath his feet. In some mysterious way wild rabbits came, and, for the area, the pest is as keen as Australia's. Snowy owls, cannily learning this' came in great numbers, and these are lords of high living, dining daily on rabbit pie. Brown rats, fat and aggressive as ever assailed Hamlaine-town, swarm here, often the only dread salvage from ocean wrecks. Hundreds of seals, the oceans flocks of bulls, cows and calves, bark and flounder upon the beaches. These, the gulls shrieking and circling grewsomely, the half-hundred or so souls who lead this desolate life to save life for pay, inclusive of the few families attached to the needs of the service, are all that live in the sandy ocean grave, save famous little wierd ponies of the island, all hoof and head and hair, whose origin here is variously attributed, but practically unknown. Perhaps there are 600 or 700 of these shaggy beasts. No one knows. They refuse protection from shed or stable; fatten in summer upon the luxurious grasses in which they are all but buried from sight; starve among the sand-dunes in winter; are furious and aggressive if disturbed in their picturesques herds when running at will; but, on the annual "roundups" those which are captured, tied and tossed into the government cutter like bags of merchandise, are so completely tamed by their helplessness and the rough sea-trip, that on their arrival at Halifax the veriest child can fondle and control them.

A MARINE GRAVE-YARD.

To fully appreciate the intense dolor of Sable Island to the eyes and mind of its visitor, and to the consciousness of every seafaring soul who ever conned his mental record of the ocean's peril, it must be remembered that, save the government cutter which every few months brings supplies, an occasional adventurous craft like my own, or a few hardy fisher-folk that daringly make its eastern extremity a brief summer headquarters, no vessel or human beings ever touch its shores that are not beaten upon them in helpless, hopeless wreck. And yet such hapless arrivals are at times so frequent that the life-saving record here exceeds that of any other place on the globe, and the wreckage is also greatest. No pen can give an adequate idea of the sense of death and destruction at sea here evidenced by every object the eye can look upon. Every building at headquarters is constructed from the timbers of wrecked ships. The houses of refuge, at either end of the island; the lookouts; the outpost stations; the domiciles and cabins; every fisher's hut; are each all mute monuments of terrific destruction. The chairs, tables, bunks, lamps, lockers, rude ornamentations are all dark salvage of as many different craft from as many different ports. You cannot walk the beach a rod without stumbling upon relics of wreck or dead men's bones. Away out for miles upon the awful bars the hulks of wrecks bristle through the spume of surf like hideous tusks through the foam of maddened Titan's jaws. On any shore spot where you can stand you can pick from the sands with your cane mementoes telling of countless ocean tragedies from Norsemen's times to horrors of a year ago, in every namable thing or trinket that can be put into or upon a ship and carried and lost at sea. To see it and know it all, and let the fancy run riot through the awful outreachings of loss, woe and death, Sable island reveals every instant one's eyes rest upon any portion of its hideous, over-disclosed concealings, is to invite utter madness. One sentence will tell it all. It is the immeasurable festering junk-shop, the indescribable loathesome graveyard of the deep. I never left spot so quickly; never longed for solid ground behind rock-butressed shores; and never so freely forgave unpitying scorn as that which, as we made sail northward through a now unfriendly sea, shone through the stubby beard of captain Ballast's chubby face.—Edgar W. Wakeman, in S. F. Bulletin.

On motion of Hermann, of Oregon, an amendment was adopted providing that public lands designated as double minimum pre-emption lands be reduced to a uniform rate of $1.25 per acre.

An amendment was also adopted providing that any homestead settler who has entered less than a quarter section, may enter additional land contiguous to the original entry which, with such entry, shall not exceed 160 acres. The bill as amended was passed.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY OCTOBER 4, 1888.

WOOD PULP, ETC.

WARNER MILLER, who is now generally conceded to be in a fair way to be the next governor of New York state, is a good example of what ability and determination and singleness of purpose can do. Just after the war, paper, such as THE ASTORIAN is printed on, sold for fourteen cents a pound. He thought and planned various projects for making it cheaper, and after years of experiment and discouragement, hit on "wood pulp," out of which he has made a fortune. It was a matter of wide significance. Miller's "wood pulp" made cheap paper possible. "News" paper has steadily declined in price, and it is the Miller process that enables THE ASTORIAN and thousands of other papers to sell for a mere trifle. The paper on which these words are printed is made chiefly from trees, cottonwood, and pine, that grow on the Chippewa and Sac rivers in Wisconsin. The trees are ground into pulp, there is some earth, a little rags, and the paper is ready for the printer. It costs THE ASTORIAN 4¾ cents a pound, buying it in such large lots as we do. Thanks to the great system of railroads that gridiron the country and compete for business, the paper can be carried from the pine forests of Wisconsin to the mouth of the Columbia river, and dumped on the O. R. & N. dock here for 1¼ cents a pound, making the paper cost us six cents a pound.

But for Miller's invention; but for the genius of the men who threw a track across the continent and tied a knot in the railroad iron on top of the backbone of the mountains, THE ASTORIAN and other papers couldn't be supplied for fifteen cents a week. It is such men as Warner Miller that made cheap newspapers possible.

There are a good many paper mills on this coast, but for some reason they all seem to want to get rich too fast, and ask a very big price for their paper; that is, the middlemen do. If the paper manufacturers would throw the middlemen overboard and talk business, they could sell twice their present output to Oregon and Washington newspaper proprietors who would be glad to encourage home industry, but naturally object to building up the fortunes of a commission agent in two years.

We have a pulp mill close by at Young's River Falls, which may in time develop into a paper mill. The supply of fir and spruce is inexhaustible, and fir and spruce make the best pulp, better even than the Wisconsin pulp, which is the basis of the paper on which this is printed. Some newspapers own their own paper mills.

When Astoria has grown to the size that her position and manifest destiny entitle her, THE ASTORIAN, issuing eight-page editions and a mammoth Sunday edition, will find it more convenient to manufacture its own paper, and will get its supply by electric railway from its mill at Young's River Falls, or elsewhere.

To some one who has time and can catch onto the combination, there is material for a poem in the fact that a lofty spruce, its roots grappling the ancient soil, its shaggy area the haunt of the bird and beast of the forest, its head lifted into the glorious light; this tall column, firm, immovable, the result of a thousand years of sunshine and storm, the embodiment of vigorous growth and a type of the eternal —may in the subtle alchemy of modern science, be cut down, trimmed, split, sliced, seized and whirled through wheels and pulverized, rolled, turned into paper, flung into the maw of a printing press, caught by teeth and grippers, wrapped round a cylinder, married to the smooth embrace of a form of type, thrown on a folding table, and, what magic change! the great tree of the forest that flashed its dewy boughs in the rays of the rising sun, appears at the next dawn, less than twenty-four hours after, as a folded, printed sheet of paper with the news of the day; with printed on it news of events on the other side of the world that had not transpired when the first tremor of the woodsman's ax yesterday went through that tree's giant frame.

People talk of magic, miracles, wonders. Here is a bare, exact recital of a sober, daily fact.

* * *

THERE are big grain crops in Oregon this year, the salmon pack is pretty well, I thank you, loggers haven't lost any money, steamboat men are not suffering, and election news, the weather, the outlook for the future, etc., combine in supplying reasons for fervent observance of next month's Thanksgiving Day.

* * *

THE St. Louis Post-Dispatch offered $50 reward for the best lie. The prize was awarded to a man who described a great and magnificent union depot. About a week after Jay Gould ordered the erection of a $1,000,000 union depot for St. Louis. Another proof that truth is stranger than fiction.

ILWACO ITEMS.

ILWACO, Oct. 2, 1888.

The steamer Walluski was here today with some stock for Mrs. Stout's place on the weather beach.

The I. R. & N. Co. have completed and opened a splendid roadway alongside the railroad track from the town to the outer dock. Being perfectly level, it is far superior to the old roadway over the hill.

Public school opened Sept. 17, Mrs. M. Lambson, principal, and Miss McCann, lately from Astoria, assistant.

Two new houses have just been completed. Slowly, but steadily Ilwaco increases in buildings and population.

The Central hotel is closed. The Ilwaco hotel is being repainted and papered.

E. Heath recently killed a seven-pronged elk near Bear river, that dressed 800 pounds. Unfortunately the hot weather spoilt the meat before it could be transported to town.

Everybody appears to be busy and no idle men around.

We will soon have a box factory at work.

Born—Sept. 30, to the wife of C. D. Rogers, a son.

Remarks About Salmon.

Fish commissioner E. P. Thompson tells the Telegram that the commissioners would take charge of the Clackamas hatchery on November 1st. There are between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 eggs at the hatchery now, and things are going along swimmingly, but the fish won't be ready to turn out for a month or six weeks yet.

The strike among the salmon fishermen along the coast has delayed the arrangements entered into by the fish commissioners for stocking Oregon waters with McCleod river salmon, so that nothing can be done this year.

Mr. Thompson is of the opinion that salmon when hatched stay in the rivers for from eighteen months to two years before going to the sea, and weigh from two to three pounds when they first taste salt water. He is furthermore of the opinion, backed by careful observation, that the salmon of each river always return to the same stream, and do not [illegible] new waters. As an example, the fish of Smith's river in northern California are greatly inferior in size and quality to the Chetco fish, a stream of southern Oregon, and yet the two streams empty into the ocean within seven miles of each other.

Of this number October furnished 22, November 23, December 19, January 22, February 16, March 21, April 20, May 29, June 20, July 17, August 23, September 12. In September 1887, the number filed was 12.

Lieut. Edward Burr, U. S. A. engineer corps, in charge of the works at the government Cascade locks, reports lively times up the river. He has 140 men at work already, and will increase the number rapidly. The work is progressing favorably, and will be pushed forward energetically until high water drives them out.

The Geo. W. Elder is due from San Francisco to-day or to-morrow with the following passengers: [illegible] Miss K McGrath, [illegible] Harris, M [illegible] P. H. Johnson, J. Curlow, F. Holcomb, J. Hawes, J. T. Wernbe, A. P. Swenson.

George Gaston, who has been [illegible] in the employ of [illegible] [illegible]ity of Tacoma reports to the Oregonian that a day or two since when he was over there at one haul of one of his nets six tons of sea trout, as they are called, were caught. People who came along were given all they wanted and Mr. Gaston salted a lot and still many were wasted, although the lead line was lifted and many allowed to escape. It is the general opinion that these so called trout are young salmon.

State superintendent E. B. McElroy is now engaged in the work of preparing a school teacher's register, which will conform to the blanks and public school system of the state, the use of which will be made obligatory in every school district in Oregon. He has also placed in the hands of the state printer the copy for a compendium of information to the country superintendents, giving them information in regard to the keeping of the county superintendent's register issued from his office last spring, and other instructions of a useful character.

During the month of September, '88, there was a rainfall of 2.32 inches. In September, '87, the rainfall was 4.82 inches; in '86, 4.33 inches; in '85, 4.33 inches; in '84, 6.32 inches; in '83—but that's far back enough. It was a dry September. There was only one foggy day in the whole month. There were no frosts, no high winds; the highest temperature was 80° on the 25th, the lowest, 49° on the 18th and 22nd. The prevailing direction of wind was southwest; its highest velocity was 24 miles—a northeaster—on the 14th and 25th. The mean barometer was 29.988; nothing mean about that.

James McGrath, Peter Tregaust and H Nelson were drowned last Monday morning while fishing off Arch rock. The fishermen who reported the matter to the authorities says that their boat capsized in the swell just after the steamer Queen of the Pacific passed it. The fisherman was a quarter of a mile distant in his boat, and before he could reach the men where they were struggling in the water, they had disappeared. A telegram from point Bonita says the Queen of the Pacific stopped and picked something up, but from the fisherman's statement it is not likely that any of the men were saved.

Upon her arrival from Portland yesterday afternoon the Telephone was about to land bow on at her dock. The bell had been rung to stop, and the jingle bell to reverse, two bells were pulled to back, but only one sounded, the boat going ahead, bumping into the piles on the end of the Canby's dock, and hit the Canby a smashing blow in the bow, flattening out the latter's nose and doing a little damage to the bow of the Telephone. Just astern of the Canby was the R. R. Thompson, which received a rap from the Canby when struck by the Telephone. There was a lively scampering when the bows of the Canby and Telephone collided, but no one was hurt, and there is some resultant damage. It was an unavoidable accident, one of the kind that may not occur again for ten years.

Regarding the recent sudden death of Mrs Dr. G. J. Hill, of North Yakima, W. T., it is learned that the deceased lady had been suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia, from which she could find no relief. In the absence of her husband she went, as was her custom, to his medical chest and took a dose of morphine to relieve pain and put her to sleep. The first dose not sufficing, she took a second and went to sleep. The doctor returning late from his round of visits was pleased to find his wife asleep, thinking she was better. He turned in by her side and slept soundly until morning, when he was awakened by their little three year old boy, who complained that he could not awaken "mamma." It did not take the doctor long to realize what had happened. Frantic with grief he speedily secured all the medical talent available, and everything possible was done to snatch the doomed woman from the jaws of death, but to no purpose.

One of the fossilized absurdities and inconveniences of our time is the uncut leaf of the book or magazine. The trimming of each book can be done by a machine in the fractional part of a minute. The reader is now required to do this part of the publisher's unfinished work. The custom is almost "Early English" in its origin, and dates as far back as the time when the Englishman hadn't many printed books, and was so proud and careful of his periodical as to want it sent him with the leaves uncut as a proof that no one had read it before him. Two hundred and odd years ago it was a "big thing" to have any kind of printed matter, and books were then regarded with actual reverence. But the uncut leaf is one of the many barnacles of custom and usage we stagger under and endure, along with the idea still current with a class that a woman has had no head for business, or that a man can learn no new art, trade or profession after fifty.

A CHAPTER ABOUT DOCTORS.

Right here and now THE ASTORIAN rises to remark that it is not fair, nor right, to call a disciple of Esculapius "Doc." Call him doctor or don't call him at all. It knocks all the dignity out of a man to cut him off with a bob-tailed "Doc." Doctors have enough of annoyance and bother without being whittled down that way. Talking of doctors, it is not likely that there is a more overworked and thankless lot than that of a doctor. When a doctor pulls you through and saves you from joining the majority, your first impulse is one of Heaven-born gratitude. (That is the time for the doctor to bring in his bill). "God bless you, doctor, you've saved my life." Three weeks after: "Oh, yes,—this is your bill, is it? All right, I'll look it over." Three months after. "Look here, Doc; good God! seems to me that's a pretty steep bill of yours." And the doctor who devoted all his skill, time, energy and effort to save the man from dying has to stand around and defend himself and explain about his bill. First the man has the doctor save his life and then tries to beat him out of the cost. thus illustrating the value he puts on it.

Of course there are doctors and doctors, but there are very few doctors that charge more than their services are worth.

It's funny to see how men will dodge paying a bill that they justly owe.

A certain physician of this town had been remarkably assiduous in medical attendance on one man, and after a tussle with Death, by skill and science and main strength had managed to get his patient out of bed. Three months after he brought in his bill. He got a few dollars; his visits to that family were no longer called for; a year after he got a few dollars more, on account. Finally, after three years he ventured to suggest that he would like a little on account.

"Well, Doc," said the man, "I've had a heap of sickness in my family lately, and I've been so busy paying doctor's bills, I've got no money. You'll have to wait."

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Advance in Flour.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—Flour has advanced here $2 within two months, and it is predicted that it will touch $10 a barrel. Pillsbury, head of the largest steam mill in the world, said: "We have quite a little squall in prices, but that is nothing to the cyclone that is coming later."

The Y. W. C. T. U. will give their [illegible] on Friday evening, at the residence of Mrs W. W. Parker. Several unique and novel features will be introduced during the evening's entertainment. All are cordially invited to attend.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

News Notes From the National Capital.

The Samoan Difficulty a Serious Matter.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The steamer State of Georgia, which sailed from New York Sept. 20, for Glasgow, has not yet arrived. Much anxiety is felt.

GOING TO STRIKE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The North Side street car conductors and drivers decided this morning to strike on Saturday morning. Seven hundred men are involved with a probability of a thousand more on the West Side. If they all strike two thirds of the residents of the city will have to walk.

A WHOLESALE ARREST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The police raided Platt's hall, on Montgomery street this afternoon where, it is alleged, a gambling scheme, known as "clock game," has been in operation for some time. About two hundred persons were in the hall at the time, and the police quickly closed the doors and placed them all under arrest. They were then taken to the old city hall station and those who were able to furnish bail were released.

A WILD DAY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The full force of the Chicago wheat manipulations struck the New York market this morning like a thunderbolt. The market closed last night with December at $1.11 and opened at $1.14. May deliveries from last night's close at $1.12, advanced to $1.14¾ on the first movement. Everybody ran wild. All other interests on the floor were temporarily neglected. December soon touched $1.17½. May, $1.20¾; operators acted more like Indians than civilized beings, and a general buying movement was set in by all parties, the foreign house included. They generally express fear that the December and October would be cornered by northwestern millers, who are all bullish.

1:20 P. M.—Wheat stands at the highest of the day with continued wildness in trading. Everything is all right, with no more failures.

THE SAMOAN EMBROGLIO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A Washington special says the Samoan trouble has reached a point which makes its satisfactory settlement a matter of very great concern to the United States, and most careful attention is now being paid to it by our government. President Cleveland has recently taken hold of the subject, and there is reason to believe that it will soon be laid before the cabinet for consideration.

The recent course of Germany in carrying off the Samoan king and setting up an insurgent in his place, certainly appears to be a flagrant violaton of the agreement between that government and Great Britain and the United States that the autonomy of the Samona island shall not be disturbed. The Samoans have revolted against the king set up by Germans and had him and his party cooped up in the capital. It is easy to see that complications more serious than any that have gone before may follow the present situation, and there is a strong feeling here. It is time for the United States to take some decisive steps toward curbing Germany's aggressions. The continued independence and neutrality of the Samoan islands is of high importance to the government, especially because the islands lie practically in the track of all vessels using either of the projected isthmus canals. Opinions are divided as to the best course for the government to adopt, but from what can be learned in the state department circles a move of some kind may be expected soon and it may not be in the direction of consenting to any further aggressive violations of Germany's agreements.

THE WHITE PASHA.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Sir Francis de Winton, president of the Emin Bey relief committee, says that further reports this week from Khartoum have convinced him that captain Van Gele was mistaken in his assertion that he was the White Pasha that had been reported by pilgrims. The news which has been received by the Emin Bey relief association, he asserts, has strengthened the opinion that the White Pasha is none other than Stanley. Europeans on the Congo, who are the people best able to judge, also still maintain that the White Pasha is Stanley.

A VOTE OF CENSURE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The British cabinet will resume its councils about October 10th. Immediately upon the opening of parliament Gladstone will call attention to the evictions in Ireland and will propose a vote of censure on Balfour.

FOSTER'S WHEREABOUTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. There is a rumor that W. R. Foster has been located in Canada, also that counsel has gone to attempt a settlement and secure part of the money secured on bogus mortgages.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches on her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C., Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store.

The Wreck of the "Chester."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Last Thursday the Pacific Coast Steamship company engaged the services of Victor Hinston, a professional diver, at $150 per day, to go down and examine the machinery of the steamer City of Chester, which was sunk in Golden Gate last August by collision with the Oceanic. On the first day the diver did nothing but locate the stranded vessel, which he found in fifty fathoms. Friday the man went down again, and while looking into the steerage of the vessel the first thing which met his gaze was the form of a man, standing, with distorted countenance and tongue hanging from his mouth. The body was swollen to twice its natural size. Going a little further aft, he saw another victim of the wreck on his knees, grasping a third man around the waist. The diver returned to the surface, and reported his discovery, but nothing could induce him to return to the stranded vessel.

Hinston says that on his first dive to the bottom the discovery of cross currents was such that it took all his nerve to make another trip. The tide ran strong, and and the undercurrents were so strong that without his armor he could never have reached the bottom, On his second trip he doubled the weights used to carry him down, yet they barely brought him to the bottom, so strong were the cross-currents even at that depth. On reaching his dstination the diver found the vessel lying across the channel cut in two as with an immense saw. Water was rushing through the cut like a mill race. What changed his cool professional inspection to a vision of horror was when he advanced to the port side of the vessel and looked through the dead light and in the steerage deckports.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The Mahdi Reported Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Mahdi is reported dead at Khartoum.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The mosquitoes have been so troublesome in Henneford county, Minnesota, lately that the farmers have been compelled to wear rubber coats while at work in the fields to protect themselves.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: 'My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifiess the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

REJECTED BY BOTH.

Bill Nye Writes an Adjustable Letter of Acceptance.

Neither Presidential Candidate is Able to Make Use of It—An Automatic Platform.

Some time ago I prepared the following general draught of a letter of acceptance to be used by either presidential candidate as original and entirely without credit to me upon payment of a small sum barely covering the time consumed in writing it and at living wages. I so drew it that in case it should not be available for the columns of one candidate I could certainly dispose of it to the other. I thought, but little did I dream that it would be returned by both. Mr. Cleveland wrote to me that while the letter was "bright in spots, breezy, fresh and redolent of the wild thyme and catnip of a simple home about thirteen miles beyond a given point, it was too general in its scope and embodied too many word pictures which it would not pay to frame."

Mr. Harrison said he was endeavoring to elevate, ennoble and purify the general tone of letters of acceptance, and so could hardly use the one I so kindly enclosed. He thought a letter of acceptance should be something that would make men better. He hoped that when the surprise attendant upon the sudden information relative to his nomination, which, as he might truly say, came like a clap of thunder from a clear sky—when this surprise should wear away, he hoped to erect a brief letter of acceptance which, though cruder and far more rugged than my own, would lay hold upon man's better nature, and unless the seat gave way, lift him up to a higher and better life. He also begged leave to remain my humble and obedient servant—a thing I had no idea of his doing, as I now have all the help, both indoors and outside, that I can use.

Both candidates having decorated the margins of this letter with red and blue corrections, and kept it several weeks for consideration before local committees, it at last comes back to me smelling of gingerbread, sarsafras, oil of Bergamot, sherry and bitters, visiting statesman and the close, fixed and vitiated air of a home band.

Mr. Harrison says that he did not rely solely on his own judgment in returning the letter, but called to his aid the over-ripe opinions of several well-known political thinkers from a distance, among them a gentleman from the solid south, who assured him of the electoral vote of Mississippi, and who had arrived at a state of pleasureable exhilaration from constantly examining the political outlook through the bottom of a small glass horoscope. He had breathed several burning words in the ear of Mr. Harrison without taking the precaution to dilute his breath with something else, and the general has been compelled to put a little bromide of potash in that ear several times since. The gentleman got so confidential that when his cigar went out, which occurred a great many times during the interview, he became so earnest and, withal, so confused, that he scratched his matches on Gen. Harrison's trousers. "I do not write this because I wish to murmur," writes Gen. Harrison, "but to show to you that I have submitted your charming letter to others, and especially to the common people."

However, the document has been returned to me, though as Mr. Cleveland very truly says, I must not think he considers it lacking in merit because it is not used by him, "for frequently such letters possess marked worth and show little pustules of thought and intellectual eruptions which, if encouraged and brought to the surface, certainly afford relief. But, at the same time this is a letter which lacks verility and repose. There are other things which it lacks, such, for instance, as a general tendency towards the expression of thought." Aside from that he likes it, and would use it if he had more space and felt like it.

So I have decided to give it to the press to fill up with, knowing how the great big heart of the nation yearns for a little something, no matter how meagre, on the subject of politics, a subject which, I may truly say, lies nearest to each heart and everywhere else also.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee:—I have just learned by the merest accident that I was nominated some ten weeks ago as a candidate for the presidency at the regular national convention. Being out of town at the time, and our local postmaster refusing to forward newspapers without the payment of additional postage, I did not know about it, though I remember of telling a man last spring that if no other man in the party seemed really fitted to be its standard-bearer, I would run. That was the end of it so far as I was concerned. What he said to me I have forgotten now. It went in at one ear, and finding no obstruction to speak of, came out the other. (This sentence has been erased by both Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland, and characterized as flippant.) I do not even remember the name of this man, but I remember of saying to him that if folks generally thought I was the best man I would run, and so now what can I do? I cannot honorably get out of it.

When I made the promise I had an idea that possibly a better man would be found somewhere and in that way I would be enabled to get out of it. Acting upon that supposition, I have made other arrangements, which, of course, I will now have to cancel. We had purchased and put in our coals for the winter and also agreed to board the teacher at our house. I might name other plans we had made for the future which will now have to be entirely changed, but the above will show you that in going in to this thing I am making sacrifices which are not generally taken into consideration during the heat and ascerbity of a political campaign.

If elected I would favor a higher price for the manufacturer and a lower price for the consumer.

That is my platform. Elaboration and funny business in a platform I know nothing at all about. I strike right at the root of the matter and talk trade right on the start. I also favor the annexation of Hester street to the United States. It can be brought about peaceably, I believe, and would be highly advantageous both to the people of that country and ourselves. I am also in favor of more friendly relations with Chatham street and the appointment of a minister to Mott street. I believe in submitting a tariff question to a popular vote of this country and Europe, after which I would reserve the right to do what I thought best about it.

I hate to feel hampered while I am president.

I have not yet decided whether I would favor putting the best men into office, or whether I would let them remain where they are, in the newspaper business.

I favor some more things, but out of respect for the convention which nominated me I shall not embody them in this letter, but wait till I am elected and then jar the back teeth of those whose votes I now desire but whose opinions I despise.

My latch-string will be out during the day, and I shall aim to keep open all night. On Sundays visiting statesmen will please enter at the side of the house, and I shall ask one and all to refrain from loud and boisterous language in the hall as they go away, even though there should be annoying complications in identifying umbrellas left in the hall-rack and quids of tobacco left on the stair rail. Let each take such umbrella and tobacco as shall be allotted to him without repining, and thus elevate and ennoble the etiquette and tout ensemble of our national political system—a system of which we are all so justly proud.

I trust that one and all will feel free to come and bring their dinners until November, for after that I shall, if elected, admit only respectable people and very few of those. Prior to election I shall maintain a general social sink of iniquity and I hope and trust that the various moral festers who claim that they knew me when I was poor and when my wife did her own work, and who now claim that they made me all I am, will call early, refrain from tying their teams to the oleander and turn off their breaths on retiring instead of trying to blow it out.

The house will be open for visitors immediately after prayers and continue so until breakfast time on the following day. Guests and friends are requested to pass through the folding doors leading out of the front parlor, view the remains and then continue out through the dining room, kitchen and barn.

Memento pickets for making canes may be found in the haymow, marked as as follows:

TAKE ONE.

The apples on the large tree near the well are cooking apples and not good yet, anyhow.

If elected, I shall favor intemperance only in case of sickness.

Looking back over our history as a nation, I am gratified to see that it is so much so as it is. As time in its never-ceasing round goes ever on and on, let us so live that we may from time to time, as I must say, add to that history. One serious objection to a new country, I think, is the noticeable paucity of history.

Oh, let us, then look out for that before it is everlastingly too late. Let us see to it, so that in the future, when nations yet unborn shall desire to look back over our history, there will be as much of it as possible.

My wife joins me in the kindest regards to your committee and hopes you will always come and see us when you are in town. We are only a few miles from the station, and you can easily find our house if you will follow the crowd. We think some of having a pink tea at our house on Thursday, and we would both be glad to see the national convention and friends here before we take up the carpets.

Yours truly,

P. S. I accept the nomination with pleasure.

I am also prepared to furnish at short notice proclamations, messages, both peaceful and retaliatory, as well as earnest thought and pieces to speak while you wait. My book of pieces to speak will appear just before Thanksgiving and will be a good book.

The little judge with the large head and the big voice has a keen appreciation of wit. When he told Nellie Davis, a laundress, who had been recruiting after a hard wash, that he had a grudge against laundresses because they tore the buttons off his shirt and he had no wife to sew them on, Nellie's quick retort, "Then why don't you get a wife, judge?" saved her a month on the island. But as she went off delighted the burly court officer was deeply touched, for he noticed that as the judge buried his head in a huge law volume his lip quivered and something very like a tear glistened on a page of the book.—New York World.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY ...OCTOBER 5, 1888.

VERY few writers in this country can command $1.25 a word for their literary work, but that is what James G. Blaine was paid for his article on Cleveland in the American Magazine. There were 2,000 words in the article, and he was paid $2,500.

IN order to fumigate the mails which leave Jacksonville, Fla., they are emptied loose into a large box which has a wire bottom, and brimstone or other disinfectants are burned under the box from eight to twelve hours. All the smoke from the burning matter has to pass through the mails.

THE British Columbia fishermen are agitating a movement to induce the Dominion government to put a stop to the encroachment of American fishermen on the 3-mile limit of that province. This action is regarded as the outcome of the delay in settling the Behring sea question, in which the Pacific coast fishermen are interested.

IT would seem a little inhuman to retaliate upon Canada, whose public debt is said to have increased 42 per cent. in the last five years. During the last twelve months the burden has grown over $12,000,000. It takes the United States to discharge a national debt and excite the wonder of the world by the speed by which it performs the task.

HERE is a curious fact, which illustrates our unexpected expansion in territory and population. Just after the revolutionary war, Lord Sheffield published a book in London entitled, "Observations on the Commerce of the American States." Sheffield was, to be sure, not over friendly to us, his loyalty to the crown giving a possible color to his views, but he was supposed to be a careful and shrewd observer. At any rate, his statements were received in England as reliable, and they acted as a balm to the British disappointment at the loss of the colonies. He declared unreservedly that the American continent was practically valueless for commercial purposes. It was simply a vast wilderness, which could never be thickly populated, with certain natural obstacles which rendered any extended commerce impossible. The states of the Atlantic seaboard, he admitted, might in time rise to some importance, but the vast tract of inland territory was hardly worth consideration. He ventured the prediction that "settlers beyond the Allegheny mountains cannot become commercial" because there is no possible outlet to the sea for their products. These mountains, his lordship declared, were a barrier to prosperity that could never be overcome. If he could return from his grave now, start in a Pullman car from Philadelphia, travel over the Alleghenies at a speed which would make each particular hair stand on end, and so for several days and nights at the same rate of speed through countless villages, towns and crowded cities, through what was in his day an almost impenetrable forest, over the prairies, of which he never dreamed, and then over the Rockies, to find an immense population on the Pacific coast, he would probably entertain as slender an opinion of his prophetic powers as we do. If he had been told, after the publication of his book, this great wilderness, which he believed to be a barrier to our western advance, would be changed into fields of grain, upon which English lords and English workmen would largely depend for their daily bread; that the Mississippi river, in the course of three generations, would flow through the geographical center of a republic numbering 60,000,000 people, and that the whole continent of Europe would be yearly dependent upon the abundance of our crops, his lordship would have looked upon the speaker as a fanatic or a madman. At the time when lord Sheffield made his lugubrious prophecy the total area of the United States was 827,844 square miles. In 1803 the province of Louisiana was ceded, containing an area of 1,171,931 square miles, and extending northward from the mouths of Mississippi to the British possessions, and westward to the Pacific ocean. In 1819 we acquired Florida, 59,268 square miles; in 1845 Texas, containing 376,133 square miles; in 1848 the first Mexican cession of 545,783 square miles was made; in 1853 a second Mexican cession of 45,535 square miles, and lastly, in 1867, the Russian cession of Alaska, containing 577,390 square miles. This makes the total area of the United States 2,603,884 square miles, or more than four times what it was in 1787. The present size of the republic and our exhaustless material resources emphasize our responsibilities and duties as American citizens.

FORTY LABORERS KILLED.

Daily Budget of Telegraphic News.

GLASGOW, Oct. 4.—The over due steamer State of Georgia has arrived.

SENT TO THE PEN.

BUFFALO, Oct. 4.—John Spahn and Geo. La Blanche, the Marine, were convicted yesterday of aiding and abetting a female prize fight on Navy Island, and were to-day sentenced. Spahn got a five-and-one-half months in the penitentiary, and La Blanche three months.

FORTY REPORTED KILLED.

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 4.—A report reached here this morning of a serious wreck at Koutz, Indiana, on the Chicago and Atlantic railroad last night, in which the fast freight train collided with a work train. Both trains were running at full speed. Forty laborers on the work train are reported killed. It is impossible to get officials to talk.

CLARA BELLE DIVORCED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Judge Hunt to-day granted a divorce to Mrs. Clara Belle McDonald, from her husband R. H. McDonald, Jr. Mrs. McDonald is given the custody of their child, and is awarded $35 per month for its maintenance, and is also allowed $1,250, counsel fees.

A BETTER OUTLOOK.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 4.—Up to noon no deaths have occurred. About twenty calls for physicians have been made by new patients, most of them colored. The weather is oppressive, the mercury at 11:30 A. M., registering 86 degrees. Physicians generally regard the condition of patients good.

FOUGHT TEN ROUNDS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Jack Lane, of Brooklyn, and Jimmie Collins, of Newark, N. J., fought nine terrific rounds, on Long Island, this morning. In the eibgth round Collins broke his wrist by a sledge-hammer blow on Lane's head. Collins fought the ninth round with his good hand, essaying to finish the battle with a rush, but did not succeed. In the tenth round Collins was unable to go on with the fight, and it was awarded to Lane.

ANOTHER MURDER.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The excitement caused by the recent murders of women has increased this morning on the announcement that the watchman had been killed in Shadwell last night. The watchman saw a man and woman go behind a board fence exactly in front of a building in the course of construction. The watchman followed the couple and called a policeman. The man turned on the watchman and stapped him to death. The murderer was arrested after a desperate struggle.

A FAVORABLE REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Gen. Joseph E. Johnson, commissioner of railroads, in his annual report to the secretary of the interior, states that the railroads south of the Union and Central Pacific and east of California have been inspected during the year by Hazard, engineer of the office. The commissioner has inspected the Union and Central Pacific lines and all roads in California and Oregon connected with the latter, and those in Washington territory. Those roads, the commissioner adds, are all in very satisfactory condition. They were well built originally and have been kept in excellent condition. Steel rails have been substituted for iron almost everywhere.

A NATIVE UPRISING.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The uprising of the natives of Zanzibar against the Germans is general and is spreading. Something like a holy war is declared by the negroes, instigated by Mohammedan slave-traders and provoked by the harsh measures of the Germans in taking possession of the coast territory handed over to them by the sultan of Zanzibar. Germans and Englishmen alike are forced to flee for their lives. The routes into the interior followed by Livingstone and Stanley are closed. There is no hope that Stanley may be heard from by the way of Zanzibar. The posts along the coast are surrounded by thousands of natives mad with fanaticism. The Germans at Lindi were saved by the brave conduct of captain Curzon and lieutenant Walter, who landed from a British gunboat, although the beach was swarming with hostile rebels, and brought them off safely. In a few moments more all would have been massacred, as were those at Kilva in sight of a German man-of-war.

Chinese Superstition.

An incident recently occurring during a Chinese trial at Ritchfield, B. C., is reported in the Victoria Colonist. A Chinese witness who was examined for the second time as to his knowledge in a murder case, was sworn after cutting off a cock's head, the form of solemnity observed in such cases gave evidence which varied materially from what he had before given. On being taxed by the judge with the inconsistency after being so sworn and asked for the reason, he placed his two hands on the table before him, grew ashy pale and gradually doubled up, till he sank at full length on the floor and was carried out insensible. "Ah," said a Chinese merchant [illegible] "that man tell big lie over the cock's head and the blood. He die in one month or six week. No more Chinaman tell lie over cock's head in Cariboo. Else he very quick die. Chinaman sabbee."

Whatever the reason, this witness has been sinking steadily ever since, and the superstitious Celestials expect his death within the month or six weeks as an absolute certainty, and quote another similar case of false evidence over the cock's head, followed by the witness's death within the month, some two or three years ago.

The Lancaster Castle, drawing eighteen feet comes down to-day. She has 2,200 long tons aboard and will take on 1,200 tons here. There's some style about a cargo like that—761,600 pounds.

On the Idaho yesterday came the dead body of a Chinaman, one of the crew who died outside, and a sick passenger, who was removed to the hospital, and whose condition yesterday evening was considered serious.

Seaside Lodge No. 12 A. O. U. W., goes to Portland shortly to visit Industry Lodge of that city by invitation. There is a friendly rivalry as to numbers. The Astoria lodge is the banner one of the northwest, having over 250 members.

Mrs. Mary Hanley of Portland, died at St. Mary's hospital yesterday, of apoplexy, in the 52nd year of her age. She leaves a husband and two grown daughters in Portland. The body will be taken to that city this morning for interment.

The infant son of W. S. Gribble died last Wednesday and was brought to this city yesterday, whence it will be taken to Portland. The father, in coming to this city, had to carry the body of his little son in a box seven miles over the trail to Knappton.

Deputy U. S. marshal Harry A. Smith yesterday libeled the ship Imperial and the steamer S. G. Reed, charged with damaging the Albina ferry Veto No. 2, on the 14th of last month. The Reed was released yesterday. The deputy is still in charge of the Imperial.

The National board of trade will hold its next session in Chicago on the 26th of November. The improvement of the Columbia river from the Dalles to its mouth, including the bar, being deemed the most important subject to the northwest, will be the one brought to the notice of the assembly by Hon D. P. Thompson, who will attend the session.

Silas B. Smith of Clatsop, being interviewed last evening regarding the much talked of "right of way" said that the people of Clatsop, with one or two exceptions, are willing to grant the right of way to the railroad company through their premises. Mr. Smith says, which is a fact, that such grant should be definite and exact and specify in set terms just what and where the right of way is to be given, and where the road is to run.

Some of the thieves who nip THE ASTORIAN from the doors of subscribers in the morning, will get caught some of these days. Here is a story with a moral to it: Last Friday a man named W. A. Vanderhurst was caught stealing a Chronicle in San Francisco, and the Chronicle folks, as was right, prosecuted him. Investigation elicited more evidence as to bigger exploits in the criminal line, and now Mr. Vanderhurst stands a good show of going to the penitentiary. We sincerely hope he will.

ARRIVAL OF THE "IDAHO."

Sale of a Cannery Site Under Peculiar Circumstances.

The Idaho arrived in from the north yesterday. She brings considerable in the way of news, most of which was telegraphed from Victoria and which has already appeared in THE ASTORIAN. She had 13,000 cases salmon when she started, the greater part being put off at Victoria. She was discharging 5,400 cases yesterday at Flavel's dock, for the Aberdeen and Cape Lees Packing Cos.

From passengers on the Idaho an ASTORIAN reporter learned of a little matter that may be interesting to Astorians.

Last spring Sam'l and Duncan McKenzie, builders of the Dolphin, took the little steamer Union to Tongas Narrows for A. W. Berry. While cruising around, Sam'l McKenzie came across a fine site for a cannery and with Messrs. Arndt & Ferchen, Jos. Watson, Allen & Lewis, and one or two others, the Carter Bay Packing company was formed, fish salted, and preparations made for extensive packing operations next season. Messrs. Arndt & Ferchen made several trips up there. Jos. Watson secured a "chuck" or salmon stream, all the members advancing money, the preparations involving the erection of a cannery to be equipped with all the latest and most improved appliances, and engagements were all made for next season. Part of the lumber was to go up on the next trip of the Idaho. This season 200 barrels and 400 half barrels salmon were packed, the 200 barrels to have arrived on the Idaho yesterday. Inquiry showed that this salmon didn't arrive, that Sam'l McKenzie had sold it and the rest at the cannery for $8 a barrel, the ruling price being $14 a barrel.

Further inquiry developed the fact that he had come down to Victoria on the Idaho, had told the steward of that vessel that he "had made a stake and was going back to Scotland," and bought a ticket over the Canadian Pacific and is by this time in Montreal.

Before leaving, he, in the name of the Carter Bay Packing company, sold the whole thing, cannery site and all, for $11,500 to Messrs. Smith & Macaulay, of Loring, who are supposed to be acting for the Cutting Packing company, leaving his partners in the lurch.

His brother Duncan, who is perfectly innocent of any complicity in the matter, proceeded on to Portland.

It is a losing affair all round for the honest men who put their money into the enterprise in good faith. The site is one of the most advantageous in southern Alaska, and the cannery would have been a source of profit to the owners.

The fact that McKenzie had the original papers, deed, from Mrs. Bunnevitch, etc., as drawn up by Judge Page of this city, makes it probable that he was able to make such representations to the purchasers as justified them in the belief that he had the right to make the transfer.

Just how the matter will end is not known, but at present the men who put up the money for the venture are the losers.

PERSONAL MENTION.

He Was Acquainted With Clarence.

"Clarence, my dear," said the girl anxiously, "what in the world do you suppose papa would say if he knew that you drank beer? You know how strict he is." "But he doesn't know it, darling," responded Clarence reassuringly; "we had a drink together to-day, and we both took whiskey."—Life.

BIG LUMBER SCHEME.

A Michigan Syndicate Securing a Whole Township Near Knappa.

Considerable activity is displayed in filing on timber land, large quantities being filed on in 160-acre tracts at $2.50 an acre, on both sides of the river. A Michigan syndicate, worth, it is said, $12,000,000, are buying up an entire township, T. 7, N., R. 7, W., back of Knappa, getting all they can from purchasers who have secured a patent from the government timber land. Just whether they intend to build a $150,000 saw mill, or gobble all there is in sight and hold it for the next twenty years, is not at present getatable, as a syndicate doesn't get out a brass band, nor come to a newspaper office the first thing, but THE ASTORIAN has it straight that a combination of Michigan capitalists, who know a good thing when they see it, are getting hold of all the timber land they can get a clear title to, back of Knappa.

Some of the timber land is a wonder, many 160-acre tracts having 10,000,000 feet on each of them. The syndicate is getting bonds for deeds, for the space of sixty days from many of the owners of 160-acre tracts. Ten dollars an acre is reported to be the ruling price, though $25 in some cases is said to be the asking figure.

It is thought that if the Michigan men realize the necessity of immediate operations they will at once begin the building of a railroad westward from Knappa.

How Hyde Got His Reputation.

"I tell you Hyde is as reliable a man as you can find anywhere." "What! Jim Hyde a reliable man? Why, he is noted for never telling the truth." "To be sure; that's the reason you can always depend upon him; if he tells you a thing you know it isn't so."—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

A Word to the Young Man.

Young man, ere you decide that the majority of feminine acquaintances have small feet remember that it's only the small ones that you get to see.—Terre Haute Express.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Herrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C.,—Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co's Drug Store.

SWEPT BY THE SEA.

A Passenger Drowned Last Wednesday on The Gray's Harbor Bar.

The Gen. Miles arrived in yesterday morning with freight and passengers from Gray's harbor. She had a rough trip part of the way, the sea being unusually stormy to the northard. While crossing out from the harbor last Wednesday morning, one of the passengers, a young man named Ike Newman, was swept off by a wave and drowned. The steamer was in the worst of the waves at the time. Newman was abaft of the engine. The fireman told him he'd better go up on deck; that it was dangerous where he was. Newman replied that he could take care of himself; he was all right. Shortly after an unusually heavy wave struck the vessel, scattering spray over the deck and smokestack and carrying the unfortunate Newman off over the side. He was seen struggling in the seething foam, but to attempt to stop or turn around would but result in disaster to the vessel and all aboard. Under the circumstances as related by passengers no blame can attach to the captain or crew, and THE ASTORIAN's informants compliment Capt. Whitcomb on his efficiency and presence of mind in handling his vessel.

Newman was recently from Michigan. He had secured a patent to some timber land there and was about to take a trip east and bring out some of his folks.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. Attempted Kidnaping.

Last Tuesday while a ten-year-old grandson of J. D. Wilson, who was staying with Mr. Estis in Pleasant valley, about twelve miles east of Baker City, was picking up potatoes not more than 100 yards from the house, two tramps came along and asked the boy for something to eat. He responded that the folks were away from home and that there was nothing cooked up in the house. Thereupon the tramps grabbed hold of the boy and told him that they would take him along and make a bootblack out of him, and pulled him along with them on the railroad track. When they reached Boreman's ranch, three miles from this city, the boy saw Mr. Estis' folks coming in a wagon and called out to them, but they did not see nor hear him. The tramps stuffed cotton into the boy's mouth and told him if he dared to yell again they would kill him. This silenced the boy from fear. When they arrived in town they chanced to loosen their hold on the boy, who took advantage of the opportunity and ran away to his aunt's, Mrs. Merwins, all but scared to death. —Baker City Blade.

A Life on the Ocean Wave

Indurates the stomach against sea sickness, but a single or occasional transit across the "illimitable wetness" is productive of grievous qualms, especially when it is stormy. Ocean travelers, yatchmen, ship surgeons, commercial buyers sent abroad, voyagers by steamboat, and all who are occasionally or frequently called upon to be where "billows are buffeted," should take along Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest known antidote for sea sickness, malaria, biliousness, and disorders of the stomach and bowels. Many travelers by railroad with delicate stomachs and nerves, likewise suffer severely en route. These will find the Bitters surely helpful and consolatory. Traveling, even in swift, steady and commodious steamships and sumptuous palace cars, is not always a source of unmixed joy and delight, and the Bitters does much to counteract the discomforts attending it, aggravated by delicate health. Rheumatism, brought on by damp weather, kidney troubles and debility are effectually relieved by the Bitters.

The mosaic picture of Abraham Lincoln which stands in Statuary hall at the capitol, Washington, fell to the floor with a loud crash. The picture is a handsome piece of mosaic work and is always shown to visitors. The picture itself was uninjured by the fall, but the frame was destroyed.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist

Mrs. James K. Polk, widow of the president, is now in her eighty-seventh year. She is cheerful but feeble, and is quietly and patiently waiting for the end to come.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: 'My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifiess the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

HENRY VILLARD'S CAREER.

History of The German Immigrant of 1854.

His Rapid Rise And His Reappearance.

The New York Evening Sun of September 21 says:

In 1854 an immigrant arrived in this country from Bavaria, who called himself Henry Villard. It was not his real but an assumed name, and very seldom in the world's history has an alias become so deservedly popular and widely known as that of Henry Villard.

He was born in Speyer, Bavaria, educated in Lorraine, and finally graduated from the gymnasium of his native town in 1853. After his arrival here he visited some relatives at Belleville, Ill.

Having literary ability Mr. Villard earned a living by writing for German publications and, having mastered the English language, he for some time followed the profession of a journalist.

It was not until 1869, however, that Mr. Villard assumed the role of a financier, when he visited Oregon as the representative of the German bondholders of the Oregon & California Railroad company, which had defaulted on its bonds.

It was here that the tide which comes in the affairs of men was taken at the flood by Mr. Villard, and led on to fortune through a career of vicissitude almost without parallel, even in this country of mushroom growths and lightning chances. He saw the great possibilities of that section of the country if properly developed in connection with the then existing lines of transportation both by water and rail. The time, however, had not yet come when he could control the capital necessary to carry out his ideas. But he was successful in reorganizing the Oregon & California railroad, and in 1874 he was sent out from Germany, where he had been reporting the Franco-German war by a committee of German bondholders of the Kansas Pacific railroad, which about that time also defaulted on its interest, and of which he finally became a receiver.

It was not until 1879, however, that Mr. Villard found himself financially strong enough to carry out his great scheme of development of the northwest continent, when, with the help of friends, he acquired control of the Oregon Steamship company and the Oregon Steam Navigation company—the former having a line of steamships plying between San Francisco and Portland, Or., and the latter controlling the boats on the Columbia river. The present Oregon Railway & Navigation company is a consolidation of those two corporations, together with certain small railroad lines in Oregon. Mr. Villard became president of these companies and the thin edge of the wedge which was shortly to put him in control of hundreds of millions of property and land in that section of the country was thus driven in. That wedge it was which finally culminated in the driving of another wedge in the shape of a golden bolt which celebrated the completion of the main line of the Northern Pacific railroad, and of which more anon. Mr. Villard had long had his eye on this property. It was necessary to his plans—a part of his great scheme—but the connection he sought was rejected and all overtures failed. His financial strength, however, was by this time very great, and he conceived the idea of the celebrated "blind pool." Over $20,000,000 cash was paid into his hands against his mere personal receipt, which solely promised to account for this money, but did not reveal the purpose to which it was to be applied.

This $20,000,000 was used to buy Northern Pacific stock, and the outcome of the "blind pool" was the incorporation of the Oregon & Transcontinental railroad company, with Henry Villard as president and with the controlling interest in its strong box of the stock, common and preferred of the Northern Pacific railroad, and enough cash in its treasury to finish building that great road, a herculean task in which, for various reasons, the then managers of the Northern Pacific had themselves failed. It was in '83 that Mr. Villard reached the zenith of his power. Owing to most fallacious underestimates of the cost of this great undertaking by the engineers of the company, Mr. Villard found that even the vast sums applicable to the purpose were inadequate. His own personal fortune of about $5,000,000 was absorbed, and money was still needed. Conservative people in Wall street began to dread a crash. The credit of both Mr. Villard and the Oregon Transcontinental company was assailed, and it was found impossible to raise more money. In this dilemma Mr. Villard, as a last effort, organized the celebrated expedition to the Northern Pacific road. Four special trains, each filled with representative men, scientists, railroad men and capitalists from both the old world and this, under the personal conduct of Mr. Villard, left New York in August, 1883. The expedition reached Oregon and the last spike of solid gold heralding the completion of the Northern Pacific road was driven by Mr Villard in Montana. The rest is known. During his absence Wall street was at work. The Villard securities were attacked. No effort was spared. Credit was suspended, and broken in health Mr. Villard was compelled to resign the presidency of the Northern Pacific and his other companies, and in August, 1884, he sailed for Europe, only to return, however, in October, 1886. Since that time, with undaunted will which knew no obstacle and acknowledged no defeat, he once more comes to the front, and yesterday Henry Villard as president once again of the Oregon Transcontinental company voted $20,000,000 of stock of the Northern Pacific company, together with other stock of himself, and friends, giving him a majority of all stock voted of about 13,000 shares. Of a truth is it that we in modern times can boast of a Phœnix rising from its ashes.

THOUGHT TO HAVE SUICIDED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The trustees of the gratuity fund of the produce exchange have concluded after a thorough investigation that attorney Foster had no accomplice in forging mortgages. There is a current rumor, probably unfounded, that Foster has committed suicide. No place or date is given.

A MISSING TREASURER.

WASECA, Minn., Oct. 5.—Charles McKenney, for nine years treasurer of Waseca, has absconded. An examination of his books revealed a shortage of $6200. Besides defrauding the county, he has victimized a large number of trusted friends. All his property is mortgaged to its full value. It is supposed that he fled to Canada.

BAD CALCULATIONS.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Oct. 5.—A terrible collision occurred near Hannibal station, on the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad this morning. The Lehigh Valley passenger train collided with a wildcat train from Oswego, on a curve at Deep cut. The wildcat train was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour and the Lehigh Valley train forty miles. The locomotives were smashed into a thousand pieces and the cars nearly demolished. Of the wildcat train's crew, engineer Slatterly was killed, and fireman Riley frightfully scalded, and the conductor and brakeman both badly injured. Of the Lehigh train, engineer Hatch was badly cut and scalded, conductor Whitgate and brakeman Smith badly hurt, and the former may die.

BLAINE'S ENGAGEMENTS.

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—In consequence of a slight cold and hoarseness which has developed since his speech in the open air yesterday at Adrian, Mich., Blaine determined this morning not to go to East Saginaw and Ishpeming. His determination was strengthened by reports of icy temperature in the northern peninsula. Mr. Blaine is at the residence of Gen. Alger, where he will remain till Monday, when he will fill his engagement at Grand Rapids. From that point he will proceed to Indiana. He will arrive at Chicago about the 17th or 18th of October. There is nothing serious in his present indisposition and the cancelation of East Saginaw and Ishpeming dates is caused simply by his desire to husband his voice.

NO CONGRESSIONAL ACTION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—It is not probable that any action will be taken by the senate toward the enactment of a law to allow the Chinese who had embarked on their return to the United States duly provided with certificates before before the passage of the bill, to land upon their arrival in this country. The president, in his message to congress, suggested that some such law as this be enacted by bill or resolution, and he also asked that $276,619 75 be appropriated to indemnify the Chinese for outrages committed upon them in frontier camps and settlements. An item to pay this money was entered in the treaty rejected by China, and an appropriation therefore has since been inserted in the general deficiency bill, of which fact the president should have been aware. There is diversity of opinion as to the right of Chinese now in transit to this country and provided with bona-fide certificates, to land on their arrival. The question at issue seems to be whether the Chinese now en route to the United States enjoy any acquired rights under the former law that cannot be taken from them by the law. In any event lawyers here say that the question will probably be settled by the United States courts in San Francisco, and will require no further legislation by congress.

A TREATY RATIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The state department has been informed by telegraph by Minister Buck that the treaty between Peru and this government has been ratified by the latter.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—A crowd numbering 4,000 people gathered at the railway depot to greet Gen. Boulanger on his return to the city. The general eluded the crowd and made his way to the hotel unnoticed.

CRISPI'S HOSTILITY TO FRANCE.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The Temps complains that M. Crispi's note to the Porte concerning the Suez Canal is filled with insinuations against France, and adds: Very rarely in a time of peace has a minister directing the affairs of a nation allowed sentiments of hostility against another power to display themselves so openly.

OPPOSED TO THE CHINESE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The Svet, in view of the influx of Chinese into Siberia, urges that measures be taken to regulate Mongolian immigration to that country.

HARBOR DEFENSE.

MONTREAL, Oct.—A cable dispatch from London says orders have been issued for an increase in the strength of royal engineers at Halifax by strong drafts from the submarine section of royal engineers from Catham as well as from the depot companies. Several submarine torpedoes have been ordered from Woolwich.

FREDERICK'S DAIRY.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Professor Geffoken, who was arrested for revealing state secrets in furnishing the Deutsche Rundschau extracts from emperor Frederick's diary, states that he had the emperor's permission to publish his diary three months after his death.

NOT TO WED A DUKE.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—There is no truth in the report that the duke of Norfolk is engaged to Miss Mactavish, the Catholic young lady, who is well-known in Baltimore.

CORRUPTION IN CANADA.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5.—The Free Press makes formal charges that Premier Greenway entered into an arrangement seven months ago with the Manitoba Central railway by which he was to secure certain legislation for the company, in return for which the corporation was to give him $25,000 to carry his own election and $10,009 to carry the provincial elections. Greenway is not in the province, but his colleagues here said they never heard anything of the story, and believe it was invented out of whole cloth.

This has been a rough week on steamboats; accidents which are unusual on the Columbia, having piled up thick and fast.

"How to live on $1,000 a year," is the title of a nicely printed little pamphlet received. If our eastern publishing friend will send another book on "How to get the $1,000 a year," he will be even more deserving of thanks

Ben Young, who has extensive salmon interests in northern waters, is back from British Columbia. He is still packing on the Fraser river, and returns to-morrow night. He says the Fraser river pack this season will be between 80,000 and 90,000 cases.

The Columbia Waterway association meets in Portland next Tuesday. Following are the delegates from the Astoria chamber of commerce: J. Q. A. Bowlby, E. C. Holden, M. C. Crosby, J. H. D. Gray, W. W. Parker, C. S. Wright, H. C. Thompson, B. Van Dusen J. W. Welch, J. F. Halloran.

The little son of Mr. Anderson, living on the beach, fell from the net racks near the Astoria Iron Works yesterday into the water. The little fellow lost his balance, and his fish, and nearly lost his life. When finally rescued he was apparently dead, but was finally resuscitated after considerable exertion.

The Geo. W. Elder arrived in yesterday afternoon. Yesterday there wasn't room at the docks from upper Astoria to Trullinger's mill for a steamer or a sail vessel to get her nose in. In some places the boats, barges, deep sea going ships, and coasters were lying two deep. More dock room is needed for increasing business.

A St. Paul newspaper factory sends a lot of sample copies of half printed paper; one batch red hot Republican; the other batch straight Democratic; each offered to publishers not able to print their papers at home at a very low figure. To those who like to have their papers edited with a scissors at St. Paul the scheme doubtless has its advantages

THE ASTORIAN has discarded the use of the uncouth names of the streets running east and west. Hereafter it will designate Concomly street as First street, Chenamus as Second street, Squemoqua as Third, Jefferson as Fourth, Astor as Fifth, Court as Sixth, and so on. The city council has the same privilege in 1928, when it gets through wrestling with the roadway.

An exchange tells of a woman with a patent button fastener who has been doing the towns in eastern Oregon during the past few weeks. Walking quickly up to a staid old gent on the street she will dexterously clip a button from his coat before he lets loose of the idea that she is going to hug him, and when he expostulates she produces her button fastener and instantly replaces the button, tight and solid. Of course he buys a box of the fasteners, and the lady seeks another victim to practice her arts upon.

PERSONAL MENTION.

D. Leubrie, representing the Chicago Inter-Ocean, is in the city. He was canvassing yesterday with E. C. Holden, the idea being to get 25 yearly subscribers and a column letter in that influential daily.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

A Slip of the Tongue.

"Those woolen stockings are all wool, I presume," she said as she requested the clerk to wrap her up a half-dozen pairs.

"O, yes, miss," he answered in thoughtlessness, "they're all wool and a yard wide."

"Sir!" she exclaimed, indignantly, and before he fully realized what he had said she whisked out of the store. —Washington Critic.

FESTIVE FUNERAL FOLKS.

The Next World's Doorkeepers to Meet at Tacoma.

There will be a good many Astorians going away on a variety of errands next week, to various gatherings and association meetings at Salem, Eugene, Portland and elsewhere. Probably the jolliest gathering of the whole batch will be the meeting of the undertakers and funeral directors and dead men decorators at Tacoma. F. H. Surprenant will represent Astoria. The association will set the fall fashions in funerals for the season of 1888-89, and announce the latest caper in crape and black rosettes. There are some nice new designs in caskets and some real handsome novelties are shown in silver plates and lace trimmings. The association will, it is believed, offer superior and unusual inducements in the way of lower prices to those who are already dead, and who have been walking around the streets for several years, as a matter of economy to save funeral expenses. The funeral directors are afraid some of these economical folks will do them out of a job some way before the final obsequies arrive, and propose to plant them on very favorable terms.

Shortly after the Tacoma convention finish their schedule rates, they expect to be able to announce inducements in funeral figures that will cause a boom in their business.

The association will discuss some grave subjects, and others not so grave. They will drop into poetry, the poet of the occasion having forwarded some of his verses to the local editor of THE ASTORIAN.

The funeral poet who will spill over at Tacoma has chosen as the subject of his rhymes "The Grave." We only have room for the first two verses

Here they are:

"If early I'm wanted
You'll find me but small,
But at times I am able To cover up all."

"I shelter the wretched
From trouble and woe,
And the more I am cut
The larger I grow."

There is a simple beauty and a delicate pathos to them there lines that when elocuted will no doubt cause every mother's son at Tacoma to swallow down some big bursting sobs when he hears them read.

The association will also confer degrees. The man who can ring in a $250 casket and charge $475 for it, and the man who can make the carriage and livery stable men divy on the job will be given the P. D. Q., degree and advanced to front rank.

All the Oregon and Washington funeral men want, to be in in the swim, is a salmon cannery, a newspaper and a private bar.

"Age Cannot Wither Her."

Remarked an old gentleman, as he gazed fondly upon the comely little woman by his side; "but frankly," he continued, "at one time I was afraid cosmetics would." The silly little woman, "in order to appear youthful, plastered her face with different varieties of whitewash, yclept "balms," "creams," "lotions," &c. "Yes," interrupted the little woman, "I did, until my skin became like parchment, and so pimply and coarse." "Well," said the listener, what, do you use now"? "Use," was the reply, nothing but common sense, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Common sense told me if my blood was pure, liver regulated, appetite good, that the outward woman would take on the hue of health. The 'Discovery' did all those things, and actually rejuvenated me."

Its thousands of cures are the best advertisement for Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Every Astorian Can Sympathize.

"Yes, George,' she sighed, while a choking sob welled up from her bosom, "I am married." The young man started back in horror. The moonlight streaming through the open window made his face look all the more ghastly pale. Great beads of perspiration rolled from his cold brow, and he tried to speak, but in vain. The words died upon his white, quivering lips. She drew herself up to her full queenly height and for a moment her eyes rested upon him with an expression of ineffable love. Then, remembering the circumstances, her face grew rigid and her voice was cold and ringing as she said: "Yes, George, I waited for you for weary, weary months. Only a word from you would have changed the current of our lives, but as the time rolled on and you were silent, I thought you faithless, and when Algernon threw himself at my feet and offered me wealth, position, and a wide waste of love, I accepted him, and now I am his wife." "You waited!" cried George, bitterly: "False woman! A year ago to-day I sent you a letter asking you to be mine." The beautiful woman's breath came in short gasps. "How did you send it?" "By mail, of course." Then for a space there was a deep silence, broken only by the whispers of the night wind. "All, all is explained," at last she cried; "how could you expect a letter to travel sixty miles in a year when you consider the condition of the mail service?" —Nebraska State Journal.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Herrick & Co., of Shelbyville, N. C.,—Get a free trial bottle at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair Splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, —sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache, to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing, to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

PROFITABLE REVENGE.

How a Buffalo Man Got Even With a Lot of Insurance Agents.

There is a wealthy man in Buffalo who, ever since he became well-to-do, has been pestered by the entreaties of local insurance agents to take out a policy in favor of his wife and little ones. Not long ago, says the Buffalo Courier he determined to be revenged on them. He called on a certain agent and told him that at last he was thinking seriously of taking out a policy, say for $10,000, but that before deciding the matter he wished to examine the inducements of two or three other companies. "Certainly," said the agent, "but do come and dine with me at the City Club to-morrow." "With pleasure." The rich man walked away, and visiting three or four more agents told them the same story—that he was thinking of taking out a policy of $10,000 or so, but was not quite decided yet in which company he should insure. Each and all of them extended him an earnest invitation to "come and dine with me to-morrow evening," or "What do you say to a little supper at Blank's, where we can talk it over?" or, "I'm going to open a bottle of Madeira to-morrow evening. Come around and I'll explain our plan in full." The wealthy man winked to himself as he left these agents, and accepted all their civilities, and for two weeks his family hardly saw him, for he continued to hesitate and procrastinate, and the agents continued to dine him and wine him, until at length, having enjoyed himself immensely at the expense of the insurance companies, he one day sat down in his office and wrote each of the agents a little note, in which he stated he had "been convinced of the better advantages to be gained by insuring in another company," and regretted that he "could not take out a policy with you." The agents each read this note with tears in their eyes and swear-words on their lips, and placed a sum ranging from $25 to $50 to the debit of expense account.

Hunting The Walrus in The Waters of The Far North—A Narrative of A Prospecting Tour On The Yukon River.

(S. F. Call, Oct. 3.)

The revenue cutter Rush arrived in the harbor yesterday after a prolonged trip in the Behring and Arctic seas. The season has been without particular event, and she has not been through the exciting experiences of last year. The Rush was not capturing sealers this year, owing, it is said, to orders which were imperative not to make seizures; consequently the voyage since leaving San Francisco in the spring has been entirely devoid of incident or excitement.

The Rush left Oonalaska on the 18th of August last, and while there she took aboard John Defries and the captain and crew, consisting of ten men, of the hunting schooner Angel Dollie. This vessel was one of those which were seized last year by one of the United States cutters and remained in the hands of the authorities until the 21st of April, 1888. Her crew left San Francisco on the 19th of March on the schooner Alton, and sailed in her to Oonalaska, where they arrived on the 21st of the following April. On the 3d of May, after provisioning the schooner, the men left for the Behring sea and arrived at a place called Sandy point on the 18th of May.

Their stores were replenished and they then sailed for Pirate cove, a place sixteen miles northeast from Sandy point, where one man was added to the crew, and the schooner sailed up toward Kodiak. On the voyage to Kodiak it was decided to sail to Walrus island, in the northeastern part of Behring sea, and hunt for Walrus, giving up the notion of hunting for seal or otter.

On the 25th of June the party landed at Walrus island, and though the locality is known as one of the finest resorts of the walrus in the northern seas, yet the crew found it practically deserted. Only six walrus were seen, and of these none were shot. The schooner remained at that point for three weeks waiting for the number of walrus to increase, but though they were seen in great numbers, yet in consequence of persistent hunting they have become extremely shy and difficult to approach in range.

HUNTING WALRUS.

The usual method of hunting walrus is to drive them up the beach and then they can be killed at leisure by the hunters. The animals are extremely timid and make no effort to fight, only to get away. The average weight of the walrus found in this section is about twenty-five hundred pounds, and notwithstanding their immense size, they make no effort to protect themselves against attack.

The first walrus killed was on the 25th of July, and, although remaining at the island for nearly two months, the hunters only shot fourteen during that time.

On the 20th of August they sailed for Oonalaska for stores, leaving four of the crew behind, and arrived on the 25th of the same month, shipping the walrus hides to San Francisco. Two days afterward the Angel Dollie sailed back to Walrus island, where they arrived five days after, and found the beach swarming with walruses, the hunters securing five.

On the 8th of September, the prospects not warranting a longer stay, and the weather becoming very rough, it was decided to sail for St. Matthews island, five hundred miles to the northwest, to hunt polar bears, but the advanced and stormy season compelled them to put about for Oonalaska, where they arrived on the 11th.

A POOR SEASON.

On arrival the crew, which had become discouraged and dissatisfied in consequence of the poor success of the hunt, refused to proceed further in the schooner, and determined to wait the arrival of the revenue cutter Rush, which was daily expected in port. They waited but one day before the Rush appeared, and the captain of the Angel Dollie went aboard to make arrangements for conveying his crew to San Francisco. These efforts were succesful, and captain Shephard of the Rush consented to bring the crew down.

The Rush, with the crew of the Angel Dollie, left Oonalaska on the 18th of September, and sailed for Belcoskey, about 170 miles southeast, where they remained about twelve hours, sailing for Sandy point, where the news of a shooting at Pirate creek was heard. The murderer, Louis Sharp, was arrested and taken aboard and brought to this city.

Upon arriving at Oonalaska the Rush concluded to wait for the Thetis, which was daily expected with seventy-two miners aboard from the mouth of the Yukon. Two days afterward the Thetis arrived and all of the miners were anxious to come to this city on the Rush, but on consultation with captain Shephard it was found that eighteen could be accommodated aboard the cutter and it was decided to briug all who were sick and others who were chosen by lot. The remainder of the miners will be brought down by the Thetis.

DISSAPOINTED MINERS.

The story the miners tell of their experiences on the Yukon is thrilling. They were induced through the representations of persons who are interested in Alaska mining properties and by the wonderful stories of their productiveness to go to Alaska. They found the representations which were made to them greatly exaggerated and in some cases false. They arrived at Juneau on the 4th of April, where they built sleighs for conveying their stores to the headwaters of the Yukon river. They left Juneau on the 9th, each man drawing 500 pounds of freight over the snow and ice. They camped at Chilkat landing the same night, and to go from this point to Lake Linden it took them until the 4th of May.

Here they camped, and the next day crossed Lake Linden, which was covered with thick ice. They also crossed another lake called Toko, where they found three deserted boats which they secured and packed across the range, a distance of nineteen miles, and built another boat on the bank of the Yukon at a place called White horse Rapids. The rapidity of the river at this point compelled them to pack their provisions around, and to shoot the rapids with their boats. They continued their journey down the river, traveling much of the time over snow and ice, and on the 12th of June arrived at Forty-mile creek, the center of the mining on the upper Yukon.

HARD LIFE AND HIGH PRICES.

Proceeding up Forty-mile creek for thirty miles and prospecting as they went, they found the ground so deeply frozen as to prevent successful mining. The result of six days' prospecting showed $26 for each man.

On the 24th of June they decided to break camp and start down the Yukon to a point 800 miles below, where a new mining excitement had just broken out. An Indian guide was found to conduct them to the new camp at Beaver creek, a small branch of the Yukon. On their ascent of this creek they met fifteen boats each containing three men, and found a thoroughly disgusted lot of miners. The discouraging accounts which they received caused them to make up their minds to return to the mouth of the Yukon, a distance of 900 miles, and they arrived at their destination on the 25th of August, where the United States steamer Thetis was met, and they persuaded the captain to furnish them transportation to Sitka. It is the unanimous opinion of all these miners that the stories of the richness of the mines in Alaska are greatly exaggerated, and are told by parties who are interested in promoting a large immigration. The prices of the necessities of life are very high; flour at Forty-mile creek is woth $35 per hundred weight, and rubber boots are held at $25 per pair and they are not permitted to trade with the Indians for even the commonest and most necessary articles.

Mothers and nurses may give Simmons Liver Regulator to children and to the most delicate home-bound invalid with the utmost confidence in its safety and efficacy. It saves no end of doctors' bills. Always keep it in the house, for it is a household remedy, and there are many ailments that the Regulator will cure. It is safe to take in any condition of the system. No fear from exposure after taking this medicine.

The Gray's Harbor Mill company, organized in San Francisco about a year ago, has abandoned its project of erecting a new mill, having purchased the Cosmopolis mills for $160,000. The mill will be enlarged, machinery to the value of $11,000 having already been sent to Gray's harbor. In connection with the purchase of additional wharf room of 200 feet, which has been secured, a store will be established and a line of steam schooners put on the route between Gray's harbor and San Francisco.

[illegible] brought on by damp weather, [illegible] troubles and debility are effectually relieved by the Bitters.

The number of logging camps about Gray's harbor is variously estimated at from fifty to seventy, with 850 to 900 men employed and one to three teams of six to eight yoke of oxen each. Logs are worth $4 to $5 per thousand feet for fir and $10 to $12 for cedar.

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Acker's English Blood Elixir has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Barnby brothers, from Pennsylvania, have purchased of William West four acres of land on the Chehalis river, south of the Chehalis sawmill, and they will at once erect a shingle mill with a capacity of 200,000 a day.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE

Professor Arnold says; "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.

A Trifle Skeptical—Minister—Well, Bobby, what did you learn at school to-day? Bobby—I learned that the world is round, and turns on hinges like that globe in the parlor. Minister—Well, what did you think of that? Bobby—I think they're asking me to believe a good deal for a small boy.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.

More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY . OCTOBER 7, 1888.

THE illness of Samuel J. Randall is assuming a mental character, which alarms his friends. He seems to be under the delusion that he is again speaker of the house.

So far this year the shipments of wheat from the Pacific states to Great Britain have been almost twice as large as the shipments from the Atlantic states. The difference in value in favor of the Pacific states is $5,000,000.

THE campaign is lively beyond all precedent in Indiana. The Indianapolis Journal says that if a notice is posted on a tree in the heart of the woods, "there is to be speaking here,' within five hours a large audience will be gathered in almost any part of the state.

MISS SUSAN WINTER, of Wheatlands, Montana, has sued a local editor for defamation of character. She is engaged to a young man by the name of Spring, and the editor in alluding to the fact quoted the remark about winter lingering in the lap of spring.

SALMON contracts to deliver are usual and ordinary transactions on the Columbia. They come under the head of futures, and have been complied with. The question as to the validity of future contracts is one that has been much before the courts of late, and while the decisions upon it have not been free from conflict, a clear judicial view in harmony with modern conditions seems to be gradually being worked out. The latest decision in reference to the question which we have noticed is one by Judge Holmes, of the supreme court of Massachusetts, in a case in which the loser in a transaction involving speculative purchases of grain and provisions sought to avoid his obligations on the ground that the dealings were against public policy and obnoxious to the laws against gambling. Judge Holmes decided against this contention, holding that speculation is legitimate; that parties have a right to make contracts for the purchase or sale of property for future delivery, with the understanding that the property may be resold before the day appointed for the delivery, and that such transactions do not contravene the policy of the law. The judge in his opinion recognized the extent to which speculation enters as a motive power into modern commercial transactions, a consideration which clearly should be kept in view when the question of public policy is being passed upon. Of course it goes without saying that the principles laid down by Judge Holmes do not apply to transactions where no delivery is contemplated on either side, and which amount merely to wagers on the rise or fall of prices and that they do apply to such transactions as the Columbia river salmon contracts, which are made in good faith and usually rendered necessary by the existing order of affairs.

"Oh, a life on the ocean wave, the man who wrote it was green; he'd never been to sea; a storm he had never seen." So sang an ancient mariner yesterday as he landed in Scow bay from a trip around Tongue Point, in a leaky boat, one oar lost, his rudder unshipped and his load at the bottom of the river. He lost his workbench but he saved his tools.

Girls don't come very high in Pendleton. Leastways one Pendleton man doesn't put much value on them. He is the father of a pretty sixteen-year-old, and the p. s. y. o. ran away with an alleged man. When they returned the father felt real mad about it, and wasn't satisfied till the girl's companion gave him $15 for his lacerated parental feelings. Then the girl got riled to think that her father thought so little of her and left them both and set up in business for herself.

The total catch of sealskins for the year entered at the Victoria, B. C., custom house, is 21,338. Of these, 15,933 are from the north Pacific, and the rest from the coast. The total catch of 1887 was 33,800, showing a deficiency of 12,562 for this year. The value of the catch at $6 a skin—the present rate—amounts to $138,028. The value in 1887 was higher than now, being about $7 a skin. The stormy weather on the fishing grounds is largely the cause of the reduced catch.

An eminent English physician says the following is a sure cure for small-pox: "One ounce of cream of tartar dissolved in a pint of boiling water, to be drank when cold, at short intervals. It can be taken at any time, and is a preventive as well as a curative. It is known to have cured in a hundred thousand cases, without a single failure. I have myself restored hundreds by this means. It never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and prevents tedious lingerings. It is so effectual that, if properly used, it would dispense with the unnatural law of vaccination."

There seems to be no doubt that the "frigate bird," an inhabitant of the tropical seas, is the swiftest bird that flies. It has been impossible to calculate its rate of flight within fixed limits. The pectoral muscles are immensely developed, and weigh nearly one-fourth as much as the whole body of the bird. Another rapid flyer is the common "black swift." It has been computed that the great speed it attains is about 276 miles an hour, which, if maintained for about six hours, would carry the bird from its summer retreat in England to central Africa. Our American "canvas-back duck" is commonly computed to be capable of flying 200 miles an hour.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Chief Barry has returned from Portland.

Ben McKennly will hear something to his advantage by calling on the chief of police.

British Benevolent Association.

A meeting of the members of the British Benevolent Society of Astoria was held in Vice Consul Cherry's office on Friday evening last. The report of Treasurer W. T. Chutter was presented, showing a cash balance on hand which warranted the passing of a resolution reducing the membership dues to the nominal sum of one dollar a year. The society adjourned to meet again next Friday evening, when arrangements will be made for a social reunion of the members and their friends on St. Andrew's day, 30th Nov.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Latest News From The Atlantic Coast.

Mr. Thurman's Opinion of The Senate Bill.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 6.—The McClellan hotel was burned at four o'clock this morning. A panic occurred among the guests. J. A. Wetherby of the Evening Chronicle, jumped from the third story window and was killed. His sister and niece also jumped and were seriously hurt.

WINFIELD PEOPLE DISTURBED.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—A special from Winfield, Kansas, states that there is a great excitement in that vicinity owing to the discovery of a secret military order of anarchists, known to exist in Cowley and Sumter counties. A man named Pryor formerly of St. Louis, is given as the leader of the band. The agitation is increased by the discovery that several well known citizens are members of it. The discovery was made by a detective who was initiated into the order.

CAR CONDUCTORS' STRIKE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The strike of the car conductors and cable gripmen on the north side was inaugurated this morning at six o'clock. Not a car is running on the entire north division. Sidewalks have been filled with pedestrians headed for the business portion of the city since an early hour. Express wagons and rattle traps of all descriptions on which temporary seats have been fixed are being run by the strikers and others. Thus far no violence on the part of the strikers have been reported and none is expected.

The managers announce that no attempt will be made to start the cars until Monday. The west side car men have given out that they will strike at midnight. Thus to-morrow three-fourths of the city will be without cars. The management of the north division have engaged 150 new men. Everything remains quiet.

JUDGE THURMAN'S OPINION.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—In an interview with judge Thurman to-day, he said of the senate tariff bill, it is a badly planned measure and only aggravated the matter. "I notice they copy after the Mills' bill very largely. I haven't read it yet in its entirety, but I know enough about it to say that it is not nearly as good a measure as the Mills' bill. It is nothing more than a bid for votes. They keep up the tariff on the manufactured articles, to capture the votes of the manufacturers, and likewise, the duty on raw materials to please the farmers. It is a badly mixed affair."

RIVAL DISPATCH COMPANIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 6.—The Commercial Fire Dispatch company has brought suit against the San Francisco Fire Dispatch company and Wm. J. Brady to recover $10,000 for alleged libel and for cause of action avers that the Commercial company was engaged in the business of informing clients and patrons of any fire which might occur in their places of business; that on September 15th last the defendant Dispatch company published a letter addressed, to-wit, by defendant Brady, reflecting upon the acts of the plaintiff company in its business, to the effect that it had not fulfilled its contract with its patrons and therefore did not do efficient service. It is charged that the publication was false, which fact the defendants knew; that by reason of said publication the plaintiff company has been damaged in the sum sued for.

A BIG CLAIM.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 6.—Louis Sloss and L. L. Baker, as assignee of Wm. T. Coleman & Co., have brought suit to recover $45,255 25 from the British Columbia Packing company, of San Francisco, claimed to be due Coleman & Co. upon an open and current account.

BANKS IN TROUBLE

FALL RIVER, Oct. 6.—The Union Savings Bank's losses figure up $240,000. It looks now as though it may wreck both that and the National Union Bank.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

HIGH PRICED FLOUR.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Corn Millers' association at their meeting in Leeds to-day advanced the price of flour 1s 6d a bag of eighteen stone, making a rise of seven shillings a bag within seven weeks. The advance is due to the poor condition of English wheat and the increased value of foreign wheat.

A POLITICAL UNION.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—A letter from Erastus Winans says that it is not unlikely that a resolution will be reported for concurrent action in both houses of congress declaring it the duty of the president to open negotiations with Great Britain looking to a political union between the English-speaking nations of this continent. The condition attending this invitation to Canada is understood to be that the United States shall assume the debt of Canada, $300,000,000

DEFEAT OF ISHAK.

THEATER BURNED.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Theater Royal at Dundee, was burned last night.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

BACK FROM "THE STATES."

The Usual Experience of a Pacific Coaster.

Capt. Al. Harris, of the life saving service, got back yesterday from a visit to the white settlements. He has taken a run through New York, Pennsylvania, Canada, etc., the first time for 23 years since coming west. His is the usual experience. When he got home he felt disappointed. Babies that he had left in their cradles were sedate matrons; boys that he used to buy balls for were grave business men with children at school; folks that weren't in existence at all when he left were on deck, and of those that he used to know, many of them had gone to sleep.

The hills weren't so high, the trees weren't so big, the river had shrunk up; the creek that he fished in was dammed up and covered with mills; the site of the little red school house he used to go to school in was covered by a plate glass factory; the cornfield he used to shoot robins in was covered by big buildings.

He hadn't been "back home" more than three days before he dropped on one thing that every body does who goes back east from the Pacific coast. He had to "go slow" in telling about things out here. He had to go under the truth, for the exact facts would be incredible. To tell a man that we raised fifty bushels of wheat to the acre made him mad, to tell of our logs 100 feet long 24x24 started him to swearing, and to talk of a 75-pound Astoria salmon capped the climax. So that everything had to be toned down and understated or he would lose his character as a truthful man.

In the rural districts a dollar is a big lot of money, and a man who spends four bits at the village store is a little tin god on wheels. Cents are carefully counted and a penny more or less will send a man to the other town to do his trading. Down in Bradford, Pennsylvania, the gas lamps were alight all day long. It was easier to let them burn than to bother about putting them out. Natural gas, everywhere. When a woman got the dinner on the stove she turned on the gas and the whole business was cooked in less than no time.

In northern and western New York state the people are wild on politics. Every old farmer has a piece of bunting on his house or fence, and all that Capt. Harris saw say that they will vote for Harrison and protection. A good many told him that in November, '84, election day was wet and they didn't bother about going to the polls, because they were sure Blaine would be elected anyhow, but this year they were going to turn out to a man and get in a vote for Harrison, if it took a leg.

The New York Democrats are very confident and will slap up money to cover any proposed bet on Harrison.

In Indiana the people are plumb crazy. The whole state is a political battlefield and both parties are moving heaven and earth and the other place to carry the state.

Capt. Harris got the impression that Harrison's election was as sure as sunrise.

He brought back some magnificent views of Niagara Falls; says he is glad to get back, and never realized so clearly what a grand place Oregon and Washington is to live in and how much better off we are out here than the folks "back in the states"

Some controversy has arisen lately as to whether a clergyman can marry himself or not. We beg to suggest that the question is whether the verdict would be felo de se or temporary insanity.—Fun.

"And what do you expect to make of your son when he comes of age, Mr. Smith?" "Oh, I don't know," replied Mr. Smith, despondently. "I think he'd make a good husband for a rich girl."—Life.

Groom (in suburban village)—We are looking for a small house; one about big enough for a young couple. Agent—Yes, sir. Would you like a twin cottage? Bride—Horrors! No.—Philadelphia Record.

Restaurant waiter (to departing customer who has failed to give him the accustomed tip)—You'll not forget me, will you? Miserly party—No, indeed. I'll write you a letter when I get home.—Texas Siftings.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Mistress (to new girl)—What under the sun do you mean by sitting idly all day in the kitchen when I am paying you $4 a week? New girl (recent importation)—Sure, mum, the immigration commissioners at Castle Garden told us if we contracted to work we'd be sint back.—Philadelphia Record.

Mrs. Bacon—"I say, Mr. Chalkem, I understand you are about to raise the price of milk?" Chalkem—"Yes, ma'am; milk will be 9 cents a quart after the first of the month." "That's what you call high water mark, I suppose?"—Yonkers Statesman.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.

More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Mrs. J.—My new piano reminds me of a successful business man. Mr. J.—Why? Mrs. J.—Oh, well, it's always square. And then its notes never go to protest. Mr. J.—No; but the neighbors are going to.—Terre Haute Express.

THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DEATH

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week we hereby guarantee Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

"She hove an' sot, an' sot an' hove,
An' high her rudder flung,
An' all the more she sot an' hove
The wusser leak she sprung."

Nevada's Angry Tree

In some parts of Nevada is a curious plant called the "Angry Tree." It is a native of Australia, and somewhat resembles the century plant. Its name is due to its apparent vexation at being disturbed. When transplanted each separate leaf stands up in a different direction, like quills on a porcupine or hairs on the tail of an angry cat. At such times it gives forth a unpleasant odor, like that of a rattlesnake when teased, and sometimes it is fully an hour before its leaves resume their natural condition. Another curiosity in the plant world is a peculiar kind of weed which grows in the Arkansas valley. It is shaped like a ball, and varies in size from one foot or less in diameter to five or six feet, some specimens being as tall as a man. When ripe these balls snap off their stems, and go tumbling over the prairies with every gust of wind. They present a very strange appearance, and in the distance hunters have mistaken them for bisons. Often they come bounding along at great speed upon the hunters, who are compelled to crowd upon the ground to escape being hurt.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Sunflowers are used in Wyoming territory for fuel. The stalks when dry are as hard as maplewood and make a hot fire, and the seed-heads with the seeds in are said to burn better than the best hard coal. An acre of sunflowers will furnish fuel for one stove for a year.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS.

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J.W. Conn, Druggist.

Biggins—You can flatter a woman into anything, I believe. Higgins—Not quite. I tried to make my wife believe that she was absolutely beautiful with her mouth in repose, but it wouldn't work.—Terre Haute Express

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Acker's English Blood Elixir has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The ancient custom of ringing the curfew bell has been resumed at Stratford-on-Avon, the same bell being used as that which was tolled at Shakespeare's funeral.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE

Professor Arnold says: "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY....................OCTOBER 12, 1888.

FOR the first time since the war the interest bearing debt of the United States is less than a billion dollars, the exact figures on Saturday, September 15th, being $997,732,972.

THE following notice is posted prominently in a down town office in New York: We Have Time for Business or Social Calls,But Our Opinions on Religion, Politics and Base-ball Are so settled that We Do Not Wish to Discuss Them.

SOME people might think that the chief interest of the time is the political campaign, but according to "Bessie," writing to a New York paper, they are mistaken. She says: "The first question of the hour for women is, how to civilize and improve men."

A SPANISH general of Barcelona has bequeathed a million francs to found a refuge for the orphan daughters of poor officers, a proviso being that each must be beautiful in face and form, "because the more lovely a woman is the more she is exposed to danger in this world."

THE new 6-inch gun, throwing a 100-pound projectile and penetrating 13 inches of plating at 1,000 yards, is a gun of sufficient power to deal with almost anything built or building. It may fail to penetrate the strong patch, but it will knock any other part of the ship and most of the men to pieces.

THE French have discovered a method of making smokeless powder, the detonations of which are scarcely audible, so that the firing will not reveal the whereabouts of an army. This invention and the superiority of the Lebel rifle have excited great attention in military circles in Europe, and are likely to effect a revolution in warfare.

CHINESE criminal law requires a murderer to confess his guilt before he can be condemned to capital punishment. If circumstantial evidence is against him, the unhappy prisoner is usually flogged and tortured every few days, until life becomes such a burden to him he is at length glad to confess in order to have the executioner end his misery.

A DISPATCH from Winnipeg, Manitoba, says negotiations are daily in progress between the Greenway government and the Hudson bay railroad promoters. Government officers guarantee $2,500,000 upon satisfactory security to be given for the completion of the entire line, also to aid in the construction of an additional sixty miles this fall upon the same conditions.

THE use of the word "tax," as identical with an "import duty," has tended to confuse a few people only. Import duties are not taxes in any proper sense of the word. They are a charge added to the natural cost of the products of foreign countries. They are a tax on our people only when they are laid on articles we do not produce. An import duty on tea and coffee would be a tax on our people, because at present and for years to come tea and coffee must be imported. But an import duty on goods that we produce is a process by which foreign nations are made to pay for the privilege of competing with home producers in the American market.

PEOPLE who indulge in the in[illegible]gant habit of wetting their fore[illegible] before turning the leaf of a book, will do well to note the report of the authorities of Dresden, who have been investigating the question whether circulating libraries are a medium for the spread of infectious diseases. They rubbed the dirtiest leaves of the books, first with a dry finger and then with a wet, microscopically [examining the product in each case. In the first case scarcely any microbes were found on the finger; in the second place plenty. Though all these appeared to be of a non-infectious character, the committee winds up with a recommendation to readers not to wet their finger in the mouth for the purpose of turning over the leaves.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store

Nine Million Dollars Found in the Earth.

A Russian peasant named Levotchko has just discovered an immense treasure trove in the village of Starogorodki, in the governorship of Tchernigow. The peasant lived upon land forming part of the estate of Prince Ostersky, whose ancestors were plundered and expelled from their possessions by the Tartars, and there is no doubt that the treasure and other articles found date from this period. Levotchko was at work for ten years in making this discovery, which includes, beside many precious articles and manuscripts, twelve large boxes filled with very ancient coins of fine gold. The total value of the find is given at 17,000,000 rubles, two-thirds of which go to the state and one-third to Levotchko, whose share will amount to approximately £600,000 sterling.

The buildings on Benton between 2nd and 3rd streets are being raised to the same height as the custom house sidewalk

The books of the Astoria and South Coast railway company were yesterday turned over to the new secretary, E. C. Holden.

From July 13th to October 8th, there have arrived at San Francisco from Alaska, 239,700 cases salmon, besides about 4,000 bbls. salmon.

The terrific stench arising from the "sewers" makes these rains welcome. Rain is cheaper and more effective than quinine in stopping malaria.

The Nelly Boyd company are heading this way and will probably be here about the 24th. Dan Sully would be a drawing card at the opera house.

The Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias, in session in Portland, yesterday decided to hold the next annual session at Astoria, on the second Tuesday in October, 1889.

The bark Hope, which C. T. Thomes took to Karluk, Alaska, last spring, is in San Francisco with the product of the season's work 20,800 cases and 280 barrels salmon.

It cost $37,051,0[illegible] to run New York city last year: that amount at the present rate, would run Astoria for just a thousand years. This is a pointer on "economy."

The new waltz to be introduced the coming season "will embrace several new figures." Quite a number of young and pretty figures were embraced in the old waltzes.

The waterway convention report in Wednesday's Oregonian was a good piece of work and reflected credit on the reporter, Reed, who "covered" it well. Jack Egan of the News did well too, but it's hard for him to be in more than three places at the same time.

B. S. Pague, formerly signal officer at Roseburg, has been exonerated from all charges against him before the department at Washington, and temporarily assigned to duty at Philadelphia. It is understood that he will soon be transferred to a station in Oregon, and fill his old position of editor of the "Oregon State Weather Review."

The state fish commissioners have returned from Alsea bay and report that the salmon fishing season is about half over. The fish caught this year are of excellent quality. Some 10,000 cases will be packed this year besides what is sent to the market fresh. The commissioners will leave shortly for Tillamook bay, provided the weather clears up.

Captain Horatio Cushing died last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of his son-in-law, William Church Jr., in Portland. Captain Cushing is an old resident of the coast. He came to California in 1849 and to Portland in 1864. For a number of years he kept the White house. He leaves a wife and two children, Horatio W. Cushing of the News, and Mrs. William Church, Jr., to mourn his loss. The captain had a host of friends who will sincerely mourn his loss.

A telegram was received at the treasury department at Washington last Wednesday, from the collector of customs at Port Townsend, W. T., saying the steamer Ancon, from Sitka, had landed a Chinaman at Victoria, B. C., on his way to Port Townsend, and asking whether he should be allowed to land. Secretary Maynard replied to the telegram as follows: "The act of Oct. 1 positively prohibits the landing of Chinese laborers who have departed from United States territory. The Chinese per Ancon from Alaska cannot land."

The State of California is due from San Francisco to-day with the following passengers: G. H. Munsen and wife, Mrs. A. McAbbe, Miss H. Hicks, Miss J. Kelly, Miss A. Bartman, U Hansen, J. F. Fields, H. Simon, Capt. J. G. Foster, Miss Beveridge, T. E. Murphy, W. T. Bradford, Mrs. S. C. Bachelder, L. Schlessinger, P. Rollins and wife, M. Smith, Miss V. Robinson, Mrs. F. P. Way, J. P. Mampel, F. M. Wilson, W. D. Northrop and wife, Mrs. L. A. Fowrette, Ella Rucker, Miss A. Finley, Mrs. Hazzard, T. E. Kennedy, T. P. McAndres, and Salt Lake baseball team of ten men.

The run of salmon is reported to be somewhat better of late on the Alsea, and the canneries and fishermen are doing a lively business. Upon Yaquina bay the run is also fairly good at the present time, although there are so many boats employed in the business that the hauls made are usually small. It is reported on good authority that nearly one hundred and twenty boats are now fishing, many of which carry very large nets. The salmon that runs the gauntlet and gets to the spawning ground down there this year is a very lucky fish. The canneries are reported as doing a very good business, though few boats are making any money, some of them scarcely paying expenses.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Safer to Have a Pilot.

The British ship Eaton Hall endeavored to proceed to sea Saturday without a pilot, but after towing to the nine fathom buoy encountered such thick weather that the captain decided to put back to port, which he did, postponing his departure till yesterday.—S. F. Comm. News, 8.

DEATH OF OSCAR I. CLAY.

Congress Will Adjourn October 20th.

The Chicago Street Railway Strike.

PORTLAND, Oct. 11.—Mr. Oscar I. Clay, who was for about eight years connected with the Oregonian, and until a few weeks ago was commercial editor of that paper, died at the residence of his parents, corner of Market and Eleventh streets, at ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Clay had been suffering from an affection of the heart, and during his last sickness has suffered a great deal. He enjoyed the fullest confidence of his employers as well as of the entire mercantile community with whom he had daily communication, and was a favorite. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, and held several of the offices of that order. His funeral will take place on Saturday morning at nine o'clock, from the family residence.

ADJOURNS OCT. 20TH.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—As a result of the conference with the members of the house and senate, it has been substantially agreed to adjourn congress one week from Saturday.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—In view of the rioters' demonstrations yesterday mayor Roche this morning issued a proclamation calling on the people of the city not to congregate on the streets. Some cars were run on the north side this morning. The tracks were torn up in a number of places and obstructions placed at many points, making progress slow.

It is rumored that a conferencee is in progress looking to settlement. President Yerkes denies this and declares the fight is one to the death. It is announced that an attempt will be made to run cars on the west side at four o'clock this afternoon and serious trouble is anticipated notwithstanding a full committee of strikers called on captain Aldrich this morning and proffered assistance in suppressing disturbances.

RETALIATION PROPOSALS.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—It is reported that an angry exchange of communications has taken place between London and Washington with regard to Cleveland's retaliation proposals. Under the pressure exerted by the Canadian government, Salisbury instructed the British minister to protest against the retaliation message as an act of hostility toward a friendly government, also a breach of the modus vivendi agreement made with Joseph Chamberlain, representing the British government, and by the government at Washington.

THE RIEL REBELLION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—In the senate Blair has offered a resolution, which was laid over, asking the president for information as to the trial "for treason," conviction and execution, in Canada, on the 16th day of November, 1885, of Louis David Riel, who claimed to have been a naturalized citizen of the United States, and whether the proceedings in the case were according to due process of law including the presentation of the fact of Riel's citizenship and the defense of insanity.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The conferees on the general deficiency bill have reached an agreement on the only remaining point of difference—that relating to the Woman's Industrial Home in Utah.

THE CORN CROP.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The following estimate of the total corn crop of the United States for the year 1888 appears in the Farmer's Review of October 10th: An increase in the corn crop of 1888 over that of 1887 will be produced almost entirely in the seven great corn states, viz: Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. We have compiled a careful estimate of the crop in those states on the basis of the average yield per acre as reported by the Farmer's Review correspondent, and the area planted as estimated in the July department of agriculture. The total for the seven states is 1,435,184,859, as compared with 780,425,000, the yield reported by the department of agriculture for 1887, or a gain of 654,759,858 bushels. Assuming that the crop in other states will be equal to that reported for last year by the department, viz, 675,735,000 bushels, we estimate the total crop of 1888 as 2,110,920,858 bushels.

POSSIBLE WHEAT IMPORTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Record says: "The idea of importing wheat to America," said a prominent commission merchant, "seems funny, does it not? Well, the possibility that such a thing may happen has been seriously entertained, notwithstanding the tariff of 20 cents per bushel. The price has advanced to such figures that it has been stated it may pay to buy wheat in Antwerp, and bring it to the United States. The possibility of wheat in this country at $1.50 is not ridiculous by any means. Russia is supplying Liverpool with wheat now, and exportation from this country has ceased. If the Russian supply should be sufficient to keep Liverpool wheat at $1.17, the price in this country should go to $1.50, and it would pay to import it to this country and pay the tariff, freight and insurance."

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

The Fate of the "Isabelle's" Crew.

Heavy Weather on the Alaskan Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—C. T. Thomes, superintendent of the Aleutian Islands Fishing and Mining company, is in port, on the bark Hope from Alaska. He comes direct from the Codiac Islands, bringing down the last of his company's salmon pack 20,800 cases. Captain Thomes reports the catch in his locality this year to have been unusually good. The canneries had about as much as they could attend to and he left everything in prosperity.

Prior to June last, he says, the weather was unusually severe, particularly as regards heavy winds and storms. During that period there were many losses of fishing craft in the vicinity, the most disastrous of which was that of the cod fishing schooner Isabelle, occurring shortly after the wreck of the Julia Ford. The Isabelle was caught in a very heavy gale while fishing off Oonalaska, and held out against it until the last day of the storm. On that day she sprung a leak in the bow. A sail was placed over the hole, and as long as the vessel kept under way the leak was effectually stopped. The next day, however, she was becalmed, and there being no more pressure against the canvas, it naturally drifted away from the bow. The water began to pour in and the vessel to sink rapidly in spite of the efforts to keep her dry with the pumps. Capt. Nicholson finally issued orders to his men to take to the small fishing dories which she carried and put off from the vessel to save their lives. Just time enough remained in which to provision the little boats before the Isabelle sank. The loss of the schooner was sad enough, but the troubles of the unfortunate seamen had only just begun. They floated about on the icy ocean for several days, and were then overtaken by a furious gale, similar to the one which had used up the Isabelle. This storm lasted two days, and only two of the dories, containing five men out of the seventeen which comprised the crew, survived its onslaughts. The body of captain Nicholson was found the next day, and the survivors gave it the best burial at sea they could under the circumstances. The two remaining dories with their half-dead occupants finally reached the Kodiak islands, forty-two days after the wreck of the Isabelle.

Captain Thomes says there have been several wrecks in the vicinity of Kodiak islands, principally of fishing craft, of which nothing definite will ever be known. During the bad weather, he says, wreckage was constantly deposited on the islands, but it could seldom be identified. Probably later in the season when the muster of craft is made the absence of a number of these may be accounted for in this manner.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

He Got Away With It.

At the conclusion of a sermon somewhere in Iowa, the preacher requested some one to pass the hat and take up a collection. A young man jumped up and commenced circulating the hat in such a manner as to finish the job and pass out with the proceeds. The preacher, eying him as he went out, observed: "If that young man runs away with that money he'll be damned." A deacon sitting by the window, seeing him make off down the street, responded: "And if he hasn't run away with the money I'll be danmed."

A farmer in Wallowa county has succeeded in raising a monster squash weighing 183 pounds. He took it to the town of Joseph for exhibition, and no sooner had it arrived there than it was made the object of a political bet. If Cleveland is elected a prominent business man of Joseph has agreed to roll the squash to Enterprise, a distance of several miles; and in case Harrison is elected Charles Allman has agreed to do the same thing.

Clerk—"Mr. Brigsby, I want to ask a favor of you." Employer—"Well, James, what is it?" "A beloved uncle of mine is to be buried to-day and I would like to go to the funeral." "Very well, James; but wait a few minutes and we'll go together. I want to see the ball game myself."—Lincoln Journal.

The first carload of pears to be shipped direct from Ashland to Chicago will leave about the 18th inst. They will be chiefly of the Winter Nelis variety, but a few pound pears will be included. This event introduces a new era in the fruit business. Next fall it may be expected to see a number of car loads of pears shipped east.

Oregon has a woman mail carrier. Her name is Miss Minnie Westman and she carries mail from the head of navigation on the Siuslaw river over the coast range of mountains, following up the river, to Hales postoffice station, within fifteen miles of Eugene.

One of the fresh-air children of New York, when taken to the country for the first time, and seeing a train of cars, exclaimed: "Why, look at that! The elevated runs on the ground out here!"—Life.

In Clackamas county hogs are scarce and in demand, and there are farmers who haven't one. The average price for stock hogs is $5 per 100 weight.

A Scappoose man claims to have the prize sunflower of the country. It is over ten feet in height and the flower is 42 inches in circumference.

A Yamhill county man harvested from 24 acres of ground 2,300 bushels of oats this season. If any one can beat that let him speak.

Liberated from Their Fetters

By the helpful, genial action of that most beneficent of aperients, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the bowels soon throw off the burden that paralysed and weakened them, and resume their normal freedom of action. The action of the Bitters, unlike that of average purgatives involves no griping or wrenching. If it did it would, like them, be useless for ordinary use. There is nothing unnatural attending its operation. Upon the liver, no less than the bowels, its action is most benign, promoting a healthful bilious secretion, and directing out of the wrong and into the right channel. Conjointly with costiveness, other bilious symptoms disappear when it is systematically used, and the stomach is strengthened as well as regulated by it. Malarial complaints, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and kidney troubles are completely relieved by it. Sleep and appetite are invariably promoted by it.

A FEARFUL CRAFT.

The One That is Used in Transporting Criminals

Prisoners Chained And Barred Down Like Animals

The Russian convict transport Nizhni-Novgorod sails hence this evening with 460 criminal deportes for the island of Seghalien. The Nizhni-Novgorod is an iron steamship of about 3,800 tons burden, and is specially fitted as a convict transport. With a full complement [illegible] the vessel carries [illegible]. The officers and crew number 80, exclusive of a marine convoy escort of 62 men specially chosen for this duty.

The iron-barred compartments, or cages in which the convicts are confined, run parallel, fore and aft, on either side the upper and lower 'tween decks. The iron, bars an inch thick, of these cages and the wood work in which they are set, are heavily and solidly constructed. The cages are of unequal capacity and length, but have a uniform height of seven and a half feet. The more desperate characters are manacled and chained to iron staples in their berths, from which they are released when necessary. The greater number, although retaining the waist and ankle shackles of light-construction. have the freedom of traversing the length of the compartment, which may vary from twenty-five to forty feet.

BETWEEN THE OUTER BARS

And the two plain plank shelves or bunks running from end to end of the compartments which affords sleeping room for the occupants, there is a free space of about four and a half or five feet.

Except during the distribution of rations no culinary vessels are left with the convicts. Even the drinking water is obtained only through an india rubber mouthpiece fixed in an inclosed water tank and through which the drinker sucks his draught. Immediately outside the cages and attached to the under part of the deck overhead is a steam pipe connected with the ships boilers. Into these pipes are fitted screw nozzles at intervals of twelve feet. The object of the steam pipe is to suppress any dangerous outbreak among the inmates of the cage. By means of a short hose, specially made to resist steam heat, quickly attached to one of the steam pipe nozzles, the turbulent convicts are readily quieted or parboiled. Strong water jets have been found next to useless in allaying these occasional tumults.

After the ship has passed the canal, but not before, batches of convicts are in turn brought upon deck for a shower bath and short exercise. A strongly constructed iron railing, eight feet high, crosses the vessel amidships, in order that the convict, during his bath and while unmanacled, cannot by any sudden rush evade the guard and reach the quarterdeck. Some of the more desperate convicts, who stubbornly resist all disciplinary control, are

CONFINED TO THE CAGES

During the whole voyage. Both the upper and lower 'tween decks are open and airy, the system of ventilation being excellent, and the cages themselves are kept scrupulously clean. The cages are repainted every voyage. Every convict, in addition to having his hair cropped short, has the left half of the head from front to back closely shaven.

Among the 460 convicts carried by the Nizhni-Novgorod about 160 are murderers. One of these is a relative of the shah of Persia —prince Khanalam Mirza, 25 years of age, and sentenced to twenty years' hard labor for the murder of his brother in Russia. Upon the greater number of these murderers, in addition to their various terms of hard labor in the mines and quarries, will be inflicted on their arrival a given number of blows from the knout, varying from 50 to 125, according to their [illegible].

The scene on board these deporting convict ships is altogether saddening and depressing, perhaps the more so that one does not hear a murmur or lament from the stolid looking and broken spirited [illegible] of these cages, which remind the spectator only too forcibly of the wild beast dens we are accustomed to see in a traveling menagerie. Female convicts of this class are transported in a separate vessel.—Odessa Special to London Daily News.

AMBER

The only place in which amber has been found in paying quantities is in the Baltic sea, and the vein extends from western Russia to Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. In former years the production of amber depended principally upon the storms occurring in the winter time, for when the sea was convulsed the amber lying on the bottom was thrown up on the shore; but human enterprise stimulated by the demand for the article has changed all this, and for the last twenty-five years various engineering appliances have been used for getting out the amber in the quickest and cheapest way.

The most profitable strata have been found in the Courisher Haaf, which is located in the vicinity of Memel, and there are twenty large dredging boats constantly at work day and night for eight months in the year. There are large strings of iron pails that are constantly dragging along the bottom of the sea, and bringing up the sand and what amber there may be in it. This is emptied on the deck of the ship, and there it is washed, and the amber picked out from among the sand and stone.

The little village where this industry is carried on is called Schwartzort. It is situated on a narrow strip of land that extends about ten miles beyond the main land, and is perhaps a mile wide at its widest part. At one time this strip of land was covered with a forest, but the wood was sold off by a Prussian king in the beginning of this century to the Russians. The land has become barren since stripped of its sheltering forest, and now it is nothing but a sandy waste; and, were it not for the amber industry, this beautiful peninsula would be desolate. About ninety miles further west is another little village, called Palmnicken, and here the amber is obtained in an entirely different manner. The most approved diving apparatus is used, and the divers go out in rowboats, each of which is fitted with an air pump. They go down into the sea, where some of them remain as long as four or five hours. Each diver has a little bag around his neck, and a peculiar hook, with which he pulls up sand, and every piece of amber that he finds is thrown into his bag. An encouragement to the diver is that if he finds a piece of amber he is entitled to a prize of ten, twenty-five, or fifty cents, according to the size.

While the divers are below in the sea, engaged in hunting for the amber the miners are just as busy on land, for it seems that the same stratum of the green sand runs perhaps for thirty miles or more, into the land. The opening of the mine is perhaps a thousand feet from the shore, and it is necessary to go down about one hundred and fifty feet, which is some thirty or forty feet below the level of the sea. To keep the mine as dry as possible, there are several pumps working day and night; and to prevent the earth from falling in, the passages are propped up by logs of wood. There are about forty miles of passageway in these mines, and there are about seven hundred men employed for the various departments. As soon as a passageway is opened, a track is laid, and on this track there runs a little truck, which holds perhaps half a ton of sand. The miners simply cut out the sand and fill the truck. It is then brought to the surface, where the whole contents is thrown into a long trough filled with rushing water, which separates the sand from the amber, which is caught by nets of various sizes. The amber is then cleaned by machinery, and assorted according to its quality and purity.

Title to a Homestead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The house has passed a bill introduced by Hermann, to confirm to Martin Howe, of Oregon, the title to a homestead in section 22, township 12 south, range 23 east of the Willamette meridian, in The Dalles land district. It seems that the entry had been originally made to Marshal McNeil in February, 1875. He lived on the land and improved it for the regular period of five years, but before he could make final proof he died. The administrator appointed by the county court of Grant county, Or., sold the homestead at public auction, but the interior department refused to issue a patent, on the ground that there is no authority under the law allowing an administrator to make proof on a homestead entry as such. The bill passed by the house is to remedy the difficulty by ordering the issue of a patent to Howe, who purchased the homestead from the administrator at public auction.

Every person has heard of persons who have been swallowed up by quicksands, and a dreadful death it must be; but here is a form of death quite as bad: Recently Frank Glidden, a lobster hunter, went about his task in the Beverly, Mass., flats, and while so employed stepped into a bottomless mudhole. He couldn't get out, and gradually sank until the mud closed over and smothered him.

SATURDAY..................OCTOBER 13, 1888.

MISSTATEMENTS CORRECTED.

T. L. Nixon returned yesterday from attending the Waterway convention at Portland, which convened at that city Tuesday. Mr. Nixon's purpose was to endeavor to secure for the upper Columbia a portion of the $500,000 government appropriation for the improvement of the Columbia river. He found the convention was not in sympathy with the improvement of the upper Columbia, but wanted the whole hog for that portion supposed to be tributary to Portland. The scheme is to put in locks below The Dalles at a probable cost of half a million dollars, and for the government to establish a system of portage at The Dalles, to be maintained and operated by the government free of expense to the transportation companies.—Tacoma News, 11.

THE above is the beginning of a long article in our Tacoma contemporary. THE ASTORIAN begs leave to courteously correct the misstatements.

(1). The gentleman named did not attend the Waterway convention.

(2). His alleged purpose, was on its face an impossibility. An appropriation in the river and harbor bill must be applied as specified. This may be information to Mr. N., and our Tacoma contemporary, but it is the fact.

(3). The convention was in sympathy with the improvement of the upper Columbia; so much in sympathy with it that more time was given to that than to any other topic, and when the memorial to congress was drafted, the editor of this paper and his colleagues on that committee gave more attention to that one point than all the rest put together.

(4). There was no "scheme" in or out of the convention to maintain anything to be "operated by the government free of expense to the transportation companies," but there is a deep seated desire that the Columbia shall flow unvexed to the sea, and a wish on the part of the dwellers in the Columbia basin for state and national aid in removing obstructions to commerce, and oppressive charges.

Our partially esteemed Tacoma contemporary is evidently opposed to the policy and purpose of the Columbia Waterway association. That is all right. We respect honest difference of opinion.

But is such wholesale misstatement as that which we have corrected, the proper style of argument, or a line of opposition deserving of other than censure.

DO TOOLS GROW TIRED?

IT is a common complaint among mechanics that their tools do not serve them as well some days as others. A correspondent of the Iron Industry Gazette says: Tools, like men, grow tired. I have seen a first class chisel get tired and act as though it was possessed of the king of sheol. It would not keep its edge, and the more I sharpened it, the sooner it would lose its edge.

I called the attention of a shopmate, a grizzled old veteran, to the peculiar behavior of the chisel. He looked it over and handed it back to me, saying: "The tool is all right, only a little tired. Lay it away and let it rest. It will come out all right again, just like a man who is tired." I did not believe the old fellow, and I really thought he was crazy to talk of a tool getting "tired," but as there was no help for it, the tool was laid away. I do not remember how long it was left to rest, but when it was again sharpened and used it appeared to hold its keenest edge as well as it did before it got tired. Barbers tell me their razors in constant use get tired in the same way, and woodchoppers say their axes sometimes seem to get soft all at once. Possibly constant and hard usage may cause changes in crystallization that would account satisfactorily for the peculiarity alluded to. Locomotive engineers often observe peculiar misbehavior in their machines, which may possibly be the result of continued heating, friction, and pounding. When a tool gets "tired," or a machine "balky," give each a rest.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

The following letter and petition for signature, which are self explanatory, are being distributed by the Oregon Alpine club:

OREGON, ALPINE CLUB,
PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 12, '88. }

Mr. ——— DEAR SIR.: Realizing the fact that the law on our statute books is wholly inadequate to deal with the crime of "deer skinning," your earnest cooperation is solicited in securing the passage of a bill by the next legislature that will successfully remedy the evil. With that end in view will you have the kindness to circulate the enclosed petition in your locality, and secure all the signatures thereto that you can, returning the same to the Oregon Alpine club, Portland, Oregon, not later than December 20th, 1888? We would also esteem it a special favor if you would personally intercede with the delegation from your county to the legislature, in favor of such a law. Very respectfully, PETITION—To the Honorable Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: Your petitioners, residents of the state of Oregon, respectfully ask for the passage of a more stringent law, prohibiting the slaughter of deer for their hides, and providing means for carrying the same into effect. And your petitioners will ever pray.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

Soule, county commissioners; Dr. E. B. Stone, probate judge; N. Hauselman, coroner. The nomination of treasurer was left to the county committee.

We had a little prohibition discussion a year ago, which ended good naturedly. Our Alabama friends are having a prohibition argument at present. In one town, Anniston, three men were shot in a newspaper office last Monday by some parties who didn't like the expression of the paper on the prohibition question. Some men can't take a joke.

Says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer: A gentleman in position to know states that the Pacific Coast Steamship company has purchased the steamship Mexico, the terms being private. The steamer has been chartered by the company for the past four years at $200 per day, and more money has been paid for her use during that time than she originally cost.

This family journal is in receipt of a sprightly communication from a lady in Watertown, Dakota, who says she wants THE ASTORIAN to say that she is an educated, sensible and affectionate widow of 37, and wants to keep house for some Astoria widower or elderly gentleman. She is strictly business, and anyone who is likewise can get full information on application.

The Danube has a big lot of Oregon truck, flour, onions, butter, apples, hams, etc., for China. She will transfer her cargo, at Victoria, to one of the trans-Pacific Canadian steamers. She has 53 Chinamen aboard who are disgusted with the pomps and vanities of this wicked world, and having amassed a fortune are going back to end their days in dignified ease.

Yesterday's Oregonian editorially pays a just and touching tribute to the memory of the late O. I. Clay. "'Tis not the whole of life to live, nor all of death to die," and the tear that is dropped on the brow of the dead by affectionate remembrance, is the silent testimony of appreciated worth. Such testimony is too oft deferred until its recipient is beyond all care or need of earthly notice.

Many of the Mishawaka people who realize the need of good roads have organized in road district No. 13, the three trustees being W. H. Kirkpatrick, Jno. Gronnell and Dennis Lucy. They have levied a $5 assessment as a starter and the intention is to build a passable road to Astoria as far as practicable. When people take hold of a thing themselves there is some chance of having it done.

A gentleman in the office yesterday was telling of a friend of his who being desirous to surprise and gratify his wife on her approaching birthday, sent some time ago to England, for a dog, which particular species grows to a gigantic size, giving the captain of an English ship one hundred dollars to bring the dog to Astoria. The lady will doubtless be surprised, though whether she will be pleased is another question.

Following is the list of officers elected by the Grand Lodge, K. of P., at Portland last Thursday: G. C., Wilson T. Hume, Portland; G. V. C., O. H. Irvine, Albany; G. P., A. A. Cleveland, Astoria; G. K. of R. and S., Ward S. Stevens, Portland; G. M. of E., John Holmes, Portland; G. M. at A., J. Bayard, The Dalles; G. I. G., Mr. Crossman, LaGrande; G. O. G., Chas. Fellows, Portland; Grand trustee, Geo. W. Jett, Baker City; P. G. C., Geo. W. Jett, Baker City.

There was a time says an exchange, when advertising was not supposed to amount to much, and the advertising columns of a newspaper were patronized either through personal sympathy or because supporting the local paper helped along the community in a general way. But that notion is fast dying out, and wide awake, observant business men realize that they must keep their business before the public in order to get their share of patronage. Some still drag along in the old way, wondering why the other fellow gets nearly all the customers.

The British ship Lancaster Castle cleared yesterday for Dunkirk, France. She carries 78,747 bushels wheat, loaded in Portland, and 42,019 bushels, loaded at Astoria, valued at $66,000 and $35,000, respectively. This 120,766 bushels, or 72,460 centals, is believed to be the largest cargo of wheat that ever cleared, foreign, from the Columbia river. The American ship Imperial, also cleared for Queenstown, with 65,365 bushels of wheat, valued at $55,886. Of the Imperial's cargo, 33,733 bushels were loaded at Portland, and 31,632 bushels at Astoria.

When General Duane, now on the retired list, was chief of engineers he particularly favored Oregon in the river and harbor improvements carried on under the jurisdiction of his department, and not long ago the Oregon senators were instrumental in getting a bill through the senate for him to reimburse him to the extent of $650 for losses incurred by his subordinates, and which he was obliged to make up while inspector of the New York lighthouse district. Last Monday representative Hermann succeeded in getting recognition for the bill, and it was passed by the house without trouble. It now goes to the president for his approval.

An English paper noted for its illiterate blunders and paucity of verbiage recently printed the extraordinary statement that the "Rev. Mr. Jones married Miss Whitehead last Monday; up to the present she has experienced no inconvenience, and it is not expected that any serious disturbance will occur." Next day the editor, whose duties would seem to keep him in a constant state of apologizing, explained that an account of a railroad strike had "somehow got into the wedding announcement." The same paper in apologizing for not inserting all the notices of deaths, a little while ago stated, "we regret, owing to want of space, that a number of deaths have been postponed."

Advices received here from the Skeena river British Columbia, canneries, concerning this season's salmon pack are very favorable. The various canneries packed the following amounts: B. Cunningham 17,860 cases, British-American 18,000, Aberdeen 16,000, Belmore 8,000, and the Inwardness cannery 14,000 cases. Reports from Alaska relating to the season's salmon pack, as received by the steamer Quickstep, which was formerly owned in this city and sold to A. B. Foard & Co., to be used for an auxiliary steam tender at Yes Bay, is as follows: A. B. Ford & Co. 7,000 cases, Juneau river canneries 5,000, Lorin bay 2,000, Cape Fox and Tongass narrows 18,000 cases each. The steamers Mary G. Haven, Union and Lone Fisherman are expected daily from Alaska, coming down to spend the winter repairing. The Quickstep is at Seattle, where she will go on the dry dock and have her machinery repaired.

The register at some of the fashionable hotels will soon be among the unused, if not among the forgotten things. There is a movement on foot to abolish it entirely, and sooner or later, like a good many other things, it will have to go. People are busier now than they used to be, or else they are lazier. Formerly hotel guests registered their names and the places from which they came with a good deal of accuracy and attention. Now most of the public men and generally all lady travelers decline to allow their names to appear on the book at all. They simply give their names and places of residence to the clerk, who notes the same and sticks the little card containing the information in the office rack. The real object of the register was to accommodate the outsider anyway, and even in this respect has fallen into disuse. The stranger comes in looking for a friend and consults the book, and nine times out of ten if he does not find the name on the register he turns and asks the clerk if the person he seeks is stopping in the house. This is a fast age, and the register seems to be in the way on the hotel desk.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair Splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, —sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

What A Pretty Baby.

Is it a boy or a girl? How often do we hear this remark and question. Yes, it is a pretty baby, but how bad its mother looks. She looks as if she were going right down. She is so thin and yellow, and her face is covered with wrinkles and blotches. She seems [illegible] nervous and irritable too; but it is easy to account for her condition. Child birth has left her with prolapsus or other displacements, poisoned blood, and a disordered state of the stomach and bowels. Extent of The Wheat Lands.

Lieut. Frank Greene, of the signal service, who has personally inspected the country and who kept weather records in it for years, has prepared a report to congress on the wheat lands in eastern Washington and Oregon. Lieut. Greene estimates the wheat lands in Washington territory as extending over 9,000,000 acres, from which he deducts one-sixth, on account of steepness and "scab-lands." He observes "the amount so deducted is far from valueless, forming as it does, grazing land." He places the interior wheat lands of Oregon at 7,000,000 acres, from which one-fifth is to be deducted on account of steepness. "The wheat lands are elevated, rolling table lands, the elevation above sea level increasing rapidly from the Columbia river, from 302 feet at Umatilla junction to 1,043 feet at Pendleton, ond 3,1418 feet at Baker City, Oregon; and from 351 feet at Ainsworth to 858 at Palouse junction, 1,908 feet at Sprague, and 2,536 feet at Moscow. The average elevation of the region lying south of the Snake river and north of the Blue mountains is 1,300 feet."

SEVEN-FOOT ED PLATZ.

On the bank of the Octoraro creek at White Rock, Lancaster county, stands a large hollow tree. Ed Platz, trackman on the Peach Bottom Narrow Guage railroad, is only 19 years old, but he is seven feet high. He loves to fish, and does whenever he gets the chance. The other day he got into a canoe which was chained to the big hollow tree, and was soon absorbed in his favorite sport. He had fished a short time when he heard a loud but musical sound behind him. Looking around, he saw a large black ball emerging from the hollow in the tree. The ball moved swiftly forward, and, without ado, settled on the Octoraro giant's head. He knew then that he had been selected by a swarm of bees to hive on, and he slid out of the canoe into the water. The creek was not deep enough for a dive, so the giant had to hold himself beneath the water by the bottom. The bees did not go down with him, but when he was finally forced to raise his head to the surface to get wind he found a snug bunch of bees waiting for him and he had to go down again.

He crawled along the bottom until he had to have more wind, and he stuck his head out again, The bunch of bees were sauntering by, and seeing the head, dipped at it again. Down to the bottom went the giant again, and dragged himself along the bottom until he had to have breath or die, and he lifted his head once more. The bunch of bees was gone, and the Octoraro giant came out on shore.

After he had breathed enough he went to the hollow tree and found a store of honey there, so large that two patent pails were required to carry it home.

Southern Antidote For Malaria.

It is generally known that Simmons Liver Regulator is relied upon to secure immunity from all malarial disorders. This is proven by its popularity, and anyone who has lived in the south has seen its curative effects and the protection it gives against this weakening and dangerous malady. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine, without any of their injurious consequences.

Wasn't so Fat After All.

Now another question is imported into this canvass, and that is, whether the Democratic party is in favor of free trade or "ag'in it." Their attitude on this question before and since the Oregon election reminds one of the story of the man who went to a tanner to sell a dog's skin and by way of enhancing its value told the tanner that the dog whose skin he offered was the d——dest fattest dog that ever was killed; "but," said the tanner; "we don't buy the skins of fat dogs, they don't make good leather." "Well," said the seller, ruminating for a moment upon his blunder, "he was not so d——d fat after all." So the Democratic party came out before our state election with drums beating and banners flying in favor of free trade, but after the election they were not so very much for free trade after all.—From Hon. Geo. H. Williams' speech at the Portland Republican Demonstration, Oct. 12.

Liberated from Their Fetters

By the helpful, genial action of that most beneficent of aperients, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the bowels soon throw off the burden that paralyzed and weakened them, and resume their normal freedom of action. The action of the Bitters, unlike that of average purgatives, involves no griping or drenching. If it did it would, like them, be valueless for ordinary use. There is nothing ungentle or unnatural attending its operation. Upon the liver, no less than the bowels, its action is most benign, promoting a healthful bilious secretion, and directing out of the wrong and into the right channel. Conjointly with costiveness, other bilious symptoms disappear when it is systematically used, and the stomach is strengthened as well as regulated by it. Malarial complaints, rheumatism, debility, nervousness and kidney troubles are completely relieved by it. Sleep and appetite are invariably promoted by it.

Arthur Quill, in Denver News, says. Cowboy wages are not now nearly as good as they were in early days. Formerly a good hand would get $50 a month and board, while a new hand would get $35 to $40. Now top wages are from $30 to $35, and new hands from $20 to $25. The days for raising cattle on the same extensive scale as formerly are drawing to a close, consequent on the settling up of the country. The bulk of the cattle in northwestern Texas to-day is held in large pastures, and the same will be the case all over the range country before long.

Subornation of Perjury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Charles E. Beach was this afternoon found guilty of subornation of perjury in the United States district court. Beach is a heavy land owner of Humbolt county, and for a number of years previous to March, 1888, he is alleged to have paid men in that county $50 each for swearing on government timber land, under pretense that they were going to live on said land, but really for the purpose of surrendering their right to him, by which means, it is claimed, he has come into possession of large amount of valuable timber land. Judge Hoffman ordered Beach to appear for sentence November 12th.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

British Schooner Seized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Capt. Greenberg, of the Russian steamer Alexander II, which arrived today from Petropaulovski, Siberia, reports the siezure of the British schooner Aurana for illegal sealing by a Russian war vessel. The captured schooner and her cargo were taken to Vladivastock, where the case will be investigated.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Rumor Officially Denied.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Colonel J. M. Donahue, who has just returned from the east, denies that the San Francisco & North Pacific Coast railroad has been sold to the Union Pacific, as has been frequently rumored since his departure. He says bonds have been floated to aid in the completion of the road into Mendocino county.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

General Schofield will remove to Washington in a few weeks, and he will probably take up his quarters at the Ebbitt house. He gets no increase whatever of pay or allowances, and the actual salary of $7,500 hardly allows the head of the army to live as he would be obliged to do if he kept house and entertained.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The reports of the Hydrographic bureau at Washington declare that the sailing tonnage of the world is nearly double that of steam, and that this relative proportion is likely to be maintained.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: "My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifies the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The British empire continues to increase. Its latest acquisition is a slice of New Guinea, a slice nearly twice as big as the state of New York.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,

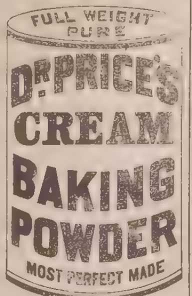
Tough on The Farmer.

A farmer at Hood river shipped sixty sacks of potatoes weighing about 100 pounds each to this city a few days ago. The potatoes sold here for forty cents per hundred pounds, the top price. The freight was thirty cents per hundred, the drayage two cents and commission two cents, which with six cents for the sacks, consumed the entire proceeds of the sale, leaving the farmer not a cent for his seed, the labor of planting, cultivating, harvesting and shipping which, as any one knows who has hoed, dug and picked up potatoes is no trifling matter. This is not right, and whether the wrong is in the railway company charging $18 per ton for freight, or in the potatoes bringing such a low price is what is puzzling the poor farmer, It is pretty tough to work all summer and after sending one's crop to market not get a cent for it and have no potatoes either.—Oregonian.

Sweet Oil in Scarlet Fever.

A physician tells of a simple and effectual treatment for scarlet fever. It is the application to the whole body of warm sweet oil, well rubbed in. He says: "There is something curious in its immediate good effect. Almost twenty years ago I had five patients in one family sick with the anginose or throat variety of scarlet fever, and had them all brought into one room for convenience sake and seclusion. Five little heads returned my greeting every time a visit was made, and all clamored loudly for the oil bath. It was plentifully used, then a woolen nightgown put on, and nothing else done. No medicine was given, and but little food was needed to supplement absorbed oil. And in recovery there was an absence of usual complications, so that in my western town oil baths came to be used with excellent result."



Its superior excellence proven in millions of homes for more than a quarter of a century. It is used by the United States Government. Endorsed by the heads of the Great Universities as the Strongest, Purest, and most Healthful. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder does not contain Ammonia, Lime, or Alum. Sold only in Cans.

SUNDAY..........................OCTOBER 14, 1888.

THE BASIS OF CREDENCE.

NOT very often does it occur to anyone to ask why he believes or disbelieves a statement made to him. If the statement does not seem incredible, or the person making it has no apparent motive for deceit or is known to be trustworthy, the statement is accepted. If, on the other hand, the statement is astonishing, if it is calculated to benefit the person making it, or if the latter is not known to be trustworthy, his word is doubted or rejected. And whether it be accepted or doubted or rejected, the question of his religious or theological belief does not enter into consideration once in a million times. The idea that only those can be believed who hold a particular theory as to man's origin and destiny, or that the fear of future punishment is the only thing which insures truthfulness, has no existence in ordinary social intercourse.

Yet this is the idea that has for ages been dominant in the administration of justice, so called; and in spite of all the arguments which common knowledge of men have brought to bear against it, it is clung to as persistently as if it were believed that the foundations of justice depended upon it. In the city of Chicago, only last week, the question was raised whether a witness was competent to testify in court who avowed his disbelief in God and in future punishment. The witness was not an atheist in the ordinary sense of the word. He did not deny the existence of God. His faith or unfaith consisted in having no positive belief in the existence of God. He did not know, he said, whether God existed or not. He would neither affirm or deny the proposition. His position as to a future state of existence in which he might be punished for the sins or crimes committed in this world was the same. He neither affirmed nor denied such a state. He declared, however, that he was ready to take the oath because it was required by the statutes of the state and that it was binding on his conscience for that reason.

It was claimed by the prosecution, whose witness the agnostic was, that under the constitution of the state of Illinois his testimony must be received. That instrument provides that "no person shall be denied any civil right, privilege or capacity on account of his religious opinions." The court held the witness competent and admitted his testimony; but the defense took an exception and will carry the question to the supreme court of the state for final decision.

That decision will be awaited with interest, but there can scarcely be a doubt as to what it will be. With such a constitutional provision as that referred to, the court will have no excuse for evading the teachings of common sense as to the real grounds of belief in human testimony. If there ever was any foundation for the theory of the defense in this case there is none now. Common experience is wholly opposed to it. Intelligent men no longer believe that a witness is trustworthy because of faith or profession or untrustworthy because of a lack of faith. Juries never hesitate to discredit testimony just as people judge in ordinary intercourse of the weight of what is said to them. The "solemnity of an oath" still goes for something, but it goes for far less than it used

REGARDING the election in Washington territory, THE ASTORIAN has this to say: Apart from the presumed desire of American citizens to aid American interests, the citizens of Washington territory have a direct personal interest in the election for congressman. Residents of Washington territory who want that section to remain a territory, will vote for Mr. Voorhees; a vote for Mr. Voorhees is a vote for vassalage. Those who want to see Washington a state will vote for Mr. Allen. A vote for Mr. Allen is a vote for statehood. This is the question for Washington voters to consider. It is hardly consistent for people to come over from the northern side of the Columbia crying about being "out in the cold," and then go back and vote to be kept out in the cold by the party of which Mr. Voorhees is a distinguished representative.

THE Atlanta Constitution, a leading Democratic paper, contains in a recent editorial the following advice. "It is a safe rule and good policy to buy from the nearest shop or factory at which you can be satisfied in price or quality. In Atlanta, if you live here, in Macon if you live there. But if not in your city, then in your state. If not in your state, then in a neighboring state. A factory stands for a great deal. It means more than a number of men who give the farmer a market for his produce, and the merchant trade, and houseowners tenants. It means a steady and weakening drain on our resources stopped, the outgo of money checked, cash kept at home to build up waste places."

WHEN the first baby born in Denver was announced by her father, Lish Harvey, twenty-eight years ago, a public meeting was held in the town, and among the other presents a lot of land was donated. The piece went out of Harvey's hands by his refusal to pay its taxes. To-day the girl sings in a concert garden at Denver, and the lot that was given her is worth $2,000,000. Flour in those days was worth $100 per barrel.

THE best-paid drummers traveling for Chicago houses are five men in the grocery trade, who receive salaries of from $8,000 to $10,000 a year. There are perhaps a hundred traveling men in the Lake City who make $5,000 a year, but the average is not above $4,000.

TRADE S.S.S. MARK

An Important Announcement

About six weeks ago, while at business, I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, knees and hands. So severe the attack that I took my bed immediately, and in two or three days my joints were swollen to almost double their natural size, and sleep was driven from me. After suffering the most excruciating pain for a week, using liniments and various other remedies, a friend who sympathized with my helpless condition, said to me:
"Why don't you get Swift's Specific and use it. I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."
I at once secured the S. S. S. and after using it the first day, had a quiet night and refreshing sleep. In a week I felt greatly benefited. In three weeks I could sit up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since then I have been regularly at my post of duty and stand on my feet from nine to ten hours a day, and am entirely free from pain. These are the plain and simple facts in my case, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries relative thereto, either in person or by mail.
THOMAS MARKILLIE

NASHVILLE, TENN.—I have warded off a severe attack of rheumatism by a timely resort to Swift's Specific. In all cases where a permanent relief is sought this medicine commends itself for a constitutional treatment that thoroughly eradicates the seeds of disease from the system.
REV. W. P. HARRISON, D. D.

NEW YORK, 51 7TH AVE.—After spending $200 to be relieved of Blood Poison without any benefit, a few bottles of Swift's Specific worked a perfect cure. C. PORTER.

VIENNA, GA.—My little girl, aged six, and boy, aged four years, had scrofula in the worst aggravated shape. They were puny and sickly. To-day they are healthy and robust, all the result of taking S. S. S.
JOE T. COLLIER.

LADY LAKE, SUMTER CO., FLA.—Your S. S. S. has proved a wonderful success in my case. The cancer on my face, no doubt, would have soon hurried me to my grave. I do think it is wonderful, and has no equal.

One side of the majestic arch was on Coxcomb hill, the emerald green showing vivid through the prismatic glow; the other was in the tree tops of Washington territory, twenty miles away; the summit was cleft by a dark storm cloud. A Sudden Taking Off

M. Eisener dropped dead in his store on Main street at seven o'clock last evening.

He came here from San Francisco on the steamer Oregon last Monday to start a cigar manufactory in this city, and rented the premises on Main street next to the Globe saloon. He was busy preparing through the week and yesterday began operations. At the time he was struck by the fatal attack of heart disease he was by himself. One or two who entered a moment afterward found him stretched lifeless on the floor.

Deceased was about 32 years of age. He was a member of a lodge of the A. O. U. W., in Gilroy, California, and leaves a wife and six children in San Francisco. The body was placed on board the Oregon last evening and the same steamer that brought him full of life and hope to start here in business last Monday, to-day takes his remains back for interment.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

To Be Moved To San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12—Col. Crocker, of the Southern Pacific Co. stated to-day that the operation of the Oregon & California railroad will, in the future, be entirely conducted from this end. The general offices of the road in Portland will be closed and the force of clerks, etc., transferred to this city. This would have been done before only for a lack of accommodation here. Koehler will remain in Portland as local manager, and the secretary of the Oregon & California railroad will also stay there. He will have no office force, however, and is kept in the city to maintain the organization of the corporation

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed

Condensed Record of the Day's Doings.

BERLIN, Oct. 13—It is stated that Drs. Benjamin and Gerhart will sue Dr. Mackenzie for libel on account of the statements made in his book regarding the treatment of the late emperor Frederick

CHICAGO DYNAMITERS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13—The cases of the men arrested for putting dynamite on the north side track were continued to the 20th inst., this morning. The work of detectives resulted, it is asserted, in unfolding a series of dynamite conspiracies in which at least five persons are implicated. Attorney Furthman said this morning that two more arrests will be made to-day, and when these persons are brought in the police will probably tell the story of the plot.

POOR BOOKKEEPING.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—An investigation shows things to be in a bad way. The general ledger shows deposits to be $103,000 and the individual ledger $319,000, a difference of $216,000. The books have not been examined for ten years. It is not known where the money has gone. The bank was a small concern and the failure caused no excitement. One of the bank officials admitted that there was something wrong with the books.

POPE, KING AND EMPEROR.

ROME, Oct. 13.—In an interview between the Pope and Emperor William yesterday, his Holiness emphasized the necessity of the restoration of the temporal power and said that all sovereigns should unite to an issue to assure it. The emperor replied that it would be more to the Pope's advantage to unite with those who represent the principles of order and social conservation and thereby better secure the peace of the world.

King Humbert has decorated emperor William with the grand cordon of the military order of Savoy.

DR SAMUEL KNEELAND.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The death in Germany of Dr. Samuel Kneeland of Boston is announced. He was a native of Boston and graduated at Harvard in 1840. He studied at the medical school in the same institution, and later in Paris, until 1845. He practiced medicine in Boston, taught anatomy and the Harvard school, and was connected with various other institutions. He explored Brazille, the copper region of Lake Superior and the Hawaiian Islands. In the summer of 1874 he visited the islands at the time of the millenial celebration studying the volcano phonomena of the islands. Among his published works are "The Wonders of the Yosemite Valley and of California," and "An American in Iceland," "The Land of Hemp and Sugar," and "A Winter's Residence in the Phillipine Islands." His favorite studies were volcanic disturbances and earthquakes.

ENERGETIC DE LESSEPS.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Count de Lesseps and son are making a tour throughout all parts of France, and the famous canal-builder is lecturing on the brilliant prospects of the Panama scheme and inviting subscriptions to his lottery loan.

ORDERED TO AFRICA

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—The German frigates Moltke, Stosch, Gneisenau and Charlotte, which were lying in the Bay of Naples to fire a salute in honor of Emperor William upon his arrival there, have received orders to proceed instantly to Zanzibar to protect the German residents. The four ships carry a complement of 1,250 men and sixty-six guns.

THE BELGIAN EXHIBITION.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 13. Among the exhibitors in the American section receiving prizes is McCoy of Brooklyn, for pneumatic tools. The Americans have received fifteen diplomas of honor, twenty-three gold, six silver and three bronze medals of progress.

A CORRECTION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. By an error made by the committee in preparing for publication the additions to the free list contained in the substitute tariff bill reported by the senate committee on finance, it was made to appear that opium for smoking had been freed of duty. As a matter of fact, the substitute bill expressly prohibits the importation of such opium

CANADA'S PREMIER.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—Sir John Macdonald, in an interview, expressed the opinion that the liberal party is irretrievably committed to some sort of a political commercial surrender by Canada to the United States. The next federal election, he says, will be fought out on this line.

THE KAISER'S SAFETY.

VIENNA, Oct. 13. -Great precautions are taken for Emperor William's safety, both at railway stations along the road and at the palace. It is said that the reason for the unusual display of military and police was the recent revival of the International Association.

FLOODS IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 13.—Great floods are generally impeding railway traffic. St. John will be cut off from the west for two days at least. All the mails for the United States will be sent by way of the Intercolonial railway to Richmond junction. Nearly five inches of rain have fallen here this month.

ANOTHER CLERK GONE WRONG.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13. -Lucius W. Smith, the confidential clerk of Child's Smith & Co., has disappeared. There is a shortage. He dabbled in stocks.

AN UNFOUNDED REPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 13. The story that Philip Paledona, who was hanged here on Friday, had been resuscitated is unfounded. The man was dead when he was cut down from the gallows, and is now in his grave. That fact is well established

THE CHOLERA.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The report is confirmed that cholera prevails in the Phillipine Islands.

BOWSER'S FAMILY.

Mr. Bowser Has a Boil and Makes Things Hum for a Few Days.

A few weeks ago when Mr. Bowser found me crying with the hurt of my soft corn, he gruffly observed:

"Serves you just right! Go and get it cut off! How long do you suppose a man would put up with such nonsense?"

"But it would nearly kill me to have it cut!"

"Oh, well, do as you please about it, but I want you to understand one thing, Mrs. Bowser, I don't propose that this house shall be all upset just because you have a corn."

Some husbands would feel sorry."

Would they? Well, when a wife goes at it deliberately and willfully to cripple herself her husband is an idiot to pity her!"

Three or four days subsequently Mr. Bowser came home an hour ahead of time. He looked pale and anxious, and I was seriously frightened for the moment.

"Is—is mother sick or dead?" I asked, as I met him at the door.

"I only wish it were nothing more serious"

"What can it be?"

"Look here!"

He pulled down his collar and showed me a red spot on the back of his neck, and plaintively added:

"I went to the doctor's and he says it's a boil."

"Well, I've expected it. Mr. Bowser, you are the most careless man in Michigan. What on earth were you thinking of?"

"Careless! Thinking of!" he roared. "Do you think I picked this infernal thing up on some vacant lot, or bought it at some corner grocery?"

"Well, its very strange that you should have a boil. You'd better have it cut off at once. I wouldn't fool with it two minutes."

He looked at me as if he thought I'd gone crazy, and then he shut his teeth together as if determined to say no more about it. He stood it for two hours, and was then compelled to say:

"I suppose I'd better get this collar off and put on a poultice."

"I presume it would be a good plan."

He waited half an hour more, and then had to give in and ask:

"Mrs. Bowser, can't you make me a poultice?"

I made him one, and the application so relieved the pain for a few minutes that he recovered his conceit. Walking to and fro, with his hands under his coat tails, he said:

"Shall we go to the opera this evening, Mrs. Bowser, or is that corn of yours too painful?"

"Are you feeling better?"

"Better! I always feel well, Mrs. Bowser. I shouldn't have noticed this boil at all if the doctor hadn't happened into the office. I wish you were more of a philosopher on the subject of bearing pain. You women folks are—"

He stopped there and gave a jump. The momentary benefit of the warm application had passed away, and the boil was at home again to old callers. Mr. Bowser stood it about two minutes and then groaned.

"Any thing wrong?" I asked

"Wrong? Jewhittaker jehosaphat! but I'm half dead! Mrs. Bowser, I've got a boil! boil! boil! Do you hear me?"

"Did you happen to notice it yourself?" I innocently asked.

He crossed over and plumped down into a rocking chair, and his chin began to quiver. When a man's chin begins to work that way it's time to let up on him. His grit is gone. I went over and smoothed his bald pate, and encouraged him to hope for the best, and in a little time had him tucked up on the lounge. He seemed on the point of going to sleep, when he suddenly roused up and asked:

"People often die with boils on the neck, don't they?"

"Very seldom."

"Do you think there is any—any danger in this case?"

"Hardly."

He was quiet again for a few minutes, and then he groaned out:

"Mrs. Bowser: can't you keep that young 'un quiet?"

"He's only talking to himself!"

"But he wants to understand that his father has a boil. And there goes that girl thrashing about the kitchen again. Go tell her you'll discharge her if she doesn't make less noise. It seems as if there was a conspiracy to kill me off."

Next morning the boil had doubled in size without making any further assessment on the stockholders, and Mr. Bowser was broke in two. When I got him down stairs and on the lounge in the sitting room, his lip hung down like a grocery awning, and he feebly said:

"Just bring me a little tea and toast, Mrs. Bowser. It will probably be the last meal I shall ever eat."

After breakfast he took a notion to see the papers. Some of the reporters had caught on, and there was an item reading:

"Bowser's got one on the neck. Hang on to it, old chappie—it's good for the system.

"Stop that paper this very day, Mrs. Bowser!" he exclaimed, as he flung it down.

"But it is only a pleasant little joke."

"Little joke! Little joke on a prominent citizen who is on the brink of the grave, and whose loss will be a state calamity! Stop it, Mrs. Bowser—stop it!"

A neighbor—one of Mr. Bowser's best friends—dropped in during the forenoon, and finding him flat down, eagerly inquired the cause.

"It's a—a boil," faintly replied Mr. Bowser

"A boil! Is that all? Why, that wouldn't keep even a boy in bed for half an hour. Come old fellow—go with me to look at some hogs."

When he had gone away Mr. Bowser cautioned me that it was his dying request that Smith should be neither one of his pall-bearers nor ride in one of the front hacks.

"The idea of his coming in here to insult a helpless man," he continued. "Don't speak to him after I'm gone. Don't let our child even throw stones at his cat."

Each day for the next four or five that boil seemed determined to give satisfaction, if it didn't make a cent. It not only continued business at the old stand, but was obliged to enlarge its quarters to accomodate the rush. Mr. Bowser was as helpless as a leg of mutton, and he kept us on the trot all day and most of the night. The doctor was up twice a day, looking very grave and charging two dollars a look, and the house could not have been more upset with a case of cholera in it. At times I pitied Mr. Bowser. At other times I advised him to let me jab a butcher knife into the cause of his trouble, and told him that I should certainly marry again, if lucky enough to get the opportunity.

One morning the boil broke. I was asleep, being thoroughly worn out, when Mr. Bowser aroused me and observed:

"Are we going to have any breakfast to-day?"

"Why your—your boil!" I gasped as I saw that he was up and dressed.

My boil! Humph! Not worth minding. That is, while the suffering has been intense, and while no woman could have survived it, it was only a pleasant little vacation for me to stay in the house for a week. I can't be too thankful that it was given to me to endure instead of you. My! but how you would have carried on and upset things and made a booby of yourself?"—Detroit Free Press.

The Railroad Hog.

On a train between Jersey City and Patterson, a poorly dressed woman carrying a baby in her arms, walked through two coaches and was unable to find a seat. The railroad hog was there. In a dozen cases he had the seat to himself, and he meant to keep it. The woman finally found refuge in the smoking car, and by and by the hog went forward to enjoy a Havana and found her crying.

"What's the matter?"

"Baby is very ill, sir."

"And where are you going?"

"To my sister's. My husband is dead and I have no home."

"Have you any money?"

"Not a dollar, sir."

"Umph! Sorry for you. Let me hand you this."

The hog has been robbed of his bristles. Women's tears have melted his selfishness. He returned to his car, gathered the other hogs about him and said:

"Come down! Poor widow—sick baby—no home. Come down."

The hogs went down for their wallets and in ten minutes the sum of $40 was put into the woman's hand and the boss hog observed:

"There—there—it's all right—not a word! Now come back here."

And as she followed him into the coach a dozen hogs rose up and insisted that she take their seats, and all gathered around her to voice the sentiment:

"Poor woman! Poor baby! Isn't there something we can do for you?"

The railroad hog can't be crowded; but he can be melted.

HENRY VILLARD'S MILLIONS.

He Invested Nearly $150,000,000 in Four Years.

Henry Villard, when in St. Paul recently, was tendered a banquet, at which he made a few remarks which have reference to Oregon and Washington. The Pioneer Press quotes him as follows:

"I shall use all the energy in me in assuming the work I was obliged to drop five years ago—of doing my share in developing the resources of the northwest.

"Mr. Smalley has made reference to the capital I have been instrumental in introducing in the northwest and to the capital he expects me to introduce in the future. He has understated the amount of capital I have thus far invested. I speak of the northwest as the territory extending from St. Paul to the Pacific coast. From 1879 to 1883 I invested nearly $150,000,000.

"I hope he has also understated the amount I will invest hereafter.

"I presume most of you will remember the fact that at the opening of the Northern Pacific rail road I took occasion to invite a number of people from my native country—scientists, literary people, moneyed men and others.

"That opening excursion cost lots of money. No other act cost me so many reproaches as that excursion. But the outcome has forced the complainers to admit that it was one of the best cards I ever played; because the means of my resurrection were all derived from Germany, and the impressions my German guests received were the real grounds upon which I was enabled to receive money from that source.

"As you know, I went abroad in 1884 and remained in Germany. I labored hard to establish credit for the Northern Pacific and allied enterprises, and I succeeded beyond expectation. Just before my departure from Europe, the Deutsche bank, the head of the syndicate I represent, brought out $5,000,000 of first and second mortgage bonds. The sale was announced to last for three days. On the first day more than $48,000,000 was subscribed. It is necessary to be excessively cautious. I don't mean to make any hard investments for my foreign friend.

"One of the rules I shall strictly adhere to is not to invest in any enterprise I am not identified with. This limitation secures to the northwest the exclusive use and benefit of all the capital I can command. I propose to use the capital for the benefit of the northwest.

"I do not hesitate to state that in six years Montana will be ahead of Colorado in population and growth of every kind. In even greater degree I believe in the growth of Washington territory and Oregon. Within twenty years I believe there will be 20,000,000 of people living in these two states. There is every reason to justify this statement. Not one acre in twenty of tillable soil is developed. No man can conceive the future growth of the mineral resources.

"Considering the marvelous development here on the banks of the Mississippi, what may we not expect for the western country? I hope we may all live to see the development we have predicted."

Southern Antidote For Malaria.

It is generally known that Simmons Liver Regulator is relied upon to secure immunity from all malarial disorders. This is proven by its popularity, and anyone who has lived in the south has seen its curative effects and the protection it gives against this weakening and dangerous malady. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine, without any of their injurious consequences.

The Baldwin Locomotive works has received an order from the Northern Pacific railway for eighty-two new locomotives, one of the largest single orders, if not the largest, which has ever been placed by a road in operation. The company has also ordered 1,500 freight cars.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

LOG CABIN SUCCESS.

What ails the young men?

Robert Garrett's father left him a fortune of twenty millions. He was from childhood reared in luxury; he received a splendid education with an especial training into a thorough knowledge of railroad management and was expected to succeed his father as a railroad king.

Within three years after the responsibilities which his father's death threw upon him were assumed, he is reported a broken down man, with mind and health permanently shattered.

George Law is another young man left with millions of money, who is reported among the "wrecks." His father, bred a stone mason, was of gigantic size and strength, with commensurate brain power, so he became a great contractor, then a railroad king and left half a dozen millions for his son to dissipate. The young man is a success as a dissipator.

The founders of both of these great estates were born in the most humble walks of life, grew strong, mentally and physically, by simple living and honest labor and developed into financial giants. Their sons were reared in the lap of luxury and developed into intellectual pigmies.

The great men of our country have not, as a rule, come from the elegant mansions of the cities, but from the Log Cabins of the rural districts. Simple ways of living, freedom from dissipation and enervating pleasures, simple remedies for disease, effective and which leave no poison in the system, develope brawny, brainy men, who compel the world to recognize their strength and power.

The wholesome, old-fashioned Log Cabin remedies are the safest and surest for family use. Our grandmothers knew how to prepare the teas and syrups of roots, herbs and balsams which drive disease out of the system by natural methods and leave no after ill effects. The most potent of these old-time remedies were, after long and searching investigation, secured by H. H Warner of safe cure fame, and are now put out for the "healing of the nations" in the Warner's Log Cabin remedies.

Regulate the regulator with Warner's Log Cabin sarsaparilla and with pure blood giving health, strength, mental and bodily vigor, you may hope to cope successfully with the most gigantic financial problems of the age, without wrecking health and manhood.

The members of the commission sent out to negotiate a treaty with the Sioux Indians are confident that a proposition to give 50 cents an acre for the entire amount of land owned by the tribe—11,000,000—would be accepted.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Oregon still remains represented in the house, although not over fifty of the 325 members remain in the city at the present time. New York's representation of thirty-four has dwindled five. The six New England states have a total of twenty six representatives in the house, and of the number but three remain. One of these is Mr. Rockwell of Massachusetts, the others are Messrs. Dingley and Millikin of Maine. New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut are entirely unrepresented. Other states which have no representation are Michigan with eleven members, California with six, Virginia with ten, Indiana with fifteen and New Jersey with seven. Oregon, Florida, Arkansas and Texas have the only full delegations of the thirty-eight states. The other delegations, with but few exceptions, have scarcely an average representation of more than one each.

P. T. Barnum is an enthusiastic Harrisonian, while Adam Forepaugh is a red-hot Cleveland man. A joint debate between these two men might be made the greatest show on earth.

Senator Hearst's First Dime.

"When I was a youngster," said senator Hearst, "I lived with my parents out in Missouri. We were all poor in those days, and I scarcely knew what money was except by name. Finally a visitor at our house presented me with ten cents. I think I was the happiest boy in the neighborhood. I used to lie awake at night considering how I could spend it so as to get the best return. One day I lost it between a high hill and my father's house, about 300 yards distant. I think I searched every foot of that ground a dozen times over, but that money was gone and I never found it. It is painful to me at this moment to recall my grief at its disappearance. Since then I have lost money in large sums, which have nearly bankrupted me, but they never caused me half the unhappiness that the loss of my first ten cents did."—N. Y. Herald.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY...... ....OCTOBER 16, 1888

THE "campaign of intellect" is losing ground in New York. The World calls the Sun "that malicious senile varlet and treacherous foe of the Democratic party."

* * *

THE mania for arming has struck South America. The Argentine Republic is going to increase its regular army from 7,000 to 33,000 men. When this increase shall have been reached, the Argentine army will be considerably larger than that of the United States.

* * *

THE Philadelphia Record, after a careful estimate of the probable increase in the native and foreign population of the United States, is firm in the belief that the next census of 1890 will give us a population of over 70,000,000, divided as follows: Native, 58,522,479; foreign born, 11,800,000.

* * *

A NEBRASKA paper says: Nebraska railway bridges are now being used for legitimate purposes. This is much better than to burthen them with corpses. When criminals are to be punished the law should be allowed to take its course, else trees should be selected in preference to bridges.

* * *

MOST people are under the impression that China is an overpopulated country, and that the constant flow of emigration is due to that cause and that alone. We are now, however, told by no less an authority than the Marquis Tseng that this is entirely an erroneous idea. The emigration, he says, has been caused by the ruin brought about by recent rebellions, and not by difficulty of finding subsistence under ordinary conditions.

* * *

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

There is a difference of opinion among engineers regarding the time and amount of money it will take to make the locks at the Cascades passable to boats. Mr. D. P. Thompson stated positively that major Post had informed him that the present appropriation was sufficient to finish the locks so far as to admit the passage of boats, and that major Post had so informed major Handbury. In contradiction of this major Handbury says it will take several years to so far complete the locks as to admit the passage of boats during high water, This direct issue between these engineers was brought out in the Waterway convention in its proceedings of Wednesday. The year before major Jones was removed from the management of the work at the locks he informed several of our citizens that with an appropriation of $500,000 he could make the locks passable for boats, which simply corroborates the testimony of major Post. The old saying that "when doctors disagree who shall decide" is applicable to engineers. But this disagreement the people should understand, and further, what causes this divergence of opinion in a matter in which our citizens are interested should be made plain. As far as possible this subject should receive some investigation, and the reasons ascertained and made public why it takes such a long time to complete a work of such urgency. Already over one million dollars has been spent on the locks, and according to reported estimate of major Handbury, as stated to the Waterway convention, it will require nearly $3,000,000 more to complete the enterprise. The boards of trade of the different cities of the inland empire should appoint a committee to inquire into this matter, and ascertain the reason why reputable engineers say the present appropriation is sufficient to open the river at the Cascades to the passage of boats and the engineer in charge state that it will require over two millions to complete the work. We are not living in Russia or any other absolute monarchy, but in a free country in which all people have rights which are bound to be respected, even by the secretary of war or a board of engineers. Let the people assert their rights in the most emphatic manner, and demand an investigation. The time has long since passed when we shall lie idly down in a supine condition, and allow any misfeasance or questionable proceeding in this enterprise. There is no object in holding annual meetings of Waterway conventions or receiving liberal appropriations if boards of engineers can change the plans so as to retard the work indefinitely. The people must know the facts in this case, and if necessary they will appeal to congress, where, at least, they may expect fairness and justice.—Dalles Times-Mountaineer.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitters and rely upon this great remedy in all troubles of Liver, Stomach and kidneys. For all Malarial Fevers and diseases caused by Malarial Poisons, Electric Bitters cannot be too highly recommended. Also cures Headache and Constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. Federal Courts Sustain Exclusion.

"Astorian" Specials From All Quarters.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Some of the new drivers who remained in the service of the north side were attacked and beaten by a mob this morning. The police drove them away before serious damage was done.

BUT NOT EATEN.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 15.—The story that three sailors who deserted from the German gunboat Mabre had been eaten by natives is unfounded. The men were killed by the natives and the bodies badly mutilated through fetichism.

CAN'T GET ACROSS.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The four Chinamen continue to be the wards of the Grand Trunk railway. The Grand Trunk authorities have done everything in their power to get them across the frontier, even communicating with the authorities at Washington. Each time the reply came that they cannot be allowed to enter the country. The Chinamen have now sent a communication to the Chinese ambassador at Washington.

No doubt the matter will become a national question between China and the United States and possibly Canada and the United States. The feeling here is that the Canadian government should object to Canada being made the dumping ground for the Chinese pauper population of the United States, they being made paupers by the United States authorities not allowing them to return to their places of business and work.

MUST GO BACK.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A decision was rendered by judge Sawyer in the United States circuit court today upon the recent Chinese exclusion act. The court affirms the constitutionality of the act and holds that all Chinese now in the harbor, as well as those on the way here from China, must be sent back to their own country. Judge Sawyer announced the decision verbally, stating that he would not be able to produce a corrected copy of the decision until this afternoon. Notice was given by the attorneys that the cases would be appealed to the United States supreme court. Judge Sawyer allowed ten days for preparing the appeal papers.

A CORRECT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The treasury department decides that when articles imported for holiday trade are brought in elaborate covering, suitable and designed for other uses than coverings, they should be taxed one hundred per cent.

FRENCH POLITICS.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The chamber of deputies reassembled to-day. General Boulanger was present, but there was no demonstration made. Floquet, the prime minister, introduced a bill for the revision of the celebration, which was followed by applause by the left.

A CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Advices from Java state that a conspiracy against the Dutch residents has been discovered at Madion, and 42 ringleaders were arrested; 11 others who refused to surrender were shot.

WANT TO HEAR BLAINE.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 15.—This morning the trains brought many visitors to the city to attend the Blaine meeting this afternoon. A drizzling rain has been falling since daybreak.

LOOK OUT, DOCTOR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Among the arrivals to-day on the steamer City of Columbia, was a Dr. Paul Gibler, who is to study the yellow fever disease for the French government.

BIG FIRE AND COLLAPSE.

GLASGOW, Oct. 15.—A block of buildings adjoining one of the blocks on Buchanan street was destroyed by fire yesterday, and collapsed this morning; loss, $250,000.

OPPOSED ADJOURNMENT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Congressman Oates, of Alabama, offered the resolution for final adjournment on the 18th inst., which was laid over till to-morrow.

DISCOURAGING CIRCULATION.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The police are seizing all copies of Dr. Mackenzie's book wherever found.

DR. MACKENZIE'S BOOK.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The British Medical Journal publishes a synopsis of Sir Morrell Mackenzie's forthcoming book. The doctor asserts emphatically that Emperor Frederick received his death blow April 12th, when, through the clumsiness of Dr. Bergman in his operation on the emperor's throat, a false passage was forced through the trachea, from which the fatal symptoms soon developed. But for this blunder, Dr. Mackenzie claims that the emperor would have lived at least ten months longer. Dr. Mackenzie handles the German doctors without gloves and does not hesitate to accuse them of incompetency.

CANADIAN PACIFIC.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The contract between the imperial government and the Canadian Pacific Railway is finally arranged and only awaits signatures.

BAD FOR THE "TIMES."

LONDON, October 15.—Sir Richard Webster and Sir Henry James have abandoned the cause of the Times against Parnell and the Irish party. This action is construed by many to mean that the Times has no case

THE YORKSHIRE COLLIERS.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Twenty thousand Yorkshire colliers have given notice that they will strike unless a ten per cent advance is made in their wages. It is expected that fifty thousand will give notice to [illegible] feet before the end of the week.

MAYORALTY OF NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sheriff Grant, the Tammany candidate for mayor, declares his willingness to withdraw if Mayor Hewitt will do the same, in the interest of harmony and for the benefit of the national ticket.

James J. Coogan has been nominated by the United Labor party. The labor men will draw forty thousand votes from the Democrats, leaving two hundred thousand to to be divided between the two Democrats and Republican.

The Albatross brings some interesting statements regarding soundings outside. About twenty miles off shore there is a depression that leads to the theory that that marks the ancient bed of the river. On each side due west are soundings of from 250 to 300 fathoms. Between these [illegible] banks is a valley, 600 and 625 fathoms deep.

Prof. A. W. Utzinger, leader of the Western Amateur band, went up to the band room last evening, for usual practice, and was agreeably surprised by the presentation of a magnificent gold badge and pin, suitably engraved, with the compliments of the band, the occasion being his thirty-third birthday. He prizes the badge highly as an emblem of good will and friendship on the part of those with whom he has long and earnestly labored Joggles came in yesterday and got to talking about election bets, and said he wanted to make two bets on the coming election; he'd bet $100 that he could name twenty states that Cleveland will carry in November, and would bet $400 more that he could name ten other states besides, that Cleveland will also carry in November. Joggles appears to be loaded for geese, but he says if any one wants to bet him he'll put up his coin.

The Walla Walla Statesman is responsible for the following: "There is one awful mad woman in Kansas. She heard that the legislature of Kansas offered a reward of $100 to any woman in the state who raised a family of thirteen children and accordingly she has been putting in her best licks for several years past to earn the money. When her thirteenth child was born she called on the governor for her cash and learned for the first time that the reward was a hoax. Then she was mad."

Three weeks from to-day comes the presidential election. For goodness' sake, somebody get out and rustle, make a speech, sing, crow, do something; it doesn't make any difference, get a move on you, have a Republican or Democratic or Prohibition speech or parade or disturbance of some kind; anything so it is moving. There isn't a stir yet, and one would think the election was three years off instead of three weeks. Get in; this isn't Washington territory; this is Oregon; WAKE UP! there's to be an election for president on the 6th of next month, and every mother's son of you have a vote except those who haven't. It's only once in four years we can have a little fun, and it's our our own fault if we let this occasion pass. Hire a hall, get the band out, fill the torches, turn loose—there's a president to be elected.

UNFAIR AND UNGENTLEMANLY.

Hon. C. W. Fulton, of this city, one of the Republican nominees for presidential elector, is now on a thorough state canvass and is winning encomiums for his fair, manly, convincing argument for the advancement of Republican ideas.

His political opponents concede his ability, and though, of course, they'd rather he'd stay at home, have been uniformly courteous. The only attempt at a slur is the following characteristic one from the Albany Democrat:

A band has been picked for an address at the court house to-night by a man from somewhere named Fulton, and that is about all.

That pitiful little squib slurs no one but its author.

Even Nickell, of the Jacksonville Times, about as strong a partisan newspaper man as there is in the state, says:

"C. W. Fulton, Republican candidate for presidential elector, addressed a small audience at the U. S. hall in Jacksonville last Saturday afternoon, and afterwards in the evening at Medford to a fair house. Mr. Fulton is a fluent talker. He is a clever fellow, and if he was on the right side of the discussion would do pretty well."

The above is gentlemanly anyhow, and in contrast to the Albany scribe, who hurts only himself in trying to belittle one of the foremost men of the state.

Men always have and always will differ in politics; it is right they should and we respect a man who has a pronounced opinion and stays with it.

But even in politics courtesy is needful; politeness to political opponents is their due; no one has a monopoly of the truth, or the right, and a newspaper man who fails in courtesy to those who differ with him in politics abuses his privilege.

THE U. S. VESSEL "ALBATROSS."

To Cruise Outside and Take Deep Sea Soundings.

The U. S. fish commissioner's vessel Albatross arrived in last Sunday and yesterday hung her washing to dry in the rigging. She lies in the stream opposite the city. Regarding her recent movements in northern waters, expert Alexander says:

The halibut fishing grounds off the Straits of Juan de Fuca and between Cape Beal and Cape Flattery are no doubt very prolific at certain seasons, but at the present time edible fish in no large quantities can be taken.

Halibut trawl lines were set in many places on this ground. A few halibut were taken each time, showing that scattering ones remain in spite of the dog-fish and sharks. Trawl lines were left down the usual length of time considered necessary to test the bottom (from two to three hours), but no such fishing was found as the captains of the schooners Mollie Adams and Oscar and Hattie reported earlier in the season.

Capt. Jacobs and other fishermen think that a few trips will be taken on this ground each year.

During the few winter and spring months this bank will be visited by the fishermen for "fresh trips." This accessible fishing bank being in such close proximity to the fishing headquarters of the northwest, a lucrative fresh halibut fishery must necessarily be established.

But in the summer months, when vessels are bound on a "fletched trip," more northern waters will have to be sought, where halibut can be found in vast quantities. The cause for the disappearance of the halibut at this season of the year is due to the great abundance of dog-fish and sharks, which infest these waters. These wolves of the ocean seem to take full possession of the bottom, driving away all edible fish from the rich submarine pastures where halibut and other species resort. Trawl lines cannot be left down over night in this serrate bottom, as the swift running tide soon causes the ground line to chafe against the sharp rocks to such an extent that it is either badly damaged or never recovered. In consequence of this no "night sets" are made, all the fishing being done during the day.

A few miles south of Cape Flattery a very muddy and slimy bottom is met with. Numerous sets were made along the coast from the last-named point to Shoalwater bay. Sharks and dog-fish were found in great abundance at almost every set. On a few occasions black cod and red-rock fish were taken in considerable number, the last named species, however, being more abundant.

The bottom along the Washington Territory coast as far south as the Albatross has cruised seems to be void of all marine life which attracts halibut. The reported banks further south where halibut are said to be plentiful yet remain to be investigated.

Everything aboard the vessel is in apple-pie order, and the steamer is abundantly supplied for the special purpose to which she has been assigned. She leaves for a cruise to locate the halibut banks outside, and then goes to San Francisco.

THE COMMISSIONER'S LETTER.

Following is a letter to Senator J. N. Dolph from M. McDonald, the U. S. fish commissioner, which, under the circumstances, furnishes interesting information.

Hon. J. N. Dolph, U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C.:

I have the honor to state that your request to Mr. O'Connor, in Washington, that the steamer Albatross make a survey of the fishing banks off the mouth of the Columbia river, Oregon, was duly communicated to Capt. Tanner, in command of that steamer, with orders to spend as much time in that region as the weather would permit. He was also instructed to confer with Hon. J. H. D. Gray, of Astoria, if he found it convenient to make a port there.

Replying to this telegram, by letter, from Port Townsend, Capt. Tanner says he will do the best he can to carry out your wishes, but that the season for outside work is nearly at an end in that region.

Whatever may be the outcome of his work off the Columbia river this fall, I will make it a point to place the Albatross upon the grounds you indicate at as early a time as possible next spring, with instructions to make a complete survey, the results of which will be made known to the fishermen of Oregon without delay. Very respectfully,

M. McDONALD,
Commissioner.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Nellie Boyd Company.

"Passion's Slave" drew a full house last night and was well presented. Nellie Boyd sustained her reputation as a faithful impersonator. Miss Boyd is one of the finest actresses on our boards, and the grace and dignity with which she takes so many and such diverse parts, shows a scope and versatility of histrionic talent which few possess. The whole play was well rendered throughout, and gave satisfaction to all present. To-night the celebrated drama entitled "Unknown" will be presented.—Sacramento Bee.

Beef cattle in Lake and Grant counties are said to be selling on the ranches at from $18 to $25 per head.

The fine sawmill of the Gardiner Mill Co. at Gardiner, in Douglas county, near the mouth of the Umpqua river, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday night. Also the schooner Una was burned to the water's edge.

The Union Labor party of Oregon has now a state organization and three nominees for presidential electors, as follows; E. P. Hammond, Medford, Jackson county; H. R. Wilson, Albina, Multnomah county; J. F. Hendricks, Harrisburg, Linn county.

Work was begun Wednesday by the Pacific Bridge company on the suspension bridge which is to span the river at Oregon City. Some five of the wire cables were stretched across the river. It will take about a month to finish the bridge. The bridge is being built by Clackamas county and no toll will be charged for crossing it.

The $15 a bushel wheat swindlers have again bobbed up with their notes, obtained from Linn county farmers, on which they demand payment. These notes given by about a dozen substantial farmers of the county who were swindled aggregate about $3000. It is understood that these men will employ able counsel and vigorously defend the case.

The secretary of the interior has confirmed the decision of the general land commissioner in the case of D. S. Richards vs. the state of Oregon as presented by the appeal of the state from the decision of the commissioner rejecting the claim of the state to the land in section thirty, township twenty-three south, range thirty-one east Willamette meridian, Lakeview, Oregon. The state claimed the land on the ground that it was swamp and overflowed by reason of its being located on the mountain, and snow melted in summer, said overflow from the melting snow so irrigated the land that it was regarded as valuable; otherwise it would be valueless.

On Wednesday a feat was performed at Newport which was very novel and surprising. Mrs. Fanny Seiforth and Miss Mary Westfall who with a number of their friends, all from Polk county, were spending a few days by the seaside, and while standing upon a log which projected out into the bay, discovered a large fish slowly swimming toward them. They procured a large rock, and when the fish came close along side hurled the missle at him, and strange to say hit him square on the back which projected a little above the surface of the water. This entirely paralyzed their victim, and rendered him an easy prey. They dragged him ashore, and the funny looking fish proved to be a veritable shark three and a half feet in length.

For "Astoria," Read "Portland."

A lady named Perkins, of Portland, has been on the Harbor the past ten days looking for her husband, Chas. Perkins, who left Portland, July 2nd, for Gray's Harbor, saying he would send for his wife in about two weeks. Since that time she has heard nothing from him, and becoming alarmed she started out in search of him. She went from the Harbor to Astoria a few days ago, where she learned that her husband, together with three other men, had been drugged and placed on board a vessel bound for Liverpool. She now desires to return to her father in Wisconsin, and await further news from her husband. She is in almost destitute circumstances and has two small children. Chehalis Vidette, 12.

Accidental Drowning.

Last Sunday evening the steamer Tonquin was passing Jno. A. Devlin's cannery, and was about to tie up to the dock. Jno. Carter, a deck hand, went aft to throw out a line. Not hearing the usual response, the captain followed to see what was the matter and saw Carter struggling in the water, astern. He flung him a rope, which the unfortunate man failed to hold; again the captain dropped a line directly on his arms, but he appeared paralyzed and sank without an effort. He was a Canadian, aged 32 years, and a stranger here, not having been on the boat a week. The body has not been recovered.

A Serious Offense.

Captain S. B. Randall of the tug Wizard is in trouble. Deputy Fogarty took out a warrant for his arrest yesterday, charging him with having forcibly interfered with a custom house officer. Customs officer Lannigan was sealing the hatches of the ship Primrose Hill, preparatory to having her towed to the Oakland wharf, when the Wizard came along side and made fast to her. The officer ordered the captain to keep off, but Randall gave no heed to to the command, and towed the vessel, customs officer and all to Oakland. It costs all the way from $500 to $5,000 to do that, if the act be proved. S. F. Chronicle, 11.

Sale of a Lot in Portland.

A deed was filed in the recorder's office yesterday, whereby Gus and Mary Kutzschan conveyed to John A. Devlin, of Astoria, lot 3 block 11, situated on the west side of First street, next to the corner of Main. The lot and the building situated upon it brought $40,000. A. G. Closterman has a $13,000 mortgage on the property which Mr. Devlin accepts and agrees to pay.—Oregonian, 14.

Among the passengers last night from Astoria by the Telephone was Thomas Grannon, of Astoria. Upon landing he was followed by four Japs, up Fourth street to Stark and up Stark to First, where the four became involved in a general scrimmage. MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and Beast. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

Canadian Courting Limit.

Canadian girls, it is said, allow their lovers six months to make a decision. If the youth is particularly bashful and the young lady is indulgent, she may give him a place on the sofa and accept contributions of the sap of the maple, with which he comes laden to her fresh from the forest, for another three months; but unless somewhere in that time he asks her to be his own, he must seek other firesides. She does not weep at the parting or make any time over it. There are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught, she argues, and in that reflection she holds consolation for the misspent time. Canadian girls are not only pretty, but they are all trained to make good housekeepers.—Detroit Tribune.

Justice Screws of Montgomery, Ala., married Lawrence Storrs to Fannie Henderson, after giving the following preliminary advice: "Marriage is at once the most sublime, exultant and soul-enwrapping of all the heavenly commands. The realization of love's young dream is the most blissful of all earthly joys, or at any rate the poet attunes his lyre so to say. Yet marriage sometimes comes to very unromantic phases—house rent, washtubs, collars, occasional domestic broils, and, if you follow the divine injunction and help people the earth, you will be afflicted with many lusty squalls. These parties propose to enter into this state. If there be objection, let it be known."

If Spain continues to add ironclads to her navy at the present rate she will have another invincible armada by the time her baby king cuts his stomach teeth.

A STAMPEDED TRAIN.

A Wild Fly And a Wilder Stop of a Logging Train.

There was some fun out at O'Brien's Maple Valley logging camp on the Columbia and Puget Sound railroad yesterday afternoon.

From the main track diverges a branch which penetrates the woods. The logging cars are run out this branch and loaded and are held there by means of ropes and chocks until the engine makes runs to other places. Yesterday afternoon five cars were loaded and were tied up as usual to await the coming of the locomotive. The rope which held them was not securely fastened and it gave way and the cars started on a wild run for the switch three-fourths of a mile away. These five cars being minus a brakeman, and true to the immutable laws of motion, gained celerity as they advanced, and by the time they were clear of the camp they were ready to place odds on their speed against any thoroughbred in the country.

All went well until they arrived at what is known as the fourth crossing on the road, and but for that unlucky switch they might have made the trip, without accident, to the dumping ground in the city. The switch was turned so as to shut off the branch rails, and this caused the mad rush of the five loaded cars to an untimely death. They struck the switch and went "all heels up," tearing up ties, rails, roadbed, etc., and telescoping cars and logs in great shape.

Confusion reigned supreme. The smash-up occurred on a trestle approach to Green river, and some of the logs went over an embankment fifty or sixty feet to terra firma. The cars and a few of the logs remained on the trestle. Four of the cars were about equal to "nothing" when gathered together.

Our informant states that on October 1st the wages of employes in the camp were cut down $5 per month and in consequence all the old hands quit. Their places were filled by raw men, who did not fully understand the work.

The logging cars are merely the running gears, on which no brakes can be used, and this is why ropes were resorted to hold them.—Seattle Times, 13

Southern Antidote For Malaria.

It is generally known that Simmons Liver Regulator is relied upon to secure immunity from all malarial disorders. This is proven by its popularity, and anyone who has lived in the south has seen its curative effects and the protection it gives against this weakening and dangerous malady. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine, without any of their injurious consequences.

It is difficult to imagine the Maryland widow's feelings, who, having set a bear trap at her smoke house door, found her first catch to be the very person who was trying to catch her. The fellow had been courting her for some time. Had doubtless spent all his spare cash in trying to make a favorable impression. The widow was probably like most others, fickle and frivolous, and had just rejected his suit. But all this did not justify him in stealing the widow's pork, and both parties must have felt very much embarrassed when they met.

The light of thirty years experience also shows it to be a fine remedy for rheumatism, kidney troubles, dyspepsia, nervousness and debility.

Killed While Hunting.

Several weeks ago a miner at Todd Mounhain named J. Armstrong and two friends went out hunting for cariboo. They separated, and one of the party shortly afterwards saw what he supposed to be the head of a cariboo and fired. It was Armstrong, however, who fell forward, having been killed instantly. His friend had mistaken the brown fur felt hat and check shirt of poor Armstrong for a cariboo and killed him. This sad occurrence took place ten miles from camp, to which the dead man was conveyed and buried amidst general mourning. The deceased was about thirty-five years old, and a magnificent specimen of manhood, tall and broad-shouldered, and of a kindly disposition. He was respected by all who came in contact with him. He was a lumberman by trade, and originally came from eastern Canada, though he had worked for many years in Michigan, and latterly at Colville, W. T. He had been prospecting during the summer, and at the time of his death was engaged in getting out timber and making shingles for the houses being built in camp.

Statistics show that in Iowa there have been thirty-eight of such marriages and twenty-seven of them were divorced before they had been married thirteen months.

Philadelphia is said to be more over-crowded with lawyers than any other city in the country. This state of affairs resulted in the judges, a few weeks ago, raising the course of study for students from two to four years. It is thought that this will raise the standard of excellence and diminish the annual crop of attorneys.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Chas. Becker, the well known cattle king of Malheur county, has disposed of his cattle and horse interests, excepting 200 head of beef steers, ranches, etc., for the modest sum of $75,000. The 200 beef steers he intends shipping to market. This is probably the largest stock deal that has occurred in eastern Oregon for some time.

The Mikado of Japan is a fine subject for the labors of the professional prohibitionist. His Japanese majesty gets publicly and uproarously drunk in broad daylight and swaggers around his palace like any common ordinary drunk.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY. ...OCTOBER 17, 1888.

THE big campaign lies will appear between now and election. But everybody has his mind so made up as to how he will vote that but few will be affected.

THE treasury department has submitted to congress an estimate of $9,000 to pay the expenses of the electoral messengers from the several states for bringing the votes for president and vice-president at the coming election to the seat of government. These messengers are paid 25 cents per mile one way. The messenger from Annapolis, Maryland, gets the smallest amount, $10.50, and the messenger from Salem, Oregon, the largest, $988.

JOHN B. ALLEN AT ILWACO.

ILWACO, Oct., 16, 1888.

Last night our town presented a lively appearance, owing to the fact that voters from the surrounding country had come to town to hear John B. Allen, the Republican nominee for territorial delegate, speak at Ilwaco hall. After a display of fireworks, over 200 citizens assembled at the hall which was brilliantly illuminated, and the stage ornamented with life-like crayon pictures of Harrison and Morton, beautifully and artistically framed with the American flag and ivy. Mr. A. E. King, introduced Mr. Reem Kanaga, of Astoria, who delivered a telling and we trust an instructive speech on free trade, that was well received. Mr. Allen followed in an eloquent address. After referring to the evidences of enterprise and improvements, he noticed had taken place here, since his previous visit, he at once interested the audience, in his description of the wonderful resources of our territory, drew vivid pictures of the countries oppressed with free trade, the decline of Ireland's prosperity and the wonderful increase of wealth and prosperity of our own country during the same period of time. He spoke of the Chinese question, the N. P. R. R. monopoly and Voorhees' method of crushing the aforesaid. He replied to some of Voorhees' insinuations and assertions and what he had failed to do for our territory. The same reasons why Voorhees failed to get us into the union as a state were graphically brought out, and finally he appealed to the audience to stand by the Republican party and note the majorities of Oregon, Vermont and Maine. During the evening the Ilwaco Glee club rendered some excellent patriotic music, Mr. Walter Seaborg at the organ. Mr. Allen made a very favorable impression here, and it is safe to state that he will get a large majority of the votes of this section.

C. S. Voorhees arrived here last Friday night to make us a speech, but did not speak owing to the fact that his constituents were not on hand to receive him. Somehow he beat the time made by the Democratic mail service in getting here, hence nobody was aware he was coming. SUMNER.

SEASIDE LODGE NO. 12, A. O. U. W.

About 150 Astorians, consisting of members of the A. O. U. W., their wives and friends, arrived on the various night and day boats yesterday, and employed themselves during the day in sight seeing at the Mechanics' fair, and throughout the city generally. At 7 o'clock, under command of Marshal A. W. Witherell, the members of Phoenix Legion No. 1 Select Knights, and Industry Lodge No. 8, A. O. U. W., both of Portland, assembled at G. A. R. hall, their lodge room, and proceeded to the Esmond hotel, the Select Knights acting as escort to Industry lodge.

At the hotel the visitors were met and conducted to the lodge room, which was reached at 7:45, and general social intercourse was participated in until 8 o'clok, when Master of Ceremonies T. A. Stephens called the assemblage to order and introduced Master Workman S. Lewis King of Portland, who delivered the address of welcome. This was responded to on the part of Seaside lodge No. 12, of Astoria, by C. J. Trenchard.

Past Master H. D. Ramsdell, of Industry lodge No. 8, Portland, then gracefully performed the duty of formally presenting to the visitors the broom, significant of the fact that their lodge is now the banner lodge of Oregon and Washington jurisdiction, an honor which it has just wrested, by virtue of a larger membership, from Industry lodge. The trophy was accepted by Master Workman G. W. Rucker of the visiting lodge. The broom is no undesirable possession on its own account, being finely trimed. The handle is covered with a band of crimson silk. About the shank is wrapped a coin silver plate, engraved with lettering which briefly recounts the occasion of its presentation, the donor's and recipient's names and the date and significance of its gift. About the straw are bound three broad bands of crimson plush upon which, in silver threads, are traced the emblems of a shield and an anchor and the words "Charity, Hope and Protection." The Astorians were greatly pleased with the trophy, through they made free to express fear that their triumph would be short lived.

Mr. Rucker's speech of acceptance was followed by an address from Grand Master of the jurisdiction E. L. Smith, who counseled the renewal and extension of fraternal ties, and the more assiduous development of the moral, social and intellectual features of the lodge. Prof. G. M. Schuck then rendered an organ voluntary, after which Mr. T. A. Stephens, the presiding officer, requested the guests to sample the refreshments which had been provided. The invitation was accepted, and for an hour or more the gay company enjoyed the fruit, ice cream, cigars, etc., which the hosts of the evening had provided. The fair women and brave men over whom the lamps shone bright, numbered many of the best residents of our city, and the hall was crowded just to the sociability point.

Part of the Astorians returned on last night's boat, the remainder will go to-day or to-morrow as their duty or inclination points.—Oregonian, 15

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

MAUCH CHUNK, Penn., Oct. 16.—By an accident on the Lehigh Valley road this morning six persons were killed and twenty wounded. A Pennsylvania freight train ran into a Lehigh Valley gravel train, which was unloading ties at Towanda siding, on the Pottsville branch, when the fast Pennsylvania freight dashed into the construction cars, where forty Hungarians were at work unloading ties. Six were killed and twenty-six wounded.

The brakeman of the Pennsylvania train was also killed. Twenty freight cars were wrecked. It is feared that many of the wounded, who had to wait three hours before help came, will die. The names of but four of the dead have been ascertained, as follows: Joseph Lovensky, Mike Cathlicki, Ludwig Pike, John Levenki. The other dead went by numbers.

STILL UNSETTLED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—After a session which protracted into the morning hours, last night's meeting of the north side street car conductors and drivers decided to send a committee to president Yerkes to-day to learn precisely what his interpretation of the agreement is. Cars are still running, but it is believed that unless further concessions are made another strike will result.

CROOKED WORK PROBABLE.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 16.—The most sensational phase of the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank suspension is very likely to crystalize soon. At least one person's arrest will be caused for misappropriation of the bank's funds. Nobody doubts but that there is a large amount of money to be accounted for—probably $215,000, possibly more.

JOHN WENTWORTH DEAD.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Hon. Jno. Wentworth, better known as "Long John," died this morning. Mr. Wentworth was one of Chicago's oldest citizens. He was once mayor of the city, congressman, and editor of the principal daily papers here. He was a man of giant frame and nearly seven feet in height.

The Seattle 'longshoremen are boycotting the four masted schooner W. F. Weitzman, and her crew of Japanese sailors.

That little launch belonging to the Albatross is a daisy. She is of the famous Herreshoff breed and can go quicker'n scat.

The body of John Carter, who was drowned last Sunday evening was recovered yesterday; the funeral will take place to-day.

The Jas. A. Garfield lumber-laden, the Michigan, loaded with lumber and wheat, and the State of California, went to sea yesterday.

The Bonita goes on the Portland route in place of the "Black Maria." The R. R. Thompson goes off the route for much needed repairs.

B. S. Worsley will sell at 2 o'clock to-day the entire household furniture of Mrs. A. E. Harris, at the residence on Polk street, between First and Second streets.

This country on both sides of the river is filling up. This is noticeable in many ways. Two a day is the average number of new subscribers on the mailing lists of the weekly edition of this paper.

There were several more visitors to the Albatross yesterday, which in several respects is the best fitted up vessel in special details that ever entered the river. Capt. Tanner expects to take an outside cruise tomorrow

The greater part of the visiting delegation of Seaside Lodge, No. 12, A. O. U. W., returned yesterday from Portland, where they were royally entertained by Industry Lodge. Beside the banner Seaside Lodge now carries the broom. It is the largest lodge in the northwest, having over 230 members.

The Michigan syndicate composed of men from Saginaw, Michigan, are getting some fine timber back of Knappa. They bought a square mile yesterday for $6,400. They talk of putting up a mill here that will saw the biggest logs on the Columbia river. Some of the aforesaid logs are ten feet through.

When the Bonita, which is just out of the boneyard, was making her landing at the O. R. & N. dock yesterday afternoon, the suck of the tide caught her stern, swung it round with a crash onto the boom of the schooner Rosie Olsen, smashing in the wheel-house on the stardoard side, but not damaging the wheel.

The Salem papers say that parties in the capital city are being encouraged to start a steam laundry there. [illegible] good. The best form of encouragement, however, is to patronize the establishment. Fred Norris was "encouraged" to start a steam laundry here; put $3,000 into one, and failed for lack of patronage.

Information has been received at the navy department to the effect that the United States steamer Brooklyn, while off the west coast of Japan, became completely disabled by breaking her shaft. While in this helpless condition she was taken in tow by the Russian man-of-war Bobre, Captain P. Chaykooski commanding (bound for Vladivostock), and towed into Nagasaki, the Bobre going eighty miles out of her course and being delayed a day in her voyage by the humane action of her commander.

DEATH AT A WEDDING.

Sudden Demise of Mrs. Gibson Last Monday.

There was a wedding at the residence of W. J. Ingalls, of Lewis and Clarke's last Monday evening, the occasion being the marriage of Clem Ingalls and Miss Nicholls. Shortly after the nuptial ceremony had been pronounced the floor was cleared, and merry dancers swayed and circled around the room. Among the wedding guests was Mrs. Jos. Gibson, a young married lady, aged 21, the daughter of P. B. Heckard. She was dancing in the same set with the bride, was as lively and animated as any in the room, all of whose faces were wreathed in smiles, and everyone were enjoying themselves, when suddenly Mrs. Gibson was seen to reel, and in a moment she had fallen to the floor, and expired.

In an instant the house of feasting was changed into a house of mourning. A boat was dispatched to Astoria for a physician, and in the storm and darkness the solitary oarsman made his way, secured a doctor and they returned, reaching there shortly after midnight, the house being about twelve miles from here.

A moment's examination showed that death had been instant; cause, heart disease.

The shock to all was a great one, particularly to the relatives of the deceased lady, on whom the blow falls with crushing force.

The deceased wife leaves a sorrowing husband and child. The funeral takes place from her late residence to-day.

Astoria's Temperature.

Yesterday's Oregonian had a very good article giving a tabulated statement of the temperature of many important points of the state, but omitting Astoria.

THE ASTORIAN hastens to supply the omission.

A Narrow Escape.

When the tug Escort went out after the American ship Benj. Sewell yesterday she towed out a boat belonging to the Hamburg house. When outside the bar, returning, the boat capsized, throwing the occupants out; two of them were in the water for about half an hour, but were finally rescued; the boat was also saved. Another boat belonging to Grant Bros., capsized between Clatsop spit and the buoy opposite Fort Stevens, and was lost. It was a fine Whitehall boat.

Dan O'Neil In San Francisco

Among the visitors on 'Change yesterday was Captain Daniel O'Neil, the handsomest and the oldest, in point of service, purser running on the Columbia river. He first went on the river in '51 and is known to every one who has traveled on the river since. "Uncle Dan," as he is familiarly and affectionately called, has lost none of his old time vigor, and as Donald Ross piloted him round he had his hand nearly shaken off. He is at present on the steamer R. R. Thompson and returned home overland last evening.—S. F. Call. 13.

Reducing the Surplus.

How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

OUR LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Things They Did And Things They Didn't Do.

There was a quorum of the city council at 7:50 last evening, and the regular order of business was tackled.

The petition of H. Rippa asking leave to have transferred a liquor license was, on motion, voted on in the affirmative by a vote of three to one.

The petition of Thos. Dealey, asking that a mortgage for $1,700 on the tax roll be corrected to $300, was referred to the city attorney.

A petition from business men on Second street asking that the electric light be replaced on the corner of 2d and Genevieve streets, was read. A motion to lay the communication on the table, was lost. After several motions, the matter was referred to the committee on public property.

A petition of Anna Anderson, asking permission to continue business on license issued to her deceased husband, was, on motion, granted.

The petition of Jno. Hobson, collector of customs, asking permission on behalf of the U. S. government to build a boat house at the foot of and at the east side of Cass street, was, on motion, referred to street committee.

A communication from chief engineer Snyder, asking for permission to have the approach to the engine house of Astoria No. One, repaired, and suggesting that the house should be removed to more central quarters, was, on motion, referred to committee on fire and water.

A communication from street superintendent Clinton, regarding the condition of W. 6th street, was referred to street committee with power to act.

The committee to whom was referred the chief engineer's report, reported that it was correct and complete; report adopted.

The committee on Main street nuisance reported that it would be abated; report adopted.

A report from chief Barry that 38 arrests were made in September and 128 meals furnished and $112.50 fines collected, was referred to health and police committee.

The auditor and clerk's report was likewise referred.

The city treasurer's report for quarter ending Sept. 30th, was also referred.

The street superintendent's report for September was likewise referred.

The following claims were ordered paid: Foard & Stokes, $3.50; Caruthers & Co., $9.25; Wilson & Fisher, $4.64; A. V. R. Snyder, $27.75; F. W. Baltes & Co., $12.30; M. C. Crosby, 50 cents; Sundry persons, $63; B. S. Worsely, $5; N. D. Raymond, $20; J. G. Ross, $21.76; Circuit court, $38.15; M. C. Crosby, 47 cents; Astoria Gaslight company, $104.40; Electric light Co., $144; Griffin & Reed, $2.75; New York Novelty Store, $1.60; J. F. Halloran & Co., $95.05; Sunset Telephone Co., $3.

A resolution that the money paid by property owners on First street be refunded on compliance with certain conditions, was passed.

The graveyard sidewalk matter was discussed briefly and negatively. Councilman Welch thought that it was nonsense to buy lumber for a fence and then let it lie and rot. The report of the special committee was resurrected from the archives, and it was finally decided that bids be advertised for and the work done.

A Juvenile Opera Company Row.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 15.—An unseemly row occurred last night at the hotel where the Juvenile Opera company were stopping. Julia Martin, one of the principal ladies, working for $6 weekly, committed some slight offense, and manager Eckert fined her $3, half the salary. The little lady objected strenuously, and was backed up by the balance of the company, including Evan Gamble, who used strong language toward treasurer Hammill. The latter called the boy a liar, and Gamble retorted by calling him a bigger liar. Hammill struck the boy in the face, and Gamble hit him square between the eyes, knocking him down. The treasurer arose and kicked Gamble, and again kicked him on the floor, when bystanders interfered.

Manager Eckert turned his attention to Gamble, and the latter informed him that he would punch his head. The company then proceeded to the steamer. It is understood that three ladies and a couple of boys will leave the company, and as they are the principals, this will likely cause its dissolution

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

His Idea of Political Economy.

For upright, cast-iron, independent journalism that isn't afraid to speak out openly and above board, regardless of consequences, the Spring Green. Wis., Home News is a shining example. The editor says: "We will vote for James Morgan for governor, because he advertises in this paper; if Hoard will advertise in it we will vote for him, too. This is political economy"

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair Splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, —sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing, to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

From Salem to The Sea.

SALEM, Oct. 15.—At a special session of the board of trade to-night the advisability of making an effort to secure direct railroad connection with the sea, via Astoria, was considered

It was stated to the board as the intention of the Astoria Railroad company to build from Astoria to Tillamook via Clatsop beach, thence through the low pass east of Tillamook to the Grand Ronde country, and thence to a junction with the Oregon Pacific. It was suggested that there exists a very good chance to secure by proper effort the passage of this road through Salem.

A committee of five, consisting of president Wright, secretary Manning, T. McF. Patton, J. H. Albert and R. J. Hendricks, was appointed to correspond with the Astoria company and ascertain what prospect there is of securing the road. If deemed expedient, the committee is empowered to visit Astoria.

Fatal Neglect

The breaking of the smallest wheel in a mammoth factory, if not repaired or replaced, will ruin the entire plant, as a speck of dust will derange the delicate machinery of a watch. Were people as thoughtful to repair their broken health on the first approach of disease, as the owner is to mend his machinery, they would escape indescribable suffering, and often death. Slight causes will sometimes derange the digestive organs, on whose healthy action the health of the whole system so much depends, and feverish blood, headache, and consumption itself, set in. The wise person will at once arrest the cause of these unhealthy symptoms, resorting to that world-famed remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which purifies the blood and cures liver disease. Of all druggists.

The Worst Nasal Catarrh,

No matter of how long standing, is absolutely cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It does not merely give relief, but produces permanent cures in the worst cases. 50 cents, by druggists.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and Beast Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

A Thoroughbred Hunter.

Nate Moore, 16 years of age, while cutting brush in the Chetco valley, about two weeks ago, came upon a nest of panthers. His dogs treed the old mother and the boy grabbed the three little kittens that were in the nest and started for his home, some three miles distant, which he reached with his prize in safety, while the dogs stood watch over the mother. The kittens were supposed to have been about twenty days old. They were brought to Crescent City and were sold at Smith River for $30. The boy had no gun or other weapon except a brush hook at the time and it required more courage than most men would have had to take the baby panthers from the watchful eye of their mother.—Crescent City Record.

Frances Newby, a coachman at the Royal hotel, Battleborough, England, dreamed that he would meet his death near a certain lodge gate. It impressed him so, that he took every pains to avoid the gate, and even once when he had to drive by there got a lady in the carriage to hold the reins until past the place. The other day he had to go past the spot with a remarkably kind and gentle horse. Just in front of it something in the road upset the cart he was driving and he was thrown out and killed.

SHIPS IN FEVER CLIMES.

Once Infected it is Impossible to Rid Them of The Germ.

"The Galena is a fever ship," remarked an officer attached to that vessel. I was ordered to Hayti, where yellow fever prevails. I asked: "What is a fever ship?" "A fever ship," explained the officer, "is one that has had yellow fever on board. The officers and men alike fear them and with good reason. The germs of the disease never leave those old wooden ships, and, as soon as they go within the fever districts, the contagion is bound to break out afresh on board. We had several cases of fever on the homeward trip, but owing to timely attention they did not develop into the dread yellow fever. You might take the Galena and thoroughly clean her, steam all the wooden-work if you choose, and then lay her up during an entire winter in a cold climate, and then during the following summer go within range of the yellow fever country, and without a doubt cases would soon develop on board.

"An illustration of this strange fact is found in the experience with the Jamestown, now the training ship at Baltimore. On one of her trips yellow fever appeared on board and several deaths followed. Subsequently the vessel was thoroughly renovated and extensively repaired. Her woodwork was steamed, Then she remained in northern harbors for several winters. She was finally ordered south again, and before she reached the fever district a case of yellow fever developed and the man died. Above his hammock was found a quantity of filth. The woodwork was torn out and the filth removed. But she is still a fever ship and I would not like to go south in her. Then again is the case of the Portsmouth. She once had fever on board. Long afterward she was ordered to Norfolk for repairs. Naval constructor Hichborn had charge of the work. A number of his workmen died and he himself was taken down with typhoid fever and for a time his life was despaired of. It is certainly true that once a fever ship always a fever ship."—Washington Capital.

Congressman Mattson of Indiana has declined to accept the silver service which was presented to him by employes of the government printing office on the ground that it is not proper for him to accept any reward for the performance of duty imposed upon him as member of congress, and that it would set a bad example.

Southern Antidote For Malaria.

It is generally known that Simmons Liver Regulator is relied upon to secure immunity from all malarial disorders. This is proven by its popularity, and anyone who has lived in the south has seen its curative effects and the protection it gives against this weakening and dangerous malady. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine, without any of their injurious consequences.

General Alexander Hamilton, grandson of Alexander Hamilton, is at Saratoga. General Alexander was shot through the leg and arm in the late rebellion. He carried a bullet in his breast for 18 years, but it has lately been extracted.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

Dr. William Knight of Cincinnati is learned enough to be a professor in a college of dental surgery, but he was foolish enough last week, while feeding one of the Zoo bears peanuts, to put his hand through the cage and get it nearly bitten off.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Mormons are flocking into Wyoming in great numbers, and it is said by the Chicago Herald that two years hence they will control the elections in the western section.

"NASAL VOICES, CATARRH AND FALSE TEETH."

A prominent English woman says the American women all have high, shrill, nasal voices and false teeth.

Americans don't like the constant twitting they get about this nasal twang, and yet it is a fact caused by our dry stimulating atmosphere, and the universal presence of catarrhal difficulties.

But why should so many of our women have false teeth?

That is more of a poser to the English. It is quite impossible to account for it except on the theory of deranged stomach action caused by imprudence in eating and by want of regular exercise.

Both conditions are unnatural.

Catarrhal troubles everywhere prevail and end in cough and consumption, which are promoted by malnutrition induced by deranged stomach action. The condition is a modern one, one unknown to our ancestors who prevented the catarrh, cold, cough and consumption by abundant and regular use of what is now known as Warner's Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy and Log Cabin sarsaparilla, two old fashioned standard remedies handed down from our ancestors, and now exclusively put forth under the strongest guarantees of purity and efficacy by the world-famed makers of Warner's safe cure. These two remedies plentifully used as the fall and winter seasons advance, together with an occasional use of Warner's Log Cabin rose cream, to strengthen and protect the nasal membranes give a positive assurance of freedom, both from catarrh and those dreadful and if neglected, inevitable consequences, pneumonia, lung troubles and consumption, which so generally and fatally prevail among our people.

Comrade Eli Fisher, of Salem, Henry Co., Iowa, served four years in the late war and contracted a disease called consumption by the doctors. He had frequent hemorrhages. After using Warner's Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy, he says, under date of Jan. 19th, 1888: "I do not bleed at the lungs any more, my cough does not bother me, and I do not have any more smothering spells." Warner's Log Cabin rose cream cured his wife of catarrh and she is "sound and well."

Of course we do not like to have our women called nose talkers and false teeth owners, but these conditions can be readily overcome in the manner indicated

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." One Hundred Years Ago in Tennessee.

It is not a generally known historical fact that from 1774 to 1784 the territory now known as Tennessee formed a part of North Carolina, and that in 1785 the Tennesseeans, becoming dissatisfied with their government, organized a state government under the name of "Franklin," which was maintained for some years. The state organized afterward disbanded, and Tennessee was again annexed to North Carolina. The following is among the laws passed by the legislature of the state of Franklin. We copy it as found in a speech by Daniel Webster on the currency of 1838:

Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Franklin, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from the first day of January, 1789, the salaries of the officers of this commonwealth be as follows:

His excellency, the governor, per annum, 1,000 deer skins.

His honor, the chief justice, per annum, 500 deer skins.

The secretary to his excellency, the governor, per annum, 500 raccoon skins.

The treasurer to the state, 450 raccoon skins.

Each county clerk, 300 beaver skins.

Clerk of house of commons, 200 raccoon skins.

Members of the assembly, per diem, three raccoon skins.

Justices' fees for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin.

To the constable for serving a warrant, one mink skin.

Enacted into the law the 18th day of October, 1789, under the great seal of the state.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY OCTOBER 18, 1888.

When Mr. Cleveland four years ago portrayed the dangers of a second term with a candidate who "stands ready to aid with money" in the campaign, he probably did not anticipate that he would be putting up a $10,000 check for himself as a second term candidate in 1888.

◆

As a possible annex, Canada is worthy of consideration, territorially speaking. Its area is 3,510,000 square miles, while that of our country is 3,025,510 square miles. Only by counting the 577,390 square miles of Alaska can we get ahead of our northern neighbor in extent.

◆

Harbor defense by corporation is the latest development of business spirit. A corporation is shortly to make experiments at Fort Mifflin, near Philadelphia, with a new method of setting the river on fire. It is proposed to sink perforated iron pipes in the river bed and approaches to the harbor, through which petroleum can be forced to the surface of the water by machinery. In this manner blazing petroleum can be sent into the enemy's fleet, and make it uncomfortably hot for the proud invader.

◆

This is an age, preeminently, when things are not what they seem. A high medical authority of the United States, speaking lately of the disease and danger that lurks in bedclothes, etc., said: "Take notice of the fact that disease and death lurks in the very pillows and bolsters on which we lay our heads at night. It is easy to talk of down and feathers, but it is a fact, if they were cut open, these articles would be often found to be more or less stuffed with the most heterogeneous materials. Pillows, bolsters and beds have been examined and found to contain portions of filthy, coarse black serge, apparently parts of soldiers' coat sleeves, pieces of dirty, greasy silk dresses, old worsted braid from the borders of women's gowns, soiled linen rags and colored calico, and even nuts and walnut shells and pieces of crinoline wire. The bedding in this case was bought new, we are assured, a few years ago of an expensive and respectable upholsterer. Moreover, a woman who was employed to do the unpicking work of the trade informed the lady of the household that the practice of stuffing bedding with dirty rubbish and rags was very general, and that few beds or bolsters contain only the material of which they are supposed to consist."

SOME BIG TIMBER.

I have often heard of the vast bodies of timber between Clatsop and upper Nehalem but never had the opportunity to see it for myself until a short time ago, when in company with a friend I visited that region. I had always looked on these stories of big timber as "tales" gotten up by the settlers of that region to attract other settlers, but what a man sees for himself he can believe, and I think that nowhere on the Pacific coast can the timber be more grand or more getatable than it is there, for in the language of the settlers of that region "You have to get on your heels and take off your hat in order to see the first limb." The timber is mostly fir, with a sprinkling of spruce, hemlock, cedar and larch, one large body being composed entirely of larch and cedar. One can hardly realize what it is to stand half way up the side of a mountain and look off over the tops of trees whose roots are in the canyon 200 feet below and not a limb to obstruct the view, and as far as you can see mountains covered with just such trees on all sides, overhead, underneath of you and on all sides nothing but great columns rising into the clear air. On the 1st of October we crossed over into what is known as God's valley, a nice little tramp of three hours from the north fork of north Nehalem, through the finest body of timber I saw on the route. We took dinner and spent what time we had to spare with Mr. Hostetter. The valley proper is about half a mile wide and six miles in length, and I think Mr. Hostetter has the best claim there. He has a beautiful little piece of bottom land cleared with splendid timber on two sides of it, and it was on his claim we saw and measured ourselves, the king tree of all—57⅛ feet in circumference and carrying its size for a long distance up to the first limb, which we judged to be about 2⅛ feet in diameter and sent out at a perfect right angle to the body of the tree. Think of it—nearly 19 feet in diameter and as straight as a column for over a hundred feet—what a pretty saw log that would make, and there are several more cuts not much smaller before the limbs get to thick. Such timber as this will not long lay idle.

Bert E. Allen,
Auren Stafford.

Big Explosion—Democratic Barbecue.

Quebec, Oct. 17.—The Count of Primiorief, Spanish consul general at this port, while handling a revolver this morning accidentally shot himself. He died almost immediately.

WILL NOT RELEASE HIM.

Berlin, October 17.—The supreme court refuses to release Prof. Geffleken, who is under arrest for furnishing the Deutsche Rundschau with extracts from Emperor Frederick's diary.

SEIZED FOR SMUGGLING.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 17.—Six Indian canoes were seized to-day for smuggling goods from the Sound, where they were hop picking. They will be released upon payment of the duty.

AN IRON SYNDICATE

Glasgow, Oct. 17.—An iron syndicate is being formed here; its success depends upon the Cleveland iron masters joining the combination.

AN EXPLOSION.

Calais, Oct. 17.—The force of the explosion of petroleum yesterday on board the steamer Ville de Calais, from Philadelphia, tore off the deck, and partly carried away the sides. Only the forward portion sank. A fire is raging fiercely in the portion above water. The other shipping lying in the vicinity is much damaged by the explosion. It is feared the loss of life is great. Portions of a dozen dead bodies have been found lying on the quay. Arms, legs and hands are scattered about in shocking confusion.

DEMOCRATIC BARBECUE.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 17.—The day of the big Democratic barbecue was clear and bright. The people of the city and surrounding country thronged the streets from early morning, and trains brought in thousands. After breakfast Judge Thurman appeared and thousands availed themselves of the opportunity to shake him by the hand. Besides Judge Thurman, prominent visitors and citizens in carriages formed a procession, including veteran soldiers, railroad men, visiting clubs, Fort Wayne Democratic organizations, citizens on foot, hunters in shooting clubs, butchers' floats and wagons. The procession formed at noon and after marching through the streets, went to Hamilton Fields, where three speaking stands had been erected.

COLLAPSE OF A TUNNEL.

New York, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Newberg, N. Y., says that while the north bound fast express on the west shore line was passing through the tunnel half a mile from West Point, early this morning, the whole structure, which was undergoing repairs, suddenly collapsed. The baggage and express cars were totally wrecked by a shower of boulders. The baggage master and express messenger are seriously injured.

A DISTRESSED PEOPLE.

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—M. J. Harpman, of this city, who has been investigating the condition of the farmers in Ramsay Co., Dakota, reported to be starving to death, returned last night. He says seventy families are absolutely destitute of food and fuel, and something must be done immediately. The condition of the people is beyond description. Men, women and children are in rags and have not a cent of money in the world. Their crops were destroyed by frost in August, and land, stock and farm implements are mortgaged; absolute distress prevailed everywhere.

A BIG WHEAT STEAL

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—[illegible] the wheat steal case in court to-day [illegible] whole came out for the first time; 30 to 40 thousand bushels wheat were stolen from the elevator. It is alleged that D. C. Mook & Co., who recently failed, were the principals, and W. G. Harley, bookkeeper and Chas. Mason, foreman of the elevator, are named as accessories. The cars were overlorded in the elevator and delivered to the firm. More disclosures and arrests are expected.

THE MUD RUN VICTIMS.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 17.—Of the sixty-three persons who were killed in the Mud Run disaster all but two have been identified. Four deaths have occured in the hospital. Grave-diggers have made thirty-one graves in Pleasant Valley and thirty-one persons were buried there after a public funeral. The blame for the disaster has not yet been fixed. Ten victims not enumerated above are so seriously hurt that their recovery is considered impossible.

THE "BALTIMORE".

Washington, Oct. 17.—A serious defect has been discovered in the new cruiser Baltimore, which launched from Cramps' shipyard in Philadelphia. It is confined to the immense steel casting stern frame, where a large crack has been discovered. This casting weighs over 10,000 pounds, and it will cost the contractors a considerable sum to repair the injury, providing that it is found necessary to have a new casting made. The cause of this defect is said to be the result of the improper cooling off of the casting, and the weakness thus shown will be rigidly inquired into by a board who will discuss and report to the secretary of the navy. It was expected that the Baltimore would be ready to go into commission in about two months, but if this discovery causes a new stern frame to be cast and put in position, the ship will not be ready for sea for a long time.

THE OKLAHOMA COUNTY.

Topeka, Oct. 17.—Captain J. N. Sutterwaite is in this city in the interest of a movement to colonize Oklahoma, Indian territory. Already the forces are beginning to gather, and as soon after the election as possible arrangements will be made for the party to enter the territory. A company with strong financial backing is in process of formation which will aid in the protection of the colony before the courts. Already 600 men have pledged themselves to enter the territory and endeavor to make a settlement. It is their idea to re-enforce this number by about 1,400 and with these 2,000 to make a stand and stay until force is used by the United States. Able attorneys will be retained.

A BOLIVIAN REVOLT.

Panama, Oct. 17.—A revolution has occurred in Bolivia. The leaders to the revolt are two men named Pacheco and Rivadeneira. The artillery barracks were taken without bloodshed, the garrison surrendering, being short of ammunition. President Arco escaped to La Paz, where he is busily engaged in organizing troops. Sucre was occupied by Indians and mutinous troops, who had disbanded. General Camacho was made prisoner by president Arco. The revolutionists have proclaimed De Belsario Salinas president. The reason given for the revolution is said to be frauds committed at the election.

A CORONER'S INQUEST

To Inquire Into the Drowning of John Carter

There was an inquest held yesterday afternoon to inquire into the cause of the death of the late John William Carter, who was drowned from the steamer Tonquin, on the evening of Sunday, the 14th inst.

In the absence of coroner Surprenant the inquest was conducted by justice of the peace C. A. May.

A jury was summoned, consisting of C. S. Wright, A. Montgomery, Wm. Rebfeld, Gelo Parker, O. Sovey and R. N. Carnahan, who after a preliminary survey of the body, heard testi[illegible]

O. Sovey was elected foreman.

Dan Carroll was the first witness sworn. Witness said: "About 5:30 Sunday evening I was on the Michigan talking to the mate; I saw the Tonquin two boat lengths from Devlin's dock; saw something fall off. When I looked again saw the captain throw a line and heard him say: 'Charley, catch the line.' The man in the water couldn't hold it. Captain threw the line three times, and asked: 'Charley, why don't you catch the line?' The captain then got a pike pole, after the man went down, and fished for the body; the fireman came out, when the captain shouted to stop; he came out after stopping the boat. The boat was going ahead when man fell off and when captain threw the first line. I have made statement about a skiff that was attached to the tug; I thought that if they had got the small boat out they might have saved him. I am not personally acquainted with the deceased.

Only one man on the tug threw a line; the propeller was turning at the time. I heard no noise nor anything said at the time of the occurrence"

Mrs. N. Weiman sworn: "Deceased came into my house at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening to find a man to take his place. He said that he had had a few words with the captain and didn't like to go back: he staid till 11 o'clock and then said 'if no one goes in my place I will have to go again to-morrow.' The name of the deceased is Jno. William Carter; he was a native of 16, Heap street, Bradford, York; he was born there July 20th, 1868. He said he was sorry to have to go back, as he expected some more row. He was not a drinking man; he had boarded with me two years and six months. (Book of deceased retained in evidence.) He had been on the boat four or five days. He was a steady worker."

H. Lurch, was the next witness sworn:

"I knew Carter; he was working on the Tonquin. He asked me last Saturday night to go on the Tonquin in his place. He said he had had a row with the captain and didn't like to go back. Don't know what the row was about. He asked me three times to take his place. When he found no one to take his place, he said he was going to leave, but had promised to stay in Kelly's place till Kelly got back, and didn't like to leave till then. He said he wouldn't stand any more monkeying from the captain. I was one of the men that grappled for the body of deceased. We used stretching hooks and several fathoms lead line; used a hundred stretching hooks; two of us were in the fishing boat and one in the skiff, and we went with the flood tide; we made two drifts but couldn't find the body, but at the first drift at ebb we got the body; the blood poured from his nose, ears and mouth when we lifted him from the water. We took the body to the captain of the Tonquin and asked him if that was the man. He said yes. Deceased was a friend of mine and we wanted to see his body recovered and buried. I had some suspicion as to how he met his death and I wanted to see how the body looked."

"Saw a man on the wharf next morning, a man whom I believe was the engineer. I asked if they found the body yet. 'Do you know the man?' said he. I said yes; the engineer told me that deceased said he would go ashore as soon as the steamer landed."

Witness said that a man on the wharf said that he saw the captain throw him a line and that he took hold and let go again. That he didn't see the captain go out of the pilot house; he thought the captain didn't seem to care much about the matter, but went on shortly after; he thought if the skiff was used Carter might have been saved.

Dr. A. L. Fulton was the next witness sworn.

"I found a cut over the left eye and to the side of it and another cut or bruise on the corner of the left lower lip. The cut over the left eye looks as if it might have been made about the time of death, just before or very shortly after. The wound could have been made by falling overboard or striking the side of the boat, but not probably by the propeller. The wound appears to be a clear cut."

Wm. Rebfield, one of the jurors, thought it was that the propeller struck him.

Dr. Fulton resumed: "The wound on the lip was inflicted sometime after the wound on the eye. I found no other wounds. The bleeding was occasioned by some internal injury; the blow might but was not apt to have been struck by a blow from a fist; it being a smooth clean cut."

August Schlessinger, was the next witness sworn:

"On the morning of Monday I asked the captain of the Tonquin where the body was lying; I made preparations and succeeded in recovering the body; the hook stuck in his back and we got the body out of the water; the blood pouring from the body, we got the body about 100 yards abreast of Devlin's cannery."

Jos. Leathers was the next witness sworn.

"I knew deceased. I met him near the Globe saloon; deceased said things are rocky; I'm getting disgusted, the captain and I don't agree and I want to get some one in my place. He would quit now he said but he was holding the place for Kelly. While talking he tried to get a young man who came up to go in his place, the young man agreeing, but next morning Carter had to go."

"He said that once when making a landing he nearly went overboard, in getting out a line, and he then told the captain he wanted him to be more careful."

Wm. Kelly sworn:

"A week ago last Sunday night I met deceased and asked him to take my place on the Tonquin; I wasn't feeling well and wanted him to go in my place; next morning he took my place. I stayed with him a couple of hours, showing him around; that's the last I saw of him. So soon as I heard of his death I came down at once."

"The captain of the steamer is a good-enough man; I got along with him all right; he sometimes gets annoyed, but he doesn't hold any grudge. Deceased has 7 days' pay coming to him."

The jury thought it wasn't necessary to hear any more testimony, acting coroner May thought it better to wait and get the engineer's testimony. It was suggested that the jury adjourn to Friday at 1 P. M., to hear the testimony of the captain and engineer of the Tonquin, and the examination closed for the present.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. H. C. Lord has returned from Seattle.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since [illegible] discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Take it early and a cure is guaranteed.

HIS LAST REQUEST.

A Scene Snatched From a Novel of The Day.

"George Ferguson, you have gone a little too far."

Pale with indignation and outraged pride, the young woman looked him sternly in the face.

"Why, Laura," he stammered, in helpless confusion. "I—I—er—ah—I didn't think you would care."

"Didn't think I would care!" she echoed with freezing mockery. "Did you think, sir, that an acquaintance of ten or twelve months entitled you to a privilege, unasked, that my most intimate friends of many years' standing would not have dared to claim? Have you no conception, sir, of the meaning of the word presumption?"

What had this young man done?

Intoxicated by her beauty, and fancying he saw in her glorious dark eyes a challenge, half-coy, half-saucy, he had rapturously kissed her.

Dumb with astonishment, George Ferguson now quailed before the lightning-like indignation of the high-spirited girl. He saw he had made a fatal mistake.

"This must end our acquaintance, Mr. Ferguson," she said. "In many respects it has been a pleasant one I had come to esteem you highly—to regard you as a young man of high and noble impulses, free from the trivialities, the weaknesses, the inordinate self-conceit and assurance that the spirit of the age seems to infuse into the mental constitutions of the young men of modern society. You have thrown yourself down from the pedestal upon which I had mistakenly placed you. Mr. Ferguson," she continued, sadly, "hereafter we meet as strangers."

"Be it so, Laura Kajones," replied he, with recovered self-possession. "I shall not presume to question your right to dismiss me thus summarily, however strongly I might feel inclined to protest against the injustice of your act in so doing. I bow to your mandate. Henceforth we are strangers. But before I take my last farewell of you, as I am now about to do, and go out into the world to struggle with it as only a sorrowing, lonely man, deprived of his last earthly hope, must struggle to keep bitter despair from knawing his heart-strings asunder—before I leave forever the presence of one with whom I have passed so many happy hours, whose memory will cling to me through all the cheerless years that may yet drag their weary length over my head, I have one last request to make of you."

"What is it sir?"

"Please get off my lap."—Chicago Tribune.

MONEY FOR GOOD IDEAS

A half-dozen of the most successful men of to-day were recently asked what chance young men have to get on in the world these days. Jay Gould, Russell Sage, James Gordon Bennett, Dr. Norvin Green and Chas. A. Dana said the outlook was never so good as now.

"What one quality should they possess to succeed best?" was asked each.

Russell Sage replied, "Caution;" Jay Gould, "Perseverance;" Dr. Green, "Hard work;" Mr. Bennett, "Enterprise;" Mr. Dana, "Brains."

Perhaps Joseph Pulitzer, of the World summed it up in the best way.

"My dear sir," he said to an applicant for a position on the World some time ago, "What can you do?"

"Anything," was the cheerful reply.

"Yes, but you must certainly be able to do one thing better than an other."

"Oh, yes," was the response. "I can write well on most any subject, am a good executive man and am fertile in ideas."

"Oh," was Mr. Pulitzer's reply, "fertile in ideas." And he drew his chair up close to his visitor and peered anxiously into his face. "Then you are just the man I want. How many good ideas have you lying around that I could utilize in increasing the circulation of the World?"

"Oh, I could give you twenty," was the calm rejoinder.

"Twenty?" said Mr. Pulitzer, in astonishment.

"Yes, sir, twenty."

"Well, now, try it. Go home and write me out twenty good ideas or suggestions for increasing the circulation of the World. Send me your list to-morrow. I will pay you $100 for each idea I accept. My check for $2,000 will be mailed you at once if I accept them all, and I hope I can, for we need new ideas here all the time, and then we can make a permanent arrangement. I will pay you $100 a week for a good idea, and you needn't come to the office, either. Yes, I'll do more: I'll buy you a fine pair of horses, so that you may drive around town and enjoy yourself in the park. Your fortune is made, if you can do as you say."

The young man did send in his ideas carefully written out, and they were promptly returned to him as worthless. Instead of riding through the park in a luxurious coach, he is now holding down a chair in a Bowery cheap lodging house.

He possessed brass, but not brains. —N. Y. Mail.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

A PORTLAND OPINION

As to "How Not to do It" is Being Done.

Pungent Comments on The Present Systematic Want of System.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 15th.

To Editor of Daily News:—I have charged in previous communication that our board of trade is derelict of duty in permitting without its vigorous protest, the injuries to our commerce practiced in defiance of promises made by the Union Pacific management to a committee of six of our citizens who visited New York on a consultation mission in March, which promise was again reiterated by the manager of the Union Pacific railroad in a public letter but recently addressed to "the business men of Weston and vicinity." This promise was in substance and effect "that the Union Pacific Railroad company would undertake to transport grain from eastern Oregon, and Washington territory to the ocean as cheaply by the way of the Columbia river as its competitor would deliver it by the way of Puget sound." As every one knows, no attempt has been made to keep this promise, and a species of petty and hitherto unknown exaction has been imposed by the Union Pacific management on ships entering and departing the Columbia river, in aggravated contempt of their profession in which "off-bar towage" figures to the extent of $150 to the trip, and $40 for use of hawser. These charges I have seen. These extortions seem to be after thoughts to compensate for the good intention of reduction they started in to inaugurate.

Every effort made in the board of trade to bring the Union Pacific company face to face with its promises has been suppressed. One well meant effort in that direction was a petition signed by several citizens, governor Pennoyer among their number, calling on the board of trade to demand compliance on the part of the Union Pacific company with their promises made, which petition was received and forwarded to manager Holcomb, who returned it with a letter asserting that the rates of towage, etc., made by him was after consultation with and approval of the principal shippers, and the board of trade in the person of its president, deemed them to be just. No answer was made to the specific allegation that the rates were not in compliance wite the promises given, but the onus of the rates which gives the bulk of our shipping to Puget Sound was saddled on the principal shippers and the board of trade. The manager of the company closed his letter with a lecture and reprimand to the board of trade for entertaining such petitions. The whole matter from beginning to end was kept from the published proceedings of that body, and the snubbing given by the manager was taken with obsequious silence. At the annual meeting Mr. McKee brought forward a grievance against the same management, who charged in a bill presented for inspection to the board, three times more for lighterage than the rates established by them, and telegraphed all over Europe at the expense of the board of trade. Mr. McKee was fairly squelched by the honorable body, and no reference was made in the published report of its proceedings of his vigorous protest and remarks on the subject. It had the effect, however, as I understand, of having the bill corrected by the Union Pacific management.

In all the latitude between the promise and fulfillment of pledges made by the Union Pacific management, there is but one class of shippers, who relying on the promise, might recover on its non-fulfillment. It is undoubted and unquestioned that any one of "the business men of Weston and vicinity,' might bring a cargo of grain by the way of the Columbia river to the ocean, and under the promise made them by authority of the published statement of the manager 'that it would be transported as cheaply as by way of Puget sound,' could sue and recover in any court of competent jurisdiction at least $1,[illegible] for every [illegible] shipment made by the way of the Columbia river. We challenge any corporation or board of trade lawyer to a contradiction of this proposition; but unfortunately the shippers of cargoes of grain are not composed of "the business men of Weston and vicinity," and the principal shippers of Portland are too busy shipping by the way of Puget sound to take any notice of the false pledge, other than in co-operation with the board of trade, to condone and sanction it.

Wishing to learn to what extent the rates of the Union Pacific management were operating to the injury of the commerce of the Columbia river as well as the injury of the Union Pacific itself, who in this instance seem anxious to commit commercial suicide, I addressed a letter to a prominent wheat operator at Weston making the query. The reply in substance is that "the Union Pacific lost in the vicinity of Centerville two-thirds of the grain tributary to their road that they should have had if the farmers had been able to get as much as on the other road. In Centerville wheat was moved, I understand, from the Oregon Railroad & Navigation track to the Oregon & Washington territory (Tacoma branch) for the same reason. There has been considerable wheat hauled through our town, and three miles further to the Oregon and Washington territory (this means a haul of six miles past the Oregon & Navigation warehouses). What little wheat was stored at Weston the warehouse men have saved from being hauled three miles to the Oregon and Washington territory by the warehouse men sacrificing and giving away their dues."

The same letter imploringly asks: "As wheat is worth $1 per ton more in Tacoma than Portland, what remedy are we to have on the O. R. & N. to enable us to compete?"

If anything can more strikingly illustrate the base betrayal of their business constituents by the Union Pacific management and the Portland board of trade than the simple recital I have made from the aforesaid letter, I am unable to divine what it would consist of. That the two corporations should so far forget their duty not only to themselves but the public at large as not to compete at equal prices with their contestants for the business of eastern Oregon and Washington territory would suggest the necessity of a writ of lunatico inquirrendo to take the recreant corporations in out of the wet. In the meantime our citizens take such treatment so good humoredly, esteeming it to be a huge joke to choke up Tacoma harbor with wheat ships, leaving our beautiful river freer for regattas than it has been before for years, that I too begin to conclude I have been laboring under mistaken impressions and have half a notion of trying to join the board of trade too. Southern Antidote For Malaria.

It is generally known that Simmons Liver Regulator is relied upon to secure immunity from all malarial disorders. This is proven by its popularity, and anyone who has lived in the south has seen its curative effects and the protection it gives against this weakening and dangerous malady. It acts more promptly than calomel or quinine, without any of their injurious consequences,

A Double Help for the Bilious.

In addition to that chief remedial measure, the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, persons suffering from an acute bilious attack, will facilitate recovery by the use at first of milk and lime water and thin gruels, and by a very gradual return to the use of solid foods. Fatty substances should be excluded from the diet. Blue pill is a remedy of doubtful safety, particularly if there be nausea and vomiting, frequent concomitants of liver trouble. The Bitters, provided its reformatory action be not retarded and marred by gross indiscretions in diet, will soon restore the equilibrium of and action of the liver, stomach and bowels, all three disordered by biliousness. In all forms of malarial disease, which in every one of its phases presents indication of liver trouble, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the foremost of specifics. The [illegible] experience also shows it to be a fine remedy for rheumatism, kidney troubles dyspepsia [illegible]

Five in a Year.

An event occurred near this city recently which gives the Democrats much concern. Mrs. Crane Washington, a colored matron living near this city, promises to increase the population to such an extent as to render the state hopelessly Republican, provided the colored population remains true to its traditions. Last January she presented Mr. Washington with triplets. The surprised parent at once took steps to change his name. He had heard about Washington being the father of his country, and he did not know how much there might be in a name. He dropped the matter, however, but to-day the responsibilities of parentage again devolved upon him. This time it was only twins, making a total of five in one year, with a cold winter ahead of him. The picaninnies are said to be as black as tar and lively as crickets. The Democratic party can stand no such increase, and is thinking seriously of recruiting its ranks from the colored voters.—Charleston, S. C. Corr. Atlanta Constitution.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. H[illegible] says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia, and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

CARELESS MOTHERS

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY OCTOBER 19, 1888.

OUR neighbors in Salem and Albany are eagerly looking this way regarding railroad connections between Astoria and the Willamette valley, and take an interest in the Astoria railroad second only to Astorians themselves. A railroad from the Willamette valley to Astoria is only a question of time, and co-operation and concert of effort can greatly aid the furtherance of its speedy construction.

* * *

ON the outside page is a communication regarding the management or mismanagement of the Union Pacific people, wherein promises which, like piecrust, made but to be broken, have been disregarded and the needs of an empire ignored. This subject has been discussed at such length in these columns that extended remark would be but reiteration. Yet it is a matter of such transcendent importance as to justify repeated remonstrance against the continuance of the present system. In ignorance or defiance of the inevitable, the transportation companies continue in causing a deflection of the grain shipping business to the Sound; a business that they will find it easier to retain than to regain. "C. P. C." puts his finger on one important spot in showing that the Portland board of trade "stands in" in the policy of suppression.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Potter Palmer, the Chicago millionaire, lives in a house that is said to be more like a castle than any other residence in Chicago. No two rooms are alike in style or finish. The house is built with a rotunda surmounted by a Moorish dome, and all the doors open into a circular hall. The supporting pillars and the ballustrades are made of polished marble.

General Sherman does not seem to be appalled at the thought of dying; at any rate he speaks of it sometimes in an off-hand sort of a way that is almost amusing. Not long after Sheridan's funeral, in referring to the decease of many prominent officers of the late war, he said to a friend: "I shall have to hurry up and die pretty soon or there will be nothing but militia to bury me."

There was a grand reunion of the Billings family at Springfield, Mass., recently. Several hundred members were present, all descendants of three Billings brothers, who came to this country in 1640. Many family heirlooms were exhibited, consisting of portraits, table linen and bric-a-brac. It was voted to publish a history of the Billings family, which Charles Billings had prepared.

Mrs. Rachel Stillwagon of Flushing, L. I., has lately celebrated her one hundred and fourth birthday. A dinner was given in her honor by her numerous descendants, and there was no one at the table who enjoyed it more than the old lady herself. Mrs. Stillwagon has the use of all her faculties and enjoys excellent health. She rises every morning at 6 and goes to bed at 11, and never thinks of taking a nap between times.

His excellency Hadji Hossein Ghooly Khan Montamed-el-Vaar, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Persia to the United States, is a small man and spare of flesh. His features are of a distinctly Eastern cast, the nose being enlarged and curved, the complexion swarthy, and the eyes small and bead-like in their jetty brightness. He wears a full black beard, and his manner is simple and unostentatious.

Mr. Gladstone recently happened to meet the bishop of Peterborough, England, who is as smart in his conversation as the late Samuel Wilberforce, bishop of Oxford. "I hear, my lord," observed Mr. Gladstone, "that you don't quite approve of my dealing with the Irish question." "Oh! dear, no," quietly answered the bishop; "it is not your 'dealing' I mind, Mr. Gladstone, it is your shuffling that I object to."

Archbishop Corrigan is the youngest of the Roman Catholic bishops, and presides over the largest see. He is tall and well built and has the step of an athlete and the manner of a courtier. He seldom uses a coach, and when he cannot walk, rides in a horse-car. In his dress he is altogether unassuming also. Bishop Corrigan was born in a little white frame house on Market street, New Jersey, used since as a saloon and later as a newspaper office.

Harlow Curtiss, of Harwinton, Conn., is in his eighty ninth year. He has carried on his farm himself this season, raising forty bushels of potatoes and cutting five acres of grass by hand. He recently shot a running fox at off-hand aim. In Bristol, Conn., a week ago he entered a rifle range and scored ninety-one points out of one hundred. He made three consecutive bull's eyes. He can read a newspaper without glasses and is altogether one of the youngest men in the country for his years.

Jefferson Davis is now a white-haired, white-bearded man of eighty years. He has lived for the last thirteen years at Beauvoir, on the shores of the Gulf, in southern Mississippi, between Mobile and New Orleans. His house is a large, old fashioned, double framed plantation cottage. The servants' quarters are outside, and Mr. Davis has quite an imposing study, where he wrote his history of the rebellion. Mr. Davis has been married for forty years to a lady who is considerably his junior.

Mrs. Cleveland's costume, as she appeared on a shopping tour in Washington the other day, is thus described: "Her frock was of cream tint of China silk, sprayed with delicate blue and pink blossoms. It had a straight, full skirt and deep hem, a plain round waist, belted in with a pale blue sash, which was knotted at the back in a big, soft bow with long ends. She wore no bustle. Her hat of Leghorn shaded the face, and was trimmed with light blue gauze. Smoothly fitting shoes and the simplest of jewelry completed the costume."

Settling a Railroad Loss.

I was attorney for the ——— railroad twenty years ago, said a Detroit lawyer, and one day went out to settle a loss with a woman. She and her husband had been struck at a crossing, and while she was badly hurt, he was killed outright and the horses and buggy smashed to pieces. They had the dead wood on us for $15,000, as the engineer did not signal the crossing. I went out to make an offer of about $12,000. The widow was not able to sit up, and I stopped at a store in the village and bought some oranges and lemons and took them up. When we finally got around to the matter of damages, she said:

"Yes, it was a sad thing, and the railroad was to blame, but I don't want to be mean about it. I suppose the president and all of 'em are worried most to death, and I suppose I could stop all of the cars from running, but I want to be just. Your bringing up that fruit proves how kind-hearted you all are, and if you think you could afford to give me $1,000 I'll sign off.

I made her accept $5,000, and took her the money myself. When she received it she asked:

"Won't the road be crippled?"

"Oh, no."

"Cars run the same?

"Yes."

"And none of your folks are mad at me?"

"No."

"Well, then, I'll take it, but if the road should get hard up and want to borrow, it'll find me ready to lend." Detroit Free Press.

Will Not Go Over to the Sound.

The O. R. & N. company has made it an object for Mr. Kamm to keep his steamer Undine on the Columbia river instead of sending her to the Sound. Mr. Kamm wrote to Capt Hatch that the company had conceded to him one-third of the towing on the river if he would not put an opposition boat on the Sound, and he thought that there was more in that than in sending the steamer around, and he had concluded to accept the offer. Capt. Hatch was considerably disappointed, but has concluded to build a new and fast steamer.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer, 17.

NAPLES, Oct. 18.—Emperor William went to Pompeii this morning. The emperor was intensely interested in everything he saw at Pompeii especially in the excavation mine in his presence, during the progress of which several valuable bronze obejects were unearthed. The trachea was opened to the bronchial tubes.

Spiritualism.

Sunday evening, October 21st, at the Ross opera house, Miss Kate Eddy, Alex Hume and other noted spiritual mediums, will give an entertainment, for the purpose of demonstrating spirit power in the light. The following are among the many demonstrations given: Miss Eddy's open seance, as presented by her before the leading scientific societies of England, Austria, Germany and France. Miss Eddy was by them subjected to the most crucial test conditions. There is not one member among them but that acknowledges that, in the presence of Miss Eddy, there is a wonderful power and intelligence outside the physical body, that can assume a human form and annihilate distance. But what this power is, there is a diversity of opinion. A table rises and floats in mid-air; flowers are brought and passed through the audience by invisible hands; spirit slate writing; questions written and retained by the interrogators will receive full and intelligent answers. A small admission will be charged to defray expenses.

Blaine Club Attention!

The members of the Blaine club, of upper Astoria, desire that the members of the Garfield club and all citizens take part in the torchlight procession Saturday evening, and meet at our club room at 7 o'clock sharp. Woods and others in favor of Harrison and Morton and for protection of American industries.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Between Capt. Reed of the "T. F. Oakes" and the Suppliers of Sailors.

The American ship T. F. Oakes is at Sand Island and will be ready to sail when she gets her crew. There is a little difference of opinion between Capt. Reed and those who usually supply those who go down to the sea in ships before the mast and see the wonders of the Lord in strange waters from the look out afforded by the forecastle. At present the T. F. Oakes is without a crew and the Captain declines complying with the demands made upon him.

It appears that $47 per man is the amount received this season for supplying sailors; this, usually styled "blood money," is not in exact accordance with the Dingley bill, but is the custom here and in other ports on this coast. Capt. Reed got two or three men in Portland, and was, accordingly, informed that he couldn't be supplied with men here unless he paid $47 apiece for those as well as for all others furnished him here. At a conference yesterday it was agreed to disagree.

The captain now says that he will send to San Francisco for his crew, and figures that he will make money by doing so.

Wages here are £6 a month, "blood money" $47; wages in San Francisco are £4 a month; "blood money," $30; the fare up here is $8; the expenses of a watchman or two up and down, a tug to take the men off the San Francisco steamer and put them on the T. F. Oakes must also be reckoned in the expenses, but on a crew of fifteen men, the difference in favor of the vessel would be something like this:

On a four months' voyage, £2 a month, 15 men, "blood money," $17 a man, $855; against this, the expense of bringing them here, and on board the vessel, say $250, leaving a balance of about $600.

It has been several years since sailors were brought to this port from San Francisco to ship on outgoing vessels from the Columbia.

The only thing that may militate against the captain's calculations is the possible difficulty of securing a crew in San Francisco for his vessel at better terms.

In this regard it may be observed that the charge was made in the Portland press sometime ago that sailors shipped on board vessels here would be taken off down there. The T. F. Oakes and the Grisedale furnish two recent examples to the contrary.

REMARKS FROM ALBANY.

The Opinion of The "Herald" on Railroad Matters.

(Albany Herald, 17.)

The citizens of Salem are trying to imitate Albany's example in securing a direct outlet to the sea. At a meeting of the Salem board of trade Monday evening the advisability of making an effort to secure direct railroad connection with the sea, via Astoria, was considered.

It was stated to the board as the intention of the Astoria Railroad company to build from Astoria to Tillamook via Clatsop beach, thence through the low pass east of Tillamook to the Grand Ronde country, and thence to a junction with the Oregon Pacific. It was suggested that there exists a very good chance to secure, by proper effort the passage of this road through Salem.

A committee of five, consisting of president Wright, secretary Manning, T. McF. Patton, J. H. Albert and R. J. Hendricks, were appointed to correspond with the Astoria company and ascertain what prospect there is of securing the road. If deemed expedient the committee is empowered to visit Astoria

This is the road which the Astoria people have proposed to build to Albany. It cannot connect with the Oregon Pacific at Salem, for the very good reason that the Oregon Pacific railroad does not pass through Salem, but through Albany, and as its connection with the Southern Pacific is at Albany, this city will be the natural connection of such road, if it is built

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Maynard's Reply

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. In answer to the treasury department's inquiry yesterday relative to the Chinese on the Ancon, the collector of Port Townsend telegraphs to-day that the Chinese on the Ancon went from the Columbia fish canneries to work in the fish canneries of Alaska, and are now there homeward bound.

Assistant secretary Maynard replied: "The department cannot authorize the Chinese on the Ancon to land."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

AND NOW SALEM IS INTERESTED

And is Looking This Way For Railroad Connection.

(Salem Capital, 16.)

Last night the board of trade held an important special session with a large and enthusiastic attendance.

President Wright in a spirit of enthusiasm stated that the object of the called meeting was to take immediate action regarding the proposed construction of a railroad from Astoria through Salem to a connection with the Oregon Pacific. Secretary Manning informed the meeting of authenthentic information received by him that the Astoria railroad company proposed building their line via Clatsop beach from Astoria to Tillamook, whence they would follow through the low pass east of Tillamook to the Grand Ronde country and on to a connection with the Oregon Pacific. He spoke of there being an opportunity for Salem to secure this line if the proper effort be made and inducements offered.

It was decided to appoint a committee to go to Astoria and confer with the authorities and learn where the projected connection with the Oregon Pacific would be made and what they would require from Salem to induce the road to pass through here.

President Wright, secretary Manning and Messrs. Patton, Albert and Hendricks were constituted a committee to correspond and confer with the Astoria company and learn the prospects and requirements and perhaps visit Astoria in the interest of securing the additional railway facilities.

The opinion prevails that both the Astoria line and the Oregon Pacific are but branches of the Chicago & Northwestern which is hastening to Boise City, where they desire connection with the coast.

Taken all in all the meeting of the board was an earnest one. Speeches were made by the different members, setting forth the importance of securing this line for Salem, whereby we may be given direct railway connection with the east and the seaboard by a competent line. All exhibited a readiness to leave no effort untried to gain the coveted prize. A great interest has been aroused and the Salem people begin to realize what may be accomplished by a united and harmonious action of their forces, and it is but the beginning of much that may result from an awakening. Now that it is seen what may be done by a concerted action good results are sure to follow.

As soon as the committee can prepare a report and learn from the Astoria company what our requirements are, the board of trade propose holding a special meeting looking to a final action on the matter.

A Chance For the Girls.

The following appears in an Oregon City paper:

A man aged 56, living in a wilderness back from the lower Willamette, of good parentage, temperate from boyhood, self disciplined, industrious and steady, but of moderate means, would like to correspond with a medium sized, middle aged woman, inclined to brunette, having an ear for music, fond of children, and inspired to make the world better by influencing the minds of the young, accustomed to a remote country life, a studious reader, acquainted with hygienic cookery.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

A five year old boy of Auburn, Maine, was to spend the afternoon at the house of a young woman, who he had heard his mother say had been married four years. He was advised to take some playthings for fear he would not be contented, and his answer was: "Well, if her husband can stand to live with her four years, I guess I can stand it for one afternoon.

Revivalist Sam Jones says: "God won't keep a young lady pious who has her waist encircled seven times a week by a spider-legged dude." We assure Rev. Sam Jones that we are no friend to the dude, but we desire to suggest very meekly that pretty much the same thing is liable to the young lady if she is hugged too often by the parson

A Mormon from Idaho who gave the name of Hyde, as he always does under certain circumstances, spent $18,000 in New York not long ago on a spree. He was arrested for drukenness, but one of his wives came on after him, took him in charge and promised the officers to take him home and make a Dr. Jekyll out of him.

DR SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

AN EASTERN MAN'S OPINION

As to The Future of This Section.

A Comprehensive View of The Situation.

ASTORIA, Oct. 18, 1888.

EDITOR ASTORIAN: Having spent some time on the Columbia river, and in your city and adjacent country, it has occurred to me that your people might not be uninterested in the opinion of an eastern man concerning your future.

Gentlemen of Astoria, your fortune and destiny are in your own hands, to be marred or made by

Your present situation, in a country with so many great and varied natural resources, is an anomalous one; hitherto your great, and almost only industry, has been the salmon packing business. This industry has culminated, and can add but little more to your growth as a city.

What are you to do? I answer, you must open up new industries. To do this you must open your back country for settlement.

How? By building railroads.

Some of your citizens have formed a company and started to build a road to Tillamook. This is the best possible move for you to make; it should have been inaugurated years ago, and in successful operation at this time. Had this been done, the assessed value of property in your county and city would have been three times greater than it is to-day.

What is particularly noticeable and anomalous in your financial status, is, there is no fixed and determinate value to real estate. Build this projected railroad and this situation will give place to progress and stability.

When this road has crossed the divide between your country and Tillamook you will see a stream of settlers pouring over this road, and beyond it, that will astonish you.

From the commencement of the building of this road you can date an era in the growth and prosperit of your city.

You should push it to completion as soon as possible. Every man who has any interest in the city or the county should do something toward the work. You should get at this work with an energy and determination that knows no failure; throw all petty wrangling differences aside; work unitedly, and tell the man who is unwilling to help to get to the rear of the procession.

In all of my travels, and they have been somewhat extended, I have not seen another 40 miles of unappropriated route for railroad that offers so great inducements for construction of a road and promises so speedy and profitable returns as this route which you have now secured by your incorporation and commencement of construction.

One consideration of great value: the road when finished can be very cheaply operated. Fuel is abundant and cheap, you have no snows to contend with in winter, no rivers, creeks or canyons to cross, the sudden rising of whose waters will endanger your bridges.

Let me outline to you what is within reasonable probability.

We will put the entire cost of the road at $500,000, including equipment; you should raise one-fourth of this amount, viz: $125,000. You can bond the road for the balance, $375,000. When your road has crossed Youngs bay it will commence earning money, and will continue to earn money during the entire period of construction. This money earned during construction will be paid to you in stock dividends.

And I hazard the opinion that if the road, after completion, be properly handled, and all complications are avoided, will have, within five years after completion, earned sufficient money to pay running expenses and pay off all indebtedness, and the man who has put $1,000 into the road will be the owner of an interest that will be worth from $3,000 to $5,000.

Now, gentlemen, I will tell you something, and I did not get my information from Charles Francis Adams, but it is ex cathedra, all the same, within five years the [illegible] Asian steamers sailing from the mouth of the Columbia and these steamers will not go above Tongue point.

What does this signify? It means that there will be a transcontinental railroad down to Astoria.

But the transfer of freight from the great steamers to the transcontinental will not make you a great city. You must be ready with your feeder; with cars loaded with lumber, salmon, and other products arising from the development of the country at Tillamook, Nehalem, Astoria and other points, to be run on the great transcontinental, and not to be unloaded until they have reached the great markets of the east; in the meantime capital will be attracted to you. You will have flouring mills, foundries, machine shops, ship yards, and all kinds of manufactories adapted to your climate, situation and enterprise.

Of all the great railroad magnates who have been on this coast Charles Francis Adams alone has paid you a friendly visit. And here let me remark, Charles Francis Adams is a worthy descendant of his great grandfather, John Adams, who was the sturdiest figure, among that band of colossii who declared and achieved American independence.

Charles Francis Adams, three years ago, in company with Senator John Sherman, paid you a visit. In a short address to the citizens of Astoria he told you, very significantly, that he hoped to see the time when there would be a transcontinental roundhouse in Astoria.

Circumstances at that time rendered the realization of that hope a distant and uncertain probabilty.

The situation is changed. Unforeseen contingencies, the rush of crowding events, all conspire to bring the materialization of that prescient hope to a rapid completion.

John Sherman also addressed you. His words were pregnant with prophetic meaning; with the military sense common to his family, he recognized the national importance of the mouth of the Columbia.

In private conversation he expressed the opinion that this was the point of danger, and the vulnerable point on the Pacific sea board.

With what indignation and shame must John Sherman have learned that the secretary of war, on the recommendation of a Miss Nancy, who should have been dressed in petticoats instead of a military frock, had withdrawn the small garrison from the mouth of the Columbia.

It is true that this small garrison, as a defensive body, didn't amount to much, yet as the title of the United States to this territory is little more than that of occupation, it served as notice to the enterprising foreigner, who some frosty morning might say, "I think I will drop in there, supplant and settle," that the United States at some time when she had leisure, and had nothing else to do, intended to erect such fortresses, forts, batteries, ship yards, docks, magazines, and stations for supplies, as would be sufficient notice to all the world that she intended a permanent occupation of the country.

Some of your people have an idea that the Northern Pacific or Southern Pacific may probably lead to your city. There is nothing in it. Neither of these roads will build to your city. The Southern Pacific will build to the Sound, crossing the Columbia at some point between Hunter's and Rainier where, uniting with the Northern Pacific a union bridge will be built. The expense of the ferry at Kalama is very great. A bridge avoids delay in ferriage and is an ever constant danger of interruption of traffic from accidents to the ferry.

The policy of the Southern Pacific does not favor the building of a great seaport north of San Francisco.

I have already drawn this letter out to a greater length than I intended, and yet have said but little of what I intended to say.

Before I return to my home on the Atlantic seaboard, I shall write you another letter, in which I shall give reasons, showing the necessity for immediate fortification of the mouth of the Columbia. Also the opinions in well informed circles touching the impending Asian revolution, and its effect upon the Pacific coast trade, and shall also give you an outline of the probable route of the great Russian and Pacific railroad. When it is asserted that that road will reach the Pacific littoral at some point south of Corea, it certainly foretells a conflict.

Without being particularly rash, I will predict that before the close of the nineteenth century, there will not be a port in Asia that will not be as free to the commerce of the world as the port of New York.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 20, 1888.

GOOD sleighing in Canada. We shall have piles of bad weather to answer for if we annex British North America.

THE London police now think that the Whitechapel fiend is of the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde order, and claim that the doctor lives in Grosvenor square, one of the most aristocratic portions of the city. Like many other works of the imagination, the theory is not above criticism.

DR. B C. NUNEZ DE VILLAVICENCIE says in a Jacksonville, Florida, paper that he finds that the yellow fever spreads along all the shores bathed by the currents of the Gulf stream in North, Central and South America. Here is a fine opportunity for our scientific inventors. The Gulf stream must be disinfected.

AN employe of the Panama Canal company tells the Harrisburg Telegraph that some blacks from Liberia recently arrived. They had nothing on but breech-clout and necklace. They soon struck, and wanted to kill everybody till the troops shot some of them dead. The rest were sent home. The Chinese soon give up the work and start little stores. The men work from six to 11 A. M., and from 1 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Their pay per month is $15 and board. For night work 25 and 30 cents is paid for three hours.

How The Chinese Come In.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The Chinese question is one of great interest here, but just at present interest centers in the efforts at British Columbia and Mexican ports to keep out the Mongolians. Henry T. Byers, a merchant of Westminster, B. C., is now here, and having been recently along the British Columbia line, what he says is of interest. He states that Chinese are evading the Scott law and crossing the northern boundary and coming down into the Pacific coast territories and states from the British possession by hundreds. "They are given pointers by their countrymen residing there, and they manage, at their leisure, by taking boats for New Westminster and Vancouver, to work their way down into the American possessions. Some of them board Canadian Pacific cars and run out a way to small stations, where, debarking, they make their way through the woods to your American towns.

"The American officials along there do not in the least stand in the way of the Chinese. The officials are few and far between. Nobody sees these Chinese except a few wood choppers, and they have no power and little inclination to do anything with them. As for the citizens north of the Washington territory boundary, I am free to say that they hail with gladness the exodus, and of course do not feel like lifting a finger to detain them. We have no more use for them than you have. I have known them to go as far out as Banff, a new summer watering place on the Canadian Pacific. From there it is but twenty miles to Fort Colville, and within easy reach of Spokane Falls and the railroad and mining operations of that vicinity. A fair percentage stop there, but most of them drift down between the Coast and Cascade ranges to Seattle, Port Blakeley, Port Madison, Tacoma and Portland. By more crooked ways they reach Port Townsend, Seattle and other Puget sound towns direct from Victoria. Boats are now, and for two or three years have been kept by unscrupulous men at Victoria, and these do nothing else but carry Chinese over. They do it for from $20 to $50 each. The danger of detection is not great. In New Westminster we often have fifteen or twenty raw Chinamen come into town in a day. They will be the rankest of coolies, probably not being sixty days out of Pekin. They will linger about there for a few hours, and then take a straight line for the Sound. It is the same way at Vancouver and about Nanaimo. There ought to be more government officials in these northern woods and along the Sound as well."

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

"Notice to The Public."

It is being circulated by one "Emkins," an employe of the O. R. & N. Co., that the steamer Telephone would be withdrawn from the Astoria route in a few days. I was not aware that this Emkins had been employed to manage or look after the affairs of the Columbia Transportation Co. And when I do conclude to hire him in that capacity, I will make it known to my friends by an order published in the Astoria papers, bearing my signature. But, until I do, I want it distinctly understood that I have charge of the steamer Telephone, and I, as well as the steamer Telephone, are on the Astoria route to stay. (Signed),

Messrs. Smith and Hutchinson, who have been around getting names and information for the new Astoria city directory, finished yesterday. "HEADS I WIN, TAILS YOU LOSE."

Mention was made in Tuesday's issue of a proposed bet, the bettor wagering $100 that he could name twenty states that Cleveland would carry in November, and $400 more that he could name ten other states that Cleveland would also carry in November.

There is more in this than appears at first sight. It is really a "dead thing" on losing the first bet and winning the second. The profit lies in making the second bet a good sized one, both bets to go together.

Suppose the proposition is accepted, and a wager is made that the party name on a bet of $100 that he can do it, twenty states that will cast their electoral votes for Cleveland; he immediately names as that number of sure Republican states, Colorado, California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Ohio, New Hampshire, Nevada, Nebraska, Minnesota, Connecticut Michigan, Vermont and Massachusetts. On the face of it it is plain that he will lose the $100 he bets on these going for Cleveland. But at the same time he bets that he can name ten other states that will also give their electoral vote to Cleveland; that bet be is careful to have for an amount four or five times the amount of the first bet. That bet being made for say $400, he, of course, at once names Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Missouri, and South Carolina. When the election comes off he is just $300 ahead.

It will be observed that the same thing can be done with Harrison, as the one on whom the money is wagered by simply substituting Democratic states for Republican states in the first bet.

A good many thousand dollars were lost and won on such unfair bets as that in 1880

The Route to The Sea

(Salem Statesman 18.)

The committee appointed at the board of trade meeting Monday night to open correspondence with the Astoria Railroad company, met yesterday afternoon and delegated secretary Manning and J. H. Albtet to draft a letter to the Astoria railroad men. This letter will be submitted to the full committee to-day, and, if found satisfactory, will be immediately forwarded to Astoria.

Hon. C. W. Fulton of Astoria, one of the directors of the Astoria and South Coast railway, was in the city yesterday for a short time, and was interviewed as to the intentions of Astorians regarding the construction of the road. Mr. Fulton stated that the Astoria people had subscribed $75,000 for the construction of a railway along the proposed route down Clatsop beach, thence through the Coast range pass east of Tillamook to some point in the Willamette valley.

"The people of Astoria," said Mr. Fulton, "want to establish railroad communication with the Willamette valley. Our objective point is the Oregon Pacific, because we expect that that line will in a very few years be a transcontinental route. We have begun active operations on our road and expect that it will be completed to the seaside, a distance of eighteen or twenty miles by spring. We have ample terminal facilities offered us near Astoria, and I am sure we can secure still better inside the corporation.

"I am certain the people of Astoria will cooperate heartily with the citizens of Salem in the construction of the line to the valley. You are not more anxious to have an outlet to the deep sea than we are to reach the valley, and Salem seems to me as good a point as any through which the road may pass to the Oregon Pacific."

Spirit Manifestations.

Miss Kate Eddy, who some years ago made quite a sensation in New York through her spiritualistic manifestations, will make her first appearance in this city to-morrow (Sunday night) Oct. 21st, at Ross' opera house. All agree that her seance is extraordinary, to a degree remarkable, unexcelled by any seance of the kind before the public. Miss Eddy leaves her audience free to draw their own inference as to the motive force of her manifestations, neither claiming as some do, to have the aid of supernatural powers, nor confessing that she is alone dependent on her own exertions and dexterity. She, however, propounds the one query to all who inquire of her, "If I do not have invisible aid, pray tell me how I do these things?" A diminutive, highly nervous, but bright, intelligent and pretty woman, she seems to be wholly without the power to do one-half the feats that are made a regular part of her seance. At the opera house to-morrow the skeptical may be represented upon the stage with liberty to subject the body to any reasonable test and free to detect what they can. Very low prices will prevail.

Blaine Club Attention!

The members of the Blaine club, of upper Astoria, desire that the members of the Garfield club and all citizens take part in the torchlight procession this evening, and meet at our club room at 7 o'clock sharp. The Western Amateur band will escort the procession to lower Astoria, where speeches will be made by Hon. G. L. Woods and others in favor of Harrison and Morton and for protection of American industries.

The Usual Fatal Railroad Accident.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Cleveland has approved the general deficiency bill this afternoon. Col. Rufus Saxton, assistant quartermaster general, was placed on the retired list to-day. The president to-day approved the act authorizing the secretary to appoint Alfred Pleasanton major general in the army and placing him on the retired list.

A DWINDLING FORCE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Owing to objection against transacting any business without a quorum, the house adjourned till to-morrow.

MURDERED AND ROBBED

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 19.—To-day was pay day with the employes of James McFadden, who is building a railroad for the Lehigh Valley Co. He employs four hundred laborers. This morning Alexander McClure, paymaster, accompanied by a young Irishman, left Pittston with thirty thousand dollars to go to the works to pay off the men. On the way to the works they had to pass through a lonely strip of woods, and without any warning both men were shot from an ambush and killed. Three Italians are suspected. The thirty thousand dollars was gone. There is great excitement, and a posse of one hundred and fifty men are looking for the murderers.

THE DAILY ACCIDENT.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 19.—It is reported that the Cincinnati express on the Baltimore and Ohio road was wrecked near Washington, Pa., this morning; three persons are reported killed and a large number injured.

Another dispatch says that the cannon ball express on the B. & O., which left Cincinnati last night ran into an open switch near Washington, Penn., depot this morning. The train was precipitated over a trestle a distance of ten feet. The train was running at a high rate of speed and was almost a complete wreck. Two persons were instantly killed and twenty injured, a number seriously.

WHOLESALE JAIL DELIVERY.

SPOKANE FALLS, Oct. 19.—Twenty-one prisoners escaped from the county jail before daylight this morning. They overpowered, bound and gagged the jailor, A. M. Rowe, whose cries were afterward heard. They took the keys to the outside door and escaped, locking the jailor inside. The prisoners broke out of the cage by breaking the iron bars. None have as yet been captured, but every effort is being made. Seven prisoners were in cells which were not broken, and a like number who could have escaped declined to go. The jail was in a crowded condition. Among those who escaped were George Miller, the murderer of Hall, and Johnson, who robbed ex-mayor Cannon's house.

THE EMPEROR'S VISIT.

ROME, Oct. 19.—Emperor William visited the parade grounds this morning and witnessed the maneuvers of a battalion of Bersagliere.

At a banquet given last night in honor of the emperor, Gen. Pelloux, commander of the Alpine division of the Italian army, made a speech in which he said the watchword of that division was "No passage this way." He expressed the hope that the frontier would not be attacked but said if it should be Italian troops would defend it unflinchingly.

WHAT WHITNEY SAYS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The correspondent of the Sun sends a long interview with secretary Whitney, in which the latter claims we can whip England. He does not expect war, but says her floating wealth is at our mercy now. Our swift cruisers could sweep the seas, while engineering science is competent to defend our seaboard cities against bombardment. Canada's military strength, he declares is insignificant, and England is incapable of aiding her. Secretary Whitney thinks England would not go to war over the fisheries, because she has already once conceded substantially the correctness of our point of view.

A BIG RIVER

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—The official report on the great Yukon river shows 600 miles of it in British territory. This includes about 200 in the gold mining regions where the chief mining camps are situated, the men earning $10 to $20 a day washing auriferous deposits, but work only lasts about two months a year, in consequence of freshets and early frosts. The river is 2,300 miles long, 2,000 of which are navigable, without a single rapid or portage. Its breadth, six to seven miles in places, averages three or four. There are rivers emptying into the Yukon broader than the Hudson at New York. Little of the region traversed is fit for agricultural purposes, although the valleys are suitable for stock raising. The country abounds with minerals. The winters are not more severely felt than those of central Canada.

CANADIAN PACIFIC CONTRACT.

LONDON, Oct 19.—The contract between the Canadian Pacific Railway company and the imperial government for a steamship mail service between British Columbia and China and Japan has been finally signed, and tenders for three steamers of 6,000 tons each will be received within one week. The contract stipulates that the service is to commence within eighteen months, the steamers to run monthly and stop at Yokohama, Hongkong and Shanghai

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

The President Will Visit New York.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—It is stated on good authority that the president has promised to visit New York before the election and review the parade of business men of that city, but it is not his intention to make a speech.

Fatal Neglect.

The breaking of the smallest wheel in a mammoth factory, if not repaired or replaced, will ruin the entire plant, as a speck of dust will derange the machinery of a watch. [illegible] whose healthy action the health of the whole system so much depends, and feverish blood, headache, and consumption itself, set in. The wise person will at once arrest the cause of these unhealthy symptoms, resorting to that world-famed remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which purifies the blood and cures liver disease. Of all druggists.

The Worst Nasal Catarrh.

No matter of how long standing, is absolutely cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It does not merely give relief but produces permanent cures in the worst cases. 50 cents by druggists.

ALMIGHTY DOLLAR.

O, almighty dollar, our acknowledged governor, preserver, and benefactor, we desire to approach thee on this and every other occasion, with that reverence due superior excellence, and that regard which should ever be cherished for exalted greatness. Almighty dollar! without thee in the world we can do nothing, but with thee we can do all things. When sickness lays its palsying hand upon us thou canst provide for us the tenderest of nurses, the most skilled physicians, and when the last struggle of mortality is over, and we are being borne to the resting place of the dead, thou canst provide a band of music and military escort to accompany us thither; and last but not least, erect a monument over our graves with a lying epitaph to perpetuate our memories. And while here in the midst of our misfortunes and temptations of life, we are perhaps accused of crime and brought before magistrates; thou almighty dollar, can secure to us a feed lawyer, a bribed judge, a packed jury, and we go scot free. Be with us we pray thee in all thy decimal parts, for we feel that thou art the one altogether lovely and the chiefest among ten thousand.

LUM WILLIAMS' CLOSE CALL.

He Had to Whip His Weight in Wild Oats Before He Was Safe.

Panther Knob Letter.

Lum Williams, an old mountaineer and hnnter, of Panther mountain had an adventure a few days since which he will not soon forget.

As he sat on the porch of farmer Peters' and told the story, he was the picture of about as badly dilapidated a specimen of humanity as one sees in a life time. One arm was carried in a sling, his right leg rested upon a stool wrapped from thigh to ankle with linen cloths, while his face, once smooth and fresh, notwithstanding his age of over half a century, had the appearance of having been cultivated with a fine-pronged garden rake from his hair to his coat collar.

"I was going up the mountain on a squirrel hunt with my two squirrel dogs, Snap and Nig," said the old mountaineer. "We had gone about a mile, and I had killed five or six squirrels, when Snap began to bark in a fierce way about 100 yards off. Before I got to the dog Nig had joined him, and the two kept up a terrible racket.

I hurried on, expecting to find that they had treed a coon or holed a fox. When I got to the spot I found the dogs had holed some animal in a hollow, rotten log. The log was poplar, and about 20 feet long, with a hole nearly a foot in diameter at the mouth.

"The dog wouldn't go in. I thought that strange as they never before went back on a fight with a coon, and that was what I thought was in the log. So I tried to poke the coon, as I supposed it was, out of the hole, but the only pole I could get wouldn't reach. Finding I couldn't move the game that way, I threw down the pole and examined the log. I soon discovered that it was very rotten and that there was a crack in it about half way down. I made up my mind to try and pry that log open, and I am sorry to say I succeeded.

"Almost as soon as I got a stick in the crack and began to pry, the confounded thing flew apart and out sprang three thundering big catamounts. Great Scott! how they did pitch into us. Two of them sprang at me. One seized my left arm near the shoulder and ripped it from shoulder to wrist with his long claws. I struck at the brutes with the heavy oak stick I held, and by good luck knocked one of them over just as the other one jumped at my face. I couldn't stop him, and he came down on my face with both claws, ripping through the skin and flesh like red hot irons. Just then Snap caught the cat by the flank and pulled him off. That saved me. The dog and cat rolled over and over on the ground while I was trying my best, with the blood pouring down my face, to get a blow in on the cat. I succeeded at last in striking it across the small of the back as it rolled over on top of the dog. That blow broke its back, but it had done for the dog, which was torn almost into ribbons.

"I had overlooked the one I struck in the first place, and by this time the infernal brute had got on its feet and sprang on me just as I raised from striking the other one. This fellow did not get a fair hold on me, but he got close enough to rip my leg from thigh to calf with his claws. I struck it in the face with the end of the club, and as it dropped to the ground I threw my whole force in the blow, which I delivered npon its head, knocking it over on its back, and I beat it to death.

"The cat which had jumped at the dogs in the first place I now saw lying about 20 feet away, with Nic holding it by the throat. The cat was dead and so was the dog, which lay with entrails torn out, but still with a death grip on the throat of the cat. If the dog had ever let go of that cat I would have been finished between them. As it was, after the fight was over I fainted with pain and loss of blood, and lay, I suppose, on the ground for an hour or more. When I came to I dragged myself to the road, half a mile away, where I found water, with which I bathed my wounds. Luckily for me Peters, here, happened to come along and brought me to his house."

"I have had many close fights in my time with bears, panthers and wildcat in these mountains, but this one was the closest call I ever had, and it was all owing to the fact that I neglected to take a knife or pistol with me."

Sore Throat

Is particularly favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning, and use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subdues the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a gargle.

Since January 1, 1888, no less than 130,000 persons have left Great Britain and Ireland to settle in the United States. This seems strange when it is remembered that carpets and fine woolen cloths are cheaper there than here.

THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DEATH

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week we hereby guarantee Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

It was a Newark man who sent $1 in answer to an advertisement stating that the advertiser would impart the secret of living forever for that small sum. The secret was, "Don't die."

A Double Help for the Bilious.

In addition to that chief remedial measure—the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—persons suffering from an acute bilious attack, will facilitate recovery by the use at first of milk and lime water and thin gruels, and by a very gradual return to the use of solid foods. Fatty substances should be excluded from the [illegible] of doubtful safet[illegible] nausea and vomit[illegible] of liver trouble. The Bitters, provided [illegible] reformatory action be not retarded and marred by gross indiscretions in diet, will soon restore the equilibrium of and action of the liver, stomach and bowels, all three disordered by [illegible]. In all forms of [illegible] Hostetter's Stomach Bitters [illegible] light of thirty years [illegible] a fine remedy for rheumatism, kidney troubles, dyspepsia [illegible] debility.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York City will receive the recipe free of charge.

Canada is thoroughly aroused by the talk of annexation to the United States.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.

More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needless away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

It is said that the noise of voters flopping from one party to another in New York keeps the politicians awake at nights.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE

Professor Arnold says; "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

People don't grow famous in a hurry, and it takes a great deal of hard work even to earn your bread and butter.—Louisa M. Alcott.

Eczema, Itching, Scaly, Skin Tortures.

The simple application of "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT," without any internal medicine, will cure any case of Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Piles, Itch, Sores, Pimples, Eczema, all Scaly, Itchy Skin Eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle.

There is no greater mistake than that made by the man who is selfishly seeking any kind of happiness at the expense of others.

NEWSPAPER ETHICS.

A LAWYER, when asked to plead a cause, demands his fee before he opens his persuasive mouth. You may hang and be damned before he will give you his legal service gratis. If one desires to know what investments are good and likely to be profitable, the broker who advises him is quite sure to charge a commission for making the purchase. Why, then, should an editor be expected to advocate all sorts of public projects pro bono publico. The contractors for improvements make money out of them. Why should they not pay the editors who present their arguments to the public? It is not considered derogatory for the highest lawyer in the land to appear before the city council and advocate the granting of a franchise but the editor who charges money for doing the same thing is assailed with cries of a "subsidized press." We are not saying that the cry is unjust, but we do ask where the difference is between that which the lawyer is praised for doing and that for which the editor is denounced. The man from whom the lawyer asks a fee proceeds to draw his check; the man from whom the editor asks pay cries "blackmail." Yet both do the self-same thing. Why is there one code for the Bar and another for the Press?

THE above is clipped from an exchange. A good many editorial remarks similar in sentiment are floating through the press. It is to be regretted. The idea implied in the extract above is that a newspaper man should be paid for advocacy, for "services." as a lawyer or physician.

That idea is a false one, is based on a wrong conception of a newspaper man's duties and his relations to the public, and such an idea works mischief in furnishing an excuse for venal suggestions and veiled demands that resemble blackmail as the mist resembles the rain.

No newspaper man deserving the name, would endorse the extract which heads this column or quote it approvingly. If he did he would show that he didn't understand his business.

Leaving high ideals, correct principles, noble impulses, and so on to one side, and looking at the matter as a cold business proposition, it is not policy for a newspaper to favor a cause for coin.

"Why," asks our mistaken contemporary, "is there one code for the Bar, and another for the Press?" Because, in the very nature of things there must be.

First and foremost a newspaper must have public confidence or it can't prosper. Nothing more quickly destroys the prestige of a newspaper, begets distrust of and so reduces its value, than the well founded suspicion that its editorial and news columns are the property of whoever wants to pay for their use. Even a religious journal will, after a while, be injured by this.

An editor's relations to the public are totally different from a lawyer's. A lawyer's duty is solely to his client, whose interests he is paid to attend to. An editor's duty is to the entire public, whose interests he, by reason of his position, must see conserved.

The lawyer is perfectly right in demanding coin for spoken advocacy, for he has assumed no implied duty to look out for public welfare. The newspaper would be perfectly wrong in demanding coin for written advocacy, for it has assumed those obligations and in abandoning community for individual interests would betray its trust.

It is not well to lose sight of these things.

The distinction we make is a very plain one, easily seen by all. If the newspaper man who wrote the extract we quote, really believes what he implies, he's in the wrong place. He is a failure as a newspaper man and probably wouldn't fare much better as a lawyer.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. C. Dement's Drug Store

RAILROAD TALK.

Readers of the Herald are aware of the fact that the citizens of Astoria have subscribed $75,000 for the construction of a railway along the coast down Clatsop beach, thence through the coast range pass east of Tillamook to some point in the Willamet valley, the objective point being a connection with the Oregon Pacific. Active operations on the road have commenced, and it is expected that it will be finished to the seaside, a distance of twenty miles, by spring. It was announced that the proposed connection with the Oregon Pacific would be at Albany, but now comes Salem with a request that it be built to that place and connect at some point on the Santiam. A committee from the Salem board of trade has been appointed to confer with the Astoria people concerning it, and the citizens of the capital city are enthusiastic over the matter

If Albany is to maintain her position as the chief business center of the Willamette valley it might be well for the citizens of this city to look after this matter. The board of trade, if it wishes to fulfill its mission, ought to shake off the lethargy in which it seems to be enveloped, and appoint a committee of energetic citizens to correspond with the Astoria people, and if possible secure the connection of this proposed road at Albany, which would be the natural connecting place. This city already has very desirable railroad facilities, and if this road is built here Albany will be a railroad center of no mean proportions and excelled by no city of Oregon outside of Portland.—Albany Herald, 19.

There is not another section of the great. rich state of Oregon that produces such an abundant yield of the earth's gifts, of the fruit, vegetable and grain products, as that through which a railroad would pass by way of Salem from the Santiam to Astoria; and there is no route of an equal distance in the state more feasible or over which a road can be constructed with as little cost. Nature points the way and the rules of commerce dictate its utility. It is but a question of two years at farthest until the gap from the summit of the Cascades to Boise, Idaho, is spanned over, and then the best transcontinental line in the United States will be in operation; and there will be no part of it so completely self-sustaining as that arm from the Santiam to the sea. Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties combine the richest hills and valleys in the state; thrifty growing towns already dot the landscape, and it is one of the few instances in the history of railroad building where the field is already cultivated and the harvest waiting for the gleaner; the usual experience being that the settlement, the cultivation, and the prosperity follow the railroad, while in this case they precede it.—Salem Statesman, 19.

The committee on the proposed Astoria and Salem railway met yesterday afternoon, and the letter drafted by Secretary Manning and J. H. Albert was submitted to it. It was found satisfactory, and was forwarded to Astoria. It will not be made public until the Astorians answer is returned.—Salem Statesman, 19.

The letter above mentioned came to hand yesterday and will be laid before the board of directors by Secretary Holden at their meeting to-morrow afternoon.

The Pine Lumber Trust

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The retail lumber dealers, who were made objects of retaliation on the part of the pine lumber trust, are still more indignant at the action of the trust in attempting to undersell them. The Pacific Pine Lumber company sent word to some of the leading retail lumber dealers yesterday that it would be pleased to hold a conference in reference to a smash in prices. The retailers think that this is a sign of weakness on the part of the trust, as it looks as though an attempt would be made to effect a compromise, and they intend to go right ahead and make arraugments to procure their supplies from mills not in the trust. One dealer said to-day that such peculiar conduct on the part of the trust was unheard of, and the retailers had made up their minds to make a prolonged struggle against the combine. To-day one member of the trust offered cargoes at $14, and has sent circulars to customers offering to retail pine lumber for $12 50 per thousand.

TWO SINNERS.

There was a man, it is said one time,
Who went astray in his youthful prime.
Can the brain keep cool and the heart keep quiet
When the blood is a river that is running riot?
And boys will be boys, the old folks say,
And the man's the better who's had his day.

The sinner reformed, and the preacher told
Of the prodigal son who came back to the fold,
And Christian people threw open the door,
With a warmer welcome than ever before.
Wealth and honor was his to command,
And a spotless woman gave him her hand,
And the world strewed their pathway with flowers a-bloom,
Crying, "God bless lady and God bless groom!"

There was a maiden went astray
In the golden dawn of her life's young day;
She had more passion and heart than head,
And she followed blindly where fond love led.
And love unchecked is a dangerous guide,
To wander at will at a fair girl's side.

The woman repented and turned from sin,
But no door opened to let her in;
The preacher prayed that she might be forgiven,
And told her to look for mercy in heaven.
For this is the law of the earth we know,
That the woman is scorned, while the man may go.
A brave man wedded her after all;
But the world said frowning, "We shall not call!"

According to the Victoria Colonist the Indians of British Columbia are forming a joint stock company to establish a cannery next year. They also want to start a factory for making dog fish oil.

There are some Chinese at Tacoma on the Ancon that are detained on a quibble. Chinamen should be kept out, but these particular Chinamen left here, went to Alaska, and technically have never left this country. They should be allowed to land.

Services at the Methodist Church to-day as follows: Class meeting 10 A. M.; Sermon 11 A. M.; Sunday school 12:15 P. M.; Song service 7 P. M.; Lecture 7:30 P. M.; Subject "The Young man". This will be the regular program of service each Sunday. All are invited.

The salmon of each river always return to the same stream, and do not enter new waters. As an example, the fish of Smith's river in northern California are greatly inferior in size and quality to the Chetco fish, a stream of southern Oregon, and yet the two streams empty into the ocean within seven miles of each other.

The members of Temple Lodge No. 7, A. F. and A. M., have presented the widow of the late General John Adair with a copy of the resolutions of respect passed by that body upon the death of her husband. The document is beautifully engrossed and framed in oak, and is a handsome tribute to the high character and worth of the deceased gentleman.

A [illegible] man has devised a pair of [illegible] whose wooden soles hold a small automatic press, with which the user's name and local habitation can be printed all over the sidewalks. He's going to try to sell them as an improvement to the "merchants" who buy rubber stamps and daub their names on bill heads and letter heads and think they save money.

THE ASTORIAN again directs attention to the proposed job of eastern book agents to have the state school book series changed next January. It is just an effort to cinch parents to the extent of $100,000 and the newspapers of the state should see that [illegible]. If the [illegible] books now in use were just what was needed when recently adopted, why the necessity of a change now?

There were four clearances yesterday with wheat for Europe, two American and two British ships. The American ship [illegible] cleared for Queenstown with [illegible] bushels wheat valued at $[illegible], the British bark [illegible], for Queenstown, [illegible] bus. wheat, $[illegible], the British ship Oberon, Queenstown, 58,852 bus. wheat, $49,400, and the American ship *Olive S. At the Republican meeting last night Joggles leaned forward and nudged a man in front of him, "I see," says he, "that THE ASTORIAN, this morning, gave away that bet about winning $400 and losing $100. Now, that's a pretty good bet, if you work it, but if you are after a real sure thing on election-bets and only want to win a little money, I'll put you onto a racket that one in one hundred won't see. You offer to bet $95 on Harrison to $100 on Cleveland. You'll get lots of takers. Now, for every bet that you make of $95 on Harrison to $100 on Cleveland, see that you make another bet of $100 on Harrison to $95 on Cleveland, which you can also get. No matter then, to you, which way the election goes, you'll win $5 on every brace of such bets you make." Joggles seems to have this betting business down pretty fine.

The San Francisco Steamers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The steamer Oregon, which left for Portland and Astoria yesterday, will lay up for repairs on her return here She is to have her stern bearing renewed Instead of going on the dry dock, as is customary with steamers of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, she will be repaired at the Broadway wharf, the old time coffer dam being again pressed into service. The apparatus is so constructed as to sit snugly under the stern of the vessel, and sufficient ballast is placed within to sink it, so that it can be placed in position. When this is accomplished the water is removed by means of a pump, and the ballast is then taken out. The vessel then being water tight, men can be placed inside the work on the bottom of the ship without trouble.

The steamer Michigan, which arrived from the Columbia river this morning, attempted to dock at the Folsom street wharf. The flood tide swung the bow around, and the steamer went crashing into the wharf, knocking down three fender piles and doing extensive damage.

Learning to Read Writing.

Judge Deady being invited to visit the little school some time ago at Seaside, by the young lady teacher, (a bright young Irish girl from Astoria, who wished to show the Portlander her method of teaching the children to read chirography,) he was placed in a seat of honor, and upon the blackboard the nervous little pedagogue wrote the word "eat." "Now, Eberman," she said to a boy about twelve years of age, "what does that spell?" "I dunno." Then, as if to lead him up to the solution of the great problem she insinuatingly inquired, "What do you do when you're hungry?" "Tackle the pantry," was the reply. Hardly satisfied with this exhibition the teacher in a flowing hand and with confidence in her eye, wrote "cow" upon the blackboard. "You surely can read that, Eberman, —your old favorite?" "No, I can't." "What! not read that little word? Why, when we have no milk and butter supply on hand what source do we turn to for them?" "We send to Astoria." The teacher wiped out the cow with a sigh, as if she wished she had been kicked by it, but rallied sufficiently to smilingly say: "It must be the fault of my hand writing, Judge, for my system I'm sure is correct. At all events you must admit that Eberman is an exceedingly practical boy." —We[illegible]

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Spiritualism.

This Sunday evening, October 21st, at the Ross opera house, Miss Kate Eddy, assisted by Alex. Hume, the celebrated medium of England, will give one of those seances in Spiritualism that have made them so famous through the English speaking world. The following are among the many manifestations that will be produced in broad light on the open stage: Materializations of spirit forms and faces, Dr. Hume's London open light seance, blood writing on the arm, spirit slate writing, supernatural vision, a large dining table is made to float in mid air without human agency, etc.

To defray expenses, a small admission fee will be charged at the door.

THE REPUBLICAN PARADE.

Speech at Liberty Hall by Ex-Gov. Woods.

The clerk of the weather telegraphed a special invoice of that commodity to northwestern Oregon yesterday. The sun shone out all the afternoon, drying the streets and giving promise of a fine evening, which was fully verified.

At eight o'clock the Blaine club and Garfield club from upper Astoria, came marching down with torches, preceded by the Western Amateur band and cheered along the route. At the armory they met the main body of the procession, and ranks being formed the band struck up a lively tune and headed by the Blaine club, with drums beating and banners flying, the first parade of the campaign began.

Crowds lined the sidewalks, but the middle of the street was kept clear and as the long procession filed by cheer after cheer went up, and the mottoes, floats, transparencies, etc., came in for their share of the applause.

Carried on high over the heads of those who carried a torch and a vote could be read in the bright glare of the many lights "7,407 in June, 10,000 in November." "Harris Mort } ON to Victory." "My address after Nov. 6, 1888 will be plain G. Cleveland, Buffalo, N. Y." "We want a decent mail service." "Where is that surplus gone?" "It is not maxims, but markets," Ben Harrison. "The Republican senate made Cleveland sign the Chinese exclusion bill." "A solid north, Oregon leads the van." "Harrison risked his life for his country; Cleveland hired a substitute." "Down with pauper labor, English wages and free trade." "Free trade makes low wages." "Cleveland took away our protection at Fts. Canby and Stevens." "Upper Astoria will give Harrison 100 majority." "The Republican party has always been the friend of the laboring man," and many others.

The procession paraded the principal streets and coming to a halt in front of the Occident, three rousing cheers were given for Harrison and Morton, after which ex-Governor Geo. L. Woods, the speaker of the evening, was escorted to Liberty hall, which was crowded to its utmost capacity.

The speaker was introduced briefly and eloquently by F. D. Winton, who said that the silver tongued orator of the west would give the audience some reasons for the return to power of the Republican party, that majestic party which would never furl its standard till every man in every section had the unchallenged right to cast one vote and have it counted.

Ex-governor Woods who is a man, of fine presence rose and gracefully begged the indulgence of the audience, the arduous duties of the campaign being wearing. He said we meet not as partisans, but as patriots as intelligent American citizens to decide how our ballots shall be cast in the great national contest. Eloquently and powerfully he drew a true picture of the past and present of the two great parties and asked that they be judged by their record; he dwelt at length on protection, tariff for revenue only and free trade, and citing the effect that each had on the nation's prosperity argued that as the protective tariff had best developed the nation's wealth and placed money in the hands of American workers, the Republican party, the champion of protection to American workers should receive the votes of American freemen. For nearly an hour he held the audience and moved them at his will; sarcasm, humor, eloquence, facts, logic, added to the charm of his voice and the earnestness of his manner made up an address that has been seldom equaled in Astoria, and one of the most convincing of political speeches.

He was loudly applauded throughout, and at the close the audience gave three cheers for Harrison and Morton, and three more for Hon. Geo. L. Woods.

An Unusual Scene.

While out on the plateau west of town a few days ago the writer remarked the unusual appearance of the peaks in the Cascade range several of which were plainly seen from the point of observation. Their appearance is more than an unusual feature, as it is doubtful if any one living here ever saw them so nearly stripped of their perpetual snow. Especially is this fact noticeable on the north Sister, whose eastern and northern sides are free of snow all the way up, excepting two or three small patches, which have the appearance of small glaciers as viewed at this distance.—Prineville News.

The prefect at Havre tendered a profuse apology to the consul, and M. Goblet, minister of foreign affairs likewise apologized to the German ambassador here for the outrage. There is no clue to the persons who committed the act.

THE CLOSING SCENES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—When the house met this morning at 11 o'clock on the last day of the most protracted session in the annals of congress, in addition to the speaker there were fifteen members in attendance. In the galleries there were not more than a hundred persons to witness the closing scenes. The speaker appointed McMillan, of Tennessee, Clements, of Georgia, and Ryan, of Kansas, a committee on the part of the house to wait upon the president and inform him that congress was ready to adjourn, if he has no further communication to make. A recess was then taken until 12:30 P. M. After the recess representative McMillan, chairman of the committee appointed to wait upon the president, reported that the duty had been performed and that the president had stated that he had no further communication to make to the house.

A recess was then taken till seven minutes before one. After the second recess, Ryan of Kansas, offered and the house unanimously adopted the following resolution :

Resolved, That the thanks of this house be hereby tendered Hon. John G. Carlisle, the speaker, for the courtesy, ability and fairness with which he presided over the deliberations of the first session of the fiftieth congress.

As the hands of the clock pointed to the hour of one, the speaker said· "The hour of the clock having arrived, I now declare the house adjourned sine die" The announcement was received with applause and the correspondents in the press gallery evinced their thankfulness by chanting the doxology.

IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Only seven senators had the benefit of the final prayer of this session by the chaplain, namely: presiding officer Ingalls of Kansas, Allison of Iowa, Cockrell of Missouri, Mitchell of Oregon, Paddock of Nebraska, Saulsbury of Delaware and Teller of Colorado. During and immediately after the reading of the journal, the senate was reinforced by the presence of Blackburn of Kentucky Reagan of Texas, and Sawyer of Wisconsin.

A committee of two, Allison and Saulsbury, was appointed to go with a like committee on the part of the house and wait upon the president and inform him that congress having finished its business was ready to close the present session by an adjournment at 11 o'clock to-day.

Blackburn presented a minority report on the selection of the committee on operations of the civil service law It was ordered printed with the majority report.

The last bill of the session to be introduced was one by Mitchell proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for election of United States senators by the people. Business was then informally suspended awaiting a message from the president or from the house. The first message was from the house announcing the appointment of a committee to wait upon the president; five minutes afterwards Allison of the committee to wait on the president reported that the committee had performed that duty and had been informed by the president that he had no further communication to offer. A resolution tendering the thanks of the senate to president pro tem. Ingalls for the uniformly able courteous and impartial manner in which he presided, was offered by Saulsbury and adopted unanimously.

At five minutes before one a message from the president announced his approval of sundry senate bills and joint resolutions. Senator Ingalls then spoke, briefly acknowledging with thanks the complimentary vote tendered him as presiding officer, and thanking the senators for the courtesy and consideration shown him. He then declared the senate adjourned without day.

THE ATCHISON BONDS.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The Journal says: We learn from excellent authority that the full measure of the Atchison's financial necessities is ten millions. This sum will take in the floating debt and also meet the indebtedness for the new equipment now in course of construction. To meet this new burden a private canvass of the larger stockholders is going in order to ascertain the amounts these stockholders will take of the second mortgage bonds it is proposed to issue. The new mortgage bonds will probably draw 7 per cent interest.

MAN'S TRUE CHARACTER.

In Most Instances it is Called Forth Only by Great Emergencies.

Great emergencies call forth the great soul. War in the twinkling of an eye turns village drunkards and pettifogging lawyers into generals and statesmen. Love transforms Cymon from a brute into a man. Necessity makes Shakespeare a dramatist; accident reveals Scott his true powers. The most commonplace men and women have passed through the fool's paradise of love, when they were divine beings worshiping divinity, and in that fool's paradise they for a brief moment found their true selves, saw deep into the soul of their consort. That flitting dream was in truth an awakening, the brief opening of the spiritual eye. When the world of facts has passed away, our dreams may remain. The man of common sense asks for realities, the poet knows that only illusions are true. Look you, the man whom you hate, are there not women who worship him, children who look up to him? Who sees the true man—you who hate him, or they who love him? Love is a divine delight; it reaches out over and around its object into the illimitable; it is a part of the oversoul of the infinite, of God. Hatred is painful. It strains and racks the body, it blinds the vision, it makes men conscious of his mortal limitations. "Love sees the virtues that are of the soul; hatred only the diseases of the skin." "All men have their faults, and stealing was Bill's," said a weeping widow over the corpse of a desperado shot in attempted burglary. And grotesque, ludicrous as the expression may seem, she was right. She knew that not in the robber, the law-breaker, the outcast, did the real man shine forth, but in those rarer moods of kindliness and generosity when he was the true friend and husband. Perhaps when two enemies, who have refused to see any good in each other on this earth, meet here after in another world free from the muddy vesture of decay which clogs their vision here, the first thought of each will be: "Is this the beautiful soul that I maligned and hated?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Acker's English Blood Elixir has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee by J. W. My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

A PORTLAND PROTEST

Against the Shortsightedness of Some of Its Citizens.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 20. '88.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ASTORIAN:

I observe your reproduction of my letter in the Portland News, on matters relating to the failure of the U. P. R. R. Co. to comply with their promise to carry the grain of eastern Oregon and Washington territory as cheaply to the ocean by the way of the Columbia as their competitors by the way of Puget sound, and the seeming acquiescence of the Portland board of trade, in the loss of business accruing by reason of that failure. I have been earnestly protesting at the state of affairs I saw impending ever since the promulgation of towage and lighterage rates by the company, as it was evident it would lead to the disastrous state of affairs as to loss of business we are now witnessing. That a railroad management should be so blind to their business interests proves that the crop of fools never cease to vegetate. As for the Portland board of trade, who have unwittingly subscribed to the policy of the U. P. R. R. Co., I would say that it is controlled by three or four leading spirits who beyond the sphere of the mercantile interests they are at the several heads of, are men of less than ordinary comprehension, and they were not aware how seriously they had been entrapped in a ruinous policy as to our commercial interests. It is quite certain that the masses of our business men and citizens are as much provoked at the attitude of affairs as the best intentioned, and the action of the few upstarts who control the movements of the board of trade is condemned. They are a few egotistic sycophants who are cajoled by flattery and "the thrift that follows fawning." to see everything coleur du rose, when a railroad manager gives them the nod. But while I am sure the present state of affairs is deplored by nineteen-twentieths of our citizens, there is an evident lukewarmness and indisposition to rise to the dignity of protest at the outrages we are subjected to. They seem to feel that our pre-eminence as a shipping point will assert itself without ado on their part and are disinclined to gain the ill will of the corporations by aggressive action. Of course that is a cowardly position to take and one not calculated to impress the observer with the attribute of manliness in our business men; but a gentleman asserted to me in a recent conversation that "merchants, as a class, are always timid and cowardly at times when positive and determined aggressiveness is required." At any rate there is no proper spirit evinced here to meet the imposition of the railroad corporations. Not only the Union Pacific, but the Southern Pacific as well, are whittling off large slices of our tributary territory, and so far it has not elicited any public protest. I have no fear but that ultimately we will regain our own, and make the Columbia river what natural configuration intended for it, the gateway of the greater proportion of the products its three hundred thousand square miles of drainage extends over.

When that time comes the exports of the country will cost no more for transportation from any interior point to Astoria than the cost from any interior point to any competitive point, a condition of things we have shamefully to confess does not exist to-day. With so determined a policy on the part of the Union Pacific to destroy its business, it is easy to predict that the conditional lease of the O. R. & N. Co., which the U. P. are now midway of a three years' trial of, to see if they desire to make it perpetual, will be turned back to its owners in an emasculated and eviscerated condition when its original owners will have to make a fight to regain what the U. P. has given away, and we shall [illegible] by that time come into the possession of our heritage, until that time however our progress will be retarded by their stupidity, which seems to be condoned by the majority of our citizens who are too listless or too cowardly to awake to the exigencies of the case and to demand the rights of an insolent corporation. Those who can possess themselves of patience will yet see the millenium of a million tons of grain making its exit from the Columbia river, on its way to the want markets of the world, but it will not be until the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific and the Portland Board of trade management are "renewed, regenerated and disenthralled" or better still "have been called hence."

Sore Throat
Is particularly favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning, and use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subdues the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a gargle.

A man who dwells on failure with discontent condemns himself of littleness. We cannot be masters of ourselves till our sovereignty has been challenged and proved. The salutary shock comes on this side and that, and the courageous sufferer is taught the wealth of his resources.

THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DEATH
Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week we hereby guarantee Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct.
J. W. Conn, Druggist.

There is no real conflict between truth and politeness; what is imagined to be such is only the crude mistake of those who fail to discover their harmony. Politeness, taken in its best sense, is the graceful expression of respect, kind feeling and good will.

Catarrh Cured.
A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St. New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

There are two ways (says Franklin) of being happy—we may either diminish our wants or augment our means. Either will do, the result is the same; and it is for each man to decide for himself, and do that which happens to be the easier.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE
More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.
J. W. Conn, Druggist.

A cheerful temper joined with innocence will make beauty attractive, knowledge delightful and wit good-natured. It will lighten sickness, poverty and affliction, and render deformity itself agreeable.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE.
Professor Arnold says; "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.
J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Time flies on in the same rapid course, and while we still trifle eternity is upon us.—Talbot

Eczema Itching, Scaly, Skin Tortures.
The simple application of "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT," without any internal medicine, will cure any case of Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Piles, Itch, Sores, Pimples, Eczema, all Scaly, Itchy Skin Eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle.

The moral cement of society is virtue. It unites and preserves, while vice separates and destroys.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS
Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Never relate your misfortunes, and never grieve over what you cannot prevent.—Howitt.

Grady on Ostrich Feathers.

Gilmour, of the S. F. Post gets off the following on Grady while he was speaking at Red Bluff, Cal., last week:

"Gentlemen, this protective policy is ridiculous. Now, look, intelligent men of Red Bluff, and ladies as well," and Grady threw a tender look at the ladies, "at this stupid policy of protection. Last year, ladies and gentlemen, the government collected duties amounting to nearly $200,000 on ostrich feathers! Look at the injustice of this. A duty on ostrich feathers! Fancy nearly $200,000 in duty on ostrich feathers. Why, intelligent gentlemen and voters of Red Bluff, no man, woman, or child in the United States ever saw an ostrich out of a circus in their life, and yet this gov——"

At this point Clay Webster Taylor, the talkster of Shasta, pulled Grady's coat. Grady looked at Taylor for a moment, and bellowed out again: "And yet this government will impose——"

Clay Webster Taylor again pulled Grady's coat tail vigorously.

"For heaven's sake dry up on ostrich feathers," he whispered.

"What?" said Grady.

"Man alive, there is an ostrich farm within two miles of this house."

And then a laugh went up in that hall which completely knocked out orator Grady.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY. OCTOBER 23, 1888.

Jno. P. St. John is stumping Pennsylvania for the prohibitionists at $50 a night. Business is business.

It was doubtless during a heated political campaign that King Solomon hastily remarked: "All men are liars"

On a lonely road near Sag Harbor, L. I., lives a man who claims to be a brother of Boulanger. He has been a hermit for years.

After a hurricane last month a coral reef 50 feet long, 30 feet wide and 5 feet high was upheaved in the harbor of Vera Cruz.

The man who sells what he does not own cannot cheat the man who never pays him for it. A great deal of business is done on that basis.

A prize of $150 for the best essay on "The Evil Effect of Unrestricted Immigration," is offered by America, the award to be made by the American Economic association.

From now till the 6th prox. the Burchards of the campaign will be getting in their work. If Harrison escapes a Burchard between now and election day he will be lucky.

Judge Thurman was asked in a recent interview "whether he expected his ticket to win?" and replied: "I won't be surprised if I am elected, and I won't be disappointed if I am not."

Russell Sage is said to be worth $60,000,000, and spends only $10,000 a year. He is over seventy years of age, but with his clear complexion, bright eyes and active ways he scarcely seems more than fifty.

An Iowa woman who has traveled far and observed closely, writes: "If marriage is a failure then life is not worth living." So will say all who believe that a happy home is a little heaven on earth.

A careful estimate makes it appear probable that before November 6th there will be a layer of campaign documents two feet thick all over this country, including the Indian reservations and the District of Columbia.

That annual farce entitled "The Clatsop County Tax Roll," is now about ready for collection. It is just about as ridiculous this year as other years. It is one of the productions wherein truth is stranger than fiction, and is not a curiosity, every other tax roll in the state being also a lie, a juggle and a cheat.

Indiana is now enlivened by 2,500 campaign orators. One hundred of these are prohibitionists and the rest are about equally divided between Democrats and Republicans. The Hoosiers are gradually coming to the conclusion that about the worst thing that can happen to a man is to be born in a pivotal state.

The farmers in the semi-arid belt in Kansas, Nebraska and Dakota, who for years have seen their corn and wheat killed in one night by the Mexican sirocco, in late years have had something for their toil to enable them to reduce their mortgages by diversifying their crops. Lately they have extensively made sorghum.

To illustrate the inexhaustable wealth of Alaska, Gov. Swineford remarks, in a casual way, in his annual report, that a single haul in Sitka bay took in a thousand salmon, averaging ten pounds each, and that a single one of Alaska's multitudinous islands is a solid mountain of ore, containing enough mineral wealth to pay the entire national debt.

The province of Quebec contains a population in round numbers of 1,600,000. Of this total 1,100,000 are French speaking. The officials of the province, from the lieutenant-governor down, are French. The premier, Mr. Mercier, is a clever Gaul. "The states are the polar star of our young people," said a prominent French Canadian to a Herald correspondent a few days ago. Annexation is said to be wished for in all circles.

According to a communication from "C. P. C.," on the first page, the sapient Portland board of trade are not true exponents of the feeling of that city regarding the unnecessary divergence of the grain shipping business from the Columbia river to the Sound. It certainly is strange that self interest and the plainest dictates of commercial needs should be avoided and ignored as in this instance, its far-reaching magnitude affecting so many. The one solution of the difficulty which threatens Portland's prosperity is to recognize the inevitable, put aside the ancient grudge and silly spite against a community that has always stood ready to co-operate, and transfer her shipping interests to a deep water port—Astoria.

As election day approaches the interest becomes intense. It is apparent that the vote of New York city will decide the presidency in '88 as it did in 1884. In 1884 Mr. Cleveland had 133,157 votes in New York city and Mr. Blaine 90,093. Cleveland's majority over Blaine was, therefore, 43,064. In Kings county, in which Brooklyn is situated, the vote was 69,284 for Cleveland and 53,514 for Blaine. Cleveland's majority in Kings was 15,770. Cleveland's combined majority in New York and Kings was 58,834. This is the majority the interior of the state has to overcome. The Republicans are confident of 80,000 north of Harlem river that is, north of New York and Kings——and the Democrats are confident of increasing their majority in New York and Brooklyn to 80,000. The Democrats claim that they will cast 175,000 votes in New York city for mayor. The Republicans claim that they will cast 110,000 votes in that city for mayor. The interesting question arises will all the votes cast by the Democrats for their two mayoralty tickets be cast by them for Cleveland.

At the last dinner of the Clover club in Philadelphia, Colonel Patrick Donan, of Dakota, made some interesting statements as to the length and breadth of this country. He said: "How many of you wise and witty Clover-clubites know where the center of the United States, east and west, is? It is scarcely half a degree east of San Francisco. You have always thought of San Francisco as on the very remotest western edge of the United States; and yet Alaska, which is a part of the United States, extends within a trifling fraction of as many degrees west of San Francisco, as San Francisco is west of Portland, Me. It extends within forty miles of Asia. How many of you know that if you fasten a thread at the northernmost point of Texas, measure the extreme length of the state and then swing it around over the United States, it will take in, with its magnificent sweep, Chicago and the great lakes, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota and the whole country to the British American line? Take the same length of thread with Chicago as a center and it will include New York and New England, and the whole republic to the Atlantic Ocean, in its majestic round. How many of you know where the grand center of the mineral wealth of the United States lies? Just as I supposed; some of you say in California, Nevada, Colorado. Not a bit of it. The grand treasure house of the Union, of the New World, is at the very doors of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. With Bristol, Tennessee, as a center, describe a circle with a radius of a hundred miles, and it will include in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and Carolina riches which dwarf to insignificance all the gold and silver in California, Nevada, Colorado and New Mexico. There are mighty ranges of mountains that, from their cloud-kissed summits to the volcanic fires beneath, are solid masses of the finest Bessemer hematite iron on one side and the finest coking coal on the other. There are thousands of square miles of red and brown hematite; magnetic iron so powerful in its magnetism that pieces of the crude ore will lift a knife by its blade; anthracite, bituminous and cannel coal so rich in oil that you can light a ton of it with a match; manganese, zinc, copper, lead and corundum. There are precipices of slate as fine as ever a child drew its first pictures upon of dogs that only need horns to convert them into cows; slate that can be gotten out in slabs a hundred feet square, if it were needed. There are mountains of solid marble of every shade from snowy white to Egyptian black. During a recent trip through that region I traveled on a railroad whose track is laid for eight miles on a bed of as beautiful pink marble as ever under the sculptor's chisel turned to living, breathing statuary. The whole road is ballasted with marble. The fellow who 'dreamt that he dwelt in marble halls' has only to get in jail at Estillville, Va., to realize his gorgeous dream, for the jail is built of exquisite variegated marble, and the streets are macadamized with it."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind cholic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

In this "campaign of intellect" over 400,000 pieces of political literature have been distributed so far, throughout Oregon, besides copious remarks in the newspapers.

Barry, who recently withdrew from the Knights, was introduced and made an address declaring Knights and the W. C. T. U., were united closely by the bonds of sympathy and similarity of purpose. Frances E. Willard, was re-elected president, receiving 360 votes out of a total of 391; Caroline B. Buell, was elected corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Mary A. Woodbridge recording secretary.

SUSTAINED IN IOWA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The supreme court to-day sustained the constitutionality of the prohibitory law of Iowa. The point at issue was the right to manufacture intoxicating liquors solely for exportation to other states despite the state law and it was pleaded that the prohibitory feature, in so far as the manufacture for exportation was concerned, was in conflict with the constitutional provisions giving congress the sole right to regulate interstate commerce. The court holds the state law to be prohibitional, both as to manufacture and sale, except for mechanical, medical, pulmonary and sacramental purposes. It is not in conflict with interstate commerce provisions, and the decision of Iowa is sustained.

An opinion by Lamar, of the supreme court, in a decision rendered this afternoon, affirms the right of the state to prescribe a test for color blindness among employes of railroads.

HARRY HIPPLE'S HIPPODROME.

But Who Closed The Saloon Door?

At a very early hour yesterday morning a convivial crowd were drinking at the Gilman bar, when one of their number, a son of general Heth, of Virginia, an officer in the army of the "Lost Cause," had to step out of the saloon, and upon returning the young southron left the door open, through which a chilling draught came.

Harry Hipple, an attache of the house, and, by the way, one of the most gentlemanly young men in the city, said to Heith, "Won't you please close the door?"

The reply was, "———, where I came from I had niggers for servants, and they were kings compared to you. I have a mind to make you close it yourself."

Mr. Hipple calmly replied, "I don't think you will."

Mr. Hipple's forbearance seemed to exasperate Heth, and he began picking tumblers off the counter, flinging them at the former. Just as the young man who forgot for the moment that the war was over picked up the last tumbler, Mr. Hipple struck him under the jaw, knocking him down, and then gave him a severe and well deserved beating. Heth was so well punished that a physician had to be called in to attend him.

After the scion of chivalry was permitted to rise from the marble floor he chided an intelligent Democrat for not coming to his aid. The Democrat replied.

"You got all you deserve. You must remember that this is not Virginia or South Carolina, but Oregon, where every decent man must be respected whatever his occupation may be." This sentiment was applauded by all others present.

It is said that Heth will not be seen at the fair during the rest of the season.—Portland Telegram, 20.

Back From Indiana

T. G. Rawlings, a veteran of two wars and a member of Cushing Post No. 14, G. A. R., returned yesterday from the annual reunion of the G. A. R. encampments, which, this year, was held at Columbus, Ohio. After that was over he spent some time with his folks in Indiana. He says that we have no idea of the hubbub and racket that is going on there. The whole state is like a camp, with banners and bugles, and processions and drills. There is meeting after meeting, and the people have politics for breakfast, dinner and supper. He gives it as the opinion of well informed people who have traveled through the state that Indiana will give Harrison 10,000 to 25,000 majority.

Mr. Rawlings brought back a valuable memento of by-gone days in the shape of a cane, picked up by his brother on the battlefield of Shiloh, the day after the battle. The brother carried it with him, and even when captured and sent to Andersonville, kept the cane with him, and when he died along with thousands of others in that miserable pen, he sent the cane to his brother, who, now, nearly twenty-five years after, has given it to another brother on this far off Pacific coast.

Gone Back on the Colonel.

We owe no grudge to Colonel Hastings because he once cuffed our ears in the corridor of the town hall. We had proved him a liar, a swindler and an absconder, and he had to cuff to save his reputation. The colonel is now seeking the nomination for sheriff, and is promising, in case he is elected, to secure our town a government appropriation of $250,000 to build a public building. We are actuated only by the kindest motives when we say that the colonel is a blooming deceiver. He can no more secure a dollar from Uncle Sam than we can borrow one of the hinges from the gates of heaven. All the influence he has in this world of sin and sorrow is confined to the Red Hot saloon and its crowd of reprobates. Do not be deceived in the cast iron voice of the colonel.—Arizona Kicker.

A Youngster's Verdict.

A story told by colonel Ingersoll was of a little boy in Chicago who wanted to go out riding with his parents. They told him that they thought it was too warm for driving, and they did not think they would go. Accepting this statement for the truth, the little fellow gave up the idea of a ride and consented to take a nap, from which he was soon awakened by the closing of the front door and the sound of wheels at the gate. Creeping out of bed, he ran in his night dress to the front window just in time to see his mother and father drive away. With tears of disappointment he pointed to the rapidly disappearing carriage, and remarked: "There goes two of the biggest liars in Chicago."

LATEST IN LADIES HOSIERY.

A pretty fancy of the season is to have the foot and ankle of the stocking black as far up as it is supposed to be shown, even by accident, and the rest of the leg some light or bright tint, matching in color the prevailing hue of the costume worn—pink, purple, with green, terra cotta, pale blue, and even flesh color, the line of division being concealed by a band of embroidery, or the two colors being dovetailed together with serrated edges cut in deep vandyke points, the effect of which is very startling when some particularly disagreeable puddle threatens the dainty skirts and the wearer lifts them high out of danger, or when some especially venturesome little breeze tosses the flounces and frills aside an instant. Another new fancy in black is to have the upper part of the foot woven like lace, while underneath a scarlet, blue or gold lining is woven, gleaming through the lace meshes. For full evening dress, dainty cream white and tinted hose are shown in all known shades and hues to correspond with the dainty shoes and dresses worn, but none are so lacy and silky and beautiful as the bridal hose.

All the sweet girls fasten their stockings high above the knee as taut and tight as a ballet-girl her tights, out of sheer self-respect—a wrinkled stocking being the unmistakable evidence of a slattern in the code of girlhood. Some of them "make assurance doubly sure" by hitching the long silken stockings up over their shoulders by an arrangement of clasps and straps and buckles extending from the hem to the waist line, where a belt fastens and straps crossed behind go over the shoulders. Sometimes a strap breaks, a clasp slips or a buckle loosens, and then there is a panic, and flight is the only resource. Then there are jewel clasped silken garters displayed at the jewelers', costing $500 or $600. White enameled daisies, blue forget-me-nots, with diamond centres, diamond buckles of wrought gold, four leaved clovers in beaten gold and silver, black enameled flowers for mourning, and plain gold clasps with diamond initials. Sometimes these are worn simply for ornament below the knee, with the straps doing the real work above, and sometimes they really fasten the stocking in place by being strapped tight above the knee. They are very rich and artistic, but after all a really pretty leg is never so graceful as when covered by a thin silk stocking pulled up tight and fastened by the straps out of sight, the pretty curve below the knee unbroken by any band or buckle, however ornamented.—Ladies Journal.

CANNED SALMON FOR EUROPE.

The John McDonald sailed direct for Liverpool yesterday with the following lots of canned salmon:

Shippers.	Cases.	Value.
Field & Stone	25,000	$142,000
W. H. Rogers	1,569	8,983
K. C. Kent	2,000	12,000
Lowenthal, Livingstone & Co	1,000	6,000
Total	29,569	$168,983

The same vessel also took 8,524 cases canned fruit, valued at $35,145 and 44,276 ctls wheat, valued at $68,628, besides other cargo, the whole valued at $278,000. The canned salmon shipments hence to England since July 1st, are as follows:

Sailed	Vessel.	Cases.
July 13	Italy	24,857
July 18	Crown of Denmark	1,500
July 31	Falls of Clyde	16,474
Sept. 10	Pericles	3,000
Sept. 29	Wardale	60,110
Sept. 30	Melanope	[illegible]
October 18	John McDonald	29,569
Total		177,310

There are some other lots to go forward. Most of the above consignments were received from Alaska. Most of the surplus from Oregon for Europe is shipped direct from the Columbia river, while all the British Columbia salmon designed for Great Britain goes direct from Victoria.—S. F. Bulletin, 19.

Salmon Notes.

The fall run of salmon, says the Newport News, is pretty well over, and has been, to take the season through, rather below the average. The run at Siuslaw has also been light, while at Alsea it has been nearly or quite as good as usual.

The schooner W. L. Beebee, Capt. Mollested, which arrived yesterday from Kodiak after a passage of seventeen and a half days, brought 11,892 cases and 351 barrels of salmon for the Alaska Commercial company. On the passage the schooner encountered a heavy gale, during which she lost overboard [illegible] deck cargo.—Call, 19.

The schooner Queen, sixteen days from Klawak, Alaska, brought 12,000 cases salmon for R. A. Wilson. The steamer Bertha, Capt. Anderson, brought down from Kodiak 6,700 cases salmon, for the Karluk Packing company, making the passage, in spite of bad weather, in sixteen days.—S. F. Call, 19.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: [illegible] Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

[illegible] Middlewart, [illegible] Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was [illegible] Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. C. Dement's Drug Store.

WHOLESALE TIMBER SUITS.

James B. Montgomery, The Lumberman, Astonishes The Court With Nine Cases.

James B. Montgomery, through his attorney, James K. Kelly, brought nine distinct suits against the government this morning in the United States circuit court, to compel the government to issue to him patents to timber lands which were taken up in Cowlitz county, W. T., and afterwards transferred to plaintiff.

Some time ago a suit of the same nature was decided in favor of Montgomery in the above mentioned court, and established a precedent which actuated the plaintiff in bringing the suits. The land to which he desires a title was taken up under the timber act by the following named parties, at the dates respectively mentioned, with the number of acres entered by each: John Steffin, 160 acres, November 10, 1882; George M. Misner, 143 acres, March 17, 1883; James K. Misner, 120 acres, March 17, 1883; Allen A. Unckless, 120 acres, March 17, 1883; George W. Taylor, 160 acres, December 14, 1882, John Mangs, 160 acres, December 13, 1882; Charles H. Maman, 160 acres, December 13, 1882; Charles J. Carroll, 167 acres, November 10, 1882; and Allen B. Hastings, 160 acres, November 10, 1882.

In the aggregate there are 1,350 acres of land to be handled. The most of this land is taken up by poor men who cannot afford to bring suits by themselves for title in case land office officials decline to issue the patent, and their only relief, if they desire to realize the value of the land immediately, is to sell their right to someone who is able to fight the case.

Mr. Montgomery has bought the claims of dozens of settlers, and slowly but surely is getting several fingers in the pie. Apropos of taking up timber land, there is something of a craze now among a certain class of speculators to go down the Columbia and look over the records, find a piece of smuggled property and jump it.

They have to pay but $2.50 an acre for it; and one gentleman who made such a drive, informed a Telegram reporter that he had sold his claim for $1,600, netting him a profit of $1,200 for his trouble.—Portland Telegram, 20.

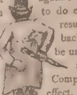
My Poor Back!



That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 24, 1888.

A TRUE HUMORIST.

EVERY one has read a little of R. J. Burdette's humor in the newspapers. It is true, genuine "humor,"' no cheap wit, or stinging sarcasm, or pointless punning, but that kind of hearty humor which brings tears to the eyes as well as laughter to the mind. Just now there is a paragraph going the rounds of the press to the effect that he has "turned preacher." Why, bless you brethren! he has been preaching for the last fifteen years; preaching the gospel of patience, sobriety, good intention, fulfillment of duty, good-natured fun, and his sermons have had most extensive circulation.

Should Bob Burdette go into the pulpit to-morrow and "preach," doubtless he would deliver good sermons chuck full of the religion of every day life, but we doubt if he would do as much good as he has done as a "humorist" with his hearty, cheery talk on paper, that has braced up many a poor devil and made him feel at least temporarily better.

Here is a little extract clipped from one of his articles in the current number of an eastern paper:

"How much does the fretful, restless, hurrying old world owe to the patient man who finds his strength 'in quietness and confidence'; who can be patient with our faults, our fancies, our wickedness; who can be quiet when the softest word would have a sting; who can wait for storms to blow over and for wrongs to right themselves; who can patiently and silently endure a slight until he has forgotten it; and who can even be patient with himself. That's the fellow, my boy, who tries my patience and strength more than any man else with whom I have to deal. I could get along with the rest of the world well enough if he were only out of it. I can meet all my other cares and enemies bravely and cheerfully enough. But when myself comes to me, with his heartaches and blunders and stumbling, with his own follies and troubles and sins, somehow he takes all the tuck out of me. My strength is weakness and my patience is folly when I come to deal with him. He tires me. He is such a fool. He makes the same stupid blunders in the same stupid way so many times. Sometimes when I think I must put up with him and his ways all my life, I want to give up. And then the next time he comes to me with his cares and the same old troubles, he seems so helpless and penitent that I feel sorry for him and try to be patient with, and promise to help him all I can once more. Ah, my dear boy, as you grow older that is the fellow that will try and torment you, and draw on your sympathy, and tax your patience and strength. Be patient with him, poor old fellow, because I think he does love you, and yet, as a rule, you are harder on him than on any one else."

Now, to our way of thinking there is about as much sense, pathos, philosophy, "preaching" and keen insight into human nature in the above excerpt, as is usually found in so many lines, and few can read the extract quoted without agreeing with its genial author, as to our need of charity and patience for our own dear selves.

EIGHTY cooks employed at the imperial palace, Constantinople, recently struck because the wages due them were not forthcoming, whereupon the whole crew was sent into exile for revolt. Now here is where a monarchial form of government comes in. In this "land of the free and the home of the brave" a summer resort cook, single-handed and alone, will strike about dinner time, and the proprietor, so far from attempting to exile him, falls prostrate before the mighty chef, pleads and entreats him to accept an increase of wages if he will only stay, and perhaps closes the scene by he himself going into the kitchen and standing guard over the sizzling steak. If any man has a right to feel that he is a free man in this country, that man is a hotel or restaurant cook, but over there—well, they just keep back wages due and then banish the poor cook in exile, probably to Siberia or elsewhere. American cooks cannot imagine how much they owe to the founders of this republic. This is a country wherein the world stands in awe of the cook, and in which the carving knife is mightier than the sword.

THE betting mania is increasing in violence; it is wrong to bet; it is bad to risk money—and lose it; but, somehow, when a fellow human is strutting high and making political prophecies and telling you all about it, and that you are dead wrong, it is a kind of satisfaction now and then to the average man to tell the blusterer that you have six bits, or maybe a dollar, that says he is mistaken.

"IS MARRIAGE A SUCCESS."

Two Replies to Inquiries by Bill Nye.

Several weeks ago, yielding to the impulse to do most anything I see others do, I prepared and sent out to quite a large number of people a set of questions bearing upon a popular subject and begging a prompt reply.

I wrote the following note for inclosure with the questions:

NEW YORK, Oct. 1, 1888.

"Dear Sir, or Madam, according to circumstances:

"I beg leave to inclose a brief list of questions which relate to matters of great interest both to yourself and the public. Feeling most earnestly the importance of these matters and that the public might be greatly benefitted by their discussion through the columns of the press, I have resolved to prepare this style of home treatment, or treatment by mail, as it might be called, rather than to hazard a call upon you with the hope of a personal interview while you might be otherwise engaged.

"I hope you will give these questions early consideration and not treat them in a light, airy or flippant manner. Write only on one side of each question, spell in a free, off-hand manner, and write with bluing or tincture of maple bark, both of these colors are so restful to the eye. Should you use homemade ink, please cut air-holes in the envelope and wire me in time so that I can meet the letter at the depot accompanied by pall-bearers.

"Make each answer plain and succinct. Make it succinct anyway. Use your own style of thought, and if it helps you any to rest your tongue on the table while you write, please do so.

"Inclosed I beg leave to hand post-paid envelopes addressed to myself, which I regard as a delicate tribute to your sterling merit and the value I place upon your opinions.

"We hope to have your answers in by the 10th, at least. Yours truly —

"The questions are as follows:

"1. Is marriage in your case a failure?

"2. If so, to what do you attribute it?

"3. What would you suggest as a remedy for the present outlook?

"4. Is your companion a good roadster?

"5. Do you believe, that in your own case, your union was sanctioned by God or did you run away and get married?

"6. Did you ever try the 'Want' columns of the press as a gentle stimulant, and if so, will you state in your own language how it resulted?

"7. Do you keep help?"

These questions were mailed in duplicate to upwards of two hundred people whose names very likely never before appeared in print. I only give a sample or two, but others are on hand and still more are coming in on delayed trains. Should the public seem to take an interest in the matter I may use some more of these letters in the future.

Mr. Gurley T. Gurl, of Perth Amboy, writes:

"DEAR SIR: Your kind note was awaiting me on my return last evening. I hasten to reply.

"1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. Of marriage I cannot say too much. I was only a floating particle in the great universe until I was wooed and won by her who sits by my side as I pen these lines. I was only a sliver from the great woodpile of creation. I was so aimless, so empty, so hungry for the love of some one who had nothing else to do. I would suggest as a remedy for present conditions, more marriage and less toil. We are too apt to give up our lives to industry, which makes people coarse and generally takes up their time. Marriage is really what we are here for. Marriage ennobles man and is certainly a great boom. My companion is one of the loveliest women on earth. She is also accomplished to beat anything I ever saw. She can hold a conversation with herself in seven different languages, and plays the 'Maiden's Prayer' so that people readily know what it is. I am sure that our union was sanctioned in the way you suggest, though I never use profane language myself. I did not try the 'want' column. I went to the seaside. We do not keep help. We board. At least I think so. We were only married yesterday. If you print this I wish you would say that my wife is a perfect lady and accomplished to a high degree. Also send me eight papers."

Mrs. Shirley Bridington, of West St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"1. I do not regard marriage in my own case as a glittering success. It certainly lacks many of the elements of success. People who envy me my lot would not do so if they had to pay taxes on it.

"2. I attribute the failure of our marriage largely to the personale of a party named La Fayette Birdington, who married me has resided in his club ever since. La Fayette Birdington labors under the delusion that he is a popular favorite and that when he married me he kind of let himself down several notches. He has often said to me that he made a mistake and that his life had been thus wrecked. I told him that I knew he was a wreck, but if I thought I had any hand in it I would be ashamed of myself.

"Mr. Birdington loves to dwell on himself. About the only real pleasure I have in conversing with him consists in drawing him out and getting him to indorse himself. He has always had large bunions on his egotism where it chafed against what he really is.

"I attribute the failure of our marriage to this feature. Mr. Birdington considers me a social clog and seems to regard me mostly in the light of a boarding house keeper who does not have to be paid. He comes home to change his socks, clean his teeth and take his bath. One time he was ill with gastric disturbance brought on by high living at his club. He had to remain at home two weeks, but living on the plain diet I am accustomed to so brought back the flush of health to his wan cheek.

"I could not suggest anything as a remedy in our case unless it would be the arrival at my door of an express wagon conveying the trunk of Mr. Birdington this afternoon and another wagon to morrow with his limbs. Some will say that I am hasty, perhaps, and unjust, but if I'm going to be a widow all my life, in fact, I'd like to have the credit of it. Mr. Birdington has the name of being genial, but at home he swears at me and dares me to lay a hand on him. I've seen enough of his career to know that he is afraid of a man, but he knows he can bluff me, so he overworks his genial disposition among the boys and then sasses me all the time he is at home.

"One time a burglar got into the house and I woke LaFayette up to tell him about it. He got up and went into the attic, where he remained until the burglar went away. Then he came back and accused me of dividing the change in his pockets with the burglar.

"The other questions have nothing to do with my case."—Bill Nye.

C. J. Greger was arrested on a telegraphic warrant by constable Smith last evening, charged with obtaining goods and money under false pretences. He is thought to be the wrong man

There are 137,138 bushels of wheat stored at McMinnville, worth 74 cents a bushel, or $101,422.12. A railroad from the Willamette valley to Astoria would send that and many a million more whirling down to a deep sea port where the wheat is worth a dollar a bushel, aboard.

Gambling instruments seized by process of law were burned in the public streets of Tacoma last Friday afternoon, in the presence of the officers of the court and a large number of citizens. They consisted of a roulette table, a poker table, a card box, tallying board, a number of dice boxes and dice, a half-bushel of chips, a roulette wheel, two cardboard signs and a folding faro board and a number of other devices for gambling.

Information has been received at San Francisco from British Columbia that Chinese are not only crossing the border into Washington territory, but that another favorite line has been adopted. The plan is to run the Chinese northward from Vancouver into Alaska, and find them employment in the canneries and mines, when they will go to San Francisco on the regular steamers or sailing vessels that come down occasionally from the north. This scheme is to be run on an extensive scale next spring

FLOUR MILL BURNED.

GILROY, Cal., Oct. 23.—The flour mill of the Central Milling Co. was destroyed by fire early this morning. A number of adjoining buildings were damaged. The loss to the milling company is $16,00; well insured

A HOTEL BURNED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct, 23.—The Southern hotel, at Newhall, was burned to the ground this morning. The loss is about $30,000. The fire was caused by a defective flue.

A GREAT DISASTER.

ROME, Oct. 23.—The official report of the railway disaster near Potenza limits the number of killed to nineteen and the number injured to fifty-five.

A BIG TRANSFER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—H. B. Hollins states that the price paid to the Georgia Central railroad by the Richmond Terminal to be $8,000,000.

A WISE PRECAUTION.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 23.—The public schools closed yesterday on account of the prevalence of diphtheria.

TO ARRANGE RATES.

ST. LOUIS, Oct.—The Colorado and Utah association of passenger department is in session in this city for the purpose of endeavoring to restore rates in the territory west of the Missouri river. All the roads in the association were represented. It is thought that an amicable agreement will be reached.

THE NEWMARKET.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—At the Newmarket-Houghton meeting, the Cambridgeshire stakes were won by Veracity, Cacktus second, Bismarck third.

NOAH IS SORRY.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Oct. 23.—Noah Jagol last evening fatally shot Ella Green, to whom he was engaged to be married. He claims that it was accidental. From the fact that he tried to stab her some time ago and has been quarreling with her about receiving other company, he is suspected of doing the shooting with intent to kill.

CORRECT ACTION.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 23—The district attorney, shortly after midnight, issued warrants for the arrest of Henry Cook and Thomas Major, engineers; John Mulhearn and Joseph Pohl, lookouts; James Hannigan, flagman; Chas. Terry and Joseph Keith, line conductors, charging them with gross negligence and willful misconduct, which resulted in the killing and injuring of many persons in the Mud Run disaster on the Lehigh Valley road.

BIG FREIGHT ROBBERY.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, October 23.—A wholesale system of freight robbery has been discovered on the Mexican Central railroad. It is believed that the loss to the company will be in the neighborhood of $50,000. At Guanajuato there are three conductors and one brakeman in jail, wherein they were placed yesterday, and the former agent of the company named Smith, who is at Jimutoo, has also been arrested. All are Americans. They are accused of defrauding the company. Developments are already in progress showing that an extensive system of stealing has been carried on for the past two years, and by its exposure twenty or thirty more employes are likely to be arrested.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

At the Theater

There was a good play and a poor audience at the theater last evening. Not an unusual combination, though it is singular that a good troupe, such as the Nellie Boyd company is should not be better patronized. Last night Inigo Tyrrell, as "Jimmy," Jas. McKee, as "Pat," and C. C. Maubury, as "Harold Merrybright," gave capital characterizations of the parts they assumed. The play was well put on the stage, and deserved a larger audience. To-night the company appear in "Passion's Slave."

Said a mild-tempered man in our hearing. "She snaps and snarls, spanks her children, and finds fault continually. I can't bear it any longer. Don't be too severe on her my friend; you little realize her sufferings. She has lost her former sweet disposition, and ill health is the cause. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make her well. NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair Splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow [illegible]. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, —sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

"You are the fifth person that has asked for money for that church within three hours. When was it damaged by a cyclone?"

"A spell ago."

"I rode by it yesterday and it appeared all right."

"Yes, sah, it ar' all right now"

"Then what do you want of more money?"

"We ar' expectin' anoder cyclone in de fall, sah, an' its gwine ter be a hustler an' blow de spire cl'ar off. Ize collectin' agin it, sah, so we kin make quick repa'rs."

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS.

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J.W. Conn, Druggist.

To keep a hog in proper condition it is estimated that it takes about 1½ per cent in corn of the live weight of a pig of 100 pounds, and 2½ per cent of the whole weight of a hog of 250 pounds.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE

Professor Arnold says "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

A PATHETIC BORDER FUNERAL.

It was a touching sight to see how the boys stood around the dead body of Briggs and endeavored to hide their emotion and failed. The tears ran down the face of Arkansaw Bob like rain off the gable end of a corn-crib, and Ted Williams and Jim Henderson and several more bowed their heads, while their forms shook with sobs they would not allow to escape. The boys dug a grave on the banks of the Brazos river, and that night as the clouds drifted away and the moonlight fell upon the snow-covered ground and sparkled the ice laden limbs of the forest trees, we laid poor Briggs down in his narrow resting place. The only requiem that was sung was the roar of the turbid Brazos as it surged along on its way to the sea—a mass sung by nature. When the grave had been filled Jim Henderson said: "I think we ought to have some kind of service. It ain't right, by a darn sight, to go away without sayin' somethin' over the grave—any you fellows got a Bible?" No one had a Bible, nor had any one seen one in a number of years. "Well, suppose some one says a sort of prayer?" The boys scratched their heads, glanced at one another for a moment, and then looked away off into the woods. Finally some one whispered, "Sish! Arkansaw Bob's goin' to pray," and he did.

"O Lord," he said, "I guess in your opinion I'm pretty tough, but I ain't askin' nuthin for myself—its for Briggs. He is dead now, but was as white a man as ever walked. He never did no man a hurt, and he had a heart in him as big as a mule, and no one as I've heard ever said a word agin him. I don't know as what I say will have much influence, but Briggs stood well with us down here, and although I don't know much about his career, or his history, or his family, he was a man you could bank on every clatter. He gave a sick Mexican $4.50 once for medicine, and then turned right round and nursed him through a fever, but the infernal Greaser hadn't been well more'n two days before he stole Briggs' saddlebags. Ah! Lord, there ain't any preacher nowhere 'round here, or we'd had him to say something more p'inted to you than I can say it. I never pottered any with the Bible, and can't just now remember a hymn song, but I'm a man of my word—I mean what I say—and Briggs, if he gets a chance, will make as good a record in heaven as any one who ever got there. He had away down in his heart, something that was square and as true as steel, and, O Lord! you musn't go back on that kind of a man, 'cause they're too skeerce in these parts. Amen."

The prayer was as rough as Bob, but no more sincere, as was evidenced by his tearful eye and trembling lip. After the prayer the boys ranged themselves on one side of the grave, and, drawing their six-shooters, fired a salute over their dead comrade, and while the sharp reports were still echoing through the forest they turned and left the scene.

Sore Throat

Is particularly favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning, and use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subdues the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a gargle.

A Few Figures.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Joel Erhardt, the Republican candidate for mayor of New York, spent two hours at his headquarters figuring on the election. These are his deductions:

At the election of 1886 for mayor the vote was as follows: Hewitt, 90,552; George, 68,110; Roosevelt, 60,435. Total, 219,097.

The vote of the Republican candidate on the state ticket, Daniels vs. Peckham, for the court of appeals in 1886 was 78,986, showing that 18,551 Republicans voted for Hewitt fearing the election of George, to show that Roosevelt would have been elected if he had received the full Republican vote. Deduct from Hewitt's vote 18,551 for the Republican votes he received and add them to Roosevelt, it would have resulted as follows: United Democratic vote for Hewitt, 72,001; Labor vote for George, 68,110; Republican vote, if it all had been polled, for Roosevelt, 78,986. Total, 219,097. The Republican plurality would have been 6985.

Add to the vote of 1886 for additional registration this year, 18 per cent, the vote would stand as follows, dividing the increase and gains between each party proportionately: County Democracy, Labor and Tammany, 165,330; Republican, 93,204; total, 258,534. Estimate the division of this vote as follows: Coogan, 30,000; Hewitt, 45 per cent, of the balance 60,898; Grant 55 per cent, of the balance, 74,432; Erhardt, 93,504; total, 258,534. On this basis Erhardt would have a plurality of 18,772.

In addition to this Erhardt thinks 20,000 votes may be relied upon from independent Democrats and laborers, who are utterly opposed to the rule of Tammany hall.

A couple spent their honeymoon at Bar Harbor. They met first on a steamer on the Atlantic ocean; he proposed in Sweden; was accepted in Russia; obtained her father's permission in England; the marriage settlements were drawn up in this country; they were married in Algiers, and goodness knows where they are now and will be to-morrow

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Acker's English Blood Elixir has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee by J. W. Never give the horse as much work as he can possibly perform, unless you wish him to wear out young.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.

More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

The Greatest Power.

Journalism, as a profession, is a creation of the last half century; as a great profession, it is no older than the telegraph. But to-day it is the supreme power of the world. Fifty years ago the orators ruled America; to-day it is ruled by the editors. This sway will become far more absolute than any of us can realize. See what has already been done. We have put a newspaper into the hands of every man who can read in the United States. For a mere trifle the news of the whole world is spread out before him day after day. Can any other human agency do as much? What is the ambition of the orator now? Not to make his speeches but to get them published. Mr. Conkling and Mr. Evarts cared very little for the audiences their voices reached, for behind the few people there they beheld the millions of readers of the daily press.

NOWADAYS, whenever the Chicago policemen need a little exercise, they go out and club a mob. The mob seems to enjoy it.

IF a statesman wants to get a letter published expeditiously and extensively nowadays, all he has to do is to mark it "private."

TAKING the run of recent railroad accidents, the general moral seems to be that some engineers need more sleep and less liquor.

FROM every city this year comes the news of an unprecedentedly heavy registration. People are wonderfully interested in the election.

FLORIDA physicians make the announcement that red-headed girls do not have the yellow fever. Score one for the sworn enemies of all white horses!

THE American girl who marries a foreign title becomes a lesser light in the nobility, but the girl who marries a good American husband becomes the queen of a sovereign citizen.

IN Europe they don't estimate the strength of their alliances by the number of royal kisses, and in this country the people refuse to judge a candidate's majority by the number of his promises of office.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY RIDDLE, of Washington, has made a remarkable record for the past year. His office has tried 8,430 cases, with 7,770 convictions. We doubt if this showing can be paralleled.

IN the third district of Louisiana the Democratic candidate is Gay and the Republican candidate Jolly. It depends on November whether or not Mr. Gay will be sad or Mr. Jolly will be solemn. In either case, he will laugh best who laughs last.

ACCORDING to the Methodist Times, the Methodist churches have 25,000,000 adherents throughout the world. It adds that its returns are "unusually exact." What a great constituency this represents! The growth of Methodism is one of the marvels of the ages.

RAILROAD officials cause their own unpopularity. In disasters their insolent refusal to give any news either to the people or to the newspaper, is a cruelty for which there is not the slightest excuse. If it were not for the work of the reporters, half of the accidents would never be heard of by the public.

THE pay toll of the Democratic officeholders in Brooklyn foots up $2,606,580 a year. All these employes have been assessed three per cent. This means an addition of nearly $80,000 to the Democratic campaign fund. As chairman Brice observed several weeks ago, "This is to be a campaign of intellect."

THAT must be a remarkably fresh young secretary of state that Canada has. His name is Chaplan. He made a speech Thursday night, and in it he said that while he did not desire to disparage the United States, he would say that, if they were to annex themselves with Canada, it would do them good. Doubtless the Hon. Mr. Chaplan is trying to become a humorist.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Northwestern Railroader advances a curious theory for the increasing prevalence of floods and rainstorms. He says there are over 30,000 locomotives in use in North America, and estimates from them alone over fifty-three billion cubic yards of vapor are sent into the atmosphere every week, to be returned in the form of rain, or over seven billion cubic yards a day—"quite enough," he says "to produce a good rainfall" every twenty-four hours. Estimating the number of other non-condensing engines in use as eight times the number of locomotives, the total vapor thus projected into the air every week in this country amounts to over four hundred and seventy billions cubic yards. "Is this not," he asks, "sufficient for the floods of terror? Is there any reason to wonder why our storms are so damaging?"

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. This afternoon a full rigged, three-masted ship was capsized by the wind in Buttermilk channel. The vessel overturned on a tug which was passing, and the tug and the vessel sank together. The tug appeared from the Battery to be on fire. The ship carried no ballast, which caused her to capsize so easily. It is not known at present whether or not any lives were lost.

GOING TO NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The President will leave Washington Thursday evening, and after viewing the business men's parade in New York on Saturday will return to Washington.

THE AGENTS' MEETING.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—The general passenger agents, interested in New Orleans traffic, met to-day to consider a project for resuming through steamers between Liverpool and New Orleans, with a view to building up direct immigrant traffic.

ANOTHER FEVER, NOT SO DEADLY

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 24.—The rigid quarantine heretofore existing in the state has seriously interfered with the political campaign in Florida, but now that the fever is abating, more activity is noticeable, especially among the Democrats, who are preparing to make a vigorous canvass.

The Republicans, however, except in the second district which will be very close, are making no effort and no systematic campaign has been inaugurated.

FINANCIALLY EMBARRASSED.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—There are about $450,000 belonging to the city deposited in half a dozen banks, but the bondsmen of Axworthy, the defaulting treasurer, have attached it, and the result is the city is bankrupt. Kaufman Hayes, a member of the council, has been placed in charge of the office at present. There is only $8,000 in the city vaults. When that is paid out the treasurer's office will be closed for financial repairs.

WHERE IS AXWORTHY.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Cleveland detectives arrived here this morning in search of Thos. Axworthy, the absconding city treasurer of Cleveland. Axworthy arrived here on the night of the 30th of September from New York and registered under his proper name at the St Lawrence Hall. He left on the 2nd inst., it is believed, by the western Canadian Pacific train. While here he consulted Geoffrion, Q. C., who informed him that his offence was extraditable. He appeared to be laboring under great mental agony. He drank heavily while here.

FIERCE FOREST FIRE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Forest fires are raging in the three counties surrounding San Francisco. In Santa Cruz miles of trees have been destroyed, and fires are so rapidly covering the country that considerable alarm is felt that they will extend to farm property. The fire broke out in a stretch of trees back of San Rafael, Marin county, and is fiercely burning. Men are out fighting the flames and will probably extinguish them this afternoon. A destructive fire is raging in the hills five miles northeast of Haywards, in Alameda county. The whole country is alarmed and is out doing battle against the fire. If the wind continues to blow a repetition of last year's disastrous conflagration is not at all unlikely.

A VERY DRY COUNTRY

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Oct. 24.—It is claimed by those who have been in the woods for the last twenty-five years that there never was a time known when the woods were so dry as they are now. One man says that swamps which often hold from two to five feet of water are dry three feet under the ground, and they are really alarmed for fear of fire getting started, in which event it would be almost impossible to save anything in the way of camps, mills, lumber or logs that are cut down. Every effort will be made to keep the fire from getting a start.

THE QUEEN'S MAIDS OF HONOR

NEW YORK, Oct 24.—The maids of honor to the queen, to whom the late lord Sackville left £50,000, are Harriet Phypps, Frances Drummond, Evelyn Paget, Ethel Cadogan, Evelyn Moore, Rosa Hood and Mary Adene. Each maid will get £10,000. A lot of guessing is being done as to what induced lord Sackville to make so queer an addition to the list of queer English wills. It is surmised that he was deeply indebted to some one of the maids of honor, but to whom he did not wish to call special attention. He therefore hit upon the plan of making them all rich.

Lord Sackville had quarreled with his elder brother, earl Delaware, about the possession of Knole park, in Kent, and in the course of the quarrel got out with his whole family. Knole park and estate, worth $10,000 a year, now goes to Sir. Sackville West.

MARRIED

In Yankton, Dakota, territory, Oct. 10, 1888, Mrs. Mary E. Chappell, formerly of Astoria, to Leander Lane, of Yankton, D. T.

WHAT THE LITTLE FOLKS SAY.

"O ma!" cried little Lil, bursting into tears, "Johnnie took 5 cents out of my bank." "What made you take your sister's 5 cents, you naughty boy?" said Mrs. Brown to her young hopeful. "Because," replied Johnnie, "I couldn't get the quarter out."—N. Y. Sun.

My fair-haired 3-year-old Emily said to me yesterday. "Look, papa, that naughty boy playing with dirty dirt in the gutter." "Dirty dirt?" I said. "Did you ever hear of clean dirt?" The answer came swiftly. "Well, ain't the sand down Pony Island (Coney Island) clean dirt?"—N. Y. World.

Consolation—"I wouldn't cry, little boy," said a kind old gentleman, consolingly; "you may be unhappy for the moment, but it will soon pass away. You wouldn't expect me to cry, would you, every time I'm a little unhappy?" "No, sir," responded the tearful little lad; "you'd prob'ly go an' get a drink."—Life.

A correspondent tells the following "I have a brother—a wee chap—who sometimes says things very odd. One day, as he was disposing of some bread and milk, he turned around to his mother and said: 'Oh, mother, I'm full of glory! There was a sunbeam on my spoon, and I swallowed it.'"—Chicago Journal.

Fearing the Worst—Sammy (who is never allowed to stay out of school)—Howdie Hurlbut didn't come to school all day. Mamma—Why not? Sammy—'Cause his mother died. When you die may I stay home all day? Mamma—Yes, darling; you may stay out a whole week then. Sammy (suspiciously)—Oh, I know; you mean to die in vacation.—Life.

Little Billy, who was about four years old, after waiting for his lunch a good while with commendable patience, said: "Mamma, may I have some sardines and bread?" To which the fond mother replied: "Not now, Billy. Wait until I am ready to give them to you." "But, ma, it's me who's hungry, not you." and the poor little fellow's eyes filled with tears.

"Ma," remonstrated Bobby, "when I was at grandma's she let me have two pieces of pie." "Well, she ought not to have done so, Bobby," said his mother. "I think two pieces of pie are too much for little boys. The older you grow, Bobby, the more wisdom you will gain." Bobby was silenced, but only for a moment. "Well, ma," he said, "grandma is a good deal older than you are."

A minister was questioning his Sunday school about the story of Eutychus, the young man who, while listening to the preaching of the Apostle Paul, fell asleep, and falling down was taken up dead. "What," said the preacher, "do you learn from this solemn event?" Then the reply from a little girl came pat and prompt: "Please, sir, ministers should learn not to preach too long sermons."

Two Examples—The Kindergarten—Teacher—Now, children, anything that crawls along the ground instead of walking is called a reptile. Can you give me an example of a reptile? Ina—A worm. Teacher—Yes; that will do. Can any one give me another example? (Long silence. Finally Peggy Bright speaks up)—I can, teacher. Teacher—Well, Peggy, what is it? Peggy Bright (triumphantly)—'Nother worm.—Boston Beacon.

An east side mamma gave her little boy a couple of doughnuts the other day telling him to divide with his sister. A few moments later the little sister came in crying as if her heart would break, and when asked what was the matter she sobbingly explained: "Bobby comed out wif the donu's, and said for me to wait till he had eaten the outside an' he would give me the holes. Then he lost the holes an' I didn't have any."—Milwaukee Sun.

The annual stove-pipe joke is due.

A detail from the city prison are cleaning the streets.

There is a long list of vessels on the way to the Columbia.

The State arrived in at noon yesterday. The Oregon sailed at 2:30 P. M.

The total taxable property of the county, as equalized by the county court, is $2,504,041.

A good many Astorians will go to Portland next week to hear Emma Abbott and her English opera company.

Hon. J. N. Dolph will have a reception at the Tabernacle in Portland to-morrow night.

Herman Lurkenson, who had been before justice May the day previous, was yesterday released on a writ of habeas corpus.

The Aberdeen Herald has entered upon its third volume. It is a good reliable local paper, carefully edited and deservedly prosperous.

Mr. C. C. Utzinger, of upper Astoria, was happy yesterday over the arrival of a twelve-pound boy at his house; mother and child doing well.

More fish are being caught at Cosmopolis, Gray's harbor, than the cannery there can take care of, says a correspondent of the Aberdeen Herald.

There is considerable activity around the O. R. & N. dock. There are about 150 men employed there at present handling wheat beside the regular force.

Deputy sheriff FitzSimmons came down yesterday from Portland and took charge of C. J. Greger, who is "wanted" in Portland to answer the charge of forging a check for $75 on the First National bank of that city.

Judge Shattuck decides at Portland that a horse-race wager is an illegal contract, because against public policy, and that the bettor is entitled to his money if he demands its return before it is paid to the winner; after that he has no remedy.

C. H. Sackett, residing on Main street, was yesterday evening seized with so strong a mental dementia that it was nesessary to restrain him by means of a straight jacket. The case is a peculiarly distressful one, he being apparently insan.

The Aberdeen Herald learns from a reliable source that regardless of the fact that more fish are being caught than can possibly by used at the canneries, some of the traps are allowed to run and from a single trap, up the Chehalis, over 2,000 fish have been wasted.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. is going to furnish election bulletins of the coming presidential election. These, together with the specials arranged for by THE ASTORIAN, will give residents of the city and county the latest as to the result of the great national struggle.

The Tacoma News says that Harry Morgan, who runs a dive in that city, deposits $500 profit in the bank every day. And yet we wonder at the increase of crime. The News says Morgan "ought to be in better business." So he ought; but Morgan probably wonders what's the matter with $500 a day for "business."

Wm. Johnson expects to finish loading the Jason and Argo to-day. The former will carry about 2,100 tons of wheat, the latter about 2,300. The Hesperides will finish with about 420 tons. The Bessfield and Highlands will also finish this week. The Benj.Sewell is about through lightering, and will go up stream to-day.

It is officially announced that all difficulties with the Cœur d'Alene Indians about the right of way of the Oregon Railway & Navigation railroad to cross the reservation have been settled, and such right of way granted. Two thousand men will immediately be put to work to complete the road at once, and the line will reach Spokane Falls by early spring. That's business.

Col. G. H. Mendell, president of the board of engineers appointed by the secretary of war to examine into the advisability and best methods of securing transportation around The Dalles, will be in Portland to-morrow to examine plans which have been prepared by majors Jones and Handbury. The work to be inspected includes plans for a canal, portage railway and boat railway. The board of which colonel Mendell is president will meet in Washington in November and December. Its report will be acted on by congress.

Seattle comes to the front, says the News, with the most peculiar campaign wager that we have heard of. A young couple of that place who have decided to wed at some indefinite period, take opposite views of the political question, and make the following wager: If Cleveland is re-elected, the wedding will be celebrated on the 4th of March next, the day the president takes his seat, but if the Republican candidate is elected they will not be married until March 4th, the year following. This seems to be one of those bets where you win if you lose.

A bride and groom arrived at the depot in Albina last Tuesday for the purpose of taking the train to Gervais. The bride boarded the train, while the groom stood, gripsack in hand, watching the up train. The down train started toward the car shops, and had proceeded several rods, when the bride rushed to the brakeman at the rear and exclaimed: "Oh, stop the train! That's my husband, and we have only been married about twenty minutes!" The brakeman looked up the track and saw a man running toward it, took pity on the bride, pulled the bell-rope and stopped the train.

One of the finest pieces of work ever seen in this port is an exact model of the British ship Argo, on board that vessel. It is a marvel of ingenuity and is complete in every detail. Hundreds have seen it, and all pronounce it perfect. It is drawn to a scale and is an excellent reproduction in miniature of that vessel. The galley, the lamp in the captain's cabin, the yards, the hull of the vessel and everything connected with it is as exact as a thing can be. The Australian commissioners wanted it for the Melbourne exposition, but the captain is going to take it to England and show it at the Glasgow exposition.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. C. Masten, the next sheriff of Wahkiakum county, was in the city yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred. Ferchen and daughter went on the Oregon yesterday to visit friends in California.

A Card From Wahkiakum County.

SKAMOKAWA, Oct. 23rd, 1888.

EDITOR ASTORIAN:

In looking over the columns of the Pioneer I see that a large number of the most prominent citizens of Skamokawa met at that place and nominated a ticket to be known as the "People's Ticket." In order not to deceive the voters of Wahkiakum county perhaps it may be as well to state in THE ASTORIAN that the large number of prominent citizens consisted solely of Mr. S. F. Alberts, who was defeated in the Republican convention for sheriff, by a vote of two to one, and was also rejected by the Democratic convention. The other very prominent citizen was Mr. E. D. Brooks, who was badly defeated for assessor before the Democratic convention. Both these very prominent citizens seem to have a divine inspiration that the people must have them, hence the origin of this ticket.

REPUBLICAN.

DON'T BE FOOLED.

Keep Your Money For Home Circulation.

THE ASTORIAN reiterates its former advice: keep your money at home and don't be deluded by promises or representations of those who want your money for almost nothing. The post office is daily filled with circulars from eastern firms offering everything in the way of jewelry, clothing, etc, at what seems to be cheap prices.

We have talked about this so much that it is probably tiresome to some of our readers. Thousands of dollars are sent away every week for goods that are either not needed, or are bought because people living here think they can get them cheaper than from Astoria stores, and then, when they are swindled, Lord! how they kick!!

Astoria business men pay taxes, rents, help to keep things going and sell at a very low per cent of profit; if what they sell isn't satisfactory they are here to make it right, and if one doesn't suit, his competitor in business will try to do better.

When you buy from a far away establishment you send good money away, take your chances on getting anything like what you order, pay very high express or freight charges, and if you are fooled it serves you about right.

And three-thirds of the time the goods can be had just as cheap from our own people who are trying to build up a business at home.

Here is a case in point: Last week a lady was showing at the house of a friend, an article of ladies' apparel, "And just think," said she, "I only paid $4 for it. I bought it in Chicago, you know."

The lady of the house looked at it very attentively, went to her wardrobe, and brought out an exact fac simile of the garment; one like it in every respect, cut, texture and style. "I bought this," said she, "at Cooper's. Mr. Ryrie charged me $3.50 for it."

Further inquiry showed that the purchaser of the wonderful Chicago cheap bargain had paid 72 cents postage. Counting her time, writing letter, postage on same, etc., at 28 cents more, here was $5 she spent—in Chicago—for what she could have had for $3.50 at home.

The money was sent away; was lost to this community just the same as if she had flung it in the river, and every time she wears that garment it makes her mad—it would make any woman mad—to think that she fooled her good money away without having a chance to examine what she was buying.

And those New York and Chicago and San Francisco folks don't trust: they don't give credit; bless you, no: when you want credit you can go to the Astoria merchants and stand them off; if you buy from abroad send the money order or the postal note, or the draft with the order and don't you forget it; if you do forget it, no goods, unless, maybe, as a special favor, they come C. O. D., and you pay for sending the coin back by express.

There is no form of drain so injurious to our local prosperity as this habit of biting at every little bait and sending money away that would better be kept at home.

Having written thus far on this popular mistake, the article was closed, when a subscriber from a postoffice about fifteen miles from here who was in to renew his subscription, said: "I wish you'd put in a few lines warning people against a couple of slick fellows who are now on Young's river. They've been at Chadwell, on Clatsop plains, at Skipanon and elsewhere, selling goods and got into several of us. They have sold one of my neighbors and I $150 worth. That is, we paid them $150, and they told us we'd have to pay $300 for the same goods in Astoria, but, when we got what they sent, we reckoned that $90 would be a big price to pay for them anywhere."

Here is the same thing in another shape. A couple of irresponsible, here-to-day-and-gone-to-morrow-fellows going through the country gulling any one foolish enough to buy from them.

It is the same thing, in whatever shape it comes, whether in a circular from an eastern clothing or fancy goods house, or a plausible, smooth talking agent who goes around getting orders for the goods to be sent.

Every dollar so sent away is lost; its value is not received, and those who do so send their money away are doing all they can to keep the community poor and drained of ready money. A city or county that adopts such a course will be poor so long as so silly a practice is kept up.

We send away for a great deal that it seems must be sent for. Butter, eggs, fish, meat, canned goods, nearly everything we eat or wear is bought from the east or California, to the constant surprise of all who stop to give it a moment's thought, but the crowning mistake of all appears to the writer the mania, for it is nothing else, of sending money away for gewgaws and gimcracks and things that are not really wanted, but are bought only because they seem to be cheap, when, as a matter of fact, the same stuff can be bought from our local merchants for the same money.

There's one thing that doesn't seem to be generally understood; it is this: a thing that you don't need is not cheap at any price; if you need a mowing machine or a mousetrap, you should get the best, regardless of what it costs; if you have use for a gold watch or a silk umbrella, you ought to get one. But the man in Chicago who offers you a gold watch for $11.50 or a silk umbrella for $1.39 is simply betting that his customers are easily duped—with the odds in his favor.

Some one says that the chief difference between a man and a woman is that a man will give 25 cents for a 15-cent article that he does want, and a woman will give 15 cents for a 25-cent article that she doesn't want. There's something in it, though the men are usually just as eager as the women to buy something they have no earthly use for just because it's "cheap."

Some Betting Propositions.

This morning a New Yorker named Thomas P. Sheridan got into a political discussion with several Democrats in one of the prominent hotels. The talk became louder and more excited as time passed on till about fifteen prominent followers of Cleveland were combating Mr. Sheridan, who has an abiding faith in the success of the Republican colors.

Suddenly Mr. Sheridan quietly arose from his chair and in a quiet manner, drew a pocket book from inside of his coat, saying: "Gentlemen, talk is cheap. I have $15,000 in this book, all of which I'll bet that Indiana and all the Pacific states will go for Harrison and Morton. Then I'll bet $10,000 to $8,000 that we'll carry New York by 25,000 majority."

The crowd did not bite, and Mr. Sheridan returned his pocket book.—Portland Telegram, 23.

The Crows Are on The Warpath.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Standing Rock agency says it is reported that 200 Crow warriors have taken the warpath against the Sioux. It is not known what the cause is, but a troop of cavalry and some Indian police have been sent out to investigate.

Fatally Injured by Giant Powder.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Oct. 23.—While W. Burnes was preparing primers for priming in the Savage mine this evening, a box of giant caps exploded, frightfully wounding him in the abdomen and breast. His injuries are probably fatal.

Butler Has Not Paid His Taxes.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Gen. B. F. Butler's name has been dropped from the voting lists at Lowell. One of the registrars said that he had not yet paid his taxes for 1887. It is quite possible Butler will not be allowed to vote this year.

Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The president came into the city from Oakview to-day to attend a cabinet meeting. The members present were secretary Endicott, attorney general Garland and postmaster general Dickinson.

The Sioux Chiefs Returning.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 23.—Sitting Bull, John Grass, Gall and other Sioux chiefs, have arrived in this city, on the way to Standing Rock agency, from Washington.

Registration in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—To-day was the third and last day of registration in Brooklyn. Total registration for three days, 156,385. Total registration of 1884 was 130,090.

For Illegal Registration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. George Gordan, a tramp, who had registered illegally, was sentenced to Sing Sing for two years and a half.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Registration at Boston.

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. Value of Good Habits.

It may take a moment more to lay a tool up carefully after using it, but the time is more than equalized when you want to use it again; so it is time saved. Habits, either good or bad, go along in their influence on men's lives, and it is far better to establish and firmly maintain a good habit, even though that habit has no special bearing on the moral character; yet all habits have their influence.—Oil City, Penn., Blizzard.

A retired St. Louis jeweler says that there is as much profit in the repairing department of watch-making as there is in plumbing.

Dakota has 4,490 miles of railroad. Only thirteen of the states have more than that, and twenty-five don't begin to have as much.

"The barrooms are the art galleries in this country," ventures a round-about-town writer for the New York World.

Five drummers traveling for Chicago houses in the grocery trade receive salaries of from $8,000 to $10,000 a year.

Land in Wall street, New York city, is worth $14,300,000 an acre. They are not buying it by the acre, however.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS.

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J.W. Conn, Druggist.

"I have used S. S. S. on patients convalescing from fever and from measles with the best results. J. N. CHENEY, M. D., Ellaville, Ga."

BREMEN, GA.—Willie White was afflicted with scrofula seven years. I prescribed S. S. S., and to-day he is a fat and robust boy. C. W. PARKER, M. D.

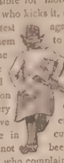
My Poor Back!



That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

On The Move.

If you want to see a thorough exemplification of the old saying that it is "cheaper to move than to pay rent," you must take a trip west. Recently on a train going to Pueblo, Col., I heard a conversation between two ladies who had young children clinging all over them. They were movers, and one of them said she had lived in four different states in as many different months. She was en-route to southern Colorado, and didn't know how long she was going to remain in her home. The other lady had moved from the neighborhood of Sedalia, Mo., to some point in Arkansas, and thence to a Kansas settlement inside of eleven months. They spoke of moving as other people might talk of taking a pleasure excursion. They described the pulling up of carpets and tearing down stoves and selling out of furniture as if these things were matters of everyday recreation. At Council Grove, Kansas, a family got aboard a train whose achievements in the moving line overshadowed the others. The mater familias said that since her marriage and nine years before she and her husband had lived in almost every state east of the Rocky mountains. At that moment, as the train was leaving Council Grove, her furniture was on the way to the station in a driving rainstorm. She was going to Leadville with six children, and didn't know how long she was going to stay there. Her husband was railroading. The conductor of the train told me that the west was full of restless people of this kind, who moved almost as regularly as they ate, and that all railroad trains going west were crowded with these professional movers.

Keep it to Yourself.

You have trouble, your feelings are injured, your husband is unkind, your wife frets, your home is not pleasant, your friends do not treat you fairly, and things in general move unpleasantly. Well, what of it? Keep it to yourself. A smouldering fire can be found and extinguished; but, when coals are scattered you can't pick them up. Bury your sorrow. The place for sad things and disgusting things is underground. A cut finger is not benefited by pulling off the plaster and exposing it to somebody's eye. Charity covereth a multitude of sins. Things thus covered are cured without a scar; but once published and confided to meddling friends, there is no end to the trouble they may cause. Keep it to yourself. Troubles are transient; and when a sorrow is healed and passed, what a comfort it is to say: "No one ever knew it till it was over!"

Sore Throat

Is particularly favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning, and use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subdues the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a gargle.

When navigation on the Missouri river closes this winter, the probabilities are that it will close forever. Had any one predicted thirty years ago when 125 majestic steamboats were engaged in traffic between St. Louis and Kansas city, that all boats would be withdrawn in the fall of 1888, he would have been looked upon as insane. But such an event is about to happen, nevertheless.—Ex.

Rubbing The Wrong Leg.

While I was walking down to the store the other night to spend the evening I saw coming toward me two ladies and the walk being narrow, and I being somewhat of a gallant, I thought I would pull out and give them the road, but as it turned out it was a bad speculation. The ladies drew near, nearer still. We met and such a meeting. My feet slipped toward them, their feet slipped towards me. And weren't we mixed.

I was hurt. I couldn't rise. I put my hand on my leg to rub it. I had no feeling in it. It was swelled to twice its natural size. Oh, heavens was it broken?

I rubbed it again, but it did not get the relief from rubbing I thought it should. While rubbing I was hit a sharp blow on the head by an umbrella in the hands of one of the females. At the same time she yelled: Release my leg, you villain!"

I glanced down. Oh, horrors! I had made a mistake. I was rubbing legs I had nothing to do with. As soon as I glanced down I knew I had made a mistake, for I never wear white trousers in the fall weather.—St. Paul Paper,

King Monanga, who rules over the black kingdom of Uganda, is not a pleasant man for a next door neighbor. He rules over 10,000,000 subjects, and is as ferocious as he is powerful. He has 1,500 wives, and kills five of them every day for his amusement. He is the largest slave trader in Central Africa, supplying the Mohammedan dealers annually with about one hundred and fifty thousand slaves.

October 16th was a memorable day for farmer Humphrey of Olequa, Wash. In the early dawn he picked a 4½-pound spud from his garden and posted it by express, charges paid, to the fair. Early in the evening his house was destroyed by fire and the tuber was all that he had left in the world.

"Even emperors can experience new sensations," says the St. James' Gazette. "The German kaiser yesterday went out shooting with the prince of Detmold and shot a splendid stag with fourteen branched antlers. His majesty remarked that he had never shot such a stag before. But this is nothing to the sensation the emperor will have the first time he is shot at."

THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DEATH

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week we hereby guarantee Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SATURDAY..................OCTOBER 27, 1888.

ACCORDING to Professor Ewing, earthquake movement is not a shock at all, but a "wobbling" of the ground in all directions. A movement of the earth an inch and three-quarters is the greatest yet recorded by the instruments in Japan, while the movements are usually measured only in hundredths of an inch.

EVERY man on roads in which Jay Gould is interested, if holding an important position, must be bonded for his good moral character and honesty. Before a man is taken by one of the guarantee companies his record for character must be carefully looked up, and then the guarantee companies occasionally get deceived. They will not bond a man who can be called a drinking man. If he has stolen in one place he cannot get a bond for another. "Once a thief always a thief" is their principle.

EXTREMES meet. In one and the same issue of an English journal we find a news item stating that Patti is to receive £1,300 per night for singing in concerts in South America, and an advertisement of sermons for a shilling, "beautifully simple, full of matter, teaching personal holiness and practical religion," and for an extra threepence, sermons, "original, fresh, vigorous, clearly written, and with special arrangements for local adaptation." The world is always willing to pay more to be amused than to be admonished, and probably always will be that way inclined.

THE St. Stephens Review of London, with the usual English comprehension of American politics, says: "The Republicans in America have improved on the methods of the English separatists. Mr. Gladstone has been recommended to the electors on sufficiently silly and irrelevant grounds, but surely for downright and utter absurdity nothing will ever beat the idea of supporting General Harrison for the presidency because he happens to have a big head. It appears that the general wears a 7½ hat, while President Cleveland only takes a 7¼." After making this wonderful statement the Review suggests that we find the man who wears the largest hat in America and make him president at once.

AN English tourist who finds himself quite often within the boundaries of the Republic, tells of his profound conviction that there are more politics to the square mile in the United States than in any other country upon the globe. He says that no matter in what year or at what season of the year he arrives, nor whether he arrives among us by way of New York or San Francisco, he finds us either in the midst of an election, or preparing for an election, or just getting over an election, and he fancies that "this great American industry," as to which he hears or sees such frequent but vague reference, must consist in the voting of somebody into or out of office. For a superficial view of American public life, our transatlantic cousin has not gone so wide of the mark. With forty-seven state and territorial governments, besides the federal government, mainly officered by means of the ballot, it is not to be wondered at that the sun rarely sets upon the political activities of our population. Whether the results of so much administration, and its consequent electioneering, are worth all they cost is a question upon which a great deal may be said on both sides. No doubt the complexity of our political system does much to conceal from the people its undeniable expensiveness, but what a row there would soon be if all the expenses of federal and state governments and elections had to be met by congressional appropriations.

Considering The Astoria Communication.

An answer was received yesterday morning from the communication sent last week to Astoria by the Salem board of trade railroad committee. It will be considered at a special meeting of the committee this afternoon, a call for which appears in another place. It may be stated that the letter is very favorable in its tone and it will probably be the basis of some definite energetic action on the part of the board of trade, backed by the people of Salem.—Salem Statesman, 25.

CURIOUS FACTS ABOUT COINS.

Some That Are Worth a Thousand Times Their Face Value.

One of the most puzzling things to collectors of coins is the great rarity of many specimens of the coinage of the United States, in spite of the fact that none of these pieces are yet 100 years old. There are bushels of English coins of every sovereign from William the Conqueror down that are more common than certain American issues of the present century. Several of the colonial and state coins which were minted between 1612 and 1787 are scarce but not so scarce as numerous later emissions. In 1787 an act was passed empowering one James Jarvis to mint 300 tons of copper coin of the federal standard, and no fewer than fifty-one different varieties of his "Fugios" or "sun dial cents," as they are called, are recognized by collectors. These, however, are comparatively common. It is some of the issues of the United States mint proper that are now so eagerly sought after.

The act which established the first United States mint was passed on March 3, 1791. The corner stone of the building was laid in a plot of ground in Seventh street, Philadelphia, in July, 1792, and work began late in the same year under David Rittenhouse, whom Washington had appointed director. It is recorded that the first purchase of metal for coinage consisted of six pound of old copper. Only a few pattern cents of 1792 are in existence and these are rarely to be met with. The first cents struck for circulation bear the date 1793. They are of six varieties, and if in good condition, range in present value from $2.50 to $6.25, though English dealers often quote the least rare of them at $25. Far more scarce is the cent of 1799. In a fine state it is cheap at $25. It is the rarest of the cents. The cent of 1804 is worth $[illegible] and the nickel cent of 1856, with flying eagle, is worth $2.50. Of half cents the rarest is that of 1796: it is easily salable for $12.50. The half-cents of 1831, 1836, 1840 to 1848 inclusive, 1849 (with date in small figures) and 1852 are each worth about $4, if in good condition.

Of silver coins the scarcest is the dollar of 1804. Fortunate is the collector who can buy it in fine condition for $1000. A very indifferent specimen was lately sold in Chicago for $800. No other dollars are worth more than about $25 apiece, the best being those of 1838, 1839, 1851, 1852 and 1858. These vary in price, according to their state, from $10 to $25. The half-dollar that, with one exception, is the rarest, bears sixteen stars and is dated 1796. It is well worth $25 if unworn. Close behind it comes the fifteen-star half-dollar of the same year. It is considered cheap at $20, and the same may be said of the fifteen-star dollar of 1797. Next to these in rarity is a half-dollar of 1838, with an 'O' [illegible] beneath the head. It is worth $8.75. The scarcity of some of these silver pieces is quite inexplicable. Of the dollar of 1804 19,570 examples were coined, yet only about eight copies are now known to exist. The half dollar of 1804 is also rare—so much so, indeed, that dealers seldom make any quotation of its market price: yet 106,519 specimens were struck. The rarest quarter-dollar—that of 1[illegible]—is worth $75, or more in very fine condition, and a good quarter-dollar of 182[illegible] has lately been sold for $105. The quarter of 1853, "without the arrows," is valued at from $3 to $6.25, according to its state, and that of 1786, "with fillet," is cheap at $3.75. None of the 20c pieces are very difficult to procure, but several of the dimes are seldom met with. That of 1804, if only fairly good, is worth $7.50, that of 1802 $2.50 and that of 182[illegible] $1.25. Many of the half dimes are far more valuable. A fine specimen, dated 1802, has been sold by auction for $40; a very indifferent example fetches $10. The half-dime of 1794 is worth $5, the dimes of 1797 (with fifteen stars and also with sixteen stars), 1803 and 18[illegible] are worth $2.50 each, and those of 1801 [illegible] 1846 are almost equally uncommon. Pattern silver coins fetch, of course, fancy prices. The six pattern coins, for example, from which the American "trade dollar" was finally evolved, are worth at least $40. The pattern gold double eagle of 1849 is very cheap at $100, and the half-eagle of 1815, of which 365 specimens only were minted, is worth $50.

The earliest coinage that can be called American was ordered by the Virginia company, and was minted in the Bermudas in 1612. But then and for long afterwards the standard currency of Virginia was tobacco. In 1645, however, the Virginia assembly, after reciting that it "had maturely weighed and considered how advantageous a quoine would be to this colony, and the great wants and miseries which do daily happen unto it by the sole dependency upon tobacco, provided for the issue of copper coins of the denominations of 2d, 3d, 6d and 9d. But the law bore no fruit. Seven years later, in May, 1652, the general court of Massachusetts passed an order which created a "mint howse" at Boston, and which directed the coinage of "12 pence, 6 pence and 3 pence peeces, which shall be for forme flatt, and stamped on the one side with N. E., and on the other side with XIId, VId and IIId, according to the value of each peece." This mint produced the "oak-tree shillings" and the "pine-tree shillings," which are now worth from $3 to $4, and it continued its operations for thirty-four years. During the reign of William and Mary copper coins were struck in England for Carolina and New England: and for Maryland Lord Baltimore caused silver shillings, 6 pences and 4 pences to be coined in London.

In 1785 Connecticut and Vermont established mints of their own for the striking of copper coins—none of which are, however, of great scarcity; and New Jersey followed in 1786. The rarest pieces of a date previous to 1793 are (with the exception of the oak-tree and pine-tree shillings) the New York "Excelsior" cent of 1787, worth $3, and Chalmers' Annapolis shilling of 178[illegible], worth perhaps $3.50 if in a fine state, though these prices are much lower than what are generally exacted by dealers. The "Fugios," or "sundial cents," which have already been alluded to as having been struck by James Jarvis, bore devices which have been copied from earlier state coins. The device on one side was ordered to consist of "thirteen circles linked together, with the words 'United States' around it and the words 'We Are One.' On the other side, a dial with the hours expressed on the face of it, a meridan sun above, on one side of which is to be the word 'Fugio,' on the other the year in figures, and below the dial the words 'Mind Your Business.'" All Jarvis' coins bear the date 1787; but none of them were actually coined before the 30th of September, 1788; and it is known that he had not finished his contract in 1790. It should be added that within each of the thirteen links that appear upon these curious coins is the name of one of the original states of the Union.

The original mint, in Seventh street, Philadelphia, was removed in 1831 to more commodious premises in Chestnut street, where it still is. Until 1835 this was the only mint in the United States, but in that year branches were established at New Orleans, Charlotte, N. C., and Dahlonega, Ga., and in 1864 another branch was opened in San Francisco, and the coinage of each is denoted by an initial letter which appears upon the face of the coin. Philadelphia, as the parent mint, uses no initial.

Going on With The Road.

MISHAWAKA, Oct. 24th.

EDITOR ASTORIAN: -There was an item in your paper about a road organization some time ago. In Mishawaka since then, there has been an organization started in the Fishhawk settlement to co-operate with us. They elected George Warren, A. L. Parker, and O. Olson, as business managers. The object is to collect from all members equally, and apply all funds honestly on the road, to give preference to members on contracts, and let small contracts. We expect to keep contractors on the road from this time, until it is opened. Our officers serve without pay, and are men who will see that the business is done properly.

Our first contract is let, and about half done; the contractors are doing more for $1.25 per settler, than the taxes of these same settlers have done in two years past.

We expect every settler to join with us by the first of December. I will furnish you a list of all who are willing to do their share; also a list of those who had to be compelled by the supervisor to do what the law requires. We want Astoria to know there is some energy here (as there always has been), and we want them to know which of our settlers are to blame for our bad roads.

Prospects never looked better in this section, and we hope to open the road before next July.

Yours truly,

J. R. WHERRY.

THE ASTORIAN is of the belief that if theatrical troupes lowered their prices of admission a little they would do better financially. To play to 800 people at an average of 50 cents would cost them no more than to play to 250 people at an average of 75 cents.

Newspaper reporters have caught on to a new system and now carry photographic cameras to obtain instantaneous views of things dealt with in their reports, either to aid in a graphic writing-up of their notes, or to be reproduced as illustrations of their articles.

The steamer Mischief on Tuesday brought 2,000 cases of salmon from the Alsea Packing company, says the Yaquina Post. This company has canned about 7,000 cases of salmon so far this season, and have a good prospect for securing two or three thousand more. Last season the cannery turned out 9,500 cases.

Next to some of the men who are betting on the election, the most mistaken animal we have seen this month was a cat, yesterday morning, that stepped on some of that floating sawdust near the Clatsop mill, thinking it was solid. Poor Tommy; his rigid limbs are rolling toward the ocean, and his rich tenor no longer woos Mariar to the midnight fence.

A fine horse belonging to Dick Marion lost its life yesterday in a singular manner. The animal was hoisting material to the second story of the new brick building on Third street, and the purchase raised throwing the collar up about his neck and choking him. He fell, and in falling broke something in his body; the poor beast lingered several hours in agony. He was valued at $150.

The Portland News says Rev. J. R. Thompson of Vancouver, is in town on a visit. This is the gentleman who Hon. Paul Schulze once said was the [illegible] best preacher on the coast. Mr. Schulze greatly admires Mr. Thompson. When North Yakima was first started Mr. Thompson opened a new church and Paul Schulze stood outside beating a triangle and calling sinners to come in and be saved.

The hotel [illegible] proprietors of San Francisco are an enterprising lot. Recently it happened that a man was going to be executed in the city jail for wife murder. They wrote to him offering $500 for the loan of his body for thirty days, saying they would rig it up in artistic style and use it as a great moral example to the community. The murderer declined the offer with thanks, as he said the money would be of no use to him after he was hanged.

The Weston Leader is the only newspaper in Oregon advocating the election of Streeter and Cunningham, the Union Labor candidates for president and vice-president. In the last issue to hand it says: "Postpone the coming election six months, and Streeter and Cunningham would be elected by an overwhelming majority." But you cawn't do it, my man. There are 64,173,829½ people impatient now to have the election over and done with, and to have that event any farther in the future than November 6th, 1888, would make the biggest kind of a riot.

Sheriff Ross's bet $1,000 on Cleveland's election, referred to in yesterday's ASTORIAN, is reported by the Portland Telegram to be an offer from him to Mark Mass. Mass took him up. Our sheriff had a check with him for a large amount of money, but the check is not payable till the 13th of November. But he said he'd get $1,000 in coin, and he and Mass put up a forfeit of $100, the condition being that the man not ready with the thousand dollars at noon, Wednesday should forfeit the $100. At 11:45 Jas. G. Steele brought in $1,000 in a sack for sheriff Ross, and a few minutes after Mass put up his thousand dollars. Steele is stakeholder. It is pleasant, under the circumstances, to hear of those large amounts of gold coin that are being wagered so freely.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. C. Dement is in Tacoma.

F. Sherman, who has been seriously ill, is better.

J. W. Hume and a part of his men, returned yesterday from the Coquille.

Mr. C. B. Hegardt takes charge of the government work at Fort Stevens, vice G. W. Freeman, resigned.

Geo. W. Freeman and wife went to Portland last evening, en route to Oakland, Cal., where Mr Freeman takes the responsible position of division superintendent on the division of the S. P. R. R., between Sacramento and Los Angeles. During his two years' residence at Fort Stevens in charge of the government work there, Mr. Freeman has made an enviable record and hosts of friends will be glad to hear of his deserved promotion.

Not Dr. Aug. Kinney, But His Brother, M. J.

Last year when the talented lecturer, Miss Narcissa White, was through Oregon, she met and became acquainted with Dr. Aug. Kinney, of Astoria, one of the most prominent temperance workers in Oregon. It seems to have been a case of love at first sight. After Miss White left, a correspondence followed, which ripened into an engagement, and the affair is to be consummated with a wedding to-day at Miss White's present home, in Nebraska.—Salem Statesman, 25

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Broke His Leg.

Col. James Taylor led his horse from the barn yesterday afternoon, and just after mounting him for his customary ride the animal slipped and fell, breaking his rider's right leg at the ankle joint. Dr. J. A. Fulton was summoned and rendered surgical aid. The accident occasions general regret. Beyond enforced confinement while the bone knits, it is not likely to occasion more serious result

WON ON A FOUL.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 26,—Jack Ashton, of Providence, and Jim Fell, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, fought twelve rattling rounds here last night. Ashton won on a foul. Fell was badly used up.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

COLUSA, Cal., Oct. 26.—A building owned by S. Furth, of the Maxwell and Winter, sisters, of New York, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The lower portion was occupied by Sterner & Mogks, general merchandise store, and the upper portion was occupied by the Masonic lodges. Sterner & Mogks' loss is $50,000; insurance, $25,000. The lodges' loss is $7,500, partly insured. The loss on the building is $12,000, partly insured

A CATTLE MURRAIN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The commissioner of agriculture has informed the treasury department that cattle driven from Sonora, Mexico, to Arizona imparts to the cattle in that territory a contagious disease, known as splenetic fever, from which large numbers have died. He requests, in view of the large cattle industry and the great danger from the infection, that importation of cattle from Sonora into that territory be prohibited except at points where the animals can be properly inspected. The treasury department has accepted the suggestion and prohibited importation, except at Nogales and Yuma, and at these points only when shown that they are free from contagious disease.

A CHINESE FIRECRACKER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The following circular has just reached the Chinese merchants of New York from their home offices in Hong Kong and Shanghai:

"GENTLEMEN:—You are hereby notified that you are to immediately discontinue the purchase of the following articles from American sources and markets, as they are being severely boycotted by kim maid, or by members of the trades union, or the citizens of China. These articles, now proscribed, are petroleum, white sheeting of all kinds, American calicoes, watches, and American fire arms, ginseng root and flour."

With the exception of a few Chinese firms in New York the above circular will have no effect, but many San Francisco firms will feel its effect severely, as several of them are heavy dealers in American flour, petroleum and cotton goods.

HARD TO ENFORCE.

EL PASO, Oct. 26.—The task of enforcing the Chinese exclusion act proves to be no easy one along the Mexican frontier. El Paso, Texas, and Paso del Norte, Mexico, are separated only by the Rio Grande, which is at present practically fordable, and is always so for ten months in the year. There are two or three hundred Chinamen in these two cities and heretofore they have crossed freely from one to the other. The collector is enforcing the law as fully as his small force of inspectors will permit, but it is an easy matter for Chinese to violate them. Moreover, the Chinamen can easily come up the Mexican railroad or cross the country from Guaymas or other Pacific points, and slip across the line into the United States.

ARIZONA'S PROGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—C. M. Zulick, governor of Arizona, in his annual report to the secretary of the interior, states that during the year there has been steady progress in growth and development of the territory. The population has has largely increased. Indian depredations are things of the past, and life and property are now safe and law and order are supreme.

During the year 292,841 acres of public land were entered by settlers, 200 miles of canal for irrigation are in operation, and 100 miles additional are to be built during the present year.

The importance of congress authorizing a hydrographic survey of the territory to demonstrate the feasibility of artesian wells, and water storage reservoirs is dwelt upon at length. The yield of gold and silver last year was $5,771,555.

Governor Zulick renews his recommendation of last year for a survey of public lands in that territory and urges an early settlement of private land grants. He opposes the proposition before congress to transfer these claims to a special court created for this purpose.

"My Wife Is a Terror."

Said a mild-tempered man in our hearing. "She snaps and snarls, spanks her children, and finds fault continually. I can't bear it any longer. Don't be too severe on her my friend; you little realize her sufferings. She has lost her former sweet disposition, and ill health is the cause. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make her well. For female diseases, functional derangements, bearing-down pains, and the long list of ills that render women miserable, no medicine can compare with this. It is the only medicine for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, to give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. See guarantee printed on bottle wrapper.

For all derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels, take Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti-billous Granules

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald [illegible] hair would never grow [illegible] a cure from physicians. I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well,—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

The Leading Question.

The tariff business is a peculiar question. Some people who are supposed to be quite smart in a general way don't profess to know anything about the vexed question or have any idea as to how it might be solved, and yet there are hundreds and thousands of people who don't know enough to go in out of the wet who can talk tariff from morning till night, and if it were left to them they could fix it out in a short time so there would be no more trouble and everybody would be satisfied. As Bill Nye says: "Go where you will in this country to-day and you will find men talking about the tariff and the tax on raw material who haven't had a mouthful of raw material or any other kind in the house for weeks, except as their wives earned it and brought it home to them. This country is full of men who have thought so hard for the weal that the seats of their trousers shine like the dome of the Massachusetts state house."

The station at Sage Hen creek, Nev., was burned to the ground last Thursday. Nothing was saved but a keg of beer. Loss $1,500.

An Idaho sheep-herder got lost last week for three days. He cut the throats of some lambs and drank their blood to quench his thirst.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.
More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in [illegible] system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter [illegible] blood. Then the sufferer says the [illegible] eased. "Not yet;" but they will [illegible] the blood purified, and the constipation [illegible] removed. These [illegible] of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them [illegible] With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect it also strengthens [illegible] kidneys, making it almost infallible in [illegible] diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00

THE TIME TO ADVERTISE.

We find among our waste papers and pigeon-hole stock this article. We do not know who wrote it; perhaps we did it ourself. The writing looks better than ours, but it is just as seasonable and to the point as though we had. At any rate we give it our most hearty endorsement and approval:

"There is nothing on earth so mysteriously funny as a newspaper or periodical advertisement. The prime, first, last and all-the-time object of an advertisement is to draw custom. It is not, was not, and never will be, designed for any other human purpose. So the merchant waits until the busy season comes and his store is so full of customers that he cannot get his hat off, and then he rushes to the business office and puts in his advertisement. When the dull season comes along, and there is no trade, and he wants to sell goods so badly he can't pay his rent, he discontinues his advertisement. That is, some of them do; but occasionally a level headed man puts in a bigger one and scoops in all the trade, while his neighbors are making mortgages to raise money to pay the gas bill. There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything you have for sale if you planted a cannon behind the door, and right then is the time some business men send their advertisement out on its holy mission. It makes light and easy work for the advertisement, for a chalk sign on the sidewlak conld do all that was needed, and have a half-holiday six days in the week; but who wants to favor an advertisement? They are built to do hard work, and should be relentlessly sent out in the dull days, when a customer has to be struck between the eyes with hard facts, kicked insensible with startling bankrupt reductions, and dragged in and laid on the counter with irresistible slaughter of prices before he will spend a cent or buy a saw. That is the sole end and aim of an advertisement, and if you ever open a concern to manufacture mining supplies and wood-working, don't try to get customers to come when they are already sticking out of the windows, but give them your advertisement as a square knockdown right in the dull season, and thereby you will wax rich and own Proctor Knott, or some kindred fast horse, to enable you to throw dust from your wheels on your less sensible neighbors, and win sheckels thereby, and perhaps be able to smoke a good cigar on Fourth of July and Christmas. Now just write this down where you will fall over it every day: The time to look for and draw business is when you want business, and not when you already have more business than you can attend to."

The time to eat is when you're hungry.

Children

Often need some safe cathartic and tonic [illegible] sickness or to relieve colic, headache, sick stomach, indigestion, dysentery and the complaints incidental to childhood. Let the children take Simmons Liver Regulator and keep well. It is purely vegetable, not unpleasant to the taste and safe to take alone or in connection with other medicine.

The farmers of New Zealand are getting tired of sending frozen mutton to England, for the reason that the average net receipts are only at the rate of 1d per pound, and it does not pay to sell the pick of their animals, specially fattened, at that price. The trade is, therefore, largely falling off.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

According to the London correspondents, Gladstone is at his country home again, swinging the axe and felling the trees. From the amount of chopping Mr. Gladstone has done in the newspapers, he must have denuded a very large body of land by this time.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

He Voodooed His Wife.

Louis Hill, a negro fugitive from Union county, Miss., was arrested near Memphis recently by the sheriff of Union county, who came upon him accidentally. Five years ago Hill resolved to get rid of his wife in order to wed a dusky belle who had enslaved him. He consulted a voodoo priestess, who told him to extract the poison from a moccasin snake and administer it to his wife in the seventh hour of the seventh day following.

He succeeded in capturing a moccasin, but the reptile was so vicious that he was afraid to make the extraction of its poison-bag. He therefore cut off its head and boiled it in the coffee, which his wife drank at breakfast. She was immediately taken ill, and for a week lingered between life and death, but finally recovered. The snake's head was found among the coffee grounds, which Hill had thrown beside his cabin, and he was arrested and indicted for an attempt at murder.

With the aid of another prisoner he made his escape and came to Memphis, where he has been ever since.—Philadelphia Times.

"Say, Bill, have you got another cigar like the one you gave me a few days ago?" "Yes; candidates always have cigars, Take one." "Thanks; you see, I want to smoke a ground hog out of its hole over on the hill there."—Lincoln Journal

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing [illegible] every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY . . . . . . OCTOBER 28, 1888.

NEW YORK.

A BUFFALO correspondent of the New York Herald informs that journal that "Harrison will go down to High Bridge with 70,000 majority." This means that the counties south of the Harlem river must give Cleveland more than 70,000 plurality to secure for him the electoral vote of that state. The counties relied on to furnish this 70,000 majority are New York, Kings, Queens, Suffolk and Richmond. In 1884 New York county gave Cleveland 43,127 majority over Blaine, Kings 15,729, and the other three counties 3,515. The Cleveland majority over Blaine in 1884 in the counties which are now called upon for 70,000 was 62,371. Assuming, says the S. F. Call, that the Herald's estimate is correct and that the southern group of counties will do as well as in 1884 Mr. Cleveland will lack 7,429 votes. But the Republicans estimate their majority north of the river at between 80,000 and 90,000. They expect also to reduce Mr. Cleveland's plurality in the southern group of counties by at least 10,000 votes. It will be seen, therefore, that while the Herald estimate foreshadows a Republican majority of 2,700 the Republicans expect at least 27,000. Anything less than 25,C00 majority in New York is a narrow margin to calculate upon. It is like figuring on 3,000 or 4,000 in California. No possible estimate can come so close to the result as that. There is always a large percentage of voters who do not proclaim on which side they will vote and a smaller per cent. who do not know until election day how they will vote. New York will probably cast 1,250,000 votes, and consequently a 1 per cent. majority will give the winning party an actual majority of 12,500 votes.

THE LIAR STILL ABRCAD.

FROM the days of Ananias down the liar has been an unpopular individual in nearly every community. He may possess all the accomplishments of the trade, he may attempt to disguise his story under any or all of the colors of the rainbow, but in the eyes of his fellow men he remains nothing but a falsifier, an object of distrust and contempt. Many writers have endeavored to paint a picture in which the act would stand forth in a less hideous light, in the hope that the verdict of the world might be reversed, the lie palliated, and its author excused if not justified; but, in spite of all these endeavors, the great mass of sentiment is still unchanged. There are of course degrees, just as in everything else, and according as any given fabrication varies from its companions it is assigned its proper place in the scale. There is a species of these lineal descendants of the great original who are now exceedingly active, and it includes men who, in ordinary affairs, are truthful, but now, when the political pot is boiling and they have become aroused, seem to have parted company from every principle of veracity. The political liar is the worst of his species. His act is gratuitous, and it misleads but few. Even the tyro in politics is rarely taken in by these gentry, cunning as they imagine themselves to be. With them it seems a disease: they may be perfectly conscious of the truth, yet utterly unable to tell it.

These are facts so well recognised as to become proverbial, and yet there is no appreciable change. Here is presented a study for the moralist, and an opportunity for the missionary in a field apparently limitless, where both could work together without crowding. We exact the truth in other affairs of our daily life, yet from the politician expect lies. No reason is apparent for the distinction made. It is the bane and the curse of politics; it is one great cause why the very word politician has come to have an unpleasant sound; but no one has yet arisen to enter a protest. The independent sentiment of the country is strong. It reprimands other weaknesses in the political field, establishes high moral standards, but leaves the liar to go on his way unchecked, and even without an attempt to bring him to a halt. Four years ago the mugwump took a stand on civil service reform, succeeded in placing in the presidential chair the man of his choice, and saw under his administration the pet theory trampled unfeelingly in the dust. This year the same element having lost its fondly sherished, is wandering childless and disconsolate. Why does it not take a stand for truth, insist upon it in an undiluted form in all matters pertainto politics, and have something which it can nurse tenderly and fondly with a little more hope of life than that of bringing up civil service reform under an opposing administration.

WE are devoting more space to railroad matters than to politics. Railroad is a local issue. The statesmen in New York and Indiana will look after the election all right, but the New York and Indiana folks don't care a continental imprecation whether Astoria has a railroad or not. Anything we could say couldn't or wouldn't make a bit of difference in Connecticut or New Jersey; one blast upon Blaine's bugle horn were worth a thousand men; but unless folks out this way don't talk railroad, it isn't going to be talked, which is why we say that railroad takes precedence of politics. We believe in fostering home industries.

THE ASTORIAN has one little suggestion to make to the directors of the Astoria and South Coast Railway Co., the first bit of advice it has offered anything or anybody for some time; it is this: Begin. Commence. Get going. Advertise or invite proposals for some part of the road if it is only to Smith's point. Go ahead.

MR. MURCHISON, of Pomona, Cal., has made himself famous. He did it with his little letter to Lord Sackville West. It was Talleyrand who said, "Never write a letter; never destroy one." Lord Burchard doubtless wishes now he'd taken Talleyrand's advice.

Two Giddy Young Things.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—In a letter to a morning paper Belva Lockwood says New Jersey, and possibly New York, Illinois and Iowa will go Democratic, and Indiana Republican. She expects to carry Pennsylvania for equal rights.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Alfred H. Love, candidate for vice president on the Belva Lockwood ticket, will tomorrow publish a card, withdrawing. He says he could not, if elected, hold office under a constitution that makes the president of the United States commander-in-chief of the army and navy and gives congress power to declare war.

A Reminiscence of Abraham Lincoln.

In the state archives at Albany is a bill of expenses incurred by Abraham Lincoln in Albany while on his way to Washington to be inaugurated as President of the United States, which shows that at least his suite were very patriotic if not demonstrative in their celebration of Washington's birthday.

The bill was as follows:

Olsen held on and got to shore; Taylor was drowned. He formerly cooked for Luigi Serra and Nick Davich in this city.

Since the passage of the exclusion act Chinamen in Astoria have got tonier than ever and they won't look at anything less than $5 a week for housework. As for girls, they must have even bigger wages, and any one who can cook a potato or a beefsteak is eagerly sought for. Such running and begging and praying and coaxing to get a girl for a month. One is got for life sometimes with less trouble.

Captain Rothery, who lost his bark the Derby Park, in the South Pacific and got to San Francisco on the brig Tropic Bird, is now at Portland, awaiting the arrival of the new ship Lorton which belongs to the same employ. The captain of the bark Allonby, also belonging to the same employ and which is now at Portland, has the privilege of taking the Lorton or keeping his own vessel. If he takes the Lorton, Rothery will command the Allonby.

The Columbia is due from San Francisco this morning with the following passengers: Miss A. F. Rice, Mrs. T. L. Logan, W. C. Logan, R. V. Monteith, Miss M. Thrall, Miss H. Folger, Miss M. Heimes, O. Hansen, P. Lamartine, J. Hyman, W. J. Hartman, A. McEachern, C. W. Newton and wife, J. Strauss, M. Cooney, W. Martin, W. Hunt, W. Cummings, C. E. Marshall, J. J. Kerrigan, Mr. Brooks, P. Talley, J. J. Coolican.

Hon. C. W. Fulton, one of the three presidential electors who will cast the electoral vote of Oregon for Harrison and Morton next January, returned yesterday from a complete canvass of the entire state. Mr. Fulton reports results fully equalling his most sanguine expectations. Everywhere he spoke he found large audiences, and he believes that the Republican majority on Tuesday week will even exceed the great majority in the June election

Constable Smith returned from the Nehalem yesterday with his prisoner N. F. Livingstone, who was arraigned yesterday afternoon, and his bail fixed at $2,000, though as the witnesses cannot get here before Tuesday the preliminary examination will probably not take place till that day. He is safer in the jail than he would be in the settlement where he has lately been residing. There is $237 due him from the district in which he has been teaching. He is about 38 years old.

A gentleman from southern California, another from eastern Oregon, and a resident of this place were in yesterday. Said the eastern Oregonian, "When I left home, the dust was ankle deep; said the southern Californian "What a tremendous amount of rain you have here; just see how it comes down." "Yes," said the Astorian, "God is good to us here; it takes rain to make a country or grow crops; in your country, man irrigates; here, the Almighty does it for us and better than we could do it for ourselves." And all agreed that that was so.

An Expression of Gratitude.

"An honest tale speeds best being plainly told." I was "sick and ye comforted me."

EDITOR ASTORIAN:

Help me through THE ASTORIAN to pay this little portion of a debt of gratitude that never in all the coming years can be fully paid. I was working for Mr. J. W. Hume, when an accident occurred which, but for the help and sympathy I received from Mr. and Mrs. Hume, would have cost me my life. How powerless are words; what can I say to those who gave me life. At morning, at noon and at night, J. W. Hume and his wife (God bless them!) watched beside me when racked with pain, and wept for sympathy. No want was unsupplied; and when the death angel hovered near, they held me by the hand, and through their gentle, tender care, I live to-day; and, come weal, come woe, come sunshine or come storm, there is one heart that will never forget you, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hume, until the last sigh has left my breast.

"You know not what my heart doth know. You can't tell what I feel."

CLEMENT ORTEL.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Of Incalculable Benefit to Astoria.

Although much trouble has been experienced by the Astoria and Coast railroad in securing the right of way, it is, happily, about removed by the granting of such privileges in most, if not all instances, and work can now go ahead without interruption. The Salem people want to join hands with the enterprise and continue the road from Tillamook, the present prospective southern terminus of the road, eastward to connect with the Oregon Pacific. Such a line of road would be of incalculable benefit to Astoria and the mouth of the Columbia river, besides would open a vast region of country lying along the Oregon coast. We trust the enterprise can be built forthwith.—Pacific Journal.

WILL ALBANY TAKE ACTION.

As it is with a thorough going, active, successful business man, so it is with an enterprising, progressive city. Each watches with keen vigilance to take the flood tide that leads on to growth and wealth. These opportunities present themselves alike to individuals and communities. They are often not taken advantage of by cities and towns as too many persons are apt to think that others, and not they, are the ones who should look after these public interests, and what is every one's business soon becomes no one's business, and thus golden opportunities laden with vast benefits are allowed to pass unheeded, often never to return. Albany to-day is presented with one of these opportunities, and yet her citizens apparently with one accord are lying supinely upon their backs hugging the delusive phantom of hope, until others less favored, but with more energy, enterprise and pluck are likely to step in and reap the benefits so invitingly held out to us. We refer to the projected enterprise of constructing a railroad from Albany to tide water at Astoria. It would require prophetic vision to see and comprehend the vast benefits Albany would receive in the next decade following the construction of this road. Without undestimating or decrying the benefits accruing to Albany from the construction of the O. & C. R. R., or the O. P. R. R., we hesitate not to say that the immediate results following the building of the proposed road to Astoria would be far more important to Albany than the building of the former roads. The new proposed road would give us another outlet to tide water where the fruitage of the rich harvest fields of Linn and other valley counties, could be loaded in sail vessels bound at once for Liverpool and thus save the expense of reshipment at San Francisco which is now necessary. The dangers of obstructed navigation on the Columbia river and the heavy expense of towage would be avoided in shipping to and from Albany. In addition to all this it would secure to Albany that safe, permanent and healthy competition in transportation facilities so essential to the future, rapid growth of the city. It would not be Albany alone that would be the recipient of the benefits of the building of the road. The farmers of Linn county would receive the greatest share of the benefits of the road. It would be their grain that would find this additional outlet to the sea. By this route, if cheaper and better than others, their supplies might come from San Francisco and the east. And, now then, what do the farmers of Linn county and the citizens of Albany propose to do in the premises? Will they take action or wait till it is taken by other points? It is an opportunity that should not be lost sight of. Let every man talk of it and discuss it with his neighbor. There is no time for delay. Act, act in the living present.—Albany Democrat, 26.

Troubled About West's Letter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—A special to the Bulletin from Washington this morning says: Your correspondent has positive information that President Cleveland is intensely worried by the publication of Minister West's letter to his Pomona correspondent, declaring that Democratic success in the approaching election would be to promote British interests. At the meeting of the cabinet yesterday the subject was discussed in all its bearings, and the Bayard interview published this morning was prepared with the assent of all the members of the cabinet present at the meeting. Secretary Bayard would never give minister West his walking papers, but from what is known of the president's character he would not hesitate to demand Mr. West's recall, if by so doing he believed he would further his chances for re-election. Inquiry at the state department, the executive mansion and the British legation to-day has failed to elicit any new developments in the case.

Yamhill is Interested

Now then, as the road will undoubtedly pass through Yamhill county, and as McMinnville has grown to such an extent that it would pay a railroad like the one proposed to touch this city, let the members of the board of trade get together and appoint a committee to look after the matter. We look on this road touching McMinnville as one of the greatest desideratums that the most imaginative of us could suggest. This matter should not be allowed to drop, but should be taken hold of in a thorough and business-like manner. We could cooperate with the Salem folks and jointly secure what each town wants. Mr. President of the board of trade of McMinnville, get your board together and look into this matter; as Col. Sellers would say, "there's millions in it." Now is the time—NOW.—Yamhill Reporter, 26.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

AN IDYLLIC ROMANCE.

Her Sight Was Entirely Restored.

The Sequel Almost Spoils the Pretty Story.

"Nature never intended me," he said, "for a favorite with the ladies. She endowed me with such a susceptible heart, and more than the usual share of gallantry, but she handicapped me with a lanky figure, unattractive face and red hair, of so coarse a texture and so sanguinary a shade that the Apollo Belvidere with such a wig would have never been heard of. We had taken into the office a freckled faced boy of fourteen, who hailed from some place up the Hudson. He was an honest faithful fellow, and his ugliness of exterior won my attention. I asked him if he was much of a pet with the girls. We had six type-writing women in the office.

"'They make fun of me mostly, sir,' said the lad, 'there's only one girl in the world that thinks me handsome and loves me for my beauty. That's my sister Nell—she's blind.'

"All day that ran in my head. I pondered over the luck of my office-boy, Ben, who had a blind girl to love him. I shall never forget my first view of Nelly. She stood on a knoll, her slight figure sharply defined against the snowy background. A crimson shawl had fallen from her head and the December wind was lifting the most beautiful hair I had ever seen. It shone in the morning sun like a banner of gold. Her face was lifted, for only her ears told of our coming. The lovely eyes raised far above the advancing sleigh were as blue as the sky. There was not a blemish in their form or color to tell of their uselessness. She was the prettiest woman I had ever seen. I passed the holidays in that simple country farm-house, and I left it rapturously, madly in love with

THE BEAUTIFUL BLIND GIRL.

"How happy I was. What cared I if the world should laugh and say I had wisely chosen a blind wife who would never have had me if she could have seen me.

"I took my darling to my fine new home as my wife. One night I was looking at Nell from the opposite side of the parlor, when two men beside me spoke:

"'Her face is divine, a face an angel would be content with, and yet you tell me—'

"'That she is stone blind,' returned the other.

"'And has no effort been made to restore her sight?' queried the first speaker.

"It fell upon me like a thunderbolt. I had never thought of it before. Perhaps Nell's sight could be regained, but at what a sacrifice to myself. It seemed that by blindness alone could I retain her. From that time the idea never deserted me, and how resolutely I fought the battle of both sides. I looked from her sweet face upon the beauty of the world in our rides, and determined the precious boon of sight should not be withheld if it was obtainable. I looked at my own exterior and swore she should never know me in my enormity. It was a long and bitter fight. Thank heavens, the right side won. I began to make inquiry. Nellie was examined by specialist after specialist. They differed, as all doctors do, but the most noted in New York said, 'Consult Dr. Hoffman of Vienna.'

"We went to Vienna. The operation was performed successfully. My beautiful child lay

IN A DARKENED ROOM

With the lovely eyes that were promised sight closely bandaged. The day came when they were going to trust her for the first time since she was a baby, to see. Accordingly, we were all to be in the little parlor when Nellie was released from the darkness that had never been dispelled in twenty-two long years.

"Nellie had asked me to visit her in the little dark room before we met outside, and, with as great emotion as when I first held her in my arms, I gathered her to my bosom in the room where we had passed so many hopeful hours in the darkness. With both arms round my neck, she buried her little, tightly bandaged head in my breast, as she told me over and over again how much she owed me, how dearly she loved me, how entirely she was my own, own wife. And then I withdrew. When next I met my wife she would see me. With the handsome Dr. Hoffman close beside me, I saw the door swing softly open. Nell was led in as if she still were blind. In the center of the room he left her and she pressed both hands to her head. She winked as if the light was too much for her, and then looking beyond us through the big open window at the lovely landscape stretched out before her she suddenly brought her gaze to bear upon us. Then her face lighted up as her eyes dropped, she turned them upon me, just as high as my heart, which was beating wildly. She came directly to me without a pause, without an instant's hesitation, and flung herself into my arms.

"Was there in all the land so happy a man as I? I'd swear the earth held no such crazed, delighted creatures. I hugged every one. If I acted madly I was mad—with joy."

WHAT WOMAN WOULD CALL THIS NICE.

But here is an extract from a letter by Nell to her brother:

You will want to know, dear Ben, how I picked out my husband from that party of men. I will tell you. When he came to me in the little dark room, as he clasped my two hands, I dropped my head on his bosom, and I had a little piece of lead pencil between my teeth. With it I made a dozen marks as I moved my head on his bosom, and then when I was used to the light, and saw the people assembled, I began to study the shirt fronts for my token. He did look very, very insignificant beside that splendid Doctor Hoffman, but there were my pencil marks, bold and black, and I had no further trouble. The thing was very easy, and oh, how pleased the poor fellow was. Will be home the 14th; till then, darling, adieu. Dr. Hoffman will be our guest this winter. My eyes are still delicate. You will like him so much. He is one of the handsomest men in Vienna.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT rubbed in saves many a valuable Horse and Mule's limbs.

He Wouldn't Lie.

At an up-town resort last night a reporter overheard a well-known actor describe the fishing experience of a brother artist. He said that his friend went to one of the lakes of upper New York with as fine an outfit as there was in the whole north territory. He had split bamboo rods, a book of the choicest flies, a charming and well stocked lunch basket, with a good sized fire extinguisher, with a silver cup fitted over the bottom, and a fish basket that any trout should feel proud to occupy.

The morning after his arrival at the hotel he donned his fishing suit, hung his lunch basket on one side and his fishbasket on the other, refilled his fire extinguisher, and taking his best rod and book of flies, started for a secluded part of the lake, where curious eyes might not be too inquisitive as to his luck. He saw a country lad with a straw hat and a freckled face sitting on a little dock away from the road, and as the little fellow already had a pretty good string of fish, did not hesitate to sit beside him and endeavor to entice the fish away from that poor country boy. But somehow or other the five-ounce rod and the gaudy flies had no charm for those fish. They preferred the juicy garden worm that concealed the point of a bent pin attached to the string that dangled from a freshly cut alder stick in the hands of that freckled urchin of the farm.

Presently he said, "Little boy, would you mind changing places with me? I don't seem to have any luck here."

"Not at all," said the boy. It was a cunning device of that wicked man to cheat the poor country boy out of his well stocked hole. But it didn't seem to work, for the fish still followed the bent pin and spurned the gaudy morsel offered by the giddy actor. Then the boy grew tired of fishing and gathered up his tackle, counted a big string of speckled beauties, and tying another knot in his single suspender, was about to start for home when the actor again spoke to him.

"Little boy," said he, "would you like to sell your fish?"

"Don't mind," was the laconic reply.

"How much?"

"Dollar."

"All right," and the crisp greenback was transferred to the little country boy's pocket. He was just going to hand them to his customer, when that good man again spoke and said:

"No, no, little boy. Don't hand them to me, but just stand where you are and I'll stand here, and you throw them over to me; then when I go back to the house I can swear that I caught them."

Brawn and Brain!

The powerful engine, with its wonderful propelling power, coupled to the long train full freighted with the richest fabrics of the intellectual looms of the centuries—what obstacle can stay the progress of this mighty force, when once under full steam along life's highway.

The American with brawn and brain does not see the necessity for titles of nobility, does not care for elevation by descent, he can reach out and pluck the stars.

But with brawn and brain impaired, a man is badly handicapped in the mad race for success which is the marked characteristic of the present age

The physicial system is a most intricate piece of machinery. It ought to be kept well regulated, so that it will work harmoniously in all its parts, then it is capable of an immense amount of work

It is said that a watch, if expected to keep perfect time, must be wound daily. It will not keep good time unless it "runs regular." More men break down because they don't "run regular" than for any other reason.

It is claimed by physicians that few men are killed by hard work. It is to the irregularities of modern social life that the high death rate is due. Men burn their candle at both ends, then wonder why it burns out so quickly.

The main thing in keeping the human machine in good working order is to keep the regulator all right. "The blood is the life," and sound health is assured so long as the blood flows through the veins a limpid stream of purity

Regulate the regulator with Warner's Log Cabin sarsaparilla, the old-fashioned blood purifier, prepared after the best formula in use by our ancestors in good old Log Cabin days, and with the vigor of brawn and brain which must ensue, in your life's lexicon you will find no such word as fail.

The silver dollars now stored in the new silver vault of the treasury weigh about seven hundred tons and amount to $23,3000,000. They all came from Philadelphia and New Orleans. Over four times this amount is to be stored in the vault.

CARELESS MOTHERS

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist

There are so many "green" hunters in northern Michigan that the land-lookers and lumbermen are coming out of the woods. They can't stand it to be so often mistaken for bears, deer etc.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: 'My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifiess the blood or [illegible] to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

F. E. Block of Atlanta, a mule dealer, recently said that mules raised on the Texas prairies may be bought by the carload at Atlanta from $15 to $18 per head.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

Near Tarboro, N. C., farm laborers, males, receive $8 per month, and females $4 to $6.50 per month, with board. They work from sunrise to sunset.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

J. W. Conn, Druggist.

At Seattle a family of three have been making $9 per day working from 6 o'clock in the morning till 4 in the afternoon picking hops.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

At Minneapolis all the employing coopers except one have granted their men the advance to 15 cents per barrel, an increase of [illegible] cents.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—This morning the Globe prints six columns of editcrial interviews, as gathered from queries sent to editors in various parts of the country. The query was: "Please send to the Boston Globe your opinion, concisely stated, of the political outlook in your state and the country at large." Some of the most interesting replies are as follows:

Chester S. Lord, manager of the New York Sun, Says: "I think the election in New York will be very close, but that the chances favor Harrison carrying it by about 7,000 plurality. Connecticut acts as though it would give a Republican plurality."

The New York Times, World and Staats-Zeitung claim the state will go Democratic, with a plurality of between 10,000 and 20,000, but differ woefully on the state ticket.

The Brooklyn Eagle modestly claims that New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Indiana, Michigan and California are going Democratic, and believes also that there is a chance of capturing Wisconsin and New Hampshire.

Twelve Republican papers in Albany, Buffalo and Rochester claim the state for Harrison by 10,000 to 15,000, with Miller (Rep.) for governor a little behind.

The Evening Post of New York says the state is too uncertain to offer any prediction.

Col. Sheppard's Mail and Express says: "Harrison will carry every northern state, and possibly one or two of the south. Mills will be defeated at home, and the Republicans may carry New York city."

CONNECTICUT OPINIONS.

In Connecticut the Republicans are sanguine. The Democrats fight shy of the tariff issues, and put their trust in the prohibition vote. The New London Telegraph, the New Haven Register, Hartford Times and Waterbury American, all administration papers, claim the state for Cleveland by a deflection in the Republican ranks to the prohibitionists, but concede the state to the Republicans.

The Hartford Courant, leading Republican paper, claims 5,000 plurality for Harrison, on the strength of the Irish and protectionist vote.

In Michigan Democratic journals headed by the Detroit Free Press, do not claim anything except a reduced Republican vote, but hope a great deal. Six Republican journals estimate Harrison's majority in the state as 10,000.

In Indiana both sides are confident. The Indianapolis Journal and Sentinel figure out the same majority for both sides. All acknowledge that Harrison's residence in the state gives him a great advantage.

In New Jersey the Republicans are doubtful and the Democrats confident. The tariff is lost sight of in the fight over local issues and a hope in the prohibition vote. The Trenton Gazette frankly acknowledges that local issues have jeopardized Republican chances, and the state is very uncertain. The Newark News, Paterson Guardian and five other Democratic papers say it is impossible to predict Democratic plurality, but they feel that the state is certain for Cleveland by a small majority. The Newark Advertiser claims the United States senatorship for the Republicans and says Harrison's chances are good for a small majority.

WEST AND SOUTH.

In San Francisco Democratic newspapers say the state will give a plurality of 5,000 for Cleveland, but Republican papers say the state is good for 10,000 majority for Harrison.

In Virginia the Democrats, according to the Richmond Whig, hope for a majority of less than 5,000, while the Republicans are hopeful.

In West Virginia the Wheeling Register claims the state for Cleveland by only 1,000 plurality, and says there are but little hopes of the Democrats carrying the legislature, which means a Republican senator—the effect of the tariff discussion among the coal miners. Republican journals claim the state by 2,000.

Victor Lawson, of the Chicago News, says all the western states are for Harrison, and the Republicans will carry New York, Connecticut, and Indiana, but lose New Jersey. They may select a Democratic governor in Illinois, but the state will go for Harrison by over 5,000.

Running a Big Steamer.

The steamer City of New York carries a crew of three hundred and ninety-four men. What such a crowd of men can find to do on a small structure like a steamship is a mystery to the landsman. But of these four hundred men thirty-eight are sailors, who manage the rigging and sails, auxiliary to the steam power, and in case of accident taking its place. Then there are twenty-eight engineers, a day force and a night force. A force of one hundred firemen and stokers feed the great boilers that drive the mammoth engines and the steward has one hundred and forty-six people in his command to look after the wants of the passengers and crew. Among these are counted four bakers, three butchers and sixteen cooks, not to speak of waiters, cabin boys and stewardesses. In fact a ship like the City of New York is a city in itself, and has every requisite from barber to chaplain to make its passengers comfortable.

Children

Often need some safe cathartic and tonic sickness, or to relieve colic, headache, sick stomach, indigestion, dysentery and the complaints incidental to childhood. Let the children take Simmons Liver Regulator and keep well. It is purely vegetable, not unpleasant to the taste and safe to take alone or in connection with other medicine.

A New York civil engineer has applied for a patent for a locomotive and tender, by which he claims he can make ninety-five miles an hour with ten coaches.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge

In 1870 it cost to transport a barrel of flour from Chicago to New York $1.60. By the year 1880 this charge was reduced to 87 cents.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY.................OCTOBER 30, 1888.

NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTION.

But one week remains of what has been the cleanest campaign in the history of party politics. It has been a conflict of ideas, and an attempt at political education on a higher plane than heretofore.

The conflict is a tremendous one, the greatest in the annals of the world. Nothing in history presents so sublime a spectacle as two opposing armies of American sovereigns, numbering nearly twelve millions of men, struggling for supremacy and the triumph of what each believes to be right

Partisan papers are already figuring up Republican or Democratic victories. Such prophecies are futile; the shrewdest men do not know how next Tuesday's election is going; the best guessers are at sea, and are liable to be mistaken.

Take the great state of New York, for instance. In 1884, 1,167,000 men voted there; in the two cities of New York and Brooklyn, alone, the registration this fall is 77,000 more than it was in '84. That means that in that state there will 200,000 men vote on next Tuesday that never voted before, in addition to the 1,167,000 that voted in '84. Who can give more than the faintest shadow of a guess as to how this enormous mass of men will go! and this is only one state, of thirty-eight.

It is on that state all eyes are turned. Without it either candidate feels uncertain; with it either feels surer. New York is essential to Democratic success; Harrison by holding the states that gave Blaine their electoral vote and securing Indiana and Connecticut can have 203, or two more than is necessary, even should Cleveland carry New York. But with New York's 36, he could lose Indiana, New Jersey, Connecticut, Michigan and Nevada, and still win.

In New York, outside of the two great cities, the drift is toward Republican ideas. The votes of the young men who next Tuesday vote for the first time, will elect the next president and decide the destiny of the Republican party.

For the Republican party in this year of our Lord 1888, is making a fight, not only for victory, but for perpetuation. If the Republican party loses next Tuesday's fight it will never [illegible]; it will disintegrate and be succeeded by the American party, which stands tiptoe on the eastern horizon; that has not got the elements of permanent rallying about it; it is only a one-idea party, but the idea is growing, and if not absorbed by the Republican or some other progressive party will call around it a host in '92 that will have for their party shibboleth the cry that is fast finding affirmative response.

On the result of next Tuesday's election then depends the question whether the American party shall succeed the Republican party or whether the Republican party will absorb and assimilate the lusty blood that is beginning to swell the veins of the American party.

Either, but not both will lead coming conflicts.

On next Tuesday will also be decided a question more important to the Union than even the question of the chief magistracy—the political majority in the next congress.

We of Oregon elected our representative to the 51st congress last June; but our sister states elect theirs next Tuesday. At present the h[illegible] Democratic and the senate Republican by a bare majority. Next Tuesday will decide how the congress that convenes in its first session on the 4th of next March shall stand politically. It will also decide whether such great, populous commonwealths [illegible] Dakota, and Washington shall stand outside of the American Republic. It decides whether the United States is, or the United States are, and whether we spell the word Nation with a big or a little "n."

It is understood Sir John McDonald will shortly go to England and consult the imperial government on questions connected with the fishery dispute. He will probably be ready to say what he wants as soon as the result of the presidential election is known.

It takes fifteen and a half columns of fine type in the New York Tribune to describe the assembly district and precinct bounds and to name the voting places of the city. There are twenty-four districts and 836 precincts and voting places.

L. Solomon says that his Gray's harbor cannery has been doing a good business this season. He has shipped about 7,000 cases of salmon.

Senator Hearst, proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner, has purchased an old flouring mill near Oregon City and will build one of the largest and most extensive paper mills on the coast.

Mrs. Frank Carr died last Sunday evening of consumption, in the 28th year of her age. Deceased leaves a husband and three children. The remains were taken to Portland last evening for interment.

[illegible] C. Finch has sold the Aberdeen Herald to Mr. Wall, recently from the east. The new proprietor will take possession the first of the month. The paper will hereafter be Democratic. So says the Vidette.

From Chilcat's icy mountains, from [illegible]ile's coral strand to where [illegible]ane's fair fountains roll down [illegible] golden sand, Astorians are re[illegible]ng, and the streets are full of familiar faces, home again from [illegible] foreign and otherwise.

The Portland Mechanics' fair for '88 is closed. Among other attractions was a baby show. [illegible] newspaper man, was one of the judges. Among the babies exhibited was a little girl baby of which he is the father. His little girl baby took the prize, that is the prize was awarded to her. Then Mrs. N. refused to accept the silver medal because E. O. had been one of the judges. So far the medal has not been awarded to any other baby.

The Herald says of fishing on the Coquille: "The fishing season is about closed, and fishermen leaving. The run has not been nearly so good as last year, and far behind that of other seasons. About half the amount of fish was put up this year that was put up last year, and about double the men to do it. There were about 100 gill nets, and seven seines run, and the pack, as claimed by the canneries, was about 8,000. There were none salted to speak of."

The yellow fever in Florida has no effect upon the jokers. One of them lives in Palatka. He rushed into the office of a prominent business man the other morning and said that a girl had come into the city without a certificate. The business man hurried out and blew up the quarantine officers for not attending to business. Then the health board heard of it, and they reprimanded the officers severely. The whole town was fast getting excited, when it was learned that the girl was a baby born to the joker the night before.

On October 10th a man who gave the name of Rustig arrived at Victoria from Portland, in company with G. C. Caukin, and registered at the Clarence. The following evening Rustig endeavored to cash a check drawn in his favor on Garesche, Green and Co., for $200. The proprietors thought something was wrong, and were about to telephone to Mr. Green when Rustig snatched the check and paid the bill out of his pocket. An endeavor was made on the following morning to arrest him. That day Rustig received a telegram from Portland, intended for Caukin, containing an order on the bank for several hundred dollars. He represented himself as Caukin, secured the cash, and, as it is supposed, went to San Francisco.

A GROWL FROM A SUFFERER.

ASTORIA, Oct. 29, 1888.

EDITOR OF THE ASTORIAN:

Our citizens and strangers often wonder why Astoria does not improve and build up as other cities all around us do, and they finally wind up by saying, "Oh! we can not do anything until we get a railroad here," which is all very well, but where would the people live, and how could they, living three and four streets back from Third and Walnut streets get their wood, coal and groceries. Mr. Editor, there are several of our prominent citizens owning blocks and acres of city lots that live surrounded by streets that have neither sidewalks or planked street. One or two have sidewalks oon one side of their blocks, but those are dangerous to cross. I refer more especially to the property in Shively's Astoria, lying between Cedar and Arch, and West Sixth and West Ninth streets, and to-day, after one week's rain, milk wagons will mire down and the residents themselves find it next to impossible to get down town dry shod unless they wore gum boots, and they are beginning to cry, "We must have a railroad!" What for? A Chicago man at my elbow suggests, to haul the moss off their own backs. It must be so. This must be changed before Astoria can be anything but a mud hole. Property owners must improve their own sidewalks and streets so that a man who pays his cash for a lot back of them and builds a home can have the necessaries of life handed to his door at any time of the year. The Astoria will grow as other cities do.

A SUFFERER.

The Corwin to Return to Astoria

Sometime ago at the instance of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary E. C. Holden wrote to the authorities at Washington inquiring regarding the detention of the revenue cutter Thomas Corwin at San Francisco. He has received a reply from the secretary of the treasury saying that the repairs to the Corwin were of a more extensive nature than were at first supposed necessary, but, that as soon as they were completed the vessel would be ordered to return to Astoria.

Eye, Ear and Deformities.

Dr. T. J. Eaton is in the city and will remain for one week. He is at the Parker House. Dr. Eaton has made a specialty of the eye, ear and deformities; has straightened more than one thousand cross-eyes. All inflamed or sore eyes can be cured and sight restored unless disorganization has taken place. Artificial eyes inserted and the most efficient braces for the cure of club feet, crooked limbs, spinal diseases, etc., furnished.

J. G. Megler has purchased the leased ground upon which his cannery was built, of A. J. West, for $1,000. The site includes about 100 feet of water front on the Wishkah river and contains less than an acre of ground.—Aberdeen Herald, 25

THE LATEST SENSATION

General News Notes and Paragraphs.

The Day's Doings As Briefly Related.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A local political sensation was started this afternoon by the Evening Sun. By the state law all public offices are ordered closed after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday. Notwithstanding this law the registration offices were kept open last Saturday all day, and over thirty-three thousand persons registered. As it is impossible to separate those who registered before noon from those who registered later, the Sun states that the entire list may have to be thrown out.

The Sun interviewed fifty leading lawyers and states that they all held that the registration offices are public offices and within the scope of the Saturday half-holiday law.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 29.—This city was visited by two well defined earthquake shocks last night. The shocks were felt at 11:25 o'clock and were preceded by a rumbling sound and three distinct oscillations. They were followed by a tremulous movement preceded by two reports like those of a heavy gun or thunder.

ANOTHER THEORY.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 29.—The Chronicle-Telegraph to-day prints a letter from a young American in London, giving the theory and results of an investigation of a London detective in the Whitechapel murders who declares that the crimes were committed by a woman, or by a man dressed in woman's clothes.

BUTLER GOING TO MICHIGAN.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 29.—Gen. B. F. Butler left yesterday for Michigan to stump the state for Harrison and Morton.

A LOST SCHOONER.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR, Maine, Oct. 29.—An incoming schooner from New York, reports that on the 24th she saw an unknown schooner sink suddenly off Jeffrey's bank. It is believed all on board must have perished.

DEATH OF A JUDGE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Judge Wm. K. McAllister, of Applegate court, one of the most noted of the bench of Illinois, died suddenly at his home in Ravenswood this morning, of heart disease, aged 70.

MORE YELLOW FEVER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Surgeon Hutton, at camp Perry, Fla., and surgeon Uuquhart, at Like Oak, Fla., have telegraphed the surgeon-general that they have undoubted evidence of the existence of yellow fever at Baldwin, Fla.

GONE TO WEST VIRGINIA.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Judge Thurman and party left for Wheeling, W. Va., this morning.

BANDIT KILLED.

HAVANA, Oct. 29.—The famous bandit, Victor Fiagoso, has been killed and some of his companions wounded by the civil guard.

A FAIR DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—In an opinion rendered by justice Bradley in the supreme court of the United States to-day, he declared unconstitutional all state laws imposing license tax on commercial travelers not residents of the states imposing them.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Twenty-one women in convention yesterday nominated Miss Alice S. Stockton of Wheaton, as the candidate of the equal rights party for governor of Massachusetts. The candidate is 26 years of age.

AN AGED MAN.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. Nathaniel Wattes, aged 93 years, died of pneumonia in this city yesterday. He was one of the patriots who on September 13, 1814, repulsed the British attack upon Baltimore.

A RUMORED SALE.

PUEBLO, Oct. 29.—It was rumored here to-day on good authority that on November 1st the Missouri Pacific will assume and take control of the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth Railroad, the latter being absorbed by the Gould system. It is also stated that larger shops will be built at once for the consolidated roads at this point and that the Fort Worth engines are to be marked "Missouri Pacific."

THE POPE'S COMPARISON.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Daily Telegraph publishes an interview with the Pope, in which he refers to Kaiser William as a young man who, having succeeded to the German throne, makes a tour of Europe, then visits the Vatican and interrupts their private interview by suddenly introducing his brother, Prince Henry, before his Holiness had time to discuss grave and important questions of state and religion. The Pope draws a comparison between Emperor Frederick and the present ruler of Germany, very much to the latter's disadvantage.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

PANAMA, Oct. 29.—There is no doubt, if the utterances of the press be accepted as a reflection of public opinion, the people of the Central American republics ardently desire to effect the proposed union of the five republics into one large nation. The only divergence of opinion in regard to the question is whether the union shall be a confederacy. The preponderance of public opinion seems decidedly hostile to the federal form of union.

DYNAMITE IN POLITICS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Post looks up the antecedents of Mezzeroff, the dynamiter, who opened a school here to teach the use of dynamite in politics, and says his name is Rogers. He was born in Belfast, and was at one time a practicing physician in California.

THE WHITE PASHA.

CAIRO, Oct. 29.—Dispatches from Wady Halfa state that the white pasha with a large force is still in Bahr-el-Gazelle. Troops from Omdurman are marching to oppose him.

REVOLT IN BOLIVIA.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A revolution has broken out at the capital of Bolivia. President Pacheco escaped to La Paz, where he is organizing troops. No bloodshed is reported. It is believed that the revolt will soon be suppressed, as the rest of the country favors the maintenance of order.

POSTAL THIEF.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Postal clerk John H. Wilkins has been arrested by inspector Leary for robbing the mails. He was caught in the act of tearing an envelope open. At Philadelphia many letters recently have been missed and $1,000 on the run between Philadelphia and Pittsburg on the Pennsylvania road. Wilkins is suspected of having a large share in the thefts.

A RISKY MAN.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 29.—Michael Cavanaugh, an aged Irish-American, employed in the Pittsburg mill, lately came into possession of $10,000 from the estate of a relative after fighting for it in the courts of New York. To-day Cavanaugh announced that after much pondering as to the best way to double his capital he had come to the conclusion to bet his $10,000 that Harrison will be elected president of the United States.

The Lost Schooner "Makah."

Two dispatches were received at this office yesterday afternoon inquiring about the schooner Makah, and one dispatch was sent to San Francisco making inquiries of her owners there, but very little definite could be learned.

The Makah was a schooner of 600 tons burthen, built at Port Blakeley in 1881 at a cost of $40,000, about a year afterward $4,000 worth of machinery, hoisting gear, etc., having been put in her. She ran in the coasting trade; in 1885 took a million feet of lumber from this city to the isthmus of Panama.

She was owned by Martin Foard, of this city, and Lawrence Foard, and Messrs. Hansen and Thompson of San Francisco. She had been to Acapulco, Mexico, had lately discharged cargo at San Francisco, and was on her way to the Sound in ballast to load lumber for Australia, when last Wednesday, the 24th, she is reported to have been wrecked near the entrance to Tillamook bay. No particulars as to the disaster are obtainable, and as there is neither telegraph nor telephone, several days must elapse before details can be had. The hull of the vessel lies bottom up, and as no signs of life were observable by those who reported the wreck, it is thought that the unfortunate crew are drowned.

Capt. Larsen of the Makah, was master of the ill-fated Gracie Roberts when that vessel was cast away and wrecked near Shoalwater bay last January.

Further particulars are awaited with anxiety.

Hand't Got It Full Yet.

The Independence West Side tells the following: Harley Alexander, the newly appointed postmaster at Buena Vista received his first mail recently in a large mail bag, which he emptied, hung on a hook and proceeded to fill up. Several days having elapsed without any mail being received at this office, J. T. Ford, our ever accommodating postmaster, asked him to send on his mail, and received in reply the following: "Great Scott! You must be in a terrible hurry. I haven't got the blamed sack half full yet!"

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown, to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

An Assured Fact.

The Astoria and South Coast railway is an assured fact. It will run through Tillamook county and come into the valley somewhere, and the citizens of Salem and Albany are working to have it come to their respective cities.—Lebanon Express.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. W[illegible], of Horse Cave, Ky., [illegible], saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malaria Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50 cents and $1, at Jno C. Dement's.

—All the patent medicines advertised in this paper, together with the choicest perfumery, and toilet articles, etc., can be bought at the lowest prices, at J. W. Conn's drug store, opposite Occident hotel, Astoria.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR
NOTHING LIKE IT
Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.
No Home should be Without It.
FOR WHOSE BENEFIT
It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.
A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

Sharks of The Prairies.

Loan companies in Dakota have learned the art of loaning money advantageously. They may not be smarter than other loan companies in other territories and states, but they are smart enough, and have reduced their business to a fine art. This according to the Minneapolis Tribune, is an illustration of the way a loan is made to a settler:

The settler applies for and receives $300 for five years, but the mortgage he gives reads $402.50. The company adds to the sum actually received: (1) Bonus, 5 per cent of $300 for five [illegible] 5 per cent of $375, [illegible] commission, $17.50, which the loan company divides with the agent; (3) examination fee, [illegible] recording fee and abstract, $5 Total as stated. $403.50. The interest on this accumulation is 7 per cent. The company then sells this mortgage in the east at a premium of 5 per cent, making an additional profit of $20.12. The company has advanced $300 to the borrower, and for commissions and expenses about $16.37. The next profit is, therefore, $106.25. The company makes a loan of $300, and in a fortnight sell it, making a clear profit of $106.25.

The settler and the eastern capitalist are the lambs in this transaction. If they could get nearer each other, the middlemen would not make such a profit. This may be one of the incidents of a new country, but it must soon pass away in Dakota if the producer is to get on his feet.

WHAT CREELMAN SAID.

A Dispatch in The New York "Herald."

A dispatch from Leander Richardson of New York to the Pre says: Mr. James Gordon Bennett, the proprietor of the New York Herald, likes nothing better on earth than to shake up people in general. He has just completed a little act in that line which has probably kicked up a greater shindy than anything else that could have been done at this point in the campaign, barring the possible withdrawal of either of the candidates for the presidency. Mr. Bennett arrived in New York a few days ago and assumed active control of the Herald. Consequent upon this move, there has been a general turning over in the office of his paper, as there always is when he arrives from Europe. Usually that action satisfies Mr. Bennett. But this time he has gone a step further, and has shaken up the whole country, or at least the state of New York. The other day—that is to say, about ten days ago—a number of astute political writers more or less connected with the Herald staff were sent up through New York state to see what they could make of the situation. On Sunday of last week there were six dispatches from these gentlemen published in the paper named, all of them going to show that the Democracy had a dead sure thing in the presidential election, as far as the empire state was concerned. On Monday Creelman, the most trusted of Mr. Bennett's lieutenants, and the principal man among the emisaries sent out by the Herald, telegraphed a long private dispatch to the editor that was not intended for publication. Mr. Bennett happened to be in the office when this telegram came in. It was brought to him by his managing editor, and was carefully read through by Mr. Bennett himself. The dispatch stated that unless something of a very extraordinary nature happened the Republicans would come down to Highbridge with a majority of 70,000 votes. It went on to say that if the Democrats of New York city would roll up a majority equal to the task of overcoming this one from the interior of the state there might be some hope of electing Cleveland, but otherwise there was no living chance. Mr. Bennett thought for a moment, and then, turning to his managing editor, said:

"Print that dispatch."

The managing editor looked flabbergasted for an instant, but as none of Mr. Bennett's employes cares to risk that gentleman's wrath by opposing him, no matter what turn his preferences may take, the dispatch was duly edited and published in next morning's Herald. As Mr. Bennett's paper has been the most pronounced Cleveland organ in the great metropolis, this publication created fifty times the sensation that would have been caused by its appearance in any other New York daily. There has been for some weeks a growing conviction at Democratic headquarters that the empire state was practically lost. This conviction has not, however, been shared by the rank and file of the Democracy until the explosion of this Herald bomb. But since this publication there is the wildest and deepest consternation.

Everybody realizes that as New York city gave only something like 38,500 plurality for Cleveland at the last election, there is very little show for nearly doubling that figure in the present contest, particularly as it is in New York city that the dissatisfaction with the administration is most deeply evident. It is here that the federal patronage has been most miserly, and it is among the Democratic leaders of this city that the determination to knife the president is most angrily declared. Under all these circumstances it becomes more and more clearly evident day by day that the man who bets Harrison will carry New York is practically sure of winning his money. When betting on the result first began in this neighborhood odds of two to one on Cleveland were freely offered, and few takers could be found. Everywhere the situation has completely switched, and the prophecy I made in my letter of last week that New York would go Republican seems to stand a stronger chance of fulfillment with every succeeding sunrise.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may some time regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist

A Return to Duty.

This is always desirable, and the sooner it takes place the better. Doubly welcome is it in the case of those usually industrious little organs, the kidneys, which, when they go on a strike—so to speak—and drop work, seriously imperil health in more than one way. First and foremost, their inaction begets their disease, which is hydra-headed, including such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Next, when inactive they fail to assist in removing from the blood impurities that beget rheumatism, gout and dropsy. Third, their inaction weakens the bladder. All this is preventable and remediable by the pleasant promoter of diuretic action, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. [illegible]

WEDNESDAY................OCTOBER 31, 1888.

GO, WEST.

The Best Thing His Lordship Can Do.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—No new developments are expected in relation to minister West's unfortunate blunder, and it is possible that Mr. Cleveland will take no further notice of the matter. The general opinion here is, that whether Sir Lionel fell into a trap deliberately prepared for him, or whether his correspondent in Pomona was inspired by the sincerest motives in writing his letter, that the future usefulness of the British envoy to his government in this country is at an end. Should Mr. Cleveland be re-elected Sir Lionel can never hope to enjoy such intimate relations with the president during his second term as he has during the last four years.

On the other hand if Gen. Harrison is elected no foreign minister who can be accused of having even unwillingly been a contributor to the result can enjoy the impartial esteem of the members af both political parties in this country. That Sir Lionel will be requested to leave the country, or that the British government will be requested to ask his recall, seems highly improbable. Mr. West, however, may of his own resolution request the foreign office in London to transfer him to some more agreeable post.

His lordship recently fell heir to a fortune and title in England, and it is not unnatural that he should wish to visit his new possession and take a rest from his arduous duties.

THE U. S. STEAMER ALBATROS.

After leaving Alaska, the Albatross came south, skirting the shores of Washington territory and Oregon. Off this coast three banks were discovered—one sixty-five miles off Cape Flattery, one thirty miles west of Shoalwater Bay and the third sixty miles west of Point Greenville—the depth of water on these banks running as high as 1,239 fathoms. From Cape Flattery to Gray's Harbor, flounders and other slow-moving food fish were taken with the trawl. The bank off Point Greenville is the most extensive of the three, being twenty-five long by eighteen miles wide, with very shallow water, the average depth being only forty-two fathoms. Although the season was too late for successful halibut-fishing along these banks, some few fish were taken with trawl lines, but the presence of numerous dogfish and sharks gave good reason for the absence of the halibut. In fishing here, however, the trawl lines cannot be left down over night, as they chafe on the rocky bottom, and become too weak to bear any great strain. South of Cape Flattery black cod and red rockfish were taken, but in small numbers.

So far the Albatross has hardly commenced the work mapped out for her, and she will be detained on this coast at least three years. It will be necessary to go over the ground already covered at other seasons of the year, in order to determine when the fish arrive at and when they leave the banks; beside which, many banks on the route passed over have been merely outlined, and have yet to be explored. One of these is the Heceta Bank, 120 miles southeast of Tillamook Rock. The bank is a small one, not more than thirty miles long, but the water is rich in food, and it ought, at certain seasons of the year, to be a favorite haunt for halibut. So far the main work done in Alaska has been the developing of the 100-fathom line, and, of course, in connection with this, a great deal has been learned regarding the richness of the water so far as it provides food for fishes. The richest water has been found off Alaska, where it swarms with shrimps, prawns, crabs, marine worms, small holothurians, mollusks, etc. The Oregon banks are also rich in similar fish food, but not to as great an extent as those of Alaska.

As far as can be determined, the varieties of food fish are about equally divided between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, some kinds being common here which are unknown to our eastern cousins, while they enjoy some varieties which are never caught in our waters. No work has yet been done within two hundred miles of San Francisco, and none will be for some time. The Albatross will probably remain in port for a month and will then pass the winter on the coast of southern California, returning to Alaska in the spring of next year. From Report in S. F. Bulletin.

"The contribution box will now be passed for the heathen fund," announced the minister. "'Let your light so shine,'" etc.

The West Letter Discussed by Salisbury.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 30.—Wm. H. Blake, nominee of the union labor party for governor of Missouri, has sent a letter to the executive committee declining to make the race. The committee is now in session considering what is best to do. It is freely claimed that Blake's withdrawal means a coalition between the union labor and the Republican parties in the state.

A RELIGIOUS MARRIAGE

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The religious marriage of Gen. Boulanger's daughter and captain Briant took place in the church of St. Pierre to day. Many members of the chamber of deputies were present. A throng of people outside of the church cheered Gen. Boulanger when he appeared.

A FORMAL PROTEST.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Queen Natalie has sent a formal protest against the divorce granted to king Milan by the metropolitan of Belgrade to the Greek orthodox synods of Bucharest and Athens, to the holy synod of St. Petersburg, and to the economical patriarch of Constantinople.

A COMPLICATION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The seizure of the American steamer by the Haytien republic has become an international episode, as will be seen by the following letter from the secretary of state, Bayard.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29th.

To Messrs. Lord and Austin, at New York City.

GENTLEMEN: I have to-day acknowledged the receipt of your letter of the 27th instant, in which you inform this department of the seizure of the American steamship by the Haytien republic at St. Marc, and a request that in view of the serious state of affairs in Hayti at present and of the jeopardy in which the lives and property of Americans are now placed, a man of war be sent immediately. The department received information of similar purport, from the United States minister at Port au Prince, and in reply has instructed him to protest instantly against the action of the Haytien authorities, and has informed him that a man-of-war will be ordered to proceed to Haytien waters as soon as possible.

I am, gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
T. F. BAYARD.

A VESSEL TO BE SENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The navy department has been requested by the secretary of state to send a man-of-war to Hayti to look after American interests there which appear to have been jeopardized by the seizure of the American steamers by the Haytien republic at St. Marie, and other disturbing events at Vertu Prince. At present all of the vessels of the north Atlantic station are laid up in the navy yards for repairs except the Boston, which is now at some Central American port beyond reach of the telegraph.

THAT LETTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. Minister Phelps cables that he has returned to London from Hatfield House, where he has been in consultation with Salisbury respecting the letter of minister Sackville West. The department of state has received a cablegram from him fully explaining the situation, which will be laid before the cabinet to-day.

REDMOND RELEASED

DUBLIN, Oct. 30. John Redmond, M P., was to-day released from Tullamore jail. A crowd gave him an ovation.

A SPECIAL AUDIENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Persian minister had a special audience with the president this morning. The secretary of state was present.

FRENCH POLITICS

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The cabinet held a council to-day, at which president Carnot presided. The income tax bill was approved.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30.—A tug exploded her boiler while cruising this morning, killing Capt. John Sullivan, engineer John Sullivan, a cousin of the captain, fireman Edward Sullivan, and lineman Thomas Bandley. The boat was blown to pieces. Frank McGowan, cook, and Thomas Dooley, a chance visitor of the tug, were picked up from among the floating debris by the crew of another tug, which happened to be close by. Both were severely bruised and cut.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

The ladies of the M. E. Church, are preparing to give a very attractive musical and literary entertainment in the church, on Thursday evening, November 8th.

Reem Kanaga returned yesterday from a canvass of Pacific county for John B. Allen, who goes to the 51st congress to plead for Washington's admission to the Union.

The preliminary examination of N. F. Livingstone, charged with raping the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. Cahill, will be held at Justice May's office at two o'clock this afternoon.

The American bark Coloma, Capt. C. M. Noyes, master, is off for Hong Kong, with a miscellaneous cargo of lumber, Chinese, glass, spars, etc. She also has about a dozen white passengers

The sailors on board the Chilian ship Georgiana, at Port Townsend, mutinied last Saturday afternoon, refused to obey orders, and overpowering the captain, bound and beat him. They were arrested.

The steam schooner Signal came in from San Francisco with freight yesterday and proceeded up river. She carries down about 1,200 bushels wheat a month and brings other freight, up and down, the same as the Michigan.

The Columbia is being repaired at San Francisco, and may go on in addition to the Astoria, towing on the bar. At present the Astoria is towing as a sort of independent tug, making her own arrangements as to towing vessels in and out.

The new steam ferryboat, City of Seattle, has been completed and is on hand. She will make an ocean voyage to her destination at Seattle, where she is to ply. She cost $30,000 and looks prettier now than she will after she has arrived at her destination.

The river yesterday was as blue and placid as the sunny sky that curved in beauty above its peaceful waters. Northward fleecy clouds drifted lazily through the tops of the firs, and toward the bar great clouds of white winged sea gulls soared and screamed in the wake of passing vessels.

The luxuries of old world centers and the normal occurrences of the frontier met in juxtaposition yesterday in the local columns of the Oregonian, one item telling of the brilliant rendition of opera by the Emma Abbott company, and right by it another item telling of the payment by the county treasurer of $5 bounty on a bear scalp. Bear scalps and opera!

J. P. Metz, who has been visiting his folks in Middleburn, Tyler county West Virginia, returned yesterday morning. He says that the folks there have had a terrible time of it, the rains washing away their crops. During his sojourn in West Virginia he took notice, politically, and gives it as his opinion that West Virginia's electoral vote will be given to Harrison.

While No. Ones' engine was pumping at the Main street pipe line yesterday, the black smoke attracted the attention of some, who raised the cry of "fire." The bell clanged, and Alerts and Rescues scampered quickly up with their apparatus. There was a hearty laugh and considerable "joshing" then the crowd dispersed and the old [illegible] kept right on pumping.

To-night is Hallowe'en, and in a good many families there will be games and observances of this old time holiday. Apples are pared, the [illegible] making initials of loved ones, [illegible] are burnt, fortunes are told. [illegible] way of telling fortunes is as follows: Names are written with a [illegible]-pointed black pencil on slips of paper, these folded small, the written side inward, then inclosed in pellets of [illegible] meal dough, one in each. They should be as large as a robin's egg [illegible] perfectly round. When all are [illegible], a certain number of balls containing men's names and a like number with women's names inclosed are dropped carefully into a broad basin of water. In a minute they begin to [illegible] cracking as they come up, and must be fished out at once, two together, [illegible] those that rise nearest to each other. If the names [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] a woman, [illegible] [illegible] foretold; if two men pop up [illegible] side [illegible] will remain bachelors; if two women, they will [illegible] spinsters. Some [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] refuse to [illegible] after they [illegible] up. The persons represented by these are thus adjudged to be [illegible] and sullen. The Lost Bark "Makah."

Martin Foard yesterday received the following letter from J. J. Stokes, regarding the lost bark Makah:

"KILCHIS, Oct. 26th, 1888.

The Makah is bottom up in the breakers half mile north of Tillamook bay entrance. All, in fact everything is broken off that would carry away. Cannot find sails or any rigging; no small boats ashore; think she must have capsized outside breakers; two lights were seen off Nehalem last night."

There is still no word of the crew. Yesterday's Oregonian has the following:

A large vessel came on shore here yesterday afternoon, bottom up. She came ashore about three miles north of Tillamook bay, and on the flood tide. The wreckage floated in the bay and quite a number of boats were out picking up things. Some fishermen walking down the beach from Nehalem to Tillamook were the first to see her coming ashore, so they staid there till after she struck. One man picked up the ship's patent log. A lot of the ship's stores came on shore. Up to the time of writing this she has not broken up, but is coming farther up the beach. One board came on shore about four feet long, marked "Makah." The letters were made with copper nails, driven into the wood.

A vessel was seen beating off shore, by several persons from here, on Wednesday afternoon, but we thought it was the Venture, bound here for lumber. On Wednesday night it blew a lively gale from the west, and probably it was she that capsized.

A number of men have just gone down to the beach to see if the vessel broke up any more last night, and if they get back before the mail leaves I will send you more particulars.

W HOSKINS.

The men have just come back from the wreck, and find that she is the bark Makah, in ballast. She is fast breaking up

THE UPPER NEHALEM COAL FIELDS.

ASTORIA, Oct. 27, 1888.

To the Editor of the Oregonian.

Having just returned from a trip into the upper Nehalem from the center of the coal field, a few items in relation thereto may be of interest:

Coal has been found and filed as such in sections 10, 11, 14, 15, 21, 22, 23, 26, 27 28, 34 and 35, all in township 4 N. and 4 W. The center of this coal field is about thirty-two miles from Portland, and thirty-five miles from Astoria by air line, or about twenty or twenty-two miles from Hillsboro and St. Helens respectively. The following is a list of the parties holding coal claims on the above named sections:

	Acres		Acres
J. McKinney	160	N. Johnson	[illegible]
S. J. Rafferty	160	D. B. Grant	[illegible]
C. M. Rivers	160	F. B. Handley	160
C. A. Butler	160	Peter Wills	80
S. Bailey	160	L. Searles	40
A. A. Meade	160	W. Gartell	160
C. M. Kinney	[illegible]	A. Butterfield, Portl'd	160
W. [illegible]	160	G. W. Butler	160
H. Raymond [illegible]	160	G. H. W[illegible]	160
W. Weatherel	160	S. Williams	160
C. Raymond	160	T. L. Nicklin, Port.	160
A. L. McLeod	160	Y. A. Hardy	160
J. Sappington	160	J. C. Bel[illegible]
C. [illegible]	160	S. B. Rose	160
F. Wilkes	160	C. W. Miller Port	160
J. Beckman	160	[illegible]
W. McLeod	160	A. Tyler For. Grove	160
R. C. [illegible]	160	I. J. Roberts	160
J. H. Clark	160	P. J. Smith	160

I chose the veins in section 23 of this township as being the most convenient for me to get at for examination. We took along a pick and shovel. This was a wise precaution as the late rains had caused considerable earth to slide in over the lower parts of the veins at the open cut. After having the earth shoveled away in the open cut, the whole of the measures were here exposed to view in the side of a very steep hill, which I judge was 800 feet high, and made up of solid sandstone principally.

I measured from above downward the thickness of the various strata, as follows:

	Inches	Inches.
Clean coal	13	13
Clay.	2
Clean coal	28	28
Claystone.	6
Clean coal	8	8
Dirty coal (not marketable)	8
Carbonaceous sandstone	24
Clean coal	19	19
Total clean coal		68

Here we have a total of 5 feet 8 inches of good merchantable coal, as it seems to me, all of which can be mined at one working. I do not profess, however, to be an expert. The veins found cropping out in other parts of the field are reputed in some places to be more in thickness of good coal than the above, and at other places less. Mr. Williams, a coal expert, has lately visited and thoroughly examined the croppings on section 34 of this township, and reports measuring 4 feet 8 inches of good merchantable coal to be mined with the one working. Although many exaggerated statements have been made, in some instances carbonaceous shales and sandstones mixed with coal have been mistaken for coal, yet I have not now any doubt of there being sufficient thickness of merchantable coal to make good working mines, and extending through 5,000 acres or more of the land in this township.

If there is capital in this state or east that is seeking a profitable investment in railroad and coal enterprises, it seems to me that here is an extraordinary opportunity for investment offered which it would be well to investigate carefully.

The quality of the coal seems to be very fair, as compared with the coals of this coast. The coal from which the analysis given below was made was taken from a claim on which C. W. Miller has filed. The analysis probably flatters the coal a little as regards the proportion of water found, as it was kept some time in a dry room before being analyzed.

Analysis of upper Nehalem coal:

	Per cent.
Carbon	43.99
Volatile carbon	43.34
Ash	4.36
Water	7.81
Total	99.50

AUG. C. KINNEY.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Another Big Bet.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29.—The wager of $5,000 that Harrison will be elected, made by W. H. Mills, of the Southern Pacific company, was taken up to-day by Isador Townsend, a hotel proprietor, on behalf of several Democrats.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

[illegible] Munday Esq., County Atty. [illegible] Co. Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malaria Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50 cents and $1, at Jno C. Dement's.

Scratched 28 Years

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my sufferings were endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but I feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I took and ..... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it,

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the [illegible] is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and backing cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first [illegible]. It is rapid, radical, permanent [illegible]

Stanley Reported Killed in Africa.

LILLE, France, Oct. 29.—The Echo du Nord states that the president of the geographical society of Lille has received news from Africa that Henry M. Stanley has been massacred, with all his expedition except two men.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Emin relief committee discredits the story of the massacre of the Stanley expedition. The members of the committee do not doubt that Stanley is the "white pasha" reported to be in Berh-el-Gazelle province.

"Dickens Had One Trick,"

Remarked the professor, in a discussion of favorite authors, "which always struck me as an oddity. I mean his habit of pinning some distinctive word or phrase on a character, which must be uttered on all occasions. Now people in real life don't iterate like parrots. At least I know of only one person who is liable to such criticism—young Bowden, my neighbor. The picture of health isn't he? Ruddy cheeks, sparkling eyes, ringing voice. Well, his pet phrase, which I've heard him repeat to perhaps a score of people suffering from coughs and weak lungs, is 'Take Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.' No wonder, either, for it saved him from a consumptive's grave."

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store. Large bottles $1.

WEST'S LETTER.

It is Still the Ruling Sensation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A Washington special says: The United States government has taken such steps as will result in the retirement of Lord Sackville from the office of British minister, beyond doubt. This is about the only statement concerning the outcome of Lord Sackville's unwarranted, impertinent meddling in the perturbing political canvass, that can be made on positive authority here. In all other particulars those conversant with the facts maintain a discreet, studied silence, or speak evasively.

There is every reason to believe that this government has not demanded the recall of Lord Sackville. It has not gone so far, for the simple reason that it expects to see the British minister take his leave without putting the United States to the necessity of making such a demand. It is known in high government circles that the opinion was held that after the plain fact of the minister's correspondence with the undiscovered Murchison had been laid before her majesty's government, the only course would be to call Lord Sackville home.

It is thought by some that Lord Salisbury may possibly permit Lord Sackville to resign, in consideration of the fact that he had served his government more than forty years before making such a colossal blunder, but that would simply be a more considerate way of ordering his recall, and the result would be the same. The plain facts are now in Lord Salisbury's possession, and the American authorities confidently await the inevitable retirement of Lord Sackville that must follow. Minister West has absolutely declined to affirm or deny the truth of a large number of rumors which found their way into print. The impression created by his refusal is that he has had instructions to that effect. The most he would say was that the generality of the published rumors surprised him very much.

THE WRITER KNOWN.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—The Tribune this morning says it has received information that W. A. Bell, the lawyer, did not actually write the Murchison letter to minister West, but that the same was delivered by him to judge Fitz gerald, of the Republican state central committee. The writer of the letter resides at Pomona, is known to the Tribune and his name will be divulged as soon as the occasion requires.

ADVISED TO RESIGN.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Salisbury sent a cipher message to British minister West, at Washington, today, advising him to resign.

THE SECRET SAFE.

POMONA, Cal., Oct. 29.—The holders of the secret of the authorship of the Murchison letter, at a meeting this afternoon, decided not to make the identity of the writer known until after the election, as it might result disadvantageously, the Democrats having threatened his arrest.

CIRCULATING WEST'S LETTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. Thousands of copies of minister West's letter with a picture of the British flag on the other side, have been distributed through the city and are being forwarded to all parts of the country.

WEST FIRED OUT.

Sir Chas. Tupper Likely to Succeed Him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Minister Phelps cables that he has returned to London from Hatfield house, where he has been in consultation with Salisbury respecting the letter of minister Sackville-West. The department of state has received a cablegram from him fully explaining the situation, which will be laid before the cabinet meeting to-day.

MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—Several cabinet ministers, who are in the city confirm the report that Sir Charles Tupper, who is now in London as high commissioner of Canada, has been appointed British minister to Washington, to replace lord Sackville-West.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Standard says: "It is understood that lord Sackville has intimated his readiness to place his resignation in the hands of lord Salisbury,"

The result of the conference between lord Salisbury and American minister Phelps regarding the Sackville letter is made public today.

Phelps informed Salisbury that the president regarded with marked surprise and dissatisfaction the conduct of lord Sackville in replying categorically to a series of suggestions and inquiries couched in language quite improper for the British envoy to entertain. Phelps further said that the American government left the matter of Sackville's recall or withdrawal in the hands of the English ministry.

In reply lord Salisbury said that he deplored the indiscretion of the British envoy and expressed strongly the regret of her majesty's government that so untoward an incident should have arisen in the diplomatic relations of the two powers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—By direction of the president the secretary of state to-day informed lord Sackville-West that for causes heretofore made known to her majesty's government his continuance in his present official position in the United States was no longer acceptable to this government and would consequently be detrimental to the relations between the two countries.

Children

Often need some safe cathartic and tonic sickness, or to relieve colic, headache, sick stomach, indigestion, dysentery and the complaints incidental to childhood. Let the children take Simmons Liver Regulator and keep well. It is purely vegetable, not unpleasant to the taste and safe to take alone or in connection with other medicine.

Among the continental armies the German soldiers have the longest legs, judging by the length of step. It is eighty centimeters. The step of the French, Austrian, Belgian, Swiss and Swedish is seventy-five centimeters, and of the Russian seventy-one centimeters. Thirty centimeters make a foot.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: "My experience in the English army, as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifies the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

She—Senator, you are a protectionist? He—Undoubtedly, miss. She—Then, why don't you put a tariff on foreign beauties, who come out here in droves and crowd us out? He—My dear miss, we never put a tariff on goods when the home product is abundant and above foreign competition.—Time.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

The most original suicide yet comes from Yadkin county, N. C., where one Rufe Revis broke into his neighbor's still room, and putting one end of a syphon in a barrel of whisky and the other in his mouth, got so entirely full that he had not space for breath.

CARELESS MOTHERS.

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so

The running of a locomotive is becoming a position of more responsibility, while the dangers of the position are becoming less. And with these changes the more important is it becoming to have competent men on the footboard. A few years ago the engineer had no air-brake to take care of, but he might get killed for the want of one. If he wanted to stop bad, he whistled "down brakes," put her in the "breechin," and waited for the brakemen to get in their work. Now every improvement puts more cares on his head and hand. He has the care of and handles a complicated brake, he is responsible for the observance of a thousand signals, the heat of the cars has been asked from his supply, and he will soon have another little engine and a dynamo to care for; yet with all these things to look after, unless one stops to think a moment, an engineer is looked upon as a man who has a soft snap.

If the object of the tariff is to lighten the farmer's burdens as it claimed, why not reduce it on sugar and rice, which the farmer has to buy, instead of removing it from wool, which he raises to sell? The Mills bill provides that sugar be protected 68 per cent., and rice 100 per cent., and that wool shall have no protection at all.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

There is a new high-wire act. Two men starting from different ends of a slack wire meet and pass each other, going by on a waltz step. A woman actually dances on the wire, and a man trots across it with a companion upright on his shoulders.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

According to the Russian census taken in 1884 and 1885, the population of the empire at that time was 108,787,000. These figures are regarded as only approximative, since over a large portion of the field it is not possible to obtain exact data.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 1, 1888.

MR. THURMAN has obtained a certificate which entitles him to register on the 5th of November at Columbus. This is necessary under the law.

SOME individual with a taste for statistics has ascertained that 500,000,000 words of partisanship and tariff and prohibition and general oratory are uttered every seven days of this political canvass

THE registration in New York city will exceed that of 1884 by 50,000. Chairman Quay thinks the proportion of new voters will be equally divided. Chairman Barnum says two-thirds will be Democratic.

THE next census will show a national population of upward of seventy millions, and before the present century closes all the present territories will probably be numbered as states of the Union.

MORE than one-sixth part of the land of the globe and nearly one-sixth part of the population of the world are under the control of Great Britain; Russia ranks second in territorial extent, and the United States third.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT arrived from Europe, Sunday week. About his first work in the Herald office was to adopt the French system of having each item published, written in the first person singular, and signed with the name or initials of the writer.

THE London Standard's correspondent at Shanghai says: Reports from Corea indicate that the declaration of the independence of that country may shortly be expected. The Russian and American representatives support the king, and the movements of American and Russian men-of-war lend credibility to the rumor.

THE Atlanta Constitution, of October 22, says, "Now is the time for Atlanta to quiet down on the prohibition issue." Certainly: talk is all right, but the south is too sharp to fool away good votes. By the way, in the close state of New York is where the prohibitionists are getting in their fine work, as in '84. They are working hard to beat Harrison in the pivotal state.

TYPOGRAPHICAL errors are generally excusable, but most certainly as to this time with the Jacksonville Times-Union, which apologized on Saturday of last week for some recent errors, by making the pathetic announcement that the paper is "without foreman, proof reader or copy holder in its composing room." Edwin Martin, the Union's editor, died on the day following the publication of this explanation.

CANADA, with a debt relatively a dozen times as large as the United States, proposes to spend $220,000 a year, to which Great Britain adds $80,000 more, to keep three steamers afloat on the Pacific, aiding the Canadian Pacific to take the through trade of American lines. When our own solitary line on the Pacific, which our government refuses to aid, succumbs to this subsidized competition, as the Collins line did to the like competition of English liners on the Atlantic, free trade papers will stand ready to assure us that the result is due to protection, when the real reason is the absence of the protection England gives its lines all over the world.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

On The Exit of Milord Sackville.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Sun says editorially of Lord Sackville's recall: "If Mr. Cleveland has erred in his treatment of this annoying incident, it has been on the side of over-deliberation, and yet it may be thought that the humiliation of the British government is greater since it failed to take advantage of the loophole of escape offered it by Mr. Cleveland, and its minister is not recalled by it but warned to quit by the government to which he is accredited. Mr. Cleveland has reasserted the great commandment of 'mind your own business,' and future English ministers to this country will probably stick to it."

The Times says: "The incident is ended in a manner altogether creditable to the administration at Washington, and with the least possible harm. There is only one way in which it is now likely to have any effect upon voters, and that is through the contempt it must excite for the party for which it in all probability was put up! The whole scheme was for campaign effect. There is nothing more to be deprecated in our politics than the assumption that there are classes of voters whose action is to be determined by appeals to prejudices founded on national distinctions that have no legitimate connection with our own affairs."

Tribune: A prompt [illegible] istered the instant Lord Sackville was discovered meddling in our election might have caused the people in their satisfaction with such [illegible] of executive dignity to overlook the fact that the British minister was [illegible] ing in Cleveland's interest [illegible] knew it was to the interest of Great Britain, but the president waited too long. He did not discover anything wrong in the matter till the [illegible] in country showed that exposure was hurting him. Then he got mad. The minister goes in disgrace. His electioneering message remains behind. That cannot be recalled."

Herald: "The dignity and self-respect of the country, and Mr. Cleveland's own dignity, required, if so unpleasant a thing were to be done, that it should be done quietly, decently, without bluster. Give Mr. Bayard his passports to Delaware, Mr. Cleveland. You cannot afford to have such an incompetent and hystericky person as your adviser. If you retain him he will, before you know it, make you ridiculous in the face of the whole world. Or, if you must keep him, do not take his advice on any subject except terrapin."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 31.—Commenting editorially on the action of the president in having Lord Sackville informed that his presence is no longer acceptable to our government, the Examiner says: "The president has taken the manly straightforward course. This is also natural to him. The agreeable and politic thing to do would have been to make a show of indignant and energetic action until after the election, and then gradually to let the matter fade out of sight, but Mr. Cleveland is not an adept in tricks of this kind. A thing that is serious enough to demand the pretense of acting is serious enough in his eyes to demand the acting."

The Chronicle says that Lord Sackville simply wrote a personal letter to a correspondent at Pomona, this state, expressing sentiments the truth of which he thought could be naturally drawn from the observations of a man in his surroundings. "Sackville must go, but he leaves the letter behind him, and his exit does not alter the truth a single particle."

THE HOOSIER STATE.

Both Sides Claim To Have The Pull.

Every One In Dead Earnest In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—Things are very quiet these past few days around the political headquarters, both Democratic and Republican, and in striking contrast with the bustle and excitement of a month ago. Newspaper correspondents, who almost hourly visit both headquarters, are politely and abruptly informed, "Nothing to-day," and to the uninitiated it looks as though the campaign was growing dull and uninteresting. To any one, however, who has followed the campaign in Indiana from its opening, it is apparent that the third and last stage has been reached, at least at head-quarters. The speech-making or "gaseous" period is being superseded by the mathematical or "business" stage. The political issues of the campaign are no longer discussed about headquarters. They have been worn threadbare by the 2,000 orators engaged nightly on each side throughout the state, to say nothing of the distinguished speakers from the outside like Thurman, Hill, Mills, Blaine, Foraker and others who have addressed countless thousands in their canvass. This new and silent stage of the campaign involves no decrease in work or energy displayed at both headquarters; on the contrary, both state committes are employing a larger clerical force to-day than at any time since the campaign opened. Tons of public documents have been distributed by each committee, yet every train from Washington continues to pour in bag after bag of congressional literature, which is being disposed of as fast as possible. In addition to the large corps engaged in this work another and larger force of clerks is compiling the reports from the county committees and forwarding private circulars giving instructions regarding the election.

Never were two great political parties engaged in more serious and deadly warfare than the Democratic and Republican parties of Indiana to-day. They do not jest with one another as in other years, but each man speaks his convictions with a seriousness only paralleled in war days. Both state committees have thus far taken two careful polls of the entire voting population of the state. The result of these polls is kept a profound secret by both sides, and while the writer believes he could state with reasonable accuracy the aggregate figures as returned to each committee, it would be a violation of confidence to say more than that one committee seems highly elated over their second poll, while the other professes itself satisfied at the showing. There is reason for believing that each committee is now engaged in taking the third and final poll of the state, the result of which will scarcely be known to the committee before the 4th of November. Never in the history of Indiana were these house to-house polls taken with such frequency and care. From information gleaned from reliable sources on both sides, it may be stated as a fact that each party estimates the floating vote of Indiana at from 18,000 to 20,000. A large proportion of this vote is regarded by managers of both parties as subject to influences at the last moment, and it is this floating vote that now occupies the chief attention of both committees. A large preponderance of this vote, possibly two-thirds of it, is commonly credited with residing south of Indianapolis. County committeemen from the five congressional districts occupying this territory are found in frequent consultation at both headquarters.

THURMAN ON MURCHISON'S LETTER.

At Wheeling W. Va., Last Tuesday Night.

You can see that it was the letter of a villain right on the face of it. The British minister was such an ass that he didn't know there was any trap set for him. The letter came out in the newspapers just in time for Blaine's speech, and Blaine got on the stand and threw up both hands and cried out—I don't give his exact words—: "Great God! What is this country coming to?" There was no necessity for that exclamation of Blaine. The British minister had done what he ought not to have done, and if I ain't very much mistaken he will find that out before long and have his carpet bag packed for return to England. Just on the eve of election that fraud, comes out, and no man can uphold it without being an aider and abetter of a disgraceful fraud. That thing has fallen just as flat as a pancake. It is clear gone, and with it all their efforts to embarrass one of the best presidents who ever occupied the president's chair. My friends, they cannot do it

BLAINE ON MURCHISON'S LETTER.

At Albany N. Y. Last Tuesday Night

The letter had been published for four days, and lord Sackville had admitted it, and Mr. Bayard had three times criticised it by saying it was a private affair and none of his business; and I referred to it in a public meeting, and now Mr. Collins says it is the most remarkable conspiracy of modern times. Anything to get that off their shoulders. No Republican administration ever had the intervention of a British minister and never will. England would resent to the last degree any intervention in her affairs by our minister, and if people want to resent it they can resent it one week from to-day, in a very simple way. They can resent it by voting for Benjamin Harrison for president. They can resent it by voting for protection to American manufactures; they can resent it by restoring to power, with whose existence the prosperity of the United States for twenty-four years was identified, the Republican party, which in peace and in war has had the high honor of the country at heart under all circumstances

The Gen. Miles goes to Gray's harbor at seven o'clock to morrow morning

A case of small pox is reported at Carson's mill in the suburbs of Tacoma.

The Jason and the Argo crossed out yesterday. The Olive S. Southard still abides.

William Walker of Gray's river, who has been ill of typhoid fever at St Mary's hospital, is recovering.

The British bark Embleton 1,196, arrived in yesterday from San Pedro. This is her third visit to this port to carry wheat to England.

Dried apples, straight, and water is what the Albina folks will feed jail prisoners there in future. The aforesaid future has a new terror for tramps in Albina.

A reception will be tendered to the members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association in their hall to-morrow evening by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

At Tuesday evening's council meeting mayor Page directed needed attention to the antiquated arrangements that are doing duty as street lamps. They need overhauling and repair.

The Idaho arrived in from the far north yesterday and after some little palaver the Chinese that she brought down from Alaska were allowed to land. She goes to Portland this morning.

At the June election the vote of Clatsop county was 2,024; divided as follows; Republican, 1,076; Democratic, 877; Prohibition, 71; Republican plurality, 199; Republican majority, 128: the vote for congressman is here taken as the basis of comparison.

Four men who arrived yesterday from Tillamook report a full rigged British ship ashore there in addition to the wrecked barkentine Makah. They were unable to give the name of the vessel or the exact location of the wreck, and nothing definite could be learned.

No. 84,603 is the number of a United States note for $1 for which Gustav Hansen has refused $20. It is a genuine continental currency bill, a relic of the days "when the old Continentals, in their ragged regimentals, faltered not," and was issued in 1779.

Messrs. Taylor, Morgan, Warren, Conn and Crosby, directors of the Astoria and South Coast Railway Co., go on the Electric to Skipanon, this morning, to meet and confer with engineer Thielsen, who comes up from Seaside, relative to the right of way, probable changes, etc.

The Geo W. Elder has the following named passengers: Miss Reynolds, J. J. McCoy, F. G. Fried and wife, Franks and Odell, E. N. Normaid, J. V. Folley, J. Dudesheim Soule, G. Constine, H. Miller and wife, C. K. Melrose, Mrs. Simons, Wm. Fletcher and Petti Lynd

The preliminary examination of N. Livingstone took place before Justice May yesterday afternoon. Mr. Cahill's little girl, a pretty and interesting child, of eight years of age, was the principal witness. At the close of the examination Justice May held the defendant in the sum of $5,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury. He was remanded to jail.

Lorentz Foard, of San Francisco, a brother of Martin Foard, of this city, is of the opinion that the lost Makah capsized in mid ocean, and drifted into Tillamook. She had twelve men on board—Capt. Larsen, two mates, the cook and eight men before the mast, all of whom are given up as lost. The barkentine was valued at $40,000 and was insured for $15,000. The cargo is thought to have been fully [illegible]

As election day approaches more interest is manifested in the result, and on every street corner one hears discussions as to New York, Indiana, California, Michigan, etc. Usually these opinions are more in harmony with the wishes than the judgement. When a man goes so far as to express his belief that Oregon is going for Cleveland and Thurman, it looks as if he would have difficulty in offering good reasons for his belief, or else that he was giving the words "going for" a double meaning.

The correct name of a nutritious grass indigenous to a portion of California is [illegible] the agricultural editor of the [illegible] yesterday's issue of that paper, the [illegible] that the [illegible] paper gives [illegible] of the word [illegible] is mistaken, as our able contemporary ungrammatically states, it "don't make much difference but as a matter of fact the editor of this paper [illegible] the correct spelling of the word

With the exception of a Democratic turn out next Monday evening, it is not likely that in this "campaign of ideas," there will be any more active political work manifested in this vicinity between now and election day. There ought, and doubtless will be a full vote on the 6th inst. Every man able to move one foot before the other should turn out and cast a vote. It is votes that count, and no difference how busy a man may be, it is a duty he owes to his country and his party to exercise his sovereign right of suffrage on election day.

L. E. Selig returned yesterday from Portland, where he has been negotiating for the appearance of the Emma Abbott English opera company. He has been successful and the charming cantatrice, will appear here on the 16th inst.,—provided, that suitable arrangements can be made with the O. R. & N. Co. for the night boat to lie over till one A. M., so that the troupe can get back to Portland in time for a Saturday matinee on the 17th. This last point has not been definitely decided upon, but it is probable that all necessary arrangements will be made, and that Astorians will have an opportunity to see the leading lyric lady of the day in English opera. It is the intention to produce "Faust" on that occasion.

An interesting point, says the Albany Herald, has been raised in the suit of Sol Abraham vs. the Oregon & California Railroad company, now on trial before judge Shattuck in Portland. Among other things plaintiff sues for a large quantity of timber alleged to have been taken from his land by the defendant corporation, and the company justifies the action by claiming that it is entitled, under the act of congress granting lands to railroads, to take timber and other material from any adjacent land for the construction of its roads; and although plaintiff may have obtained a patent on the land from the United States since the passage of the act of congress, yet he took it subject to the defendant's claim to use the timber in the construction of its roads

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. W. Fulton and wife returned from Portland yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Poindexter leave to-day for their home in Alameda, Cal.

Sheriff Albert of Wahkiakum county, is in the city. He is accompanied by Mrs. Albert.

PORTLAND, Oct. 31.—The lawyers for Wilcox and McIsaacs this morning asked that the case be tried before judge Shattuck. Judge Stearns gave till Saturday for completing the application. The change of venue will probably be granted.

Great difficulty is encountered in getting a jury for the Ben King and the second trial. The case was begun at 2 o'clock and is still going on. King was the confederate of Frank Anderson in the $10,000 robbery from the Northern Pacific Express company last summer.

CALL IT SACKVILLE.

MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Oct. 31.—A faint comet with a nucleus and tail, was discovered by Mr. Barnard at the Lick observatory at 4:51 this morning. Its position was R. A. nine hours, forty-six minutes south declination, fifteen degrees twenty-two minutes; motion northeast.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Herald's London special's reported appointment of Sir Chas. Tupper, is not given serious consideration on this side of the water. It is simply attributed to a few of Tupper's friends in Canada.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 31.—The official statement regarding the accident to the czar's train on Monday, is as follows:

The train containing the czar and czarina, and suite, left Tranovka at noon Monday. While passing through a deep gorge near Berke the train left the rails. At the time of the accident the czar and czarina were in the saloon carriage at breakfast. When the first carriage left the track, the rest of the train oscillated, and each succeeding carriage keeled over. The saloon carriage remaining on the track was badly shattered. The roof fell in but rested on a portion of the side, thus forming a shield for the occupants. It seems incredible with such havoc that any occupants should have escaped unhurt, but God protected the czar's family, who were taken from the debris uninjured. Some other occupants of the train received slight contusions. The only person severely injured is Gen. Scheremitz, aid de camp of the czar.

KILLED IN THE STREET

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 31.—During the parade last night Dollie Phillips, aged 20, was murdered on the street. She was standing watching the parade when a man approached, pointing a revolver at her, and said, "There, take that." She fell with a bullet in her head, and died in a few minutes later. The murderer, who escaped, is a man named Galloway, the cause of the shooting is unknown

Twelve Salmon to The Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. Oct 30 The steamer Karluk, belonging to the Karluk packing company, returned from the north to-day bringing 100,000 cases of salmon which embraces a catch of 1,200,000 fish. Capt. J. B. Matthews, who is superintendent of the company, came down on the steamer. He states that it is the largest catch ever made by any company. The season begins about June 1, and ends September 15, at which date the fish quit running. The fishing is done with seins about 100 fathoms long, and the location is the mouth of the Karluk river, about ninety miles from Kodiak. The vessel brought down about thirty Chinese, the remainder of those who have been employed in the canneries. She docked and all were landed. The trip down was made in eight days and nineteen hours.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malaria Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50 cents and $1, at Jno C. Dement's.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

HE NEVER SAID IT.

He Is Too Shrewd a Statesman to Say It.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Republican national committee has received the following telegram from Senator John A. Sherman, dated Nelsonville, Ohio "There is not one word of truth in the statement, published in some Democratic papers, that I said Indiana was lost or likely to be lost to the Republicans. I have not been there yet, but will go this week."

Off Shore Soundings.

We passed cape Flattery at midnight, and next morning we were off point Greenville, and at 1:30 P. M. we passed Gray's harbor, and commenced sounding every five miles, running in a SW. directions. From Shoalwater bay the soundings were very regular; 27 fathoms, 38, 57, 153 and 432 fathoms at twenty-five miles off shore.

Off cape Disappointment, distant 10 miles, 81 fathoms, 231, 421, 475 and 506; off Columbia river, with St. Helens bearing E., the sounding 10 miles off showed 62, 68, 75, 102, 106 and 800; off Clatsop, 60, 73, 82, 96 and 99.

The soundings off the Columbia to 601 fathoms indicated the ancient river bed, a ravine probably scoured out by glacier action as Puget sound was scoured out by that avalanche of waters caused by the melting of the great ice mountains of the glacial period.

The inshore portion of this great ravine has been filled up with sand, brought down by the Columbia in all those eons of ages which have passed since the glacial period ceased.

In the deep water dredging we found plenty of shrimp and prawns, one specimen of black cod, and some echina, or sea urchins of the Japanese type, known as Schizaster Japonica, and some queer fish which had probably been brought from the Asiatic side of the Pacific by the Japanese current of the Kuro Sebeivo.—From notes of the trip of the Albatross, by J. G. Swan, in Port Townsend Argus.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

L. M. HINTON, M.D., Washington, Ark.

Extent of The Canadian Dominion.

The dominion of Canada is composed of seven provinces and a number of vast territorial districts, which correspond to the territories of the United States. The provinces bear a relation to the individual states. They are unequal in size, British Columbia having 300,344 square miles of area, and little Prince Edward's island containing only 2,133 square miles. Quebec has 193,355 square miles, Ontario has 107,780, Nova Scotia 21,731, New Brunswick 27,322, and Manitoba possesses 113,961. The enormous northwestern territory, which has been subdivided into Alberta, Saskatchewan and Athabascka, comprises 1,619,502 square miles, Keewaytin 895,306, the Arctic islands 311,700, and the islands of Hudson bay 23,400. Here is an area in the aggregate of 3,406,542 square miles of God's earth under the ægis of Great Britain.

Polyglot is the population thinly scattered over the land. There are 1,200,000 Frenchmen, the Emerald isle has contributed 925,000 and the Land o' Cakes has 555,000 representatives. Three hundred thousand persons trace their near descent to Germany; there are about seventy thousand relatives of Taffy the Welchman, and the so-called Scandinavians number about eleven thousand souls. Ontario, the most thoroughly English province, has a population of 1,700,000 in round numbers; Quebec contains 1,600,000, of whom 1,100,000 are French. Nova Scotia consists of 450,000, New Brunswick nearly 400,000, Prince Edward island 120,000, British Columbia 120,000, and Manitoba approximately 175,000.

Blinks—There comes Jinks. Let's get away from him. He thinks he's a political prophet, and does nothing but bore everybody he meets. Klinks—Let him come; I'll shut him up like a jackknife. "Eh? You won't threaten to strike him, will you?" "No, I'll offer to bet with him."—Philadelphia Record.

It must be pretty hard for a woman to lead "in fashion." Out of 500 toilets and 750 hats surveyed on a recent afternoon on Broadway no two were alike, while all were fashionable.

A Pennsylvania horse has been discovered that will eat a double handful of the strongest kind of chewing tobacco. He also has a remarkable appetite for bologna sausage and hot peanuts.

"The race problem will never be solved until the negro voters are divided," shouted an Arkansas orator. Then he sharpened up his bowie and divided one of them. —Terre Haute Express.

In a ball-room assembly a soft young man said to a sweet girl: "May I sit on your right hand?" Her quick answer was: "Why, of course not! You'd better take a chair."

The season of the year has arrived in Kansas when, notes a local paper, a man who goes ten miles from home wants to take along at least three grades of underwear.

Mistress—If you break another dish, I will take it out of your month's wages. Bridget—Well, mum, If yez can collect it from yersilf it's more nor I kin do.

BEFORE IT IS BORN.

Some Startling Statements of General Interest.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, on being asked when the training of a child should begin, replied, "A hundred years before it is born."

Are we to infer from this that this generation is responsible for the condition of the race a hundred years from now?

Is this wonderful generation the natural result of the proper diet and medicines of a hundred years ago?

It is conceded in other lands that most of the wonderful discoveries of the world in this century have come from this country. Our ancestors were reared in log cabins, and suffered hardships and trials.

But they lived and enjoyed health to a ripe old age. The women of those days would endure hardships without apparent fatigue that would startle those of the present age.

Why was it?

One of the proprietors of the popular remedy known as Warner's safe cure, has been faithfully investigating the cause, and has called to his aid scientists as well as medical men, impressing upon them the fact that there cannot be an effect without a cause. This investigation disclosed the fact that in the olden times simple remedies were administered compounded of herbs and roots, which were gathered and stored in the lofts of the log cabins, and when sickness came on, these remedies from nature's laboratory were used with the best effects.

What were these remedies? What were they used for? After untiring and diligent search they have obtained the formulas so generally used for various disorders.

Now the question is, how will the olden time preparations affect the people of this age, who have been treated, under modern medical schools and codes, with poisonous and injurious drugs. This test has been carefully pursued, until they are convinced that the preparations they now call Warner's Log Cabin remedies are what our much abused systems required.

Among them is what is known as Warner's Log Cabin sarsaparilla, and they frankly announce that they do not consider the sarsaparilla of so much value in itself as it is in the combination of the various ingredients which together work marvelously upon the system. They also have preparations for other diseases, such as "Warner's Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy," "Log Cabin hops and buchu remedy," "Warner's Log Cabin hair tonic." They have great confidence that they have a cure for the common disease of catarrh, which they give the name of "Log Cabin rose cream." Also a "Log Cabin plaster," which they are confident will supplant all others, and a liver pill, to be used separately or in connection with the other remedies.

We hope that the public will not be disappointed in these remedies, but will reap a benefit from the investigations, and that the proprietors will not be embarrased in their introduction by dealers trying to substitute remedies that have been so familiar to the shelves of our druggists. This line of remedies will be used instead of others. Insist upon your druggist getting them for you if he hasn't them yet in stock, and we feel confident that these new remedies will receive approbation at our reader's hands, as the founders have used every care in their preparation.

The novelty of having a baby in the house is like the trade mark on a cake of soap; it soon wears off.—Atchison Weekly Globe.

A Return to Duty.

This is always desirable, and the speedier it takes place the better. Doubly welcome is it in the case of those usually industrious little organs, the kidneys, which, when they go on a strike—so to speak—and drop work, seriously imperil health in more than one way. First and foremost, their inaction begets their disease, which is hydra-headed, including such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Next, when inactive they fail to assist in removing from the blood impurities that beget rheumatism, gout and dropsy. Third, their inaction weakens the bladder. All this is preventable and remediable by the pleasant promoter of organic action, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, at once a tonic and a regulator. This gently but effectually impels the kidneys to return to duty, and strengthens them and the bladder. Upon the bowels, stomach and liver it likewise exerts a regulating and invigorating influence, and it strengthens the system, and averts and remedies malaria and rheumatism.

At the banquet tendered to Henry Villard last week in St. Paul, Minn., the German language alone was used.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

THE DOCTOR'S ADVENTURE.

"I believe, captain," said the doctor, "I never told you about my adventure with a woman at my boarding house when I was attending the lectures?"

"No; let's have it."

This was the reply of the individual addressed as the "captain"—a short, fat, flabby man of about fifty, with a highly nervous temperament and a very red face.

"Well at the time I attended the lectures I boarded in a house in which there were no females but the buxom landlady and an old colored cook."

Here the officer made a momentary pause; and the captain, by way of requesting him to go on, said nervously: "Well?"

"I often felt the want of female society, to soften the severe labors of hard study, and dispel the ennui to which I was subject."

"Well?"

"But as I feared that forming acquaintances among the ladies might interfere with my studies, I avoided them all."

"Well?"

"One evening, fatigued in body and mind, after listening to a long lecture on physical anatomy, and after dissecting a large negro, I went to my lodgings."

"Well?"

"I went into the hall, took a large lamp, and went directly to my room, it being then past one o'clock."

"Well?"

"I placed the light upon the table and commenced undressing, but had hardly got my coat off when my attention was attracted by a dress and a quantity of petticoats lying on a chair near the bed——"

"Well?" repeated the captain who began to show unmistakable signs of getting deeply interested.

"And a pair of beautiful shoes and stockings on the floor. Of course, I thought it strange, and was about to retire and lodge for the night in another room, but then I thought, as it was my room, I had at least a right to know who was in my bed——"

"Exactly," nodded the captain, emphatically. "Well?"

"So I took the light, went softly to the bed, and, with a trembling hand, drew aside the curtain. Heavens! what a sight! A young girl—I should say an angel—of about eighteen, was in there asleep."

"Well," said the captain, giving his chair a hitch.

"As I gazed upon her I thought I had never witnessed anything more beautiful. From underneath a little nightcap, rivaling the snow in whiteness, fell a stray ringlet over a neck of alabaster—"

"Well?" said the excited captain, giving his chair another hitch.

"Never did I look upon a bust more perfectly formed. I took hold of the coverlet, and softly pulled it down—"

"Well?" said the captain, betraying intense excitement.

"To her shoulder."

"Well?" said the captain, dropping his paper and crossing his legs.

"She had on a night-dress that buttoned up before; and softly I unloosened the two first buttons—"

"WELL?" said the captain, wrought up to the highest pitch of excitement.

"And then, oh ye Gods! what a sight to gaze upon! A Hebe, a —pshaw! words fail. Just then—"

"WELL?" said the captain, hitching his chair uneasily from side to side, and squirting a volume of tobacco juice against the stove, making it fairly fizz.

"Then I thought I was taking a mean advantage of her; so I carefully covered her up, seized my coat and boots, and went and slept in another room."

"It's a lie!" fairly shouted the excited captain, jumping up and kicking over his chair. "IT'S A LIE!"

Lord Sackville's Letter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The lordly mess in which the British minister has involved himself is the most engrossing political topic here to-night. The general impression in both Republican and Democratic circles is, to use a popular vulgarism, that lord Sackville's "name is mud," so far as diplomatic service in this country is concerned. All day Republican messengers were circulating through the Irish districts of the city sounding the feeling on the subject of the now famous letter. The reports to-night were to the effect that large accessions to the Republican party may be looked for as the result.

Sackville's letter has undoubtedly achieved a purpose that was impossible by other means, and the Democrats appreciate this to their sorrow. Tens of thousands of copies of the English lord's letter, with a picture of the British flag on the other side, have been distributed through the city, and are being forwarded to all parts of the country. The Democrats are endeavoring to neutralize the effect of this as best they can, but thus far they have discovered nothing that will avail. The visit of Hon. Pat Collins and John Boyle O'Reilley, and their star-chamber interview with the president on Saturday on the subject of lord Sackville's recall, demonstrates the importance attached to the issue by the Irish Democrats

CARELESS MOTHERS

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Editor Charles Emery Smith of the Philadelphia Press was at Fifth Avenue hotel to-day, and said: "I think, from what I have seen, heard and know, that Gen. Harrison will certainly carry New York, Indiana and Connecticut. I have never seen a campaign that promised better for the Republican cause. In Pennsylvania the usual majority of 80,000 will be increased, if anything. We will gain two congressmen, and one will be from W. L. Scott's district. Sam Randall will be re-elected.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 31.—In a brief speech here Thurman said neither Murchison, Sackville nor any other bugaboo could prevent the Democratic party from winning.

Murchison of Pomona, Cal., says he wrote to Lord West just to see what he would say. His curiosity was fully satisfied.

Eighty-two thousand rabbits were destroyed in one station in Menindie district, New South Wales, last month.

The last census of India indicates a population of 68,982,000. There are 6,000,000 more males than females.

The London papers all pity Sackville and think we are going crazy over the election.

FRIDAY ....NOVEMBER 2, 1888.

A MISTAKE.

In the discussion of bar pilotage and towage it is a mistake to assume that either can be dispensed with. The one is as necessary as the other. The fact that a ship sails in without a tug; the fact that a ship heavily laden crosses out without a pilot, proves nothing. That either is done is an error; that such an error has not before this resulted in disaster is due more to good luck than anything else.

Every sailing vessel that crosses the Columbia bar should have a tug and a pilot. To do without either is false economy. The absence of either is liable to occasion a terrible disaster.

The Columbia bar is yearly becoming less and less of a bugaboo, but one catastrophe would hurt us to an incalculable extent. The only way to avoid disaster on the bar is to employ agencies that will surely obviate the possibility of danger.

Let an accident happen whereby a vessel is at the mercy of the waves and she is flung on Clatsop spit, and up go the rates of insurance one per cent.

These are facts that can not be written down or denied. Any discussion or suggestion in or out of the legislature must have the truth of these facts acknowledged, to intelligently deal with the case.

To ignore their truth is a mistake.

NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTION.

The result of next Tuesday's election is a foregone conclusion so far as this state is concernd. That was settled last June. As the same issues are presented now that were then, the presumption is that the verdict of the people will be the same, and the fact that Oregonians don't want free lumber nor free wool, nor the sectional Mills bill, will receive the emphasis of repetition.

It would be an insult to the intelligence of our readers to adduce argument additional to that already so copiously cited. The question for each voter to ask himself is, "What is best for my country?" If he honestly believes that it is better for this country to degrade itself to the level of less fortunate nations; to attack its prosperity and reduce our national opportunities for acquiring wealth, he will of course vote for the candidate who is championed by every free trader in the land.

If, on the contrary, he believes in the maintenance and perpetuity of a system that makes this the richest and most prosperous nation on the planet, he will vote for the presidential candidate who stands on the protection platform.

The Astorian doesn't believe in sectional issues; in stirring up bad blood or waving "the bloody shirt;" the war was ended nearly twenty-four years ago.

There are plenty present issues of public importance; matters of to-day, affecting our general welfare, and the foremost is, shall this country have protection or free trade.?

On next Tuesday the people will by their ballots decide which it shall be.

A man residing in this state for the last six months, who is now a citizen, or who declared his intention to be a citizen at least one year ago, or who will be of age on the 7th inst., may vote next Tuesday, and no others. He can vote at any election precinct in the state, but he must have been a resident of Oregon ever since the 6th of last May.

The news that the Mikado of Japan has become addicted to alcohol while the emperor of China is devoting most of his time to opium smoking, is not satisfactory. Kalakaua is still playing poker with disastrous results to his national treasury. Really these remote potentates seem to need the services of an all round reformer.

The vote next Tuesday will determine which of the two tariff bills presented in congress in the session just ended will pass. If the Democrats win, the Mills bill will be passed, and if the Republicans are victorious the senate bill will be enacted.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

JNO. F. SOULE IN THURSTON COUNTY.

"John F. Soule is candidate for Joint councilman. It cannot be denied but that he is one, for is he not secretary of the N.W. Lumber Company, which heads the list of protection, protects the logger and his interests, and wants a boom law that will monopolize the Chehalis river so that the loggers will have to pay 75 cents instead of 50 cents per thousand, and who will, if elected, give 99 per cent. of his time to the N. W. Lumber Company and 1 per cent. to the people of Chehalis county."

This effusion appears in the Washington Standard, of last week, as an anonymous communication from an alleged correspondent residing in Chehalis county, and of course, in the interest of Mr. Goodell. The cowardly insinuation that Mr. Soule will devote nine-tenths of his time to the N. W. Lumber Company, is worthy of the anonymous source from which it emanates. It is true that Mr. Soule has been employed by a mill company; how that is going to effect his usefulness as a legislator does not transpire. That he is honest and competent there is no doubt; if this were not so he would not command the confidence and respect of his employers. This being his character he will not violate the obligations of his oath of office to the people who honor him. How this anonymous scribbler concludes that Mr. Soule will be in favor of a boom law that will monopolize the Chehalis river in the interest of a company as against the loggers, we are at a loss to understand. If he had been advised as to the Organic Act, he would have known that the legislative assembly is absolutely prohibited from passing such laws. He may be under the impression that Mr. Soule will attempt this feat, simply, because Mr. Goodell introduced a bill of this kind while a member of the house in 1885-6, and had it referred to the committee of which he was chairman. This bill created an absolute monopoly for forty-nine years; the favored ones or charter members named in the bill were his subsequent partners in business; under the provisions of the bill the cost to the loggers would have been $1.50 per thousand.

We make this charge direct against Mr. Goodell. We throw down the challenge and dare him to publish the text of the bill as he introduced it, and his official action thereon. If Mr. Goodell's friends had been discreet, they would not have raised this issue, for he and his friends may rest assured that the more said about this matter the less will be the honor attached to his official conduct. As to the boom company now in operation on the river, we will say that it was a business necessity, and was organized and is carried on solely in the interest of the loggers and mill men, they could not well do business without it. This company, unlike Mr. Goodell's special charter, is organized and operated under the laws of Washington territory. It is no monopoly; any two or more citizens, in the language of the law, can organize and operate as many boom companies as they wish on the Chehalis river or elsewhere of like character. The present company holds the stock but are not only willing, but anxious, to have any person engaged in logging or manufacturing lumber to join the company and take it at its actual cost. No one but the veriest demagogue would resort to such silly twaddle as the anonymous correspondent of the Standard, seeking to prejudice and deceive the people in order to obtain a few votes. We are of the opinion that all this kind of underwork, these falsehoods and misrepresentations, will fall to the gpound. The people of this council district are not fools; they know Mr. Soule to be a capable, successful business man; one who has managed his own affairs with good ability, and that it is always much safer to entrust public affairs to one who has made [illegible] of life, than to one who has [illegible] spicuous failure.

Mr Soule is a bona fide resident of Chehalis county; has large property interest there, hence, in looking after the interests, prosperity and well being of his constituents, he will be doing the same thing for himself.—Olympia Partisan, Oc

Did you lose your gate, too?

The Manzanita goes to Tillamook rock to-morrow.

The Telephone makes a round trip to-day, leaving for Portland at 7 this evening

The Coloma carries to Hongkong 200 M. feet lumber, 198 Chinese, 150 spars, and 100 bxs apples.

Yesterday being All Saints Day, was observed in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and Grace Episcopal church.

And now it is coal oil that is rising in price. This is one of the "trusts," that we read so much about in the back part of the spelling book.

Diligent inquiry elicited no farther information yesterday about the reported wreck of a British ship off Tillamook. Probably a no such thing.

Engineer Thielsen advertises for proposals for clearing the course of a portion of the Astoria and South Coast Railroad company. That's business.

Health officer Estes has leased the second story of the building, northwest corner Third and Genevieve streets, and will occupy it about the 10th inst.

The Alaskan is expected from Tacoma to-day. She goes on as a night boat to Portland in place of the R. R. Thompson, which lays off for much needed repairs.

Second street, westward from the Empire Store corner, presents a very picturesque appearance. All it needs is a drawbridge and a portcullis and a moat to be an antique.

A large lot of coin went on the Coloma to Hong Kong in the pockets of returning Chinese. They will be back here after awhile as "merchants," or "native born."

Any qualified voter who has lived in this state for six months, or who has not lost his residence by absence, is entitled to vote for president and vice president at next Tuesday's election.

At A. V. Allen's are some fine photographs of the jetty, and incidentally of the bar; one, showing a passenger steamer crossing out, is particularly fine. They are the work of Rob't M. Lowe, of Fort Stevens.

A ship captain who has arrived in San Francisco reports the discovery of a channel at the mouth of the river. The channel of which he speaks was reported by the pilots and published in THE ASTORIAN last July.

The vote by counties of Oregon will be published in countless forms of statistics all over the country. It is for every voter in Clatsop county to see that the aggregate is considerably over 2,000, and so keep up our quota.

The Columbia crossed out yesterday. The Danube arrived in; the Geo. W. Elder came squealing in at 6:30 P. M. The British ship Clan Mackenzie arrived in; the Scottish Bard is reported outside with a pilot aboard.

In the justice court yesterday, proprietor Pratt, of the Manchester house, was fined $5 and costs. Pratt had grown tired of the abuse of one Henry Bryant and fired him out. Bryant stayed mad long enough to have him arrested with the above result

The cutest campaign badge seen so far is one worn by L. E. Selig. It is of oxidized silver, and represents the presidential chair, with the words "Who will occupy it?" Touching a spring throws into view a photograph of Harrison, of Indiana, a man of whom our readers have heard considerable this fall.

The Deep Sea Fishing company has [illegible] considered its determination to build a large steam schooner to engage in catching fish off shore, and [illegible] figuring on a smaller schooner, to [illegible]t about $10,000. A smaller vessel, [illegible] which the room occupied by machinery could be utilized, would answer their purpose probably as well.

All [illegible] New York city he could vote before [illegible] six months in the country.

The English law carefully regulates the subject of the sailor's grog. [illegible] specific gravity fixed by the statute [illegible] brandy of a quality [illegible]

A prominent Astorian while recently in San Francisco had a lengthy conversation about the recently announced plan of establishing a Democratic paper in Oregon, with the business manager of the San Francisco Examiner. He said that the Oregon Democracy had pledged $25,000 if such a paper were started, but he smiled at the mention of so meager an amount. "Why," said he, "$25,000 would just about pay for the cloth and the printing of the cloth that we would use in advertising posters through the state. If the Oregon Democracy would put up $150,000 it is probable that the Portland Examiner, straight Democratic, and as big as the Oregonian, would be started there, but on nothing less." It may be said that the $150,000 spoken of would not establish a first-class daily paper. That is, it would require the expenditure of more than that amount before the concern would begin to pay.

You can save yourself considerable worry by remembering that from now till next Wednesday morning all sorts of ridiculous statements will be made and telegraphed from New York and Washington. If you read an alleged dispatch that Blaine has turned Catholic to catch the Irish vote, or that Cleveland has offered to box with hard gloves, Harrison, for points, or that the Democrats have 79,000 men in the 32nd ward in New York city to rise on election day and massacre the Republican judges of election, or that Bayard has declared war with England, or that the Knights of Labor have sworn to vote for Cleveland, or that Ben Butler has offered to marry Belva Lockwood or that John Sherman is betting that Cleveland will carry Indiana, or that Thurman fell dead in Oshkosh, or that St. John has told the truth for once in his life—Why don't believe it—They're all lies gotten up for political effect. Vote as you pray, and if Providence doesn't go fooling around too promiscuous and attends strictly to business, you'll be counting the electoral votes next Thursday morning.

PERSONAL MENTION.

T. C. Reed has returned from Spokane Falls.

Fred Davidson is back from the land of the Midnight Sun.

Will H. Parry, a clever newspaper man, is now in active work again in Salem.

J. O. Hanthorn and family go to Portland on the Telephone to-night. They will spend the winter there.

M. L. Hanthorn goes to Portland to attend the Portland business college this winter; money and time well spent.

Rare Old Coins.

Talking about old coins yesterday, in Capt Hustler's office, the genial captain pulled out an old purse. "There," said he, "are a few I've picked up in odd moments." The collection is the largest we've seen, and embraces many rare and curious coins, all of which are well preserved, their bright discs showing the mint marks in a manner remarkably distinct. Among the number were noticed Spanish quarters of date 1720, 1786, 1794, 1796, 1802, an American dollar of date 1799, American half dollars of 1809, 1819, 1824, 1829, 1830, 1832, 1835, a Spanish dollar of 1818, an Americam half-dime of 1829, a Spanish shilling of 1821, an American one cent of 1818 and another of 1817; an Irish penny, Georgius IIII., no date, and a Republic of Colombia piece of 1828. The collection is valuable and the captain would doubtless refuse $500 for it.

THE BRITISH LION ROARING.

English Press Comment on Cleveland And Bayard.

Unearthing Captain Kidd's Buried Treasure.

PORTLAND, Nov. 1—Mary J. Rutherford is the latest applicant for a decree of divorce from her husband, Robert W., to whom she was married in this city just one year ago to-day. Mrs. Rutherford accuses her husband of having flagrantly broken his marriage vows; that defendant was arrested in this city August 1, 1888, for smuggling opium, tried, convicted and sentenced to state prison, which brought disgrace upon the name of plaintiff and humiliated her in the estimation of her friends. If Mrs. Rutherford can prove additional allegations contained in complaint she deserves a dozen decrees of divorce.

KILLEN VS. M'CAFFERTY.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 1.—Pat Killen has signed articles for a fight with Dominick McCaffrey, who is on his way to the Pacific coast. The fight will be fifteen rounds for $1,000 a side and 75 and 25 per cent of receipts. Time and place not decided.

FROM LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The illness of cardinal Newman is reported to be very serious.

Baron Newborough is dead. He was eighty-five years of age.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

DECATUR, Ala., Nov. 1.—There has been a sudden increase in the yellow fever within the last twenty-four hours. Eight new cases are reported.

A CRITICAL CONDITION.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 1.—The condition of the king of the Netherlands has grown critical.

A SUCCESSFUL LOAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A subscription for $4,400,000 of the Union Pacific, Lincoln, Colorado, railway first mortgage bonds guaranteed by the Union Pacific, was closed abruptly yesterday by a dispatch from London, which stated that the amount had been taken. The success of the loan is remarkable in view of the efforts made against the legality of the issue.

NEW YORK DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Tommy Flannery, of Cincinnati, and Pete McCabe, of Albany, fought a desperate battle of ten rounds at City island last night. Flannery gained the victory after almost demolishing McCabe. The battle was so quick toward the finish that many spectators turned their heads away to avoid the sickening sight. Just before the seventh round, McCabe had the misfortune to take a swallow of ammonia, which the trainer gave him by mistake for brandy and which seriously injured his chance.

NEWS FROM LONDON.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—It is stated that in government circles it is considered that the Sackville incident has ended. Sackville has not yet advised the government as to the exact date of his return. It is possible some time may elapse before the new minister will be sent to Washington. The American circle here are anxious that Lord Dufferin shall be appointed to the post.

The St. James Gazette, referring to the action of the United States in the case of Sackville, says: It would be most creditable to good English sense if Bayard's instructions were treated with contempt. The American eagle is screeching. Let him screech. We are not exactly prepared to send ironclads to Long Island because Bayard is outrageously offensive. Respectable Americans who stand in neither with Cleveland nor Harrison are nearly as much disgusted with affairs as Englishmen.

The Pall Mall Gazette expresses the hope that the ire of the Democratic wire pullers is assuaged, for Cleveland could do no more, without throwing lord Sackville into jail. What a silly business it is all through!

British consolation is, that president Cleveland eclipses lord Sackville's indiscretion. It is one thing to be tricked into making a slip, and to plunge headlong into the abyss of folly and ill temper, and we owe Cleveland thanks for showing that the silliest man in Washington was not born in England.

The Star, T. V. O'Connor's paper, says: Bayard puts it pretty strong. The Irish voter is so pressing, and a desire to satisfy him is so urgent, that Cleveland cannot wait till Salisbury takes action. The incident furnishes fresh evidence of the paramount influence of the Irish vote in Anglo American politics.

GREEK FESTIVITIES

ATHENS, Nov. 1. The festivities yesterday in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of king George's accession to the throne, was on a grand scale. The king headed the grand procession to the Cathedral The Te Deum was sung. Returning to the palace he addressed the people. The United States minister presented a telegram of congratulation from president Cleveland.

BURIED TREASURE

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 1. Jas M. Eddy of Horseneck, R. I., has unearthed 1,500 Spanish doubloons in his back yard, and calculates there are 100,000 more in his farm. His father was once lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island One of his ancestors who sailed with captain Kidd returned to his Horseneck farm and sowed it with doubloons. Among his papers was a chart, locating his buried wealth. The lieutenant-governor did not bring with him the plan, but James M. Eddy, into whose possession the papers came at the same time as the farm, thought it would be worth his while trying.

A CANADIAN OPINION.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—The minister of customs, who has just returned from the Pacific coast, where he has been looking into the Chinese question, says: No matter how stringent the United States laws may be, this channel will always be used by Chinese for that purpose. There is no work for them in British Columbia and no inducement for them to emigrate there. Their real object in leaving China is apparent. That friendly relations existing between China and Great Britain may not be disturbed, the British government has requested that no more stringent legislation than is now in force may be enacted by Canada against the Chinese.

SMALL POX NEAR SALEM.

SALEM, Nov. 1.—Miss Baker, who has been down with small pox at the place of F. X. Matthieu, Butteville, is reported out of danger, and no new cases have broken out in that neighborhood. Advices from Champoeg to-day are to the effect that two well developed cases of the disease are reported near there. One is a Chinaman camping with a party of grubbers, and the other is an aged Frenchman, who has been wandering around the neighborhood, and who spent a night just previous to his being taken down in a building occupied by a crew of twenty men who were running a hay baler on the place of J. N. Harding.

OUGHT TO BE DEAD.

SIOUX FALLS, Dak., Nov. 1.—Mary Ann Irvine, a character in this region known to nearly every one, died in this city yesterday of an abcess over the heart. She has been a terror to this community during the past fifteen years. She would resort to anything, even to plying a torch, to punish an enemy. She was rich and a miser, and her home, in which she died, was filthy in the extreme. After her death two packages of poison were found under her pillow.

THE WINNIPEG TROUBLE.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 1.—The members of the government have caused it to be announced that lieutenant-governor Schultz had refused to call the legislature together, although advised a week ago to issue a proclamation for that purpose. The members of the cabinet were anxious to have the house in session to back up the government with all necessary legislation, and the government was also anxious to retaliate upon the Canadian Pacific by imposing such ruinous taxation as would force the company to its knees. The lieutenant governor, acting, it is hinted, from federal inspiration, has so far declined to sign the proclamation, making all sorts of excuses. The result is a serious government crisis, and the only constitutional course open to the government is its immediate resignation.

THE CHINESE LEGATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—At the Chinese legation in this city doubts are expressed of the accuracy of the information published in the Chinese Times of indignation felt by the Chinese on account of the enactment of the Chinese restriction law by congress, and of demands by the Chinese press that China retaliate at once by excluding Americans and discontinuing all friendly relations with the United States.

The Chinese minister is not in the city, but no news of the reported attack upon his residence in Kwang-Tung has been received.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

* * *

Not That Kind of a Schooner.

Tom I see by the Marine News that they have a five-masted schooner in Oregon. Jerry—Thunderation! Why don't they drink their beer out of a churn?—Washington Post.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. [illegible] he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good or just the same. Don't be deceived but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at Jno. C Dement's Drug Store. Large bottle $1

All the patent medicines advertised in this paper, together with the choicest perfumery, and toilet articles, etc., can be bought at the lowest prices, at J. W. Conn's drug store, opposite Occident hotel, Astoria.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
L. M. HINTON, M.D., Washington, Ark.

"CHIPPY" DRUMMERS.

What an Old Stager Has to Say About Them.

To us old-timers on the road nothing is so amusing as the "chippy" drummer. We can always tell him at sight. He may look as fly as a thoroughbred, but his baggage gives him away. He comes on his first trip with a trunk full of clothing, and when he gets on a car he is loaded down worse than an old maid who is going sixty miles. He is sure to have two valises and a satchel with a strap hanging from his shoulder. A hat box, two canes (one for every day wear and the other for Sunday), an umbrella, three railway guides, a half dozen Rand & McNally state maps, a silk traveling bag, a new novel, a pair of slippers, a rubber coat, a mohair duster, a flask and a pipe, are a few of the things which he surrounds himself with. We know him because he kicks at everything. The road is rough or crooked, or the time is slow. He notifies the conductor of the Pullman before he leaves the depot of his intention to report him. He discourses for an hour upon the extortion of the baggage master.

When he gets off at a station he refuses to pay fifty cents to the omnibus man and walks to the hotel, and swears later when required to pay a drayman seventy-five cents for hauling his baggage from the depot. He asks for the best room in the hotel and does not get it. Meet that same fellow four years later and he has dropped all his valises except one small one, and he no longer travels with canes, umbrellas, slippers, railway guides, maps, rubber coat and all that. One side of his valise will contain his samples, and all the clothing he will need for a two months' trip on the other side. He carries two suits of under clothing, two white shirts and a change of socks. When the train is sidetracked while the road is being cleared of a freight wreck, he takes a nap. When he goes into a hotel the clerk recognizes him as one of the boys and gives him the best the house affords, and then he takes a hand in having fun with the "chippies" himself.—Chicago Drummer in Globe-Democrat.

Children

Often need some safe cathartic and tonic sickness, or to relieve colic, headache, sick stomach, indigestion, dysentery and the complaints incidental to childhood. Let the children take Simmons Liver Regulator and keep well. It is purely vegetable, not unpleasant to the taste and safe to take alone or in connection with other medicine.

A Picturesque Georgia Lie.

The story is told by a resident near Rocky Ford that while the recent flood was at the highest point in the Ogeechee he was navigated around in a batteau looking after some hogs he had in the swamp. His attention was attracted to the peculiar actions of a man, who was seen to climb upon a fence, the top of which was just peeping out of the water, and then dive again, repeating this time and again. On approaching nearer he discovered that it was one of his neighbors, that worthy old gentleman, Mr. Henry Brigdon. He would dive off the fence, and for twenty yards the bubbles would rise to the top of the water as though a huge alligator was making his way along the bottom, and then he would rise and swim back deposit something in a sack fastened to the fence. On inquiry he found that old friend Brigdon was picking cotton, having a field of it there completely hid by the flood. —Sylvania Telephone.

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Acker's English Cough Remedy were only carefully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

A little negro boy thirteen years old has been preaching before crowds in Perry county, Ga., and astonishing every one with his eloquence and his knowledge of the Scriptures. Frequently an audience of 1,500 people has listened to his discourses and wondered at the maturity of thought shown in his sermons.

COURTING IN AUSTRALIA

"Our blacks," said Mrs. J. R. Reid, a native of New South Wales, "are different in type from the African. Their hair stands up wiry and bushy, like that of the Circassian women in your dime museums. In the bush they wear no clothes, but when they come in town the authorities compel them to be clad. The women object strenuously to clothing. If you give a woman a gown she will seldom put but one arm in a sleeve, letting the garment hang from her shoulders and displaying one side of her bosom. The blacks find an abundance of food, and there is thus no incentive for them to accept civilization and learn to work. The country swarms with kangaroos, walvarbies (an animal similar to the kangaroo), rabbits and birds. Then the blacks make a large part of their diet of snakes and worms. Worms they eat raw, just as they dig them from the earth. They eat snakes of all kinds.

"The blacks are not prolific, a couple seldom having three children. The women, of course, are brutally abused by the males, and kept in the most degraded state of servitude. When a black wants a wife he falls upon a young woman, chokes her so she cannot cry out, and runs with her into the brush. There he must stay with her for three or four months. He cannot return to his own tribe till the expiration of this period. When he does take her back, if she utters no complaint of hunger against him—that is, if she does not show that he has utterly failed to supply her with sufficient worms, kangaroo meat and snakes—he can keep her. But for a year he must stay out of the way of her tribe, for if they catch him they will kill him and take the young woman back. The sign of the married state adopted by the woman is the pulling out of one front tooth. When the male becomes a Benedict he indicates the joyful fact by cutting off the little finger of his right hand at the first joint. They live in low skin covered huts, and I think in every respect are beneath the North American Indian in intelligence."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

W. B. Bradford, agent for eight years among the Piutes and Apaches in New Mexico, is a firm believer in the doctrine that "the only good Indian is a dead Indian." He thinks it useless to spend money on them for education. The boys, he says, return from the eastern schools more full of the devil than ever, and it is not long before they are as degraded as they ever were.

Palpitation of the Heart.

Persons who suffer from occasional palpitation of the heart are often unaware that they are the victims of heart disease, and are liable to die without warning. They should banish this alarming symptom, and cure the disease by using DR. FLINT'S REMEDY. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

A soap mine has been discovered near Crawfordsville, Ga. It is said to make as good a lather as manufactured soap, and to be fully equal to it in cleansing powers. It is exactly the color of turpentine soap and has a peculiar smell.

DYSPEPSIA, DESPAIR, DEATH.

These are the actual steps which follow indigestion. Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets will both check and cure this most fearful of diseases. Guaranteed by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

It is said that the consumption of rye flour has increased enormously since the late rise in the price of wheat flour. "Black bread" has an unfamiliar appearance upon American tables, but its wholesomeness is undoubted.

CARELESS MOTHERS

Many mothers have permitted their children to die before their eyes when they might have been saved. Any mother who keeps house without a bottle of Acker's English Baby Soother at hand, runs a risk which she may sometime regret. It has saved the lives of thousands of children, and is doing so every year. J. W. Conn, Druggist.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SATURDAY..............NOVEMBER 3, 1888.

SAID Henry Villard to a Chicago reporter: "I think my success as a railroad man," continued he, "is due to my training as a journalist. It was then that I learned human nature, a knowledge of which is the key to all success."

MRS. CLEVELAND is worth half a million and the president a quarter of a million. It is said that in case the president is defeated next month they will spend quite a while traveling abroad and then settle down to live in New York.

LEAVENWORTH seems to be a place where they take life easy. There is a paper there called the Sun, and the editor of the Sun asked a debtor for some money. It was refused and the Sun man pulled out his little knife and slashed his debtor's throat. That is a new way to collect newspaper debts, but it makes a mess on the pavement, and is obviously objectionable.

IT is believed that there is more fighting among the Hungarian miners in the Pennsylvania coal fields every year than there is between the United States army and the Indians. If this be true, wouldn't it be a good idea to move the Hungarians out to the reservations where they could amuse the Indians and the Indians could make it pleasant for the Hungarians? This would give the army a little holiday at the same time, and everybody would be pleased.

AN enthusiastic prohibitionist was green enough the other day to try to tie bishop Foss of the Methodist church to the third party's chariot wheels. For an hour he plied him with the stock arguments of his faction and finally demanded, by way of "putting on de rousements:" "Now, bishop, if you saw a mad dog in the street, snapping at everybody in his path and dooming them to a horrible death, what would you do? Would you try to restrain him and capture him alive? Or would you not rather shoot him dead?" "Well," said Dr. Foss, meditatively, but with conclusive firmness, "if I had been blazing away at him for thirty years without hitting him, I don't know but what I'd try the other plan."

OUR Norwegian, Swede and Scandinavian population is an important part of the great west. They are in every trade. They are the pioneers of the later day, and going to the extreme western limit of civilization, open up for permanent settlement the barren portions of our country. Nearly all the land along the rivers and lakes of Dakota has been taken up by the Scandinavians. In the old western settlements they are well-to-do farmers, living in good substantial houses and owning large herds of cattle. It is said that you can travel three hundred miles through Wisconsin, from Lacrosse into southern Minnesota and northern Iowa, from one Scandinavian farm to another. The magnificence of opportunity that presents itself in our country to the Scandinavian is fully appreciated.

WHAT, asks the Marine Journal, would ten millions a year be to this country if given by congress to help build up our commercial marine? It would more than return the equivalent in custom dues. It would more than pay if we could retain in the United States twenty out of one hundred and fifty millions which are yearly carried out of the country for freights without benefits to our citizens. Why should not American commerce be allowed the same opportunities that are afforded the other industries of the country, which have reached a development such as the most far seeing never dreamed of? We are not tied down by foreign subsidized competitors on land, and therefore our progress has been marvelous, and so it would be upon the ocean if the bonds were once cut which confine our shipbuilders.

THE illiteracy of criminals is illustrated by Dr. Scouller, of the Illinois reform school, thus: "While the state of Illinois has less than 6 per cent. unable to read and write, the commitments to the reform school show nearly 25 per cent. unable to read and 70 per cent. unable to write. "What is your nationality?" we asked of a young man nearly six feet high. "Don't know." "Are you an American?" "Eh?" "Were you born in America?" "No. I was born in Shelbyville, Ill." The criminal, is above all, selfish and egotistical. He knows it all. He is incapable of being taught. Smartness is his curse. He is ever ready to sneer at others. Bragging is his unconquerable propensity. He commits crime because he is proud of it. Which suggests that the habit of ignorant egotism in parents tends to breed in children a criminal conceit and tendency to do whatever will make them notorious."

THE annual report of Gov. Semple, of Washington territory, is very long and comprehensive. He says he has no expense account, and had to rely on the public spirited citizens. The population is 167,982, an increase of about 24,000 the past year. The taxable property is valued at $84,621,182, being an increase of $65,000,000 in ten years. The financial condition of the territory is most prosperous, and although the penitentiary and other buildings have been erected the past year the treasury is but a little behind. Nearly 600,000 acres of land have been entered by settlers during the past year. During the year individual owners and railroads have sold over 1,000,000 acres, and much more would have been settled had it been surveyed. There are 1,197 miles of railroad now there, and more in the course of construction. All the industries from cattle raising to mining are in a most prosperous state, and employes get good wages.

SOME POINTS ON THE MILLS BILL.

Wood unmanufactured, and wives who have been divorced from their husbands are exempted from further duty.

The duty is taken off beeswax, though bees themselves will continue to be protected as usual, by their stingers.

Steel sheets come in free, though if you steal sheets off the line and are caught at it a tax will be imposed. Washerwomen who iron sheets are clamoring for a tariff on Chinese importations, which they ought to have.

There is no duty on plaster of Paris when you wear the plaster for a weak back, or wear it for two weeks back, either.

Castor oil pays forty cents a gallon, though you may have to pay your boy a dollar for every spoonful he takes.

Bicarbonate of soda pays three-fourths of one cent a pound, which will not make much difference, except for those who are compelled to bicarbonate in large quantities.

Many medical preparations pay twenty per centum ad valorem. You may rely on the druggist to ad valorem should the custom house neglect to do so, and you will be lucky if he doesn't add 200 per cent. besides.

Any slaves overlooked by Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation will come in free under the provisions of the Mills Bill.

Mustard comes in at six cents a pound. It will receive honorable mention when mustard out, according to its strength and services.

Tramps and anarchists will be interested to know that soap is on the free list.

Rags come in free, but the foreign paupers who come in them will have to settle with the Castle Garden ring.

There is no duty on vegetables in their natural state, whether that state be Massachusetts or Texas.

Needles come in free—rather too free considering the number of women who have made pin-cushings of themselves. A tax on the needles that are at this moment meandering about in human flesh trying to find an outlet, would produce considerable revenue in itself.

Manufacturers of pure ground coffee will be interested to know that there is no duty on chicory or dandelion root.

The tax on razors will be thirty-five per cent., notwithstanding the efforts of our barbers to shave it down.

Raw human hair comes duty free, but when it is cooked with hash it will tax a man severely.

Lead in pigs, lead in bars and led by the nose, two and one-fourth cents per pound.

Hollow ware, including telephones, two and one-half cents per pound. You can import a hollow cough for nothing.

Dogs cannot be imported free. What the charge is per pound depends on where the pound is located.

Dates are free, so that a woman past thirty can tell the date of her birth or not, just as she pleases.

Dyeing material, except doctors' drugs, free.

You don't have to anti money when you import antimony.

Walking sticks can be brought from the other side for twenty per cent. Sticks who carry them come in free.

The duty on brooms is twenty per cent., and hen-pecked husbands will wish it was advanced to a point that was prohibitory.

A foreign blanket must pay forty per cent., blank it!

Wives are disposed to complain because "hubs" are free.

German looking-glass plate is duty free. German looking lasses will be glad of this.

Paris green, twelve and one-half per cent., though if you go to Paris green it will cost you more than that before you get away.

If you are protected by a foreign umbrella it will be thirty per cent.

Lead pigs two and one-fourth per cent., though a man who has ever led pigs would consider that altogether too low.

Copper clippings, one cent a pound. Newspaper clippings are gauged by the price of old paper.

Watches, twenty-five per cent., except the Watch on the Rhine, which couldn't be imported at any price.

Little boys are expected to kick because shingles are on the free list.

Ready-made clothing pays forty-five per cent. This won't make any difference to the man who cheats the tailor.

Paper hangings, twenty-five per cent. But there won't be any hangings in New York after this year, not even on paper.

Tar is free, and in sections where lynch law prevails feathers will be thrown in free, also.

If any of our readers desire further explanation of the Mills Bill we will accommodate them when a stamped envelope is inclosed. We would furnish envelopes ourselves, but there is a duty of twenty-five per cent on them.

A fine cup of coffee, at the Telephone Restaurant.

NEW TO-DAY.

It Will Stir Them Up.

Our Salem exchanges are full of items about the proposed Astoria and Valley railroad, and it is a subject that demands attention. Railroad building in Oregon in the next few years is going to be of a character to stir up localities. Albany with the splendid start it has secured is not going to be slow in increasing its advantages.—Albany Democrat.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Texas says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malaria Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50 cents and $1, at Jno C. Dement's.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

The Coloma sailed yesterday. The Clan McKenzie came up and the Clan McPherson came down

The Alaskan did not arrive yesterday. It is probable she put into Neah bay and will arrive to-day.

Yesterday was all smiles and tears, the grief getting the best of the laughter as the sun sank toward the ocean.

A rainbow at one o'clock in the afternoon is something unusual, but that phenomenon was seen twice within the last month; at that time on Tuesday, October 16th, and again yesterday.

Miss Katie Thrall will open her new millinery establishment next Monday. She has received a very fine stock of fashionable goods and invites its inspection by the ladies. Her place of business is in the store next to C. H. Cooper's.

The steamer Oregon is about ready to be taken off the ways at San Francisco, and will be put on the route on November 11th. The Elder will be run as a freight boat on the same route. This will make four steamers on the line, which will be equal to a three-day schedule, says the News.

Upon the arrival recently of the British bark Emblem, Walter Toy, one of the sailors, had Capt. Lewis arrested, claiming that the captain had struck him with a three cornered scraper. The case comes up to-day in Portland before the U. S. court. Constable Smith left last night with Walter Cook, Geo. Washington, R. Clark and W. Toy, witnesses.

The Gen. Canby was coming up to land at the O. R. & N. dock yesterday afternoon. The S. G. Reed had just come alongside and had a line out forward; just then a squall struck her swinging her out broadside in front of the Gen. Canby. Capt. Parker did all possible under the circumstances, but couldn't avoid an inevitable collision, which carried away some stanchions and railing from the Canby and slightly damaged the Reed.

It is reported that the American private sealers, who have their headquarters in San Francisco will, one and all, fit out every available schooner for service in Behring sea next summer. This determination has been prompted by reports which have been received there recently, stating that the British sealers, all of whom obtained good catches, were unnoticed by the United States revenue cutters during the season just ended.

If there is any one thing more surprising than another, it is the facility with which people forget. Perhaps, though, it is a wise dispensation that folks have the fortunate facility of forgetting. If only the bad were alone forgotten, and the good alone remembered. There are two kinds of forgetting. One is where the occurrence really passes from one's memory or thinking outfit. The other is where one doesn't think it worth while to give the matter thought enough to keep it remembered.

The antipathy of cattlemen to sheepmen was illustrated in a peculiar manner at Lakeview recently, says the East Oregonian. The county pays a bounty on coyote scalps. An old Scotch gentleman came rushing into the clerk's office last week and made the following report: "Mr Boyd You issued script for bounty on five scalps from Warner a few weeks ago. Well, sir, last night the varmints got into my flock and killed ten of my sheep. This morning I killed two of the coyotes, and, sir, would 'you believe me' They were scalped; both ears all gone, and their heads all raw. Those blawsted cowboys had lassoed them, run them down on horseback, and getting their scalps let them go to worry us sheepmen." This was an actual occurrence, and the old gentleman wanted the district attorney to prosecute the boys, which he could not well do.

The Chicago Anarchists Remember.

London Still Talking About Sackville.

PORTLAND, Nov. 2. The jury are still out in the Ben King case and no likelihood of an agreement. It is not thought King will have another trial should the jury disagree.

The O. & C. overland express at 10:30 this morning is telegraphed nine hours late. It is thought an accident occurred on the Sacramento division.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.- Between 600 and 700 anarchists in this city and ten times as many socialists will commemorate the hanging of the Chicago anarchists on November 11th. The socialists, however, will have nothing to do with the anarchistic exercises, but will hold separate meetings. The anarchists will not parade, but will hold a "festival of sorrow;" poems will be read, songs sung and a drama, "The unjust sentence," in which all the principal actors in the Haymarket tragedy and its consequences will have parts, will be enacted.

FURTHER DETAILS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—Grashdanin publishes further details of the accident to the imperial train in south Russia on Monday. It says that not one of the engines first left the track but the massive car occupied by the minister of war. The derailed car was shattered to pieces. The flooring of the carriage occupied by the czar and czarina collapsed and the occupants were thrown upon the track. Grand duchess Olga and grand duke Michael, in the next car, were thrown out upon the track and covered with debris. They were rescued unhurt. The czar's dog, standing near his master, was killed.

THE "STAR'S" OPINION.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Star, T. P. O'Connor's paper says lord Salisbury is not likely to listen to the demand for the dismissal of Phelps, United States minister, in retaliation for America's treatment of Sackville, and that such a step might do much harm and could do no good. All are agreed that Bayard's courtesy is scant, but we must not forget that he is technically right. Lord Sackville's indiscretion warranted the demand for his recall. If Salisbury's reply to the demand amounted to a refusal, there is a good deal more to be said for the action of America than Englishmen are just now willing to admit.

CANADA MAY ASSIST.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Sir Chas. Tupper, minister of marine, having had the expedition of the United States steamer Thetis, which has for the object the relief of the whaling vessels frozen in the ice in the Arctic whaling grounds, called to his attention, has, it is said, under consideration, the question of sending a Canadian vessel to assist in the work.

GOING TO HAYTI.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The navy department this morning, received information that the cruiser Boston has arrived at Knighton, Jamaica, and orders have been sent to the the commander to proceed at once to Au-Prince, to protect American interests in Hayti. She can reach there in about twelve hours, and the orders to the Kearsage to proceed there have been revoked.

DISTINGUISHED WITNESSES

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Gladstone and Sir William Harcourt, will be examined before the Parnell commission in regard to the statement in captain O'Shea's testimony relative to the Kilmainham tragedy.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

LYNCHBURG, Nov. 2.—A disastrous fire last night burned Morgan's immense tobacco warehouse, and a larger portion of the whole block besides. The loss is reported to be very great.

SPEEDY JUSTICE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Thomas Sayers, a negro highwayman who murdered and robbed, two peddlers Sunday night, was caught and lynched Wednesday night.

AN OUTSPOKEN WITNESS.

LONDON, Nov. 2. -Sir William Harcourt writes that he will take steps to contradict Capt. O'Shea's statement in material particulars. He says that some of O'Shea's assertions were fictions.

Dr. J. F. Page is about to take a prolonged eastern trip.

Mrs. E. W. Garner and daughter have returned from Portland.

W. T. McKean is now in Placer Co., Cal., and is still in poor health.

Miss Morgan contemplates departure for the east about January 1st.

Mrs. Jas. Scott, who has been ill for a long time, is slowly recovering.

E. W. Tallant and wife were in Los Angeles last week, and contemplate a speedy return.

Mrs. P. A. Stokes, who is visiting friends in San Francisco, does not expect to return before New Year's.

Mrs. A. A. Cleveland, who is in northern California for her health, expects to return on the 1st of next month.

E. P. Shepard, late actuary for the Bankers Mutual relief Association, of Portland, Or., resigned on the 1st inst., and no longer has any connection with that association.

THE WRECKED BARKENTINE.

The mail carrier and another man from Tillamook, asked about the barkentine Makah, report that vessel lying on her beam ends in the breakers about two hundred yards from shore. The beach is strewn with lumber, but no ship's articles of any kind have come ashore. The theory is that the barkentine, which sailed from Port Discovery on October 5th, lumber laden, for Australia, was struck by a squall off Cape Flattery, dismasted, her deck load shifted, and was abandoned by the crew, finally drifting ashore at Tillamook.

Yesterday afternoon Martin Foard, one of the owners of the Makah, received the following from Capt. Gallup, of the schooner Mary Dodge, which is loading lumber at St. Helens.

"ST. HELENS, Or., Nov. 1.—On my passage this time, on Sunday October 21st, I passed for nearly the day through a large amount of lumber, laths, doors, and windows etc. I suppose it was the deck load of a schooner: it might have been the cargo of the Makah: lat. 46° 10 north, long. 126° 54′ W., or 126 miles W. N. W., of the Columbia bar."

So far there is no trace nor tidings of her hapless crew. It is to be hoped that they were at least picked up by some passing vessel and will be heard from later at Liverpool or some other port.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Two Ways of Spelling "London."

The teacher called up a boy to recite in spelling.

"Johnny, can you spell "London?"

"Yes'm. Can spell it two ways."

"No, Johnny, you can't."

"Yes'm, I can."

"Well, Johnny, if you will spell 'London' two ways for me I'll promote you, and permit you to home at playtime."

"Yes'm."

"Now, proceed."

"L-o-n-d-o-n—London."

"All right, Johnny. Now spell it the other way."

"Two o's, two n's, a d and an l—Put those together and tell what they spell."

But the teacher failed to comprehend. Playtime came, Johnny put on his jacket, and with pail in hand was about leaving the school-room when the teacher stopped him.

"I say, Johnny, I can't let you go home, as you didn't spell the word two ways."

"Yes'm, I did."

"I do not comprehend it, then. How long will you give me to comprehend it?"

"As long as it takes you to get to heaven," was Johnny's sarcastic reply; and with a bound and a whoop he was soon trudging his pathway homeward, leaving the teacher in meditative ignorance of his new method of spelling.

"Dickens Had One Trick,"

Remarked the professor, in a discussion of favorite authors, "which always struck me as an oddity. I mean his habit of pinning some distinctive word or phrase on a character, which must be uttered on all occasions. Now people in real life don't iterate like parrots. At least' I know of only one person who is liable to such criticism—young Bowden, my neighbor. The picture of health isn't he? Ruddy cheeks, sparkling eyes, ringing voice. Well, his pet phrase, which I've heard him repeat to perhaps a score of people suffering from coughs and weak lungs, is 'Take Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.' No wonder, either, for it saved him from a consumptive's grave."

Scratched 28 Years

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my sufferings were endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but I feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took........ and .... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200,00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and BEAST. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

Bill Arp's First Money.

The first money a boy earns is the best. Most every man has pleasant memories of the first reward he got for his own labor. I remember how proud I was when I felt of and handled the first silver dollar that a man gave me for two loads of wood—wood that I cut and hauled myself. My father was having new ground cleared, and told me I might have all the wood I would cut. So I worked on the little saplings every evening after I came from school, and by Saturday noon I had two loads. I hitched up the team that evening and loaded the wagon and drove to town as proud as a king. My school teacher, Mr. Anderson, saw me and bought the wood and gave me some kind encouraging words that I have never forgotten. My good mother watched me from the window as I went and as I came, and she was proud, too proud of her boy. I remember the love that was in her face and the watery glisten that was in her eyes as she looked at my silver dollar, and how she kissed my ruddy cheek and stroked my hair, and told me that it was honest money and would last. What a world of fond and innocent pride there is in a mother's heart; pride in her children, their looks, their conduct, their success. I kept on cutting wood in the new ground, and made more money, but the first was the best.—Atlanta Constitution.

The United States Hydrographic office is to make a study of ocean currents by the systematic distribution of old bottles, which, containing the position of any given ship at sea, are to be thrown over in all parts of the deep.

BETTER THAN BLOODY BATTLES.

General Wheatcroft Nelson, says: 'My experience in the English army as well as in America, convinces me that nothing so thoroughly purifies the blood or adds to health, vigor and life as Acker's English Blood Elixir." This great Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

A Paris firm has produced porous glass for window panes to assist ventilation. Porous plasters are said to be good for bodily pains, but whether porous glass is good for window panes remains to be determined.

FLAMING FIRE IN THE VEINS.

We hold positive proof that Acker's English Blood Elixir cures all blood poisons where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail. Knowing this, we will sell it to all who call at our store on a positive guarantee.

TRADE S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD MARK

PEED'S MILL, TEXAS, June 20, 1888—The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: One of my children was troubled with rheumatism and boils for about two years. We gave her various kinds of medicine, but without profit, and began to despair of curing her at all. I was persuaded to try your Swift's Specific. After she had used several bottles the diseases all disappeared, and she is now a hale, hearty and healthy girl twelve years old. Another child has just become afflicted in the same way, and I am using the S. S. S. and anticipate a prompt and permanent cure. N. C. WAGGONER.

RICH HILL, MO., July 7, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: Our little girl when but three weeks old broke out with eczema. We tried the prescriptions from several good doctors, but without any special benefit. We tried S. S. S., and by the time one bottle was gone her head began to heal, and by the time she had taken six bottles she was completely cured. Now she has a full and heavy head of hair—a robust, hearty child. I feel it but my duty to make this statement. Respectfully, H. T. SHOBE.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 27, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: In 1886 I contracted blood poison, and at once sought a physician, who treated me for several months. By his advice I went to Crab Orchard Springs, Ky., where his course of treatment was carefully observed. I recovered, as I thought, but the next spring pimples began to appear on my face and body. These gradually increased to sores and running ulcers. I was advised to try S. S. S., and immediately after taking it I commenced to improve, slowly at first, but more rapidly afterwards, and soon nothing remained to tell of my trouble. My blood is now thoroughly cleansed, and my system free from taint, and I owe my present condition—a perfect cure—to your medicine. I cheerfully give this statement that others who have suffered as I have may reap the same benefit.

HARDY M. BURT, 24 West Ninth St.

HOMER, LA., May 25, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: About two years ago my general health gave way entirely. I was so debilitated that I almost despaired of ever feeling well again. All that the physicians done for me brought no permanent relief. Friends insisted that I should give S. S. S. a fair trial, although I thought it would be throwing away money. After taking a thorough course, my health and strength returned, and I must say that S. S. S. alone cured me, as I discarded all others while using it. As a tonic I can most heartily recommend it; for general debility, it certainly is a specific. W. F. BRIDGES, J. P.

HOMER, LA.—I know Mr. W. F. Bridges, and will say that his statement is correct.

THE BURIED FORESTS OF NEW JERSEY.

An industry the like of which does not exist anywhere else in the world furnishes scores of people in Cape May county, New Jersey, with remunerative employment, and has made comfortable fortunes for many citizens. It is the novel business of mining cedar trees—digging from far beneath the surface immense logs of sound and aromatic cedar. The fallen and submerged cedar forests of southern New Jersey were discovered first beneath the Dennisville swamps 75 years ago, and have been a source of constant interest to geologists and scientists generally ever since. There are standing at the present day no such enormous specimens of the cedar anywhere on the face of the globe as are found embedded in the deep muck of the Dennisville swamps. Some of the trees have been uncovered measuring six feet in diameter, and trees four feet through are common.

Although ages must have passed since these great forests fell and became covered many feet beneath the surface, such trees as fell, according to the scientific theory, while they were yet living trees are as sound to-day as they were the day of their uprooting. Such trees are called "windfalls" in the nomenclature of the cedar mines, as it is thought they were torn up by the roots during some terrible gale of an unknown past. Others are found in the wreck that were evidently dead trees when they fell, and to these the miners have given the name of "breakdowns." The peculiar action of the wind and water in the swamp has kept these breakdowns in the same stage of decay they were in when they fell, as the same agency has preserved intact the soundness of the living trees.

The theory of those who have made this mysterious collection of buried cedar trees a study is that they in some unknown age formed a vast forest that grew in a fresh water lake or swamp that covered this portion of New Jersey, the properties of the soil of which were necessary to the forest's existence. According to Clarence Deming and Dr. Maurice Beasely, eminent geological authorities in southern New Jersey, the sea either broke in upon the swamps or the land subsided and the salt water reached the trees. This destroyed the life of many of them, and subsequently some prehistoric cyclone swept over the forest and leveled it to the earth. The heavy trees gradually sank into the soft soil of the swamps until they reached the substantial earth or rock beneath it, where they reposed, unknown and undisturbed, until their presence was accidentally discovered in 1812. Ever since then the logs have been mined, and have been an important factor in the commercial and business prosperity of South Jersey.

The buried forests lies at various depths in the swamp, and the uncovering of the trees or working the "cedar mine" is done in a very simple and easy manner. The log miner enters the swamps and prods in the soft soil with a long, sharp iron rod. The trees lie so thickly beneath the surface that the rod cannot be pushed down amiss on its testing errand, for the prodding is not so much in search of a tree as it is to test whether the tree is a "windfall" or a "breakdown." When the prod strikes the log, the miner chips off a piece with the sharp point of the tool, which brings the chip or splinter to the surface when drawn out of the muck. By the appearance and the order of this chip the miner can tell at once whether the tree he has tested is a sound one or a dead one. If the former, he quickly ascertains the length of the trunk by prodding along from one end of it to the other.

That ascertained, he proceeds at once to raise the log from its hidden bed. He works down through the mud a saw similar to those used in sawing out ice in filling an ice house. With this he saws the log in two as near the roots as he cares to. The top of the tree is next sawed off in the same way, and then the big cedar stick is ready to be released from its resting place. A ditch is dug down to the log, the trunk is loosened by cant hooks, and it rises with the water to the surface of the ditch. A curious thing is noticed about the logs when they come to the surface, and that is that they invariably turn over, with their bottom sides up. After mining, the log is easily "snaked out" of the swamp and is ready for the mill or factory.

These ancient trees are of a white variety of cedar, and when cut have the same aromatic flavor, intensified many degrees, that the common red cedar of the present day has. The wood is of a delicate flesh color. One of the mysterious characteristics of these long sunken trees is that not one has ever been found to be waterlogged in the slightest. It is impossible to tell how many layers deep these cedars lie in the swamps, but it is certain that there are several layers, and that with all the work that has been done in constantly mining them during three-quarters of a century, the first layer has not been removed from the depths. At some places in the Dennisville swamp the soil has sunk in for several feet and become dry, and there the fallen cedars may be seen in great heaps one upon the other. No tree has ever been removed from the Dennisville swamp from a greater depth than five feet, but outside the limits of the swamp they have been found at a great depth, which shows the correctness of the deep layer theory. Near the shore of the Delaware, eight miles from Dennisville, white cedar logs have been exhumed from a depth of 12 feet. At cape May, twenty miles distant, drillers of an artesian well struck one of the trees 90 feet below the surface. It was lying in an alluvial deposit similar to the Dennisville swamp. Another log was found at cape May 20 feet below the surface, and a third at a depth of 70 feet. These deeply buried logs were among the largest ever brought to light, and their location so far away from the Dennisville marsh indicates the great extent of that ancient forest area.

The uses to which the cedar logs are put are many. The principal use is the making of shingles and staves. The longevity of articles made from the wood is shown in shingles, tubs, pails, and casks made from it over 70 years ago, and which have yet to show the slightest indication of decay. The shingles and staves are worked into shape entirely by hand, the only machine work that is permitted in manipulating the cedar logs being the sawing of them into proper lengths for the uses to which the lumber is to be put. The Dennisville cedar shingles command a price much higher than the best pine or chestnut shingles.

What it is in the amber colored swamp water and red muck at Dennisville that preserves these trees so that, after the lapse of centuries, their fibre is as clean and smooth and strong as it was when the green branches of the cedar were waving over the swamp is a mystery that scientific men have as yet been unable to solve.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Arminta Miles, who was married in Winfield, Kan., on the 17th ult., lacked one day of being ten years old. The bride was an orphan and without a home.

PARENTS CRIMINALLY LIABLE.

More than half of all deaths occur before six years of age. An army of innocent, lovely children are swept needlessly away each year. Parents are criminally responsible for this. The death rate of children in England is less than half this. Acker's English Baby Soother has done more to bring this about than all other causes combined. You cannot afford to be without it.

WELL, which way am your musket a pintin' to-day?

INGERSOLL and Ingalls kept very quiet during the campaign.

IN all the doubtful states the registration is unprecedented, indicating an extraordinary heavy vote.

IN 1856 John Dudley of Minneapolis bought a tract of land near that city for $3,200. A few days ago he sold it for $200,000.

PRESIDENT Carnot's speeches as he goes through France are said by the French newspapers to be summed up in the words: "You are fine fellows, I'm a fine fellow, and we are all fine fellows. The president, consequently, is eminently popular.

THE greatest national debt among the nations of the globe is borne by France. It is about $6,250,000,000. Russia comes next, with about $3,600,000,000; then England, with $2,225,000,000; Spain, with $1,297,500,000; Prussia, with $1,000,000,000.

THE total emigration from the United Kingdom for the nine months ended September 30th was 336,042, against 325,765 in 1887. The destination of the emigrants was: United States, 251,306; British North America, 45,593; Australasia, 22,994; and all other places, 16,089.

JOE HOWARD, a New York "journalist," got a well deserved horsewhipping last Friday from the brother of a lady whom he had maligned. Howard is the man who forged a proclamation in 1864, and signed Abraham Lincoln's name to it, calling for 300,000 men. He was sent to Fort Lafayette. He grows worse as he grows older.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

Orders for Christmas trees are already being received in Maine.

Julia Beck, a Kansas City girl, killed herself because some one had told her she "was too homely to live."

There were 4,500,000 bushels of wheat, intended for export, stored at New York last week awaiting a fall in price.

An election will be held in "No Man's Land" next month to provide for organization as a Territory, with courts and laws.

Mrs. Alex Young apparently died at Brookings, D. T. As the coffin was about to be closed she revived and is expected to recover.

The amount of lumber that will be scaled and sawed before the close of the season by the Minneapolis mills is estimated at 325,000,000 feet.

Speculator Corwith of Chicago found lead a heavy thing to hold, and has accordingly failed for a fortune. Little lumps of lead kill in peace as well as in war time.

The Chesapeake and Ohio has given orders to double its freight equipment, proposing to build up a great export business at Newport News by shading export rates.

Mortgages to the amount of $30,000 per mile have been filed for the building of a railroad from Sioux City to Salt Lake. The Manhattan Trust company of New York is the trustee.

Jay Gould and the Union Pacific people have revived the Duluth, Huron and Denver scheme, and will build the road from Duluth southwest to tap the Union Pacific at North Platte.

The passenger trains on the Rock Island and Santa Fe run races from Abilene to Salina, a distance of twenty-five miles. The tracks are parallel with each other, and the races are novel and exciting.

Chief John of the Sioux says that eastern slaughterers have swept the Indian hunting-grounds bare, and that there is no hope for them unless they learn the ways of the whites and intermarry with them.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe company has added another state to the list of ten states and territories which its lines already penetrate by the completion of a branch to Superior, in Nebraska, a few miles north of the Kansas border.

A report is circulated that the Northern Pacific had contracted for the construction of eight new vestibuled passenger trains, which were to be constructed in March and put on the road as through trains between Chicago and the Pacific coast, running over the Wisconsin Central Road.

The Scotch population in North Carolina, which in a great measure consists of the descendants of those who left their country to share the fortunes of the ill-fated House of Stuart, has become so numerous that a weekly paper—the Scottish Chief—has been started, devoted to Scotch interests.

The Alabama legislature is to be petitioned at its next session to buy the town of Decatur and wipe it out of existence, in order to prevent future outbreaks of yellow fever. It is claimed that most of the epidemics originate there, and that it will be an act of economy and mercy to remove it.

A horse-thief, arrested at Mexico, Mo., boasts that he has cut his way out of seventeen jails.

New York employing bakers have voted not to reduce the size of loaves or increase the price of bread.

Steps have been taken to provide special voting booths for the women in the coming municipal election at Boston.

It is estimated that a third of the population and voters of Minnesota are Scandinavians, principally Swedes and Norwegians.

Hanging is evidently going out of fashion in Canada. There have been fourteen murders since the year opened and only one execution.

The farmers near Colfax, Wis., raised such an enormous crop of potatoes this season that they do not know what to do with them. The best price obtainable is 10 cents per bushel.

Dan Jordan, aged eleven, has been sent for three years to the Tennessee state prison for the theft of $5. He is probably the youngest penitentiary convict in the United States.

Flour has been advanced 100 per cent in price because wheat costs 30 per cent more than it did six weeks ago. There's nothing like knowing how to figure a ratio of profit.

LIGHT HOUSE IMPROVEMENTS.

Major T. J. Handbury, U. S. engineer, who has charge of all matters pertaining to the construction or repair of lighthouses in this district, says the Oregonian, has prepared plans for a screen or shutter to protect the lantern at the Tillamook lighthouse from damage from the spray, which during fierce storms sometimes break the glass.

The lantern is surrounded by a balcony and railing, and it is proposedto place on this a screen or shutter about fourteen feet wide, made of galvanized iron, two inches wide by five-eighths of an inch in thickness, in the form of a lattice, the openings in which will be six inches square, extending to the top of the lantern.

This shutter will stand on wheels, so that it can in a moment be shoved around to the back of the lantern in fine weather, where it will be out of the way, and when the storm king gets on his ear and the scattered waters rave and the winds their vigils keep, it can be pushed around to the point where it will do the most good in breaking the force of the water which dashes against the lantern, and thus protect the costly lenses from damage. The shutter will weigh about a ton and a half. It will doubtless prove very efficient. Iron workers have been invited to bid for its construction.

The castings for the proposed lighthouse at Cape Meares are being made at the Willamette Iron Works as fast as possible.

Bids are advertised for for repairs to the U. S. buoy depot near Tongue point. A slip is to be put in, the foundation fixed up, and a number of piles which have become chafed are to be replaced.

Material has been purchased for repairs, etc., at Cape Hancock lighthouse. The roof is to be reshingled, new woodsheds built and things fixed up generally.

They Sent Him a Rabbit For Luck.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—Gen. Harrison was to-day the recipient of a unique gift, in the shape of a big jack-rabbit, which came by express from Washington, Kansas. The box was covered on three sides with American flags, while the top was hidden by countless tags and stamps, put on by express agents, with their greetings to the general. Accompanying the box was a letter from the three youthful donors, which reads as follows:

GEN. HARRISON: We are little boys, only 11, 8 and 6 years old, and can't vote for you, but we want you elected, and we send you a rabbit for luck. It is said that getting a rabbit's foot is a sign of good luck. Somebody sent Mr. Cleveland a rabbit's foot in 1884 and he was elected. If the paw of a common rabbit would elect him, we hope a whole jack rabbit will elect you sure. It likes to eat apples and cabbage and corn and will drink milk as well as water.

Believed To Be Drowned.

Last Saturday Richard Morris of Riverside left this place in a small boat to cross the bay on his way to Wilapa, since which time nothing has been seen of him and it is feared that he was drowned. An oar and the rudder belonging to the boat have been picked up at Sand Point and it looks very much as if Mr. Morris had been capsized in that vicinity and drowned. His son was here Monday in search of him. Mr. Morris was a resident of Riverside, Willapa river, for several years, where his family now reside.

Since writing the above we received news that the tug Hunter picked up the boat that Mr. Morris had at Toke's point. The boat was bottom up and without any contents. This is sufficient evidence that the occupant was drowned.—Pacific Journal, 2.

Mr. Morris was the father of Mrs. John A. Montgomery of this city.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Jno. C. Dement Druggist.

There will be a Democratic parade and public speaking at Ross' opera house to-morrow evening. The procession will form at Democratic headquarters, three doors east of Aug. Danielson's, at 7 o'clock P. M., headed by the Western Amateur band. Senator Veach, of Lane county, S. B. Riggan and others will address the audience.

The Y. M. C. A. reception last Friday evening was a social success. There were about 125 present. There were readings, recitations, etc., by Miss Flora Osgood, F. Curran, J. T. Ross, C. A. Hansen, and C. W. Fox. Some fine refreshments were served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church and all present had a most enjoyable time.

After to-morrow there will be no more interviews in the papers of men who have just returned from New York and who are willing to stake their immortal existence that New York will give Harrison 27,000 majority and Cleveland 17,500 majority. Those folks and the men who flopped from one side to the other, or from the other to one side, have had lots of prominence this fall.

THE ASTORIAN is obliged to reluctantly decline the publication of several valuable political articles received during the last three weeks. The declination does not imply any want of merit in the articles. They are very brainy, and would look real nice in print, but the public would rather be amused than admonished, and folks will any day skip a political article to read about their neighbor's wife or his maid servant, or his ox, etc.

The editor of therSeattle Press appears to be a new hand at the business. Every newspaper man had to begin sometime, but not as a "journalist," generally as a compositor. If the new Press editor ever jeffed for the beverages at 1 A. M., or set a stick of idiotorial or wanted a misery rule real bad, he would know better than to call for italics in his copy. Italics in an editorial are the horror of a compositor who has no more use for them than a toad has for a sidesaddle. Besides, they are an insult to the brain capacity of the reader. The average man or woman can catch on to a writer's meaning without setting it in crooked type. That's why newspaper men never use italics in locals or editorials. "Journalists" sometimes do.

Y. M. C. A. Vocal Music Class.

The first meeting of the vocal music class, under the leadership of Prof. Dobbins and under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., will be held in their rooms Monday evening, Nov. 4.

As a result of a canvass of the vocal talent of this city, by Prof. Dobbins and the secretary, a large part of the very best talent of the city was secured; it is hoped that all those and any others, who would wish to join this class, would be in attendance Monday evening at the organization of the class. Prof. Dobbins, is a man of 16 years experience as a music teacher, and a graduate of the entire course of the New England Conservatory at Boston, Mass. Arrangements have been made that ladies can take the entire course of 20 lessons for $2.50 and gentlemen $4.

Prof. Dobbins says that he will make it interesting both to the beginner, as the first part of the evening will be devoted to the rudiments of music; and to those who may be advanced. The Prof. wants a big class and the association need it, so let all who are musically inclined join. At the close of the course, the class will be invited to a grand musical festival, to be held in Portland.

Of Foreign and Domestic News Items.

An Invention That Affects Telegraphy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—John J. Phelps' schooner-yacht Brunhilda sailed this morning for a voyage around the world.

HAS BEEN RECALLED.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The report is confirmed that Von Schloesser, the Prussian minister to the Vatican, has been recalled.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Before taking action with regard to the removal of the Chinese interpreter from Victoria, the department will see what effect the United States exclusion bill will have on Chinese emigration into Canada. It appears from recent returns to the department that a large majority of late have landed at Vancouver. The necessity of keeping an interpreter at either port depends on the trade of the future, but no doubt owing to the large Chinese trade done at Victoria, an interpreter of some kind will have to be kept at that place. A customs preventive officer at a New Brunswick outpost, collected duty recently on a casket containing a body, being brought into Canada, from Boston, for burial. An application has been made to the department asking that the duty collected be refunded.

VERY NEATLY DONE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The United States express messenger on the New Orleans and Northeastern railway which arrived here this morning was robbed at 5 A. M. between Lacey and Derby stations, fifty miles from this city. The express officials decline to state the amount of the robbery, but it is understood the loss is between $40,000 and $50,000. The robber entered the express car where Henry McElroy, the baggage master, was sitting near the middle of the car, and the express messenger, Charles Lawrey, at one end, checking the oil freight. The robber came first to the baggage master, and presenting a pistol, required McElroy to hold up his hands; then quickly throwing a sack over McElroy's head, the robber gave his attention to the messenger, who was required at the point of the pistol to open the safe. A sack was then placed over the messenger's head while the robber proceeded with the work of securing the money.

After securing the contents of the safe the robber pulled the bell rope and when the train stopped he left the car unobserved. When the express car was finally reached by the conductor, both McElroy and Lawrey were found standing with their hands up and sacks over their heads. They were under the impression that the robber was still present.

IMPERIAL INJURIES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3.—An official messenger states that the czar's foot and czarina's hand were injured in the accident to the imperial train on Monday. Despite their injuries the czar and czarina devoted themselves to attending to other persons more severely injured. Almost every member of the imperial suite received contusions. Twenty-one attendants were killed and thirty-seven seriously injured, one of whom has since died. Persons on the imperial train confirm the official version of the cause, namely, a defective track.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Dr. Harrison of Washington, is the inventor of a new system of machine telegraphy, by which messages are printed at the farther end, sending instrument by a machine similar to the typewriter. It is claimed to be able to send 200 words a minute, and will revolutionize telegraphy, making it cheaper to send by wire than mail.

DANISH POLITICS.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 3.—The opposition party in the Folketting, is using every effort to defeat the government's plan for the celebrating of the twenty-fifth anniversary of king Christian's accession to the throne.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 3.—This morning a hose cart going to the fire, collided with a heavy wagon, throwing six firemen to the ground, the cart falling on them. All were badly hurt, some may die.

KILLED ALL BUT ONE.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Advices from Saigon, say that pirates attacked the post, consisting of forty men of the foreign legion, and seven Pagoion in Tonquin, and killed all but one man.

ANNEXATION TALK.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 3.—In opposition to, and in contrast with Sir John MacDonald's advice to Canadians to oppose the annexation of their country to the United States, is the statement of the great conservative henchman, Mr. Solon L. Smith, ex-member of parliament, and one of the big guns in Sir John MacDonald's campaign. Mr. Smith comes out squarely for annexation as Canada's only salvation. When asked if he thought Canada's destiny was to become part and parcel of the American republic, he said:

"Oh, most undoubtedly that is the way we are drifting, and some kind of a union is inevitable. As matters now stand, we are met with constant elbowing by the United States officials. Business transactions are impeded and a feeling of hostility in general prevails. Commercial union, to my mind, is inadequate; it must be an entire and complete union of the two countries on an equitable basis. That accomplished, Canadians would, I am certain, rise to the foremost position in the grand republic of North America.

We are not inferior to the American people in either purse, enterprise or brains, as is proven by the fact that some of the most important and wealthy citizens of the American Union are Canadians. We are not peopling our great northwest, as was expected, simply because emigration is diverted from Canada on account of our being under a monarchial form of government. Emigrants from the old world leave for the United States to escape the tyranny of monarchial governments, and naturally eschew Canada upon learning that the form of government here is the same as in England.

A union with the United States would turn the tide of emigration to Canada. Our splendid country would be peopled; our population of something over five million would be increased three-fold; capital would be invested and the grand natural resources of the country, which are now lying idle to a great extent, would be developed and the country become the most prosperous portion of the greatest republic in the world.

"By throwing in our lot with the American union, our national debt, which is a burden to the country, increasing from year to year, would be removed from our shoulders and consolidated with the debt of the republic. England must recognize that Canada is bound, at some time in the future, to be annexed to the United States, and I claim that England would be a gainer by such a union.

"As regards the terms, the American people would take us just as we are, allow us to retain our local governments legal codes, courts, school system and all those privileges of local government we now enjoy."

BIG BEND RAILROADS.

SPOKANE FALLS, Nov. 3.—The Washington Central, better known as the Big Bend branch of the Northern Pacific, will build from Cheney in a northwesterly direction to Davenport, Lincoln county, thence in a westerly direction to the Grand Coulee, in Douglas county, and thence to an eligible point on the Columbia river near the mouth of the Wenatchee river. A loan to build the branch has been negotiated with the Farmers' Loan and Trust company New York.

The big bridge of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern over the Spokane river was completed yesterday. The road will reach Medical lake in a week, and Davenport by the 20th of November, and will be formally opened for business when Davenport is reached.

The Northern Pacific's Big Bend branch will also reach Medical lake in ten days.

CINCINNATI'S BONDS.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—It is reported here that judge Hoadley of New York, sent a communication to the city comptroller of Cincinnati intimating that the four millions of bonds floated by the city for recent street improvements were invalid because of legal informalities. The judge's opinion, however, may be changed upon learning of certain facts which he seems not to have before him. The city comptroller and city solicitor could not be found to verify the story. Sensational reports which have been telegraphed ahead that holders will rush in to have the bonds redeemed and cause financial embarrassment in the city are premature.

ITALIANS IN AFRICA.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 3.—It is reported here that the Italians and Somalis are fighting at Kismayer. Three German messengers were murdered on the coast while en route to Upwahwa settlers. A naval garrison has been established at Bagomyo by the German admiral.

C. P. R. GROSS EARNINGS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—The gross earnings of the C. P. R. for the first nine months of the year amounted to $9,371,430, and the working expenses $7,078,551, leaving the net profits at $2,292,879.

DISCOURAGED FARMERS.

WICHITA, Nov. 3.—C. R. Nicholson is in the city from Scott county, Kansas, where he has been until recently engaged in the banking business. Mr. Nicholson tells a discouraging story of affairs in the western part of the state. Whole counties are being depopulated, the people either going to Colorado or back east. For three years the people have raised no crops. These counties comprise what the old forty-niners called the "great plains," and are absolutely good for nothing except stock raising. The people have been compelled to leave or starve. In Scott county there were 4,000 people two years ago. Today there are not more than 450. Mr. Nicholson had to close his bank on account of the depopulation.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for MAN and BEAST. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

The Whaler's Safe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The steam whaler Thrasher came into port from the Arctic late this afternoon with the joyful tidings that all of the thirteen ice-bound whalers which were caught on September 23d, were saved.

Capt. Weeks received the news from the whaling steamer Lucretia, for though the Thrasher and the Jesse H. Freeman were relief steamers sent north, neither of them got near the endangered vessels, on account of ice. The Thrasher and Jesse H. Freeman returned south in the latter part of September, and among the whalers the thirteen imperiled vessels were considered as good as lost.

On the 2d of October, nine days after the ice closed in on the barks, the long-delayed gale that was to prove their salvation sprang up from the northwest. The nine days were, however, unmarked by any incident, the ice closing in gradually about them and new ice forming in the open water in which they had refuge. The 500 men, in fact, were reconciled to winter the season in the Arctic until the gale came. The wind blew with increasing violence throughout the night of the 2d, and on the morning of the 3d the ice field showed signs of breaking toward the south. The whalnig captains were all alert for a chance to get towards the open water to the south, and taking advantage of every opening, all but the Eliza and Reindeer got out on the 3d. The latter succeeded in getting out on the following day.

A Return to Duty.

This is always desirable, and the speedier it takes place the better. Doubly welcome is it in the case of those usually industrious little organs, the kidneys, which, when they go on a strike—so to speak—and drop work, seriously imperil health in more than one way. First and foremost, their inaction begets their disease, which is hydra-headed, including such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Next, when inactive they fail to assist in removing from the blood impurities that beget rheumatism, gout and dropsy. Third, their inaction weakens the bladder. All this is preventable and remediable by the pleasant promoter of organic action, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, at once a tonic and a regulator. This gently but effectually impels the kidneys to return to duty, and strengthens them and the bladder. Upon the bowels, stomach and liver it likewise exerts a regulating and invigorating influence, and it strengthens the system, and averts and remedies malaria and rheumatism.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 25.—John A. Brooks, the prohibition candidate for vice-president, stated here to-day that his party expects to cast enough votes to give New York, New Jersey, Indiana, and possibly Michigan, to the Democrats.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The new iron steamer Corona, which was built at Neafie & Levy's yard at Philadelphia, for the Oregon Improvement company, has started on her trip to this city in charge of Capt Goodall.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS.

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by J.W. Conn, Druggist.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Herbert L. Critchett of Daniels & Crichett, dealers in real estate, has disappeared, leaving a deficit in his accounts with the firm estimated at $25,000, and $2,000 in rents collected.

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Acker's English Blood Elixir has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee by J. W. Conn, Druggist.

YOAKUM, Texas, Nov. 2.—Fayette Berry and John Hanks yesterday had a difficulty over a settlement of accounts. Berry shot Hanks, and Hanks stabbed Berry, each one killing the other.

BETTER THAN SUICIDE.

Professor Arnold says: "An incurable dyspeptic is justified in committing suicide." We will guarantee to cure any dyspeptic within three months by Acker's English Dyspepsia Tablets.
J. W. Conn, Druggist.
